Toronto Market Securities Sell At Slower Pace

By The Canadian Press

Security markets encountered considerable resistance this week to their drive into new high price territory.

Realizing sales on recent strong advances held prices in check. Dealings again turned highly selective and individual issues and groups of stocks reacted more readily to business news.

Activity continued at the comparatively rapid pace of recent weeks although there were some signs of levelling off towards the close of the week.

Public interest has been increasing steadily. Many brokers maintain that the general public has yet to show in the nine-month-old bull market.

Trading was brisk in New York over the five days. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the five days at 76.2, a loss of .3 from the previous Friday.

Industrials pushed slowly higher despite heavy profit-taking on Canadian markets. The more speculative groups like papers held most of the limelight.

In Toronto, the exchange's industrial index showed a gain of 1.75 from the previous Friday. Refining oils, features of previous weeks, tended lower under realizing sales while Constructions and Utilities continued in demand.

Base Metals reacted to news of price increases in lead, copper and zinc. The index rose 2.40 at the highest average price peaks since 1937.

Uranium prospects held the limelight on the gold board while Senior and Junior Producers combined for a loss of 1.10 on the index. Announcement of increases in the government price for uranium oxide spurred activity. Generally, the leading uranium prospects, like Nicholson Mines, dipped with the market having discounted the price increases in previous upswings.

Average volume for the five days was 2,310,400 shares, compared with an average of 2,903,500 shares for the previous four-day week.

Grain markets gained from the previous Friday. In Chicago, May wheat, oats and soybeans were well ahead while May corn slumped. In Winnipeg, May oats and rye brightened and barley held firm.

DEHYDRATED TUMORS.—Dehydration is one of the first steps in the intricate job of preparing specimens of abnormal growths of human tissue for filing in the Canadian Tumor Registry. Here laborary technician Phyllis Conroy handles equipment used to dehydrate the specimens. Later the tissue is mounted between glass plates for use under microscopes.

Tumor Library Aids Science In Fight To End Cancer

OTTAWA, April 22 —(CP)— Like the fingerprint files of those who fight human killers, a section of the National Health Department here is building up a tumor library it hopes will help end the scourge of cancer.

This is the Canadian Tumor Registry where scientists collect, catalogue and preserve specimens of tumor and like growths removed from humans in surgical and postmortem operations.

The specimens and the information gained from their examination will form a central registry of data open to study by pathologists working toward a cure for cancer and associated afflictions.

So microscopic that 5,000 of them could be stacked in an inch-high pile, the specimens look like ink-smeared slivers of glass. Yet they speak volumes to the initiated.

Building up this rogues' gallery of "growth gone wrong" is only part of the operation of the Canadian Tumor Registry, established at the laboratory of hygiene of the Health Department to assist in a general program of the National Cancer Institute of Canada by providing a library of tumor types and records, with facilities for assembling and organizing pathological data relating to malignant tumors.

Recommended by Canada's advisory committee of laboratory directors under chairmanship of James Gibbard, chief of the laboratory of hygiene, the registry is a joint project of the National Cancer Institute of Canada and the Federal Health Department. The laboratory provides quarters, equipment and technical staff and the institute nominates outstanding pathologists to guide its development.

Unusual specimens are referred for opinion to a panel of consultant pathologists but, in the mail, primary diagnosis and grouping continues to be carried out by the practicing pathologists.

All shapes and sizes of tumors, or parts of them, are sent in to the registry by pathologists. They go into labelled bottles about the size of small jam jars. Selected portions of the specimens undergo dehydration treatment for from 24 to 48 hours in an auto-technicon apparatus.

They are then imbedded in paraffin blocks which, when set, are sliced into skin-thin wafers. These are stained red or black and are mounted on glass slides, labelled with reference numbers, source and, if known, the type of tumor they represent.

In addition to studying the tissue itself, the registry plans to make sets of representative types of tumor available to pathologists in the field, shipping the fragile glass slides in lots of 25 in shallow containers which resemble jewelry cases. The rare specimens go out to members of the advisory panel, in small cartons looking like boxes of pills.

Defer Dismissal

WELLAND, April 22 (CP) — County council Friday set aside until September a special road committee report recommending the dismissal of county engineer Charles Poynton to give him an opportunity to adhere to committee policy.

No Need For Dampness In Cellar If Proper Building Materials Used

In the average house—probably your hourse—there is a large amount of waste space in the basement. While this part of your house is mostly underground that is no reason why it shouldn't be light and cheerful, dry, and thoroughly enjoyable. In fact, the basement holds a variety of possibilities well worth building up.

Basement floors, usually made of a layer of concrete, often are eyesores and annoyances. They may be cracked, rough and dusty, damp, or uneven over the surface.

All these unsightly conditions can be remedied by attention to to exactly why they exist, and what to do. If the floor is cracked, rough and dusty, or uneven the damp, the best thing to do is to get it ready for a top coating of waterproof cement. If your basement is thoroughly dry you won't need waterproof cement.

Why Floors Crack

Cracks in a concrete basement floor mean that the soil under the floor, or the fill upon which it was laid, has dropped away a bit, and the concrete has cracked as a result of non-support. The concrete probably was of a too lean mixture in the first place. But, anyway, having a cracked floor, test it with a length of pipe to find the hollow sounding spots, Break up the floor at these spots, knock off the edges and fill the spot or spots in with a mixture of 1-2-3 concrete (1 cement, 2 sand, 3 gravel). Alway dampen any surface before applying concrete. Smooth the top of the repaired spots with a trowel and let them harden for a week.

After the bad spots have been fixed up, the whole floor needs to be cleaned so the new surface of concrete will adhere thoroughly. First, give the floor a treatment with a solution of 1 part muriatic acid, and 10 parts of water. This solution is brushed around with a fibre brush for about ten minutes. Then the floor is thoroughly washed off with a hose.

Next comes a grout, which is a creamy mixture of cement and water, applied to the floor with a fibre brush. Immediately after this the 2-inch topping of concrete goes on. This topping is best made of 1 part Portland cement, 1 part sharp, clean sand, and 2 parts gravel or crushed stone that will fall through a wire mesh of one-quarter inch openings.

If the floor itself has had a tendency to dampness from moisture undeneath it, a layer of waterproof concrete is recommended. The concrete is spread one evenly and about two inches thick. Then it is raked slightly to be sure it is well mixed and in thorough contact with the floor underneath. The next operation is the use of a wood float over the surface which packs it down evenly and brings the water to the surface. When the water sheen begins to disappear, then a steel trowel is used to make a smooth even surface.

Severel days should be allowed for drying or curing of the concrete. Wide boards can be laid over the top and walked on if necessary.

Variety of Coverings

Dry basement floors of concrete can be covered differently for various uses. For instance, your basement recreation room, or whatever you wish to call this extra living space in your house, does call for an elastic floor covering that will take tough wear and at the same time respond to an occasional waving.

The last few years have seen the development of mastics, for the laying of floors over concrete. Providing the floor isn't too damp, you can lay damp-proof linoleum or asphalt tile in a bed of this new mastic just as easy as laying carpet. Such improvements add to the value, comfort and health of your house. They prolong its life and increase its usefulness.

The application of asphalt tiles, as well as linoleum calls for, first of all, a dry concrete floor at the time of laying. If your basement floor is damp at some times of year, but does not get so damp that water actually shows on the surface, water-proof mastic under asphalt tiles, if laid when the floor is dry, is to place a piece of linoleum flat on the floor and leave for 24 hours. If, after that, the underside of the linoleum is damp, the floor isn't thoroughly dry. If the old floor is damp with this test, the thing to do is to give it a covering of water-proof grout and a layer of water-proof concrete, then lay the tiles or linoleum after this new surfacing has thoroughly dried out. Be sure to use the proper mastic as recommended by the flooring maker.

The mastic or cement furnished by the manufacturer of the linoleum or asphalt tile you buy to lay on your floor will vary somewhat in methods of application. But in general, it is merely the spreading on of a sticky substance in an even layer, a little at a time, and putting the floor covering on top of it.

Other floor coverings suitable for dry basement floors are hardwood, cork tile, rubber tile, ceramic tiles, slate and flagstones. The last three floor coverings, however, are best laid in a rich cement rather than mastic.

Ceiling Is Being Neglected In Building Of Many Homes

What about ceilings this is a most significant question because at the present time it would appear that home owners are doing nothing with the ceiling at all. Floors get a lot of attention, not only in respect to the materials of which they are constructed, (such as wood, terrazo, tile, linoleum, etc.), but also in the matter of the materials that shall be used upon them—that is, floor coverings. But ceilings are neglected Walls are treated in a score of interesting ways, with wood panelling, with painted murals, with glass blocks, with wallpaper, with plaster—even with the new synthetic materials! But none of these ever reaches the ceiling; the ceiling is left severely plain Even the panels of doors are decorated to bring them into harmony with the design of the rest of the room.

Why is it that we neglect the ceiling? Is it that it shouldn't be decorated, or that it can't be decorated, successfully. Or is it because the ceiling is so unimportant today that we hesitate to spend anything upon its ornamentation?

It wasn't always thus: In former days the ceiling was given even more attention than the four walls which support it. It was architecturally treated to have size and shape, and was cut into or raised, or tearted with surface embellishments, to give it perspective and the feeling of a third dimension. It was painted with scenes, it was covered with wonderful plaster work, it was beamed, it was grained, was arched at the corners, it was domed in the centre to give it outstanding decorative interest. But it was hardly ever left plain. Fine ceilings of this kind are still to be found in our big hotels, and in public buildings decorated in the traditional manner.

But in spite of this fine heritage of beauty and treatment, the ceiling today is neglected and left stark naked without a single motif of design anywhere on its generally white surface.

Not Expensive Job

It can't be that we neglect the ceiling soltly because of expense. There are too many ways in which the ceiling can be treated inexpensively that this reason for neglecting the ceiling—if it were ever a reason—becomes ridiculous before it is advanced. Wallpaper is not expensive and there are hundreds of good wallpaper, designs that may be used for ceiling decorations. Water paints are not expensive, and there are scores of beautiful tints which may be used on the ceilings instead of the plain "whitewash" that is generaly put upon it.

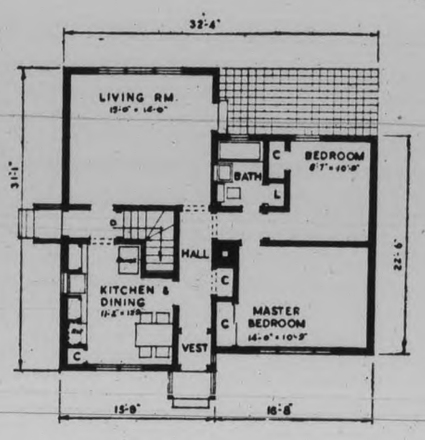
No, it is not only because of the expense that we continue to neglect the ceiling. There is some other reason. And so far as we can determine from interviewing many decorators it is more a matter of fashion than anything else.

A few years ago plain walls were all the vogue and nobody even attempted to decorate thm. But walls today are being decorated with all kinds of colour and designs. It is quite possible ceilings will now take a new lease on life.

We say that design on furniture, when it is excessive "gets in nthe way" and interferes with the function of the piece, is out of place. And perhaps it is. But design on the ceiling interferes with no function of a room; if it is bad design, it doesn't belong anywhere, least of all upon the ceiling.

Before the end of the century, innumerable fine ceiling papers were made. They were used by the old time "painters and decorators" to produce results that were both interesting and ornamental They consisted of squares, circles, ovals, and architectural motifs in different colorings, and were carefully mitred to conform to tht outline or shape of the ceiling. We have recently brought back into popular use a number of old Colonial papers, and have created fine rooms with them. It is high time that we also began reproducing some of the splendid old-time ceiling papers and start ushering in a new vogue for ceiling decoration.

The trouble with us today, in the decorative field, is that we are attempting to "streamline" everything and make it so plain and simple that it becomes cold and monotonous. We have reached a point where what we want is not less design but more design. And a good place to begin with design is on the ceilling.



PLAN No. 50-38—"An ideal home for the smal lfamily — compact, comfortable and economical," is what one builder had to say about this two-bedroom bungalow. Designed for gracious living and featuring a highly original room layout, this house is a popular choice with Canadian home-builders. For additional living comfort and convenience, the large, bright living-room is situated at the REAR of the house and affords easy access to the backyard area. There is also an attractive covered front entrance and a side door which leads to the basement. The combination kitchen and dining-room is another delightful feature of this plan. Wide windows look out on the front lawn and street area. The master bedroom and the "extra" bedroom are large and airy and within easy reach of the modern bathroom. There is ample closet storage space in the bedrooms and bathroom. The short, central hallway connects all the rooms of the house. The house illustrated above is finished on the exterior with eye-pleasing two-way wood siding. Plans for this bungalow include a full basement with room for storage and heating facilities. For estimating purposes the floor area is 862 square feet; overall cubic contents, 17,194 cubic feet. (Working drawings may be obtained from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.)

U.S. Scientists Say West Can't Rely On Nuclear, Other Weapons Alone

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is a summary of a series prepared by the American Society of Newspaper Editors' committee on atomic information, in collaboration with the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists. The committee based its series on the contents of a "hydrogen bomb" issue of the bulletin, which is issued by top-ranking United States scientists.

By The Canadian Press

A great number of the top scientists in the United States are worried by the new means of destruction that may soon be given to man in the hydrogen bomb.

There is wide disagreement among them over the length of time it will take to develop the bomb, and its range of devastation when prefected. But a majority seems to feel that the public should know more about it in order to adapt themselves to new world conditions.

"For four years scientists maintained a self-imposed censorship on talk of the H-bomb," said a representative of the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists who visited the chairman of the committee on atomic information of the American Society of newspaper Editors.

"But now the lid has come off Now they feel they must talk."

He carried with him advance proofs of the March issue of the Bulletin, in which many atomic scientists set forth their views.

The Bulletin contains no secrets, but the committee decided to use it as the basis of a report which would show what scientists are thinking, and would raise, as the scientists now are raising, a number of questions.

The scientists, the Bulletin reports, all believe that the West cannot "rely on nuclear or other weapons alone to preserve peace and national security."

All "call for new and imaginative political action for world unity and peace, and see in superior weapon development at best a means to gain time and put additional force behind this action.'

Opinions Differ

Conflict of opinion is most evident in the role that scientists should play in the development of the H-bomb.

Dr. Edward Teller, University of Chicago physicist and an authority on hydrogen bomb theory, in an article entitled "Back to the Laboratories," urges one out of four scientists to turn to "war work" without further delay.

"We are in a situation not less dangerous than the one we faced in 1939," he says. "It is of the greatest importance that we realize it. We must realize that more plans are not yet bombs, and we must realize democracy will not be saved by ideals alone."

Another article entitled "Arms Can Bring no Security" is by the famous physicist Albert Einstein who declares that "the idea of achieving security through national armament is at the present state of military technique a disastrous illusion."

He says the armament race between the United States and Russia, "originally supposed to be preventive, assumes hysterical character." His solution, establishment of a supra-national judicial and executive body empowered to decide on questions of immediate concern to the security of nations

Some contributors to the Bulletin are concerned by the disclosure that the United States is developing the H-bomb.

"In the case of the fission bomb, the Russians required four years to parallel our development," writes Dr. Hans Bethe of Cornell University, spokesman for a group of 12 scientists.

"In the case of the hydrogen bomb they will probably need a shorter time. We must remember we do not possess the bomb but are only developing it. . .

"Perhaps development has already been under way in Russia for some time, but if it was not, our decision must have started the Russians on the same program."

Scheme Criticized

The scientists are critical of a congressional effort to assure that all students receiving aid through a proposed National Science Foundation will be "screened" for their loyalty.

The Bulletin cites the "grim" case of Klaus Fuchs, British atomic expert who gave secrets to Russia, but says this should not lead the United States to cease collaboration on atomic matters with other countries.

Progress, it says, "requires not tightening but relaxation of atomic security."

It points out that Canada leads the United States in plutonium separation methods, and Britain is still ahead in several particulars

A hair-splitting analysis of individual loyalties of United States scientists would seriously hamper research, it says.

The Bulletin discloses that in 1946 it received a copy of a book by Prof. Hans Thirring Austrian scientist, which contained a whole chapter about the reactions on which a superbomb might rely

This and similar articles were not published lest they give the appearance that the United States was building this bomb.

Plane Attack

Between the two Russian communications, the United States had sent a note declaring that there were no military aircraft in the Baltic April 8 other than an unarmed Navy Privateer, that it was this plane which Soviet fighters had attacked, and that the plane was lost as a result.

Russia retorted that it couldn't even consider the indemnity demand of the U.S. for the loss of American lives and property.

Could Appeal To U.N.

The U.S. now could appeal to the United Nations on the ground that world peace had been endangered by Russian action or to the International Court, charging a violation of International Law.

However, some of Acheson's advisers feel that either course probably would be useless.

A basic consideration in State Department thinking, it was learned, is to try to avoid actions which will needlessly dramatize the affair or inflame public opinion, thus increasing uneasiness over the prospect of war.

In line with this thinking—and also because most officials say the United States would have little to gain from such a move—the idea of disrupting all official contact with Russia is generally ruled out by responsible administration policy makers.

Union Check-off

In an hour devoted to private members' legislation at the night sitting, no progress was made on a Bill, sponsored by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), providing for voluntary revocable check-off of union dues.

P. E. Cote (L-Verdun-LaSalle) Parliamentary Assistant to Labor Minister Mitchell, said the government felt the deduction of union dues from an employee's pay-cheque was something that should be left to negotiation.

In the immigration debate, Mr. Harris said that of the 379,199 persons admitted to Canada in the 1945-1949 period, 173,000 came from the British Isles and 42,428 from the United States. To date, 98,000 persons from displaced persons camps have been admitted.

Expect Reds To Attempt Berlin Coup

US Will Use Guns To Resist Force; Part Of Broad Plan

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—The highest United States officials believe the Russians will try again next month to drive the western occupation powers out of Berlin. They say this expected effort, in the form of an invasion of the city's western zones by 500,000 German Communist youths, will be restricted to the limit by the western allies, including the use of machine gun fire if necessary.

Preparations to resist the threatened putsch May 27-29 are being made by American, British and French authorities in Germany. A high governmen source here said the west will not yield an inch if the young communists stick to the marching plans. They have made some conflicting statements as to their intentions.

President Truman and U. S. State Secretary Dean Acheson look to the prospective Berlin incident, May 27-29, responsible officials said today, as the local point of the present Russian spring offensive in the cold war.

They regard the manoeuvre as a Soviet-Communist effort to capture the city by intimidation—by frightening the west Berliners with a massive, Hitler-like show of force to demonstrate that the western powers are unable to protect them.

Broad Pattern

In Acheson's view, the Soviet's Berlin plan apparently is part of a broad pattern of Kremlin-directed moves to create new tensions and fears of war in the west and thus force the western countries into negotiations and new concessions to Russia.

That the United States has no intention of yielding to Russian pressure was made clear by Acheson in a speech here Saturday night to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. There cannot even be an approach to an east-west agreement, he said, "unless one idea is done away with and that is the idea of aggression."

Ask More Money For Pensioners

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—The Ontario government today urged that a higher level of private earnings be allowed old-age pensioners and that the practice of suing estates of deceased pensioners be dropped.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow, announcing that the two proposals would be made to the Dominion government, said that when the maximum pension was increased in 1949 from $30 to $40 a month there was a decrease in the amount of earnings permitted.

Under the old $30 rate, a pensioner could have private earnings up to $240 a year and still get the maximum pension. Under the $40 pension, earnings are limited to $120. Mr. Goodfellow said Ontario contends the $240 figure should be restored to encourage pensioners to do all possible for themselves.

The cut in allowable earnings came about because the $600 annual income permitted a pensioner remained unchanged when the maximum pension was increased.

'Unworthy' Refuses To Become Bishop

VIENNA, April 24 — (AP) — Msgr. Franz Jachym created a sensation Sunday when he refused in front of the altar of Vienna's famous St. Stephen's Cathedral to be ordained as a Roman Catholic Bishop. Already dressed in a bishop's robe, Msgr. Jachym abruptly declined to take the oath, telling Theodor Cardinal Innitzer, first in Latin and then in German, that he felt himself "unworthy" of the office. He then left the church.

Police Arrest 14 More Naked Sons Of Freedom At Krestova In Move To Curb Fanatics Burning Whole Village Of 250 Houses

KRESTOVA, B.C., April 24.—(CP)—Police vigilance prevented fresh Doukhobor violence in this Sons of Freedom "capital" Sunday night.

Provincial police officers arrested 14 more of the nude, chanting Freedomites Sunday while others shouted threats of "burning the whole village" as they danced around the ruins of homes they had already put to the torch.

The jail a Nelson, 23 miles east, was jammed with nearly 100 of the radical cult and authorities seemed reluctant to arrest any more of the nude and semi-nude demonstrators. Thirteen of the Freedomites arrested Sunday were women.

Armed officers patrolled the village Sunday night and apparently were successful in halting the wave of religious hysteria that had led the Sons to burn 12 of the shantytown's 250 homes.

Doukhobor wives were reported to be urging their husbands to set their homes on fire as a means of "protesting the Third World War."

One fanatic spokesman said the burnings not only were protesting another war but were a means of forcing authorities to tell them who killed Peter (the Lordly) Verigin who died in a train bombing near here 26 years ago. The slayers were never captured.

"We think the police know who killed Verigin," said William Jaren, a Doukhobor. "The first thing they should do is tell us who it was."

The Sons of Freedom are a radical splinter group from a larger body of orthodox Doukhobors who emigrated to Canada from Russia in 1899.

Charge Police Bullied Choir

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Two Ontario Provincial policemen were questioned by their superiors today following complaints from a group of seven young Church choir singers that officers had "bullied" them and accused them of drinking as they returned to Toronto from a service in an Orillia Church, 75 miles north of Toronto. The group, all under 21, said the pair were "dressed like a couple of tramps and reeked of liquor." They said the officers accosted their automobile near Bradford, accused the group of drinking and searched their car for liquor.

Arthur Moss, a Deputy Commissioner of the Provincial Police, said: "We are investigating." He declined to elaborate.

Douglas Holmes, Sunday School teacher at Silverthorn Gospel Hall, Toronto, said the two policemen "grabbed" him and ushered him out of a service station where the choral group had stopped for refreshment.

"They searched my car," Holmes said. "It looked to me as if they just wanted some more liquor . . . They were obnoxious."

Holmes was driving the first car in a procession of four carrying members of a quintet and quartet to Toronto for a weekly radio broadcast.

Fine Christians

Rev. Jack Scott of the Forward Baptist Church described the group as "'fine young Christians and devout church workers." They were returning from attending a service at the Bethel Baptist Church in Orillia.

The officers, off duty at the time, gave their names to the group of youths and girls as Cpl. Adair and Constable Sparling. Cpl. Dave Adair is in charge of the Bradford detachment responsible for policing the area and Sparling is a constable under his command.

A provincial officer 17 years, Cpl. Adair has served in London, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Belleville, Cobourg and Barrie.

Deny Drinking

Cpl. Adair today told reporters that he and Constable Sparling questioned the group but denied that either had been drinking.

"We were off duty in one sense, but as policemen we are really on duty all the time," he said. "We saw these seven pull into the service station and thought they were a bunch of teen-agers on a rampage, because they were hilarious."

Cpl. Adair said the officers searched the church group's car for liquor "because of the way they were carrying on." He added that Holmes was "obstreperous."

"When we showed our badges, he said, 'How do I know they are real?'".

Red River Floods 100 Miles One Village Disappears

WINNIPEG, April 24—(CP)—The Southern Manitoba flood front stretched a full 100 miles today with fear at one end and destruction at the other. A tiny Indian settlement disappeared Sunday under the muddy, swirling waters of the Red River about 40 miles north of here.

Six to seven feet of water swelled up from the junction of the Red and Netley Creek, a winding stream which drains the huge Netley Marsh area to the northwest. The 75-odd habitants left their houses to the torrent and fled.

Almost 100 miles south, at the focal point of the Red's invasion of Canada from the United States, residents of Emerson expect the worst flood in the town's 80-year history.

With one to three feet of water already coursing down main street, citizens learned Sunday night that the crest at Grand Forks, N. D., 75 miles south, is expected to climb two feet above the predicted high.

Dam Breaks

A dam break on the tributary Red Lake River near Crookston, Minn., is the reason for the revision of the original 46.5 foot estimate.

If their fear is realized, low-lying portions of the semi-isolated town will be under six feet of water before the peak arrives next week.

Late Sunday night flood waters spread through the deserted main street and started creeping up adjacent streets. Large-scale evacuation has been carried out by the flood-wise population of 1,000. Furniture has been stored in emergency warehouses and families from the low areas have been moved to higher ground.

The river level early today stood at 42.5 feet—two feet below the 1948 level. Then, Emerson was caught unprepared and untold damage was done.

Water-purifying trucks manned by an army personnel filtered even ditch water to make up for condemnation of half the town's 12 wells.

Railway tank cars of fresh water are spotted on spur tracks.

The rails provide the only transportation link with the rest of the province. The last highway

Urge US Assume Britain's Debts

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) The British government has proposed the United States take over a big share of Britain's economic burden in India, Pakistan and Southeast Asia.

Officials disclosed today the British Embassy here has put forward this idea in an "exploratory" proposals now under consideration by high administration officials.

The British plan would call for the United States to pay off in dollars to such countries as India and Pakistan part of Britain's $9,000,000,000 wartime debt to sterling-bloc countries.

The main idea behind the suggested program is to help non-Communist countries in Asia fight off Communism while at the same time ease the huge debt which is jeopardizing Britain's economic comeback.

The British memorandum stems from last fall's Canadian-American-British dollar crisis talks. At that time, it was decided to examine the sterling debt and other economic problems to determine what steps could be taken.

The United States long has been urging Britain to get its creditors to agree to scale down these debts. But such countries as India which need financial aid have resisted this.

Charged Drunk Driver Breaks Out Of Jail

KINGSVILLE, April 24. (CP)—Police are searching for a 24-year-old St. Thomas man who escaped from Kingsville jail Sunday night. He is Eugene Hough, who was arrested Sunday on a charge of driving while his license was under suspension.

J. C. Babcock, police chief of this Essex County town, said Hough escaped by breaking away concrete at the base of his cell window, loosening four steel bars and dropping nine feet to the ground.

Hough also faces charges of drunk driving and careless driving and was free on bail on these charges when arrested Sunday.

Police said Hough works on the SS. Pelee, a steamer which makes trips from here to Pelee Island, during the summer.

Boy 19, Took $5,100 Left Parents Note

TORONTO, April 24 — (CP) — A 19-year-old Toronto boy, George E. Schofield, returned under police escort from Las Vegas, Nev., today was convicted of stealing Canadian Victory Bonds worth $5,100 from his parents' safety deposit box here. He was remanded to April 28 for sentence.

His mother found the box empty last March 30 with a note reading:

"I got the stuff, Mom, please give me time before calling the cops."

Russians Put On Pressure

Force Crises On 5 Issues To Get Meeting

MOSCOW, April 24—(AP)—Foreign observers here are convinced that the Russians will step up their diplomatic drive to counter the recently-declared "total diplomacy" policy of State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States.

Veteran diplomats in Moscow are unable to recall in recent times as much positive diplomatic activity as that in which the Soviet Union presently is engaged.

Baltic Incident

The Russias have protested strongly to the United States over the Baltic plane incident and have rejected an American note on the subject.

They have delivered a note to the Italian government demanding payment of Italian war reparations.

In a note on the free territory of Trieste they have charged the United States, Britain and France with violating the Italian peace treaty.

They have issued a statement on the reparation of Japanese prisoners of war.

Oppose UN Plan

They have declared themselves opposed to the U.N. plan to internationalize Jerusalem.

(Acheson has called on the American people to join with their government in a concerted drive to beat Russia's plans for "world domination." In this statement, made public March 9, he called this "total diplomacy.")

The western sources in Moscow think that by May 1 the Russians will have "activated" so many issues—such as Japanese and German peace treaties—that the three western Foreign Affairs ministers may feel the need of a four-power session with Russia this summer.

Order Troops To Unload British Ships

UK Gov't Moves To Supply Food In Spite Of Strike

LONDON, April 24—(AP)—The government today ordered troops to unload ships tied up in London port by a wildcat dockers strike denounced by cabinet ministers as Communist-inspired.

The government decision to use soldiers and sailors to keep food and other goods moving was made after the walkout threatened to halt all operations in the sprawling dockyards.

Almost 1,000 soldiers and sailors, stationed in the dockyards since Sunday, were ordered to go to work on 69 ships, which are immobilized by the strike over an intra-union dispute.

More than 4,500 dockers joined the strikers during the week-end bringing the number of idle to 12,489. The total working force in the London docks is 27,000 but only between 15,000 to 20,000 are employed on any given day.

The government used troops in a similar situation last year when a Communist-supported strike piled up tons of food and exports on London docks.

The present walkout is a direct result of the 1949 strike.

The dockers stopped work last Wednesday to protest the expulsion of three men from the Transport and General Workers' Union on the ground that they were the ringleaders of last year's labor trouble.

Ice Holds Up Big Freighters

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 24 (CP)—Ice as thick as 25 inches today stalled navigation in the upper St. Mary's River west of here and stranded three freighters of the Algoma Central Steamships headed for Michipicoten.

Officials said the Algocen, which opened navigation in the lower river here Sunday, was trying to turn around to head back for the Sault. The Algosoo and the Algoway are held fast. All three vessels cleared here Sunday after unloading coal cargoes.

The United States Coast Guard has recalled the ice breaker Mackinac from Lake Superior to go to the assistance of the stranded carriers. The Mackinac carferry Ste. Marie also is proceeding to the scene.

Officials said that the Alogcen and the Algorail likely will be returned to Toledo, Ohio, for another coal shipment. There seemed little hope for a break in the upper St. Mary's ice for at least two days. The two ships are caught in "extremely heavy" ice in the channel off Iroquois Point.

For Your Trouble

STRATFORD, April 24—(CP)—When an automobile driven by Wray Weber of Simcoe became stuck in a ditch near here recently, Moses Bast towed it out.

Weber gave Bast a cheque for $4.

In court today, Weber was given six months' suspended sentence for fraud.

The cheque had bounced.

Evacuate Hainan Chiang's Orders General Charges

YULIN, Hainan Island, April 24 (AP) — All Hainan was the Chinese Communists' for the taking today—handed over by order of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Generalissimo's order for "total evacuation" of the big island gives the Reds nearly half the remnants of his once vast Nationalist China.

The decision to give up the 13,500-square-mile stronghold off South China had not been announced officially here. Information came from a general, one of the top officers charged with Hainan's defence.

He said Chiang refused to send reinforcements because he feared the growing strength and popularity of two of Hainan's defenders—Gen. Hsueh Yueh, the military commander-in-chief, and Marshal Chen Chi-tang, the governor.

The island still could be held if the Nationalists had "only one more army" at their disposal, said this man whose name cannot be used for obvious reasons.

Nationalist military and civil chiefs pulled out of Haichow, Hainan's capital, Saturday. New defence headquarters was set up at Yulin, southern port 130 air miles away.

Five Nationalist armies totalling about 125,000 men will be deserted to the Reds unless a last-minute way can be devised to evacuate them.

Guerrillas and Troops

The Reds have probably 70,000 to 75,000 armed men on Hainan. Some 10,000 to 15,000 regulars of famed Red Gen. Lin Piao came across 10-mile-wide Hainan Strait and stormed ashore on the north coast in the invasion began last Monday. In addition there are an estimated 60,000 Red guerrillas on the island.

(The reported order to abandon Hainan follows the customary Nationalist pattern set by Chiang in the civil war. His strategy on the mainland was pull out rather than fight. It was trade space for time until his space ran out. Then the Nationalists withdrew from the mainland onto Formosa, Hainan and some small island. From these outposts they have carried on.)

Grandfather Gave Beer

TORONTO, Aparil 24 —(CP)—James Turnbull, 77, today was sentenced to one month for supplying his 16-year-old grandson with beer. The grandson, Bruce Reilly was convicted of purchasing liquor illegally and was fined $25 or one month. Police said Turnbull admitted buying a case of beer for his grandson who said he and some other boys were going to have a party.

Ontario, Prairies, P.E.I., B.C. Sign Quebec 4 Others Refuse Nova Scotia May Sign Soon On House Vote

OTTAWA, April 24—(CP)—The new Trans-Canada Highway will pass through Peterborough on its way through Ontario following a route which will miss the province's capital city, Toronto. The proposed route was revealed today when Ontario signed the agreement but Quebec backed down on the grounds that there was not sufficient guarantee of the province's rights in the agreement. Peterborough got a hint that the highway would touch the city from the Honorable George Doucett when he visited here a few months ago.

Commencing at the west boundary of Hawkesbury and following Highway 17 to a point one mile west of Green Creek; thence on a new location to the eastern boundary of the city of Ottawa; again from the west boundary of Ottawa, by a new location joining Highway 15 southwest of Graham Bay Station; thence along said Highway 15 through the town of Carleton Place, to the north boundary of the town of Perth; again from the west boundary of the town of Perth along Highway Seven to the eastern boundary of the city of Peterborough;

Again from the northern boundary of the city of Peterborough along Highway Seven to the south boundary of the town of Lindsay; again from the west boundary of the town of Lindsay to the termination of Highway Seven; thence northerly along Highway 12 through the town of Orillia, to the village of Waubashene; thence northerly on a new location to the town of Parry Sound; thence following along Highway 69 to the village of Britt, thence along a new location to connect with Highway 69 at the village of Burwash;

Lone Gunman Robs Night Club Of $2,000

MONTREAL, April 24—(CP)—A lone gunman today held up a night club manager in full view of 25 persons on a busy east-end street and escaped with an estimated $2,000.

Manager Josep Germain of the Pagoda Cafe told police that he was taking the money to his accountant when the revolver-armed thug ordered him to hand over the money.

The robbery was staged in front of 25 employees of the Hochelaga Western Beef Company, who watched from a third-storey window. Three employees decided to come to Germain's aid, but the gunman escaped in a car before they were able to reach the street level.

Seaway Essential Says Official In U.S. Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer said today "compelling considerations" call for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Sawyer told the House of Representatives public works committee the $803,000,000 project is "essential."

The undertaking would be a joint one by Canada and the United States.

The committee will hear proponents of the long-debated seaway and power works during the next two weeks. Opponents will have a chance to testify after that.

Backers scheduled to be heard include State Secretary Dean Acheson, Aamy Secretary Frank Pace, Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, and Maj.Gen. Philip B. Fleming, chairman of the United States Maritime Commission.

Sawyer, in his prepared testimony, said the basic purpose of the seaway—"to break through the barrier of a few score miles miles which prevents our inland seas, the Great Lakes, from becoming an arm of the Atlantic Ocean"—has been understood for a half century.

"It is to bring to the industrial heart of the country . . . all the advantages in production and industrial efficiency this would mean," he said. "The similar purpose of the associated power project—to harness the energies of this mighty river for the benefit of the people—has received widespread support over the past generation.

"The importance of these two purposes has grown through the years. Today the opening of the Great Lakes to ocean-going traffic and the harnessing of the waters of the St. Lawrence have become not merely desirable for national progress . . . but essential to maximization of our economic strength and national security."

Sawyer noted that the railroads of the United States, particularly those in the east, long have opposed the seaway. He denied it would seriously damage the country's railroad system.

See Gov't Action In Rail Threat

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Possibility of government action to ward off a threatened strike of firemen and enginemen on four major American railroads increased today.

Government officials are considering steps which might stay the walkout of firemen and enginemen on the four major railroads slated for Wednesday The roads are the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Southern, and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

One possible move by the government would be to ask the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen to postpone its strike while another effort is made to mediate. The carriers already have refused arbitration of the issue. Most rail labor experts believe the union similarly would decline arbitration now because of the refusal of the two previous Presidential fact-finding boards to grant the union's request for a third man on multiple diesel locomotives.

The union has indicated that if the government is to take any action to avert the walkout, it must do so by tonight.

Germany Asks for More Steel

Wants To Raise Capacity To 14,000,000 Tons

LONDON, April 24 — (CP) — The foreign office's German headache is getting more complicated. Months ahead of the time expected, German steel production has reached and surpassed the permitted level of 11,100,000 tons annually, March production was 1,000,000 tons—a rate of 12,000,000 a year.

German agitation has begun to have the limit — agreed upon last year by the three western occupiers — increased perhaps to 14,000,000 tons. Present capacity is something like 18,000,000, making allowances for plants still on the dismantling list.

So far there has been no indication that Allied policy makers will countenance overtures for lifting the permitted level, overtures which the Bonn administration denies it is considering.

Twist Interpretation

Behind the Ruhr steel tycoons is the Ruhr press, most organs of which have been carfeul to interpret the Allies' security measures more as a means of stifling competition.

Particularly susceptible to such interpretation is an 80-page questionnaire which the Allied Military Security Board, finally getting down to work, has circulated among the firms.

The board is responsible for "the maintenance of disarmament and demilitarization in the interests of security," and so must keep check on both production and plant capacity in the Ruhr.

Its questionnaire, representing the first public step it has taken in more than one year's existence, covers every conceivable aspect of steel production. The Germans contend it seems to have more to do with providing trade rivals with technical data than with military security.

Can't Check

A pertinent point is roised by a newspaper which says, in effect, "what are you going to do about the figures anyway?"

The fact is that the board — it has limited personnel and no inspectors and hence no means of checking on information the Germans give it.

The Allies, says the foreign office, have additional reasons for being concerned, hinting that production may even be considerably more than the 1,000,000 tons monthly reported. Despite a ban on steel exports to east Germany, it is suspected that there is an underground illegal export of steel to the eastern zone, where it may be either used or re-exported to Soviet satellite powers.

10,000 Strike In U.S. 'Phone Wage Dispute

Country-Wide Tie-Up Delayed To Tuesday No Picketing Yet

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—A coast-to-coast strike of 10,000 telephone equipment workers began officially at 6 a.m. EST today in the United States. The walkout in the Bell System came after a union ultimatum expired last midnight with the collapse of peace talks here.

Since the strikers handle building and maintenance only, the public will not be affected immediately unless there should be a breakdown requiring repairs.

The danger of a complete telephone tie-up was postponed—though not eliminated—when the union said it would not picket before President Truman's wage strike truce ends at midnight tomorrow.

Although the CIO union is striking over a matter it claims is not covered by the truce, it has been feared that pickets would keep the other 230,000 Bell system workers off their jobs and paralyze the country's telephone network.

Future Uncertain

What will happen if the general truce expires without an agreement tomorrow is not known.

The 10,000 going out today are members of division 6 of the Communications Workers of America (CIO)—all heavy equipment installers for the Western Electric Company. The company is the manufacturing and equipment subsidiary of the Bell system's parent corporation, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Although the root of the dispute is wages, the immediate cause of the walkout was a minor grievance that flared into a major issue during the weekend.

This grew out of a boggy pasture near South Bend, Ind., where six division workers were building a television tower. They refused to walk through a field they claimed was deep with mud and water.

Youth Saves Boy 13, 50 Feet Above Dam

GANANOQUE, April 24 (CP)—Benny Tackaberry, 20, reached into the flooded Gananoque River Saturday and rescued 13-year-old Michael Jackson after the boy fell from a railway bridge. The boy tripped while pushing a bicycle across the span.

Tackaberry was attracted by the screams of Mrs. Fred MacNamara who saw the boy plunge over the bridge. Rushing to the shore and down the steep rock strewn embankment, Tackaberry was able to snatch the youngster as the exhausted boy was carried into shore by an eddy, less than 50 feet from the upper dam, where the gates were open to carry away the surplus water caused by the spring freshet.

The youngster, who was a good swimmer, managed to keep himself afloat until grabbed by his Polar air covers Canada from the Atlantic to the Rockies and temperatures are generally below normal. Quite warm tropical air surging up the Mississippi Valley has reached Illinois and Ohio. Temperatures in this warm air Sunday were 85 to 90.

However, there is little chance that any part of Ontario other than the Windsor area will enjoy this warmer weather, for the cold air over Ontario is retreating very slowly. Along the boundary between warmer and cooler air there is a band of showers and thunder storms, the northernmost edge of which extends into extreme southwestern Ontario this morning. The showers, possibly mixed with some wet snow, will spread eastward over southern Ontario today and to central regions of Ontario Tuesday. As the storm centre moves eastward over the Lower Lakes Tuesday winds will shift from east into the north.

Woman 88, Dies After Robbery

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Calder, 88, died of a heart attack Saturday night after being shoved about by two thugs during a robbery attempt.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said the excitement and stress was too much for her heart. He made the statement following the report of an autopsy by Dr. Arnold Gold.

"Had the robbers not gone in, shoved her around and probably hit her, she would still be alive," the coroner said. "It is my opinion that they are responsible for her death."

A police official said Sunday night that if the two robbers were apprehended they probably would be held on a charge of robbery or attempted robbery. A more serious charge would have to be discussed with the crown attorney, he said.

Youth Wounded By Gun In Serious Condition

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 24 (CP)—A 17-year-old Thessalon youth, Donald Webb, is in hospital here in serious condition as the result of a shooting accident near his home Sunday.

The discharge of a 12-gauge shot-gun into the boy's shoulder was being investigated by Provincial Police. It was not immediately established who was carrying the shotgun.

Webb underwent an operation on his shoulder and left arm Sunday night and was reported by hospital authorities as likely to suffer permanent injuries to his arm.

He defended aggression as meaning "not only military attack but propaganda warfare and the secret undermining of free countries from within."

Acheson said "we are faced with a challenge and a threat to the very basis of our civilization and to the very safety of the free world, the only kind of world in which that civilization can exist."

In trying to wreck western civilization the Russians have several objectives, Acheson said. One is to "confuse and divide" the American people so that they can resist neither Communist threats in other parts of the world nor communist infiltration in the United States.

"The men in the Kremlin have another clear objective," Acheson continued, "and that is to change the balance of productive power in the world. At present, that balance is very strongly against them, but that would not be so if they could get control in western Europe and Japan."

Ont. Farmers Cut Canning Corn, Have '49 Surplus

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Ontario farmers are not going in heavily for canning corn this year but housewives need not worry—there will be no shortage.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture said today that limited production was more or less by "mutual consent" between the canner and the grower. An exceptionally heavy crop of last year, which resulted in a record pack, has resulted in a large carry-over of corn. This, coupled with reduced prices over last year, as influenced many farmers to turn to other crops this spring.

Last year the canners paid $22 a ton for corn and provided free seed. This year's price is quoted at $18.75 with a charge for seed.

Contracts for peas show an overall reduction to the grower of $3 a ton this year although the price is somewhat higher this year than last.

Last year canners paid $60 a ton for peas and charged $2.50 a bushel for seed. This year's contract price is $75 a ton with a $7 charge for seed.

"At four bushels of seed to the acre it cost the farmer $10 to plant one acre last year as against $28 this year which makes for an overall reduction in spite of the increased price, said G. F. Perkin, Commissioner of Co-Operation and Markets of the Department.

Tomato contracts show a reduction of 75 cents a ton at the cannery while beans, green and waxed, are down $2.50 from $82.50 a ton last year to an $80 contract price for this season.

Fire Destroys Atomic Buildings

BERKELEY, Calif., April 24—(AP)—Fire, accompanied by a series of minor explosions, destroyed the United States Atomic Energy Commission's administration building here Sunday night.

AEC officials declined to answer such questions as (1) whether any irreplacable scientific data was lost, (2) what the building contained, or (3) how great was the loss in dollar values.

Brilliant flames shot high from the two-storey frame building, attracting thousands—including scientists intent on saving notes on experiments.

Security guards prevented entering the cyclotron area, which is enclosed by a high, electrified fence. The University of California's giant $9,000,000 cyclotron, in a concrete building 100 yards away, was not damaged.

The flames were controlled in 45 minutes, but burned several hours.

May Ask King To Decide Britain's Future

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 24 — (CP) — The King's own decision may shape Britain's political future this week.

A Royal prerogative, rarely used, may be exercised if Winston Churchill's challenging Conservatives topple Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government in a parliamentary vote expected Wednesday. The government has held office by a precarious majority since the February general election.

If defeated, Attlee could advise the King to dissolve parliament and call an election immediately. Alternatively, the prime minister could advise the Sovereign to ask Churchill to try to form a government.

Or the King could make up his own mind, either way.

Viscount Simon, one of Britain's foremost constitutional lawyers, emphasized this possibility today. He expressed the opinion that what could happen would be "one of the rare surviving cases in which the sovereign exercised his own discretion in deciding upon his public action."

The decisive vote Wednesday in the House of Commons concerns government proposals, outlined in last Tuesday's budget, to raise the gasoline tax by nine pence (about 12 cents) and to impose a new purchase tax of 33 1-3 per cent on commercial road trucks.

The division is sure to be a close one. Labor's effective majority over all other parties in the 625-seat House of Commons at the moment is seven. This takes into account three members who have not yet taken their seats. The government expects 10 of its supporters will be on the sick list Wednesday. But the Conservatives also have some members absent through illness.

Holmes' companions supported the Sunday School teacher's accusation that the policemen had been drinking.

With Holmes were Ted McGilvray, 21; Nancy MacLean, 20, and her sister, Jura, 19; Ted Ward, 20; Yvonne Ewart, 18; and Audrey Winters, 21.

Nancy MacLean, a stenographer at the Ontario Parliament Buildings, reported the incident to Deputy Commissioner Moss.

"He seemed shocked and promised he would send a detective to Bradford to investigate," she said.

Singing Hymns

"We'd been singing hymns in Orillia and coming down the road in the car. When we got to the service station, we went inside for some Cokes. Then these men, dressed like a couple of tramps, accosted us. They reeked of liquor."

Holmes said he had no wish to protest formally to the officers' superiors.

"I just want them to get it straight that we don't drink and we resent being accused of drinking," said Holmes. "None of us ever touched liquor."

From Sudbury to Chapleau the route will either follow approximately the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or will follow an alternative route via Thessalon; depending on surveys to be made.

From Chapleau the route will follow approximately the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway to Schreiber, thence westerly via Highway 17 through Nipigon, Port Arthur, Ignace, Dryden, and Kenora to the intersection of Highway 17 with the Ontario-Manitoba boundary.

The agreements were signed by Ontario, Manitoba, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Prince Edward Island. Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland abstained, all giving different reasons for their decision not to sign at this time.

Roads Minister Talbot of Quebec said his province could not sign because the draft agreement did not give sufficient protection to the rights of his province. Public Works Minister Anderson said New Brunswick was anxious to sign, but felt it should not do so until a better estimate of the costs involved is available.

Nova Scotia indicated it will sign as soon as enabling legislation is passed by the Legislature. Newfoundland explained that because of special problems prevailing in the new province it could not sign an agreement now.

Although the Federal government had stated previously that it would not contribute to the highway unless all provinces cooperate on the project, Resources Minister Winters indicated that work would go ahead anyway this spring in the hope that agreement with the remaining provinces will be reached later.

As each province signed the agreement, the route the highway will follow in that province was described. But an over-all picture of the Trans-Canada route will not be available until all provinces have entered agreements.

New Brunswick Flood Damage At $1,000,000

SAINT JOHN, N. B. April 24 (CP)—Flood waters which ravaged New Brunswick during the weekend, causing an estimated damage of $1,000,000 or more, were receding today, leaving a trail of unserviceable bridges, railway lines and roads.

Most roads remained hazardous with many main highways flooded and secondary roads impassable. Heavy rains which prevailed Thursday and Friday joined with ice breakups to create the worst freshet conditions in years.

The toll included two bridges over the Tobique River at Plaster Rock and north-west Arthurette, one across the Oromocto River near Fredericton and another spannig the Bonaventure River in the Gaspe area of Quebec. Scores of washouts were reported along railway lines and highways.

Sunday night a ferry at Bath was reported to have broken away and crashed into a pier breaking in two and floating down the St. John River.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, which suffered heavy damage, expects all services to be restored today except the Gibson subdivision at Zealand, 21 miles west of Fredericton.

Canadian National Railways traffic between Saint John, Fredericton and Woodstock was operating again.

The flooding Tobique River was subsiding after the raging waters rushed at a 30-mile-an-hour clip, carrying along ice two feet thick. Water covered the railway yards at Plaster Rock to three feet but did not reach the station.

The St. John River at Fredericton stopped its steady rise on Sunday after reaching 20.7 feet, the highest mark in five years.

Cobourg Curlers In Quandry, No Winter Ice

COBOURG, April 24 (ENS)—Cobourg Curling Club plans to meet in the near future to discuss what can be done to ensure a steady supply of ice throughout the winter. The club was unable to function this past season because there was no ice.

The curling rink depends on natural ice and is situated within a few hundred yards of Lake Ontario. The proximity to the lake produced a temperature during the winter several degrees higher than at the north end of the town.

For some years there has been difficulty in maintaining curling schedules because of uncertain weather. The club will have to decide, said one of the executive recently, whether it will instal artificial ice or dispose of the building. If the curling club should decide to build next to the recreational centre, the ice plant there would be large enough to serve both the recreational centre and a curling club.

Morrison Home Scene Of Shower For Bride

BAILIEBORO, April 24 (ENS)—A shower for Mrs. George Brown, nee Eleanor Morrison, was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, Friday. The newly wed couple received many gifts.

Merton Thomson was chairman for a short program. Piano duets by the Misses Shirley and Phyllis Beebe, Mrs. James Wood and Marguerite Wood were enjoyed and also a piano solo by Miss Ethel Perrin.

Wayne Howson and Ross Perrin sang "There's a Bluebird on My Windowsill," and Phyllis and Shirley Beebe sang "Quick Silver."

Mrs. William Lockey read the address for the miscellaneous shower and Mrs. Merton Thompson made the presentation of a gift from the Bensfort Women's Association.

Frank Buckham played the violin accompanied by Mrs. Laurence Finnie and Mrs. Grace Muspratt on the piano.

500 Demand Work

PITTSBURGH, April 24—(AP)—More than 500 unemployed steelworkers turned out at a mass meeting Sunday to ask the government to help them get back their jobs. The 500 are part of the 2,200 United Steelworker (CIO) members furloughed when the Pressed Steel Car Company shutdown its plant last August. The firm blamed the closing on lack of orders for railroad freight cars.

Cobourg Applauds Recreation Plan

COBOURG, April 24—(ENS)—A one month vacation has been granted Robert Cooper, Cobourg's recreation director, this time of the year being about the only period in which a holiday will not conflict with the recreational program. Mr. Cooper has been in charge of recreation in this town for almost a year and the success of the program is reflected in the comments from the recreation commission and the recreational centre committee.

"We take pleasure in moving that he be granted a month's holidays in appreciation of a difficult job well done. Bob has had a Herculean task in developing and organizing this new and important branch of our children's education and in this work he has given himself generously and has worked unceasingly and at all hours.

"He has co-operated in every way possible with his associates and with the recreation commission. It has been a good job well done."

Members of the commission are Charles Chidley, chairman; Ed. Campbell, Rev. J. P. Collins, Rev. H. Bedford Jones, Reginald Gardiner, George Mitchell, Roy Dodge, Mrs. Jack Allen and Miss Madeline Rooney.

Mr. Cooper also received a commendation from the recreation centre board of management, in a statement from G. Gordon King, vice-chairman.

"As manager of the recreation centre, Bob Cooper has done a fine job and his constant co-operation and enthusiasm were deeply appreciated. We are grateful to the recreation commission for permitting Mr. Cooper to act as manager of the centre."

When the idea of a recreation director was first broached, it was realized that as far as Cobourg was concerned, it was an experiment and would have to prove itself before it would be considered in the light of a permanent fixture. The success of the first year's operation is very gratifying to the commission, the members state.

Child Swallows Pin

SUDBURY, April 24—(CP)—An open safety pin which 13-month-old Ellen Barty, of Chapleau, swallowed Friday passed safely out of her system Sunday and the child was released from hospital. Flown 150 miles from her home to hospital here, doctors turned the pin and eased it down into her stomach. Its progress was checked by X-ray.

Won't Admit It

LONDON, April 24—(Reuters)—Englishmen are shy about telling the world they are married.

For years, jewelers here have been trying to popularize wedding rings for men. But "it has found no favor," says a report just published by the National Association of Goldsmiths.

Roads Stick Up Thugs

HEARST, April 24—(CP)—Impassable, muddy roads foiled thieves who stole an automobile carrying mail for delivery to rural points and the car was found abandoned 75 miles west of here. All mail, with the exception of Family Allowance cheques, had been jettisoned.

REMOVING EARTH AND ROCKS to extricate Joe Brethour from the bottom of a 15-foot excavation after the sides caved in, pinning the man against the side and bottom of the pit. More than a ton of earth and rocks as well as one large half-ton rock covered the man to his knees. After 20 minutes, he was removed with no broken bones, but suffered cuts and bruises. He directed his own rescue from the bottom of the pit. He was treated by Dr. W. W. Baker of Campbellford. Red Endangers Minnesota Town

CROOKSTON, Minn., April 24 (AP)—This northwestern Minnesota city of 9,000 braced itself today against the threat of a new flood from the rampaging Red Lake River.

Groggy from the blow of Sunday's flash flood after a wall of ice battered down a control gate on the nearby Ottertail dam, the city was warned to be prepared for another torrent loosened by a big break in a power dam at Red Lake Falls, Minn., 30 miles upstream.

The Red Lake Falls dam, damaged by futile attempts to dynamite another ice jam, went out Sunday night. Water poured through a 100-foot hole in the 280-foot-long structure and raced toward Crookston.

Engineers predicted the new flood crest would reach Crookston sometime today.

The city was caught unprepared early Sunday by the break in the Ottertail dam floodgate. Within an hour, the ice-jammed river hit a 24-foot crest, spreading out over nearly 75 city blocks.

An estimated 300 residents were moved to higher ground.

Nova Scotians Learn Handcrafts, Earn Money

By IRVING C. WHYNOT,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

A lot of plain, ordinary people are adding to their income in Nova Scotia with their hobby and an assist from the Provincial government.

Specifically, the Department of Industry's handcrafts division is trying to teach hundreds of persons—mostly in rural areas—how to pick up some extra spending money. Under the scheme some part-time workers have collected as much as $140 a month.

No Total

The exact value of the handcrafts industry to the province is difficult to evaluate. Besides a lack of records on sales, many home workers do business outside the division and therefore there is no report of their activity.

But there is no doubt that scores of persons are adding enough extra dollars to buy the things they've always wanted but have been unable to afford.

Under the handcrafts plan, instructors go out into the field to teach classes in many fields—silver work, weaving, needlecraft, rug-making, etc. Even waste material can be turned into an article suitable for sale to tourists.

Polished Stones

Polished native stones picked up along the Bay of Fundy shore are a good seller. Pieces of nets, fishermen's cork and odd-shaped stones found along the beaches can be made into "flotsam and jetsam strings" for interior decorating.

The handcrafts division has a staff of 11 under director Mary E. Black. Most of them are instructors. During 1949 the instructors held 85 classes, comprising more than 500 students.

Typical of the classes was one of 10 young men at Little Dover on the province's eastern shore. Their only income is from fishing and this occupies them only a few months a year. They were taught weaving in an effort to provide them an additional source of revenue.

Iturbi Plane Lost Lands In Field

WYE MILLS, Md., April 24 (AP)—A private plane carrying pianist Jose Iturbi to a Baltimore concert engagement lost its way in heavy overcast and made an emergency landing in a cornfield here Sunday after running out of fuel. No one was hurt. Iturbi, his sister, Madame Amparo Iturbi, and his secretary, Marian Seabury, went on to Baltimore by car.

Picket Kirsten Flagstad

LOS ANGELES, April 24 (AP)—A Kirsten Flagstad concert at the Philharmonic auditorium was picketed Sunday by about 100 chanting marchers. The protest against the Norwegian singer was the same as in previous demonstrations elsewhere—that she allegedly had wartime pro-Nazi sympathies.

What Has Become Of The Fire Sub-Station?

Last January the Council decided that an auxiliary fire station was necessary in the southern section of the city. The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Council was instructed to look into the matter of planning for a bungalow substation, and its location. It did so, and found that for some $20,000 an adequate auxiliary fire-station could be set up, on property already in the hands of the city. But at that stage of their investigation, they were unexpectedly required, for reasons outside the Fire, Water and Light's territory entirely, to take into account an auxiliary police station, housing an auxiliary police squad, a Public Library branch, a public health clinic. So the small, realizable one-purpose building is expanded into a south end civic centre of sorts, quite outside the bounds of possibility this year or next.

There has been a confusion of purpose and a muddling of process in the handling of the situation. The Fire, Water and Light committee has nothing to do with better babies or policemen's patrols or books for boys. The Council decided that a fire sub-station was needed (which it is) and the specific committee went about planning for it. These plans should have been carried through without adding impossible extras which have in fact stymied the whole thing. A $20,000 bungalow sub-station would have been posssible this year or next; a sixty or eighty thousand dollar centre is not. Thus the south-end sub-station has been thrown overboard, not by positive decision of the Council, but negatively because of loading the project with tail-pieces which prevent its moving in any direction.

• • •

If the Council wanted to ditch the sub-station, the way to do it is openly, logically and positively: by vote. What has now happened as the result of a fug of crossing purposes is that we are getting no civic south centre, no library annex, no police depot, no clinic, no bungalow fire station—no nothing. Was that the intention in the first place?

Women Are Not Mysterious

Every now and again our eye is caught by some such statement as that which we noticed recently in the Kitchener-Waterloo Record: "The dumbest woman knows 77 times as much about women as the smartest man does". We are amused by the self-perpetuating legend that women are mysterious—that they are, in some curious way, beyond the understanding of men. Frankly, we do not think that women are especially mysterious. Quite often, indeed, they are extremely obvious in their motives and methods. They are occasionally irrational, but so are men. They frequently change their minds, but not any oftener than men. They are capricious, hypocritical and vengeful, but not more so than men. In fact, women are pretty much indistinguishable from men, in most of their mental and spiritual workings.

The notion that a woman has a special sort of mind is a hangover from the days when women were poorly educated and had no economic freedom. Under such circumstances women naturally adopted devious ways of getting what they wanted. But a woman who supports herself, and is answerable to no one for her conduct, has a mind very much like that of a man in similar circumstances.

We do not say that there is no difference. Women have been shown to possess greater patience than men. History suggests, also, that creative power of the first order is found among them more rarely than it is among men. But this is not to say that there is anything mysterious about them—more mysterious than the ordinary mystery of human personality. Women are fully rational, and we sometimes feel impatient with people, including many women, who pretend otherwise.

Kohlberg: Man Behind Mudslinger

According to reports from Washington, recent developments have revealed that there is a direct link between the Chinese Nationalists and Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, who has been charging that employees of the U.S. State Department are members of the Communist Party. These reports indicate that McCarthy is no more than a puppet and that the puppet-master is one Alfred Kohlberg, lobbyist for Chiang Kai-shek and the Chinese Nationalists. Kohlberg, it is said, has gathered about him a group of rabid anti-Communists, disgruntled ex-officeholders and Republican reactionaries. He appears to be liberally financed.

Attempts to apply pressure to government by special interests or groups of interests is an old practice in democracies, but it is doubtful if it was ever before brought to the high peak of organization which prevails at Washington. The system is simple: a large industry, a group of manufacturers, or any other interest, hires some person thought qualified to represent the interested party at Washington. The qualifications are selling ability, good political connections, and experience in behind-the-scenes political strategy.

In addition to serving the interests of the Chinese Nationalists, Kohlberg serves his own. He used to do import business from Swatow at the rate of a million and a half dollars a year; his only hope of getting that business back lies with the Nationalists. He has therefore set up a number of associations supporting that party, including a magazine, and these heap abuse on all who do not agree with their views on China. These campaigns are in addition to his work as leader of the China lobby, a sprawling organization with many ramifications. Independent investigation of these sub-divisions by The Washington Post and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch showed that every trail led back to Kohlberg.

As far as we are able to ascertain, from a half-dozen United States newspapers, Kohlberg's campaign has done the Chinese Nationalist cause little good, and possibly considerable harm. Five of these newspapers may be described as conservative, one as liberal,—and all are anti-Communist—yet the six are united in strongly condemning the actions of a group of anti-Communists.

Zeal For Public Morality

Any man who allows his zeal for public morality to outrun his good sense is headed for trouble. Two instances of this are in the news at present.

Questions are being asked in the British Parliament because the Director of the British Museum, Sir John Forsdyke, will not permit scholars to examine the manuscript of an unpublished novel by Algernon Charles Swinburne. The law directs that any documents in the Museum may be examined by responsible persons who wish to do so; the Museum maintains that it has discretion to withold material which it considers unfit for examination even under the circumstances which are imposed by the Museum library. The novel is said to deal with flagellation—the perverse gratification which some peculiar people derive from being beaten. Swinburne, a poet of great gifts, was also something of a human oddity. It seems unlikely that anyone would be harmed by inspection of his unpublished novel, or that the world would be harmed by knowledge of what is in it.

Another man eager to save the world from itself is Mr. G. G. Gabrielson, national chairman of the U.S. Republicans. He wants to clear the government service of homosexuals, who may be, he says, as dangerous as Communists. Just how Mr. Gabrielson proposes to detect these people, and what harm he thinks they do in their capacity as civil servants, is unexplained. Any such crusade would be likely to stir up a nest of hornets, and also to do great harm to many innocent people. To make an allegation of homosexuality is easy and harmful; to prove or disprove it is extremely difficult.

The world would be spared much trouble if zealous amateur moralists would realize that adults are capable of coming into contact with much that is unsavoury, and even much that is evil, without falling victim to it. Few people have any inclination toward the gaudier sins. The desire to save people who do not need saving is hard to distinguish from impudent meddling.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A curious statistic which floats across our line of vision informs us that one-half of one per cent. of the people of New York City have breakfast in bed. And of this group we must discount the out-of-town visitors who do it because they never have the chance at home.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

MUSICALLY speaking the whole of this year is dominated by the towering figure of Johann Sebastian Bach, the bicentenary of whose death is being commemorated by music-lovers of all countries. Ever since Bach's "rediscovery" in the early nineteenth century by Mendelssohn and Schumann new beauties in his many-sided style have been discovered. The romantic composers were naturally attracted by the warmth of his feeling and the strong dynamic contrasts, and their treatment of his scores in arrangements and editions gives ample proof of their attitude.

In the twenties of this century, however, it was Bach, the composer of "absolute music", the craftsman in sound that was stressed. His instrumental works in particular seemed to be abstract essays in the art of composition, with the element of human feeling entering but little into them. Thus the cry of the Neo-Classics was "Back to Bach", and the result was works such as Stravinsky's piano sonata, a curiously austere and crabbed effort. Bach's complex web of polyphony is a strong and lasting influence today.

Of course every age tends to create Bach in its own image, but it is possible that we are getting a little nearer to Bach's original intentions. Where resources permit it is becoming more and more general to employ the instruments of Bach's day, the harpsichord, the oboe d'amore, and so on, in order to reproduce the orchestral colouring that Bach had in mind. Even instruments such as the organ have been remodelled in order to correspond more closely with those that Bach himself knew. At the same time the work of scholars such as Schweitzer and Sanford Terry have given us a much better appreciation of the great Cantor.

Schweitzer's researches on the musical symbolism of Bach have been particularly valuable and have served to correct the notion that Bach's music is purely abstract. Briefly speaking, this is his thesis. Composers have always tended to represent various emotions by certain musical figures which correspond with human sounds or gestures. For example grief is usually represented by a succession of drooping sounds, like wailing, while joy is often represented by a hopping rhythm. It is also possible to symbolize ideas such as the Trinity by a threefold division and so on. Schweitzer was able to explain Bach's highly personal use of musical symbolism and show how a certain idea is illustrated by the use of similar musical ideas in different works. Compare the setting of the words "et in terra pax" (and peace on earth) in the B minor Mass with the setting of the same words in the Christmas Oratorio. It is not a question of a musical coincidence (like the first three notes of the Hallelujah Chorus and "Yes, we have no bananas") but a much closer resemblance. Turning to the Chorale Preludes, founded on the hymnody of the Lutheran Church, Schweitzer points out how certain lines in the hymns serve as a jumping-off ground for Bach's inspiration even in instrumental music. For example the dropping sevenths in the pedal part of the chorale prelude "Through Adam's Fall' symbolizes with a touching naivete the fall of man, and the tortuous chromatic harmonies underline the sublime tragedy of this disobedience that "brought death into the world and all our woe, With loss of Eden". Sometimes he concentrates on unexpected aspect, as in the chorale prelude "By the waters of Babylon"—here Bach makes no attempt to portray the anguish of an exiled race in a strange land. Instead he paints a delightful landscape of a peacefully flowing stream in a pastoral setting.

THE Bach Festival in Toronto is over. Last Wednesday I attended E. Power Biggs' organ recital in the Eaton Auditorium in the afternoon. His playing is crisp and rhythmical, and his pedal technique is something worth hearing. His choice of tempi is on the fast side: the detail is there all right, but it does not come through. The German school of organists plays Bach very slowly — too slowly in my opinion, though when a man like Schweitzer plays Bach at what seems to me to be a snail's pace I begin to wonder whether I may be all wrong. The fact is that there is no continuous tradition of Bach playing as there is of Chopin, and the performer must be guided entirely by what he thinks fit, as Bach's own directions are scanty in the extreme. There was a poor attendance, but it was an afternoon performance and organ recitals are notoriously a bad draw. Still, it is a pity that so few people took the opportunity of hearing Bach's music played by an executant of the calibre of E. Power Biggs on the instrument at which Bach himself so excelled all his contemporaries.

THE evening performance of the B minor Mass in Massey Hall was poorly attended too. This is more serious. Massey Hall seats about 3,500. It is shameful that a city of the size of Toronto shows so little interest in one of the supreme monuments of the whole of musical literature that the hall was only about 2/3 full. I was gratified to note that this new-fangled craze of darkening the auditorium has not found favour in the dignified precincts of Massey Hall, so that I was able to follow the whole performance with my score.

It always gives me a thrill to hear a great choir singing it heart out, and there is no doubt that the Mendelssohn Choir stole the show. The soloists were adequate, but none of them had one of those big voices that are required to fill a large hall, and the bass soloist was really more of a baritone. There were a few leads which were not well picked up by the choir and may have indicated insufficient rehearsal. More serious than this, there were occasions when conductor, chorus and orchestra were at odds, notably in the "Qui tollis". Perhaps Sir Ernest is too kind to the choir; in any event they need a little drill-sergeant treatment of the Furtwangler variety. No choir can live on its former reputation, and even the Mendelssohn choir must remember to keep their eyes glued on the conductor and follow his slightest gesture. Sir Ernest conducted with authority—and without a score. He has the knack of always choosing the right pace. He avoided cheap effects which would be out of place in the lofty drama of the Mass. It was altogether a very sound and at times an inspiring performance.

Heaven Preserve Us From This

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

FROM time to time talk comes of the desirability or need of broadcasting the proceedings of Parliament. If such a step ever comes to be considered seriously we hope those considering it will take a look at what radio broadcasting has done to the Parliament of Australia.

What it has done to the Parliament of Australia is told by a CP despatch from Sydney. Thus:

"Radio is changing the traditional character of the Australian Parliament.

"Members no longer address their speeches to fellow members, but rather to a radio audience. . . regard broadcasts as a valuable means of spreading party doctrine."

Parliament is supposed to be a deliberative assembly; a place where the people's representatives call for the redress of grievances and examine, audit and criticize the acts of the Executive. To risk turning it into a sounding board for doctrines or ideologies, or into a sounding board for the ambitions of individuals, with change of its character and impairment of its usefulness, is something which nobody with understanding of parliament could ever contemplate lightly.

The CP despatch from Sydney cites an example of how parliamentarians in Australia "have the radio audience in mind". A Labour member was having trouble with an ill-fitting denture during a speech, turned to the microphone and bellowed:

"And if my dentist is listening I want to tell him this: 'I'll be home at the week-end and I hope my new teeth are ready'."

From that sort of thing, may Heaven preserve us.

Letter To The Editor

FORGET NOT 4TH A/T

Sir: Far be it from me to detract anything relating to the war service of the "Glens", but frankly I feel it's time the people of Peterborough were reminded of other Peterborough units. It's some years now since any mention was made of the 4th A/T yet it was the first unit mobilized in your city, it was also a "D" day unit, in fact the first self-propelled anti-tank gun to hit the beach was in charge of a 4th Battery man. The role of anti-tank is not the same as other artillery, these guns go into action with the infantry and are a separate fighting unit of five men, even carrying their own rations. Several times they were left when the infantry drew back.

Out of a strength of around 130 men the 4th A/T had approximately 100 replacements while in Europe, they were definitely first line troops. From Holland on, they were used as infantry and in the last few weeks of the war, captured and held a small German village caled Strackolh.

Being an artillery man for 20 years I feel it's the best branch of the service, and it is the senior service of the army.

So when you start telling about the Peterborough war units, remember there were two besides the Company for the Glens. The A/T and the Engineers, and these were completely enlisted in Peterborough.

We have a printed book of our history from start to finish, printed in Holland. If you would care to read this you would have a first class story for it is well written and very interesting.

Don't feel I'm detracting any glory from the Glens, you can't do that as they also were 3rd Division, and we who had the privilege of belonging to that Division are very proud of every unit that was in it.

Yours truly,
ANTI-TANKER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death. (Ps. 68: 20.)

He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. (Rev. 22: 11-14.)

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation. (Ps. 24: 3-5.)

Unconsidered Trifles

After going about three miles the motorist who had given an old lady a lift on the country road asked: "And where did you say you were going?"

"Well," she said, "to tell you the truth, I was going in the opposite direction, only I didn't like to hurt your feelings when you were so kind as to offer me a ride."

She murmured, blushing, "My dear, Bill proposed to me last night."

"Congratulations, darling," purred her friend. "He does it so beautifully, doesn't he?"

Another organization has been spawned by our local Commies. This time it is the Congress of Canadian Women, devoted to a bill of rights for Canadian women, and, of course, "the right to peace".

This must be the umpteenth little disguise our friends have adopted. They remind us of the Amoeba, which according to Webster's is "one of the simplest known animals, consisting of a microscopic nucleolated mass of protoplasm", which "perpetually changes its shape by protruding portions of its body, and nourishes itself by enveloping minute organisms".

Autry Will Be Rootin' Tootin' TV Cowboy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 (AP) —Gene Autry today explained why he is getting into television.

"There are 8,000,000 kids in the country from the ages of 2 to 6. They're too young to go to movies, but they can watch television. I don't want them to grow up thinking there's only one cowboy —Hopalong Cassidy."

This is the second time in Autry's career that he has to shoot it out with a rival. When he returned from the war, he discovered that singing Roy Rogers had been pushed into the No. 1 film cowboy spot. Gene worked hard to regain his market.

New Rival

Now white-thatched Bill Boyd has galloped into the hearts of the kids in the U. S.—and some in Canada—astride a TV set. Gene is a good friend of Bill as well as Roy (the Autry-Rogers "feud" was a publicity stunt, says Gene), but Autry indicated there is plenty of room in video for another cowboy.

"Anybody who says television isn't here to stay is plumb blind," Gene told me at his new $140,000 house. "It is a tremendous new field and it can't be ignored. I always say, 'if you can't whip 'em, join 'em.'"

He added: "I figure it this way —I was the first cowboy to put singing in westerns, I was the first singing cowboy to tour the country in rodeos. I was the first in comic books and the first to make commercial tieup for clothes and toys. So I might as well be the first singing cowboy to make new films for television."

Capsule Review

"Annie Get Your Gun" (M.G.M.) could hardly miss, considering its rousing theme and its score. The songs remain undimmed, and the story, about Annie Oakley and Wild West Shows, has been staged lavishly. Betty Hutton plays Annie as the other sharp-shooter. Topnotch entertainment.

Toronto Girl Top Can. Singer

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — Lois Marshall of Toronto, 25-year-old soprano, is the 1950 choice for top award in the radio talent competition, "singing stars of tomorrow."

Miss Marshall, who has appeared as guest soloist with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and on a number of radio concert programs, receives a $1,000 music scholarship. In 1949 she was second in the women's section.

Senior men's award of $750 goes to tenor Abramo Carfagnini, 28, of Montreal.

Two young sopranos tied for second prize in the women's section: Doreen Hulme, 23, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Andree Lescot, 24, of Montreal. Both received $500 scholarships.

Hugh Lawson, vice-president of the sponsoring company, announced the 1950 competition was the last in the series.

During the seven years, 4,000 young Canadian musicians were auditioned for appearance on the broadcasts and 300 were heard as contestants. Forty received musical scholarships as competition finalists.

Shanghai, City In Siege From Daily Bomber Attacks

HONG KONG, April 24 (Reuters)—The business and living routine of the 5,000,000 inhabitants of Shanghai is undergoing a transformation which has no previous parallel—not even during the most hectic days of the Japanese occupation.

Shanghai today resembles a city under siege, say travellers who arrived here recently. Important office buildings and factories are heavily sandbagged and the windows of stores and business houses are thickly plastered with strips of blastproof paper.

The changes have been made necessary by repeated Nationalist air attacks.

Twice A Day

Air raid warnings sound on an average of twice a day, bringing all activities to a standstill.

The city government, leading business houses and public utility undertakings have all changed their office hours to the late evening — most of them work from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.—to insure uninterrupted work.

Once the banks change their hours, travellers say, the commercial changeover will be complete.

If and when this switch becomes general, restaurants, movies and other entertainment places are expected to change their hours to suit the new leisure period of the masses — from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Meanwhile the general public, but especially the foreign community of some 15,000, has suffered a drastic reduction in the amenities of life to which it has long been accustomed.

Power Cut

With every household restricted to one-fifth of its former electricity and power consumption, most foreign families have had to put refrigerators, electric cookers, heaters and irons in storage and replace their 100 or 75-Watt lamps with five Watt ones, and even kerosene lamps and candles.

Wells are being dug throughout the city as a preaution in the event of failure of the water supply, and registration has been ordered of all flush toilets for a possible return to old methods of disposal—through "honey" carts.

Large factories and retail stores are probably the hardest hit by the power and electricity restrictions which seriously curtail production and working hours.

Factories Moved

One result has been the accelerated movement of plants to the interior—in most cases complete with equipment and workers.

Thousands of retail stores are reported to have applied unsuccessfully for permission to close down following a prolonged spell of poor business as a result of the considerably reduced purchasing power of the public.

The over-all economic picture remains as grim as ever, the travellers say. The authorities have prevented any wild price spurts so far through mass dumping of rice, flour and other essential commodities. But the question is: How long can they keep this up?

Napier, New Zealand Attains City Status

NAPIER, N. Z., —(CP)—Napier, east-coast town which was almost destroyed with heavy loss of life by an earthquake in 1931, has just attained the status of a city. In New Zealand this involves reaching a population of 20,000.

At the time of the disaster Napier had a population of about 14,000. The town has been rebuilt in modern earthquake-resisting materials. It has one of the finest waterfront promenades in New Zealand and large areas of low-lying tidal flats, thrust upward by the earthquake, have been developed for residential and industrial purposes.

Will Co-operate On Highway Says Duplessis

QUEBEC, April 24 (CP)—Co-operation of the Quebec government in the Trans-Canada highway project is probable, Premier Duplessis said Friday.

He told a press conference that terms for an agreement on the project have been modified and his government is ready to sign an "agreement that is just, appropriate and constitutional."

He felt earlier proposals made to him by Reconstruction Minister Winters would have "sanctioned Federal superiority and Federal supremacy which we do not recognize and which does not exist."

The Premier said that when Quebec signs up it will be understood that the province "intends to kep intact its rights of control over provincial roads and over highway traffic on them."

Premier Duplessis also discussed development of Quebec's national resources, announcing a new copper discovery and an order for establishment of a town in the developing mining region of Chibougamau, 200 miles northwest of Quebec.

The Premier did not reveal the location of the new copper mine but he said it contained "millions of pounds" of the metal.

Freighters Go Through Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 24 (CP)—The new inter-lake navigation season opened officially Sunday when four freighters arrived from the lower lakes and two of them moved upbound into Lake Superior.

All four vessels belong to the Algoma Central Railway. Honor of first arrival here went to the Algocen, followed by the Algoway, Algosoo and Algorail.

The Algoway, loaded with coal, locked through at 3:30 p.m. and headed out through the upper St. Mary's River for Michipicoten, Ont. How far she will be able to buck her way through the ice in Whitefish Bay was uncertain. The Algosoo also left upbound, three hours later.

The Algocen entered the Davis lock, officially opening navigation, at 8:30 a.m.

The coal-bearing freighter, upbound from Toledo, Ohio, had been expected to pass through the locks late Saturday, but she was delayed by huge ice floes and heavy slush in the St. Mary's River.

Because of the early hour, only a handful of the Sault's population was on hand to see Capt. M. A. Livingstone of Collingwood, Ont., presented with the Gene Herman trophy, a ship's clock which goes to the winner of the race to open the season.

It was the first time a ship of Sault registry had won the trophy.

Livingstone, 70-year-old veteran of 41 years on the lakes as a freighter captain, reported a rough trip.

The Algocen, owned by the Algoma Central Railway, was bound for the Canadian Sault.

The car ferry Sainte Marie was in route to aid vessels through River ice.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With a son at Grove School in Lakefield, Jim Coleman gets up this way often. The former noted sports columnist on the Globe and Mail is doing a bit of free lance writing now and acting as press agent for racing interests. We recall him saying once that a press agent is a newspaperman with his brains kicked in, though many an ex-scribe will resent that—including James now. He has an interesting piece about his newspaper experiences in Maclean's, his sports-writing starting in western Canada, taking him out to the coast and finally to Toronto, where he resigned a few months ago quite suddenly.

* * * * * *

He gives the reason thusly: "I was writing with a sword hanging from the ceiling in my office. Any daily columnist can tell you about that sword. As soon as one column is completed, the scribe heaves a couple of deep breaths and begins to worry about the next day's chore. Like the simple but perilous business of staying alive, writing a daily column is a job that ends only once. Personal friends and readers were prepared to believe almost anything except the simple truth—which was that I had resigned because I didn't want to write a daily column any more." But there's a wistful strain through the narrative as the printer's ink in his blood stirs at old memories. He'll be back, we bet.

* * * * * *

Tough But Interesting

It is a fact that writing a daily column on anything six days a week and 52 weeks a year over a span of years can be quite a chore. It's pretty hard to have every column interesting, especially when you're worn out after a late trip somewhere in the province, or maybe nursing a nasty cold. But sports are always interesting and you do meet some screwy and enjoyable characters on and off the field. Like Jim, we'll sometime have to write some of our more zany experiences covering sports hither and yon. And list some of the better places we've been kicked out of—as the saying is. It's a tough job but an interesting one, and what more can any workingman look for, apart that is from more mazuma?

Babe Fontaine and Percy Johnston, in admiration for the fighting comeback here Friday of Legionnaires, have started a fund to give the champs a bonus, provided they come through again for a title. If they beat Brantford out to retain their crown, these two chaps think they rate something extra. So, each has sweetened the pot $10 worth and they hope other good fans with a little dough to spare will kick in anywhere from a buck up to build a nice jackpot within the next week. They asked us to mention it and we're doing so. Give Babe at his shop your name and contribution, if you favor the plan.

Away For The Big One

Legionnaires were to pull out at one this aft for Brantford and the seventh game of their OHA senior "B" finals. They have five points to the Nats' seven now, so they'll have to win tonight to tie it up and stay in the hunt. If they win, it'll likely result in a home-and-home final series, goals to count. If they lose, Brantford will be the new provincial champs. Even a tie this eve isn't good enough for Legion. They drilled hard over the week-end and are all set for the big game, hoping the refereeing is as impartial as that served here Friday by Bill Morrison of Oshawa and Pat Patterson of Toronto. Even the Brants liked that officiating. George Panter promised to have an OHA man on deck for this game to see that the ice was fit.

* * * * * *

Basketball, which always outlasted hockey in Peterborough, winds up this week here. Girls' junior hoop title will be settled tonight in the YW in one or two games. If Nurses win the 7.30 tilt, they're the champs—but if Normals win, the two teams go right back at each other to declare a winner this p.m. And the men's crown could be settled Wednesday eve at the YM when Shockey's and Clapper's clash in the second of their best-of-three finals. Shockey's took the first Saturday by 57-50 with Jim Thorburn tossing in no less than 27 points for the victors. A keen contest, and the refereeing was strict as a number of players got the chop for personal fouls.

Regina, Montreal Square Off For Memorial Cup

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — It's Montreal Canadiens and Regina Pats in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals opening in Montreal Thursday.

The Quebec champions won the Eastern Canada Junior Hockey finals with a 5-3 victory here on Saturday night over Guelph Biltmores that gave Canadiens the best-of-seven series four games to two.

A crowd of 11,704 saw the unpredictable Guelph team shunted to the sidelines Saturday night ending a series of upsets in which they have surprised the favorites since they finished the regular Ontario Hockey Association schedule in fourth place.

Guelph had no excuses. Biltmores played a typical game, driving hard at times but just as often floundering around against the steadier and fast-skating Canadiens.

Montreal scorers were Bill Goold with two, Bill Sinnett, Dickie Moore and Kev Rochford. Guelph marksmen were Ron Plumb with two and Andy Bathgate.

Poor Playing

Alf Pike's Biltmores were always behind, trailing 1-0 at the end of the first period and 3-2 at the end of the second. Montreal gained a 4-2 margin before Guelph got its final tally and then Canadiens made it 5-3 just before the game ended.

Despite sloppy puck-handling, poor passing and loose defensive work the Biltmores were still trailing only 4-3 with 70 seconds to go. Goalie Cliff Hicks of Guelph was taken off in hopes six forwards might get the tying goal. Quickly Rochfort sent a long shot into the open Guelph net and the series was over.

Sam Pollock's Canadiens always appeared to have the upper hand. They gave Guelph few good scoring chances against goalie Roger Morrissette but their offensive work was disorganized by Biltmores' scrambling type of hockey and fore-checking.

The game was comparatively clean with only eight penalties being called. The officials, Hap Shouldice and Louis Le Compte, both of Ottawa, were always in control.

Second game of the Memorial Cup finals is scheduled for Montreal next Saturday with the third in Toronto May 1. The series continues in Montreal May 4, 6 and 9.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Keith Spaith, starry quarterback for the last two seasons with Calgary's football Stampeders, has signed for the 1950 season, publicity director Leo Murphy announced Sunday. Spaith brings to five the number of American imports already signed. Others are Woody Strode, Sugarfoot Anderson, Riley Matheson and Don Avery.

Gerry Priddy, Detroit Tiger second baseman, was fined by the ball club Sunday for violating curfew rules in a tour of taverns with a Detroit detective Saturday night.

Manager Red Rolfe called a special press conference before Sunday's Detroit-Chicago game to announce levying of the fine, but he declined to disclose the amount. Best guesses were between $50 and $100.

Rolfe told reporters: "Our investigation shows Priddy broke only one rule, the midnight curfew. He was not drunk."

At Kitchener during the week-end delegates from Owen Sound Mercurys and Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen said their clubs may not be represented in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series next season if the league is still a four-team loop.

Attending a hockey meeting organized by Lloyd Roubell of Kitchener, representatives of both teams said it was impossible to operate in the Senior A series without a farm system. Charles Blackwell of Owen Sound said the Mercurys may drop to the Senior B classification.

No progress was made in the formation of an independent league but it was decided to attend the OHA annual meetings next Saturday to try to remedy all grievances.

Attending the meeting were representatives from Listowel, Markham, Woodstock, Owen Sound, Brantford, Hespeler, Kitchener and Walkerton.

Sherbrooke Takes 2 Wins Surprises Marlies, Crowd

MONTREAL, April 24—(CP)—Sherbrooke Saints, their morale bolstered by two week-end victories, are confident of tying their Eastern Canada Senior Hockey final series with Toronto Marlboros when they clash again Tuesday night in Toronto.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League Champions surprised everyone by staging a last-minute rally to take two decisions over the Marlies after dropping by wide margins the first three games of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup finals.

Saints edged out Toronto 6-5 Saturday night and trounced the Ontario champions 5-2 Sunday. They came up with a surprising change of form and practically skated and checked the hapless Marlboros off the ice.

Toronto Favorites

Toronto was favored to clinch the series in one of the games and this was reflected by the number of fans who witnessed two contests—a total of 11,000. This is far below previous years in Eastern Canada finals here.

Saints played only the opener of the series at home, with the rest scheduled for Toronto and Montreal because the Sherbrooke auditorium has a small seating capacity of 4,500 fans.

Should the series be knotted Tuesday, the teams will either have to return to Toronto or play their seventh game in Sherbrooke because Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules—like the National Hockey League — say that a decisive game cannot be played on neutral ice.

Stronger Sunday

After winning their first game Saturday night, the Saints came back stronger Sunday.

Looking at it from the angle of statistics, Saints were outshot 29-22 Saturday and managed to eke out Marlies. Play see-sawed all the way.

But their second victory was well deserved. They launched an all-out attack in the first period and never gave ground. When the final whistle sounded, Saints had piled 47 shots on goalie Pat Boehmer while Paul LeClerc had it easier in his nets, making 31 saves.

Both goal-tenders played spectacularly in the two clashes.

Trophies Given Trojans For Puck Titles

The Filter Queen midgets defeated Pittsburg Paint team by a 6-3 score in a rugged game Saturday at Civic Arena in Trojan AC playoffs. Mr. L. Long, Trojan Club president, presented the Trojan Trophy to the victors, while H. T. Rehill presented his trophy to the Ashby bantams, who defeated Scarfe's Paint squad 5-3 in a neat encounter. Hugh Waddell presented his trophy to the Maple Leaf peewees who won from Canadiens 2-1 in a tight tussle for the title in that division.

In the midget game, Seabrooke got two goals, aided once by Doris, the latter helping Lockie on another. Dunn scored from Foster, the latter tallying one, also, from Patterson, and Bloom got a marker. For the Paint crew Walling scored from Sloan, as Farley and Smith got solo counters.

For Ashby's, Wright counted a piar, Whitnall, Whitton, and Doris getting one each, with an assist apiece going to Whitnall, Wright and irard. For Scarfe's, Carveth got two and McDonald one, with Floyd helping twice and Cuffe once.

Gillespie Captures Foul Shooting Title

Chum Gillespie captured the M. E. Knox Trophy for the foul shooting championship of the YMCA. The final contest was held on Saturday night at the half of the city league playoff between Gillespie and G. Burns. Gillespie tossed in 41 successful attempts, while Burns was good for 39 out of the 50 attempts.

Both cagers shot five throws at a time, and when each had 45 tosses the score was tied at 36 each. Burns missed twice in his last five to finish with a 39 score while Gillespie made his five all good to win the trophy.

In the preliminaries Ab Stewart threw 46 good ful shots to tie the record set by Don Griffin last year. Stewart dropped out in the finals as Burns and Gillespie each dropped in 45 out of 50 shots to force the extra final contest.

Shockey's Lead In Finals With 57-50 Win

Shockey's jumped to a one-game lead Saturday night in the best-of-three series for the City Basketball League championship as they downed Clapper's 57-50. The second game of the series will be played Wednesday night.

The Cleaners started early with a 9-0 score, featuring Jim Thornburn and Doug MacPherson. Ab Stewart led the sports quintet in a comeback and they stayed close until the half which ended with the Shockey squad up 27-17.

Thorburn, MacPherson and Bryon Young accounted for most of the Shockey points at the first of the second half as the quintet started to add to their lead. Clapper's again rallied, led by Bill Dadson and Ted Payne, and were pulling up fast near the end when the Shockey cagers had only four men on the floor.

Referees Strict

Referees Al Clark and Rocky Kidd were stricter than the other referees in league games. Ted Payne, Vic Griffin and Al Stewart of the Clapper squad and Barney Dundas, Bill Moorehead and Joe Stewart of the Cleaners, all left with five personals.

Jim Thorburn easily led the scorers flipping in 27 points for the Cleaners while Doug MacPherson of the Cleaners and Ted Payne of the Sportsers each had 10 points. The scoring on both squads was well distributed. Line-ups:

Shockey's Cleaners—Jim Thorburn 27, Joe Stewart 5, Bill Moorehead 2, Doug MacPherson 10, Barney Dundas 2, Byron Young 9, Errol Hanbidge 2.

Clapper's Sports—Al Stewart 8, Bill Dadson 9, Ed Smith 6, Tom Taylor 3, Vic Griffin 1, Al Menzies 6, Ted Payne 10.

David Team Winners In Volleyball

Howard David's volleyball team won the YMCA volleyball championship and the Lillico Trophy Saturday afternoon when they defeated Albert Dryland's squad two straight 15-6 and 15-5 in the finals. David's teams displayed a strong attack and solid defence in winning the games.

In the semi-finals Dryland's team turned back the Cliff Cadd sextet in three games losing the first 4-15, and winning the others 15-10, and 15-11. This was the upset of the year as Cadd's squad won the regular schedule. A few bad lapses by the losers plus some remarkable recoveries by the Dryland squad turned the trick.

Howard David's netters met Steve Csumrik in the other semi-final frays. Csumrik forced the David crew into overtime in the first game, finally winning 16-14. David's squad awakened to win the other two games 16-14 and 15-1. Line-ups:

Cliff Cadd—Al Austin, Barney Dundas, Claude Elliott, Grant Gillespie, Lawrence Gould, Fred Welford.

Steve Csumrik—Lloyd Ash, Dave Addyman, Rick Cochrane, Valdimir Gallin, Stan Shields.

Boston Braves Look Tops, Need One Pitcher

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Give the Boston another reliable starting pitcher and you can start making World Series reservations at Braves' field for next October.

Five games may not be a true standard, but they've given the following indications:

1. The rebuilt Braves boast one of the hardest-hitting clubs in the National League.

2. The outfield is the best manager Bill Southworth took over the club.

3. Pitcher Johnny Saint, ace of the 1948 championship squad, definitely is on the comeback after a poor '49 season.

The Braves lost their first game of the infant season Sunday when they bowed to Philadelphia 6-5 after winning the first game of the doubleheader, 4-3. The opening game triumph was their fourth of the campaign.

Braves Third

The split dropped the Braves into third place. Chicago's surprising Cubs, rained out of their game with St. Louis, remained on top with a 3-0 rating. Rain also washed out the Brooklyn-New York game. In the only other National League activity, Pittsburgh ran up its fifth straight triumph, vanquishing Cincinnati Reds 5-3.

Chicago White Sox handed Detroit its first defeat of the season, 5-4. It was the Sox' first victory in five starts. The Tigers had won four straight.

Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics divided a doubleheader. The A's won the opener 9-4, and the Sox came back to take the nightcap 12-2. The game was halted after six innings because of darkness.

Cleveland Wins Two

Cleveland swept both ends of a twin bill from St. Louis Browns, 9-6 and 7-5, with darkness ending the second game after seven innings. Rain washed out the scheduled Washington - Yankee game at New York.

The Braves lost the second game to Philadelphia because Johnny Antonelli, Southworth's hope for the fourth starting berth, failed to get by the first inning. Four hits produced two Philadelphia runs and brought in Norman Roy.

Sain gave Southworth plenty to enthuse over when he limited the Phils to six hits in the opener.

Gordon's four-bagger was his third of the campaign. He now has driven in eight runs.

Two-Run Gift

Outfielder Wally Westlake's fourth homer of the season featured the Pirates' victory. However, the Bugs picked up their tie-breaking runs in the sixth without the aid of a hit. Five straight passes by Frank Smith and Ewell Blackwell gave them two runs.

Pitcher Bob Lemon was the hero of the Indians' two triumphs. He hurled a five-hitter to beat the Browns in the opener, then homered as a pinch hitter in the second game to put his mates ahead.

White Sox Win First

Billy Pierce turned in a brilliant relief pitching job to help the White Sox gain the first victory of the year. The former Tiger lefthander relieved starter Bob Kuzava with two out in the fifth and held his former mates scoreless the rest of the way.

Rookie Bob Hooper's sterling relief pitching was a contributing factor in the A's first-game triumph over the Red Sox. Hooper replaced Bob Shantz in the seventh with the bases loaded and nobody out. He retired the side without a score. Ferris Fain and Sam Chapman collected three hits apiece for the A's.

The Sox clouted three Philadelphia pitchers for 14 hits in the second game to enable Mel Parnell to register his first victory of the year.

Wings Grab Stanley Cup On Babando's Overtime Goal

DETROIT, April 24 (CP) — Pete Babando's overtime goal won the Stanley Cup for Detroit Red Wings Sunday night. The 4-3 victory over New York Rangers gave Detroit its first cup triumph since 1943.

It was a fitting climax to one of the most surprising cup finals in years. Detroit, leaders of the National Hockey League all season, lost star winger Gordie Howe through injuries in the first game of the semi-final against Toronto Maple Leafs, but eliminated the Leafs four games to three. New York, squeezing into the playoffs on a late spurt in league play, eliminated Montreal Canadiens four games to one in the other semi-final.

Lost Sixth 5-4

The lowly Rangers then threatened to pull the biggest surprise the Stanley Cup has seen in a long time. They tied the series in the second game and again in the fourth, won the fifth in overtime and lost the sixth game Saturday night by a 5-4 count.

Starting all even, New York rammed in two goals for an early lead Sunday night. Detroit got those two back, then each team scored again to make it 3-3 at the end of the second period.

The third period was scoreless and so was the first overtime period, when both teams had dangerous attacks rolling. Claude (Chuck) Rayner, in the New York nets, fell while trying to stop a shot that hit the goalpost and needed first aid treatment for a knee injury, but stayed in the game.

Brilliant Saves

That set the stage for the drive by Detroit that won the game. Rayner made three brilliant saves just before a face-off where George Gee passed to Babando who backhanded a 15-footer that slipped in on the lefthand side of the net.

Allan Stanley and Tony Leswick got the opening Ranger goals; and Stanley was in the penalty box when Babando and captain Sid Abel tied it up. Buddy O'Connor sent New York into the lead, only to have Jim McFadden get the equalizer.

From that goal until Babando sank the big one, the teams went through 52 minutes and 24 seconds of bruising, scoreless play.

Long Time Coming

Detroit's goalie, Harry Lumley, said "boy, that was a long time coming," as the overtime broke up and the teams headed for the dressing rooms. Coach Tommy Ivan congratulated each of his players and star forward Ted Lindsay yelled: "wow, what a vacation this is going to be."

The New York dressing room wasn't too downcast over the result. "For a team that wasn't even rated a chance of getting into the playoffs we did ourselves proud," said coach Lynn Patrick.

Before they broke up, newspaper men found Stanley and Lindsay in deep argument. Scenting the smouldering embers of one of the many feuds during the season, the scribes gathered close. They found the New Yorker and the Detroit forward wondering how they could get a new motor-car for their vacations.

Chiefs Triumph In Twin Bill Against Buffalo

By The Associated Press

Who do you think feels the more miserable today, Jim Prendergast or Claude Corbitt?

Prendergast, veteran lefthander of the Syracuse Chiefs, entered the ninth inning of Sunday's first game against the Buffalo Bisons with a no-hitter.

He fanned pinch-hitter Coaker Triplett and was two outs away from the treasured goal. Then Corbitt booted Spider Wilhem's grounder for an error as the crowd groaned. But Prendergast got Hank Biasatti to ground out and he was one out from home.

Cy Block stepped up to bat for Jack Creel. He let the first pitch get by and then banged the second to centre field to break up the no-hit bid.

The Chiefs also got a good pitching job from Bud Byerly in the nightcap to win 2-0, and sweep the double-header. Byerly yielded only two hits.

Phil Marchildon, making his first start since arriving from Philadelphia Athletics, and Lynn Lovenguth allowed the Chiefs only two safeties, but Marchildon issued 11 walks, which led to his downfall.

The veteran Penetanguishene righthander walked Russ Burns on four pitches in the fifth and after throwing a ball to Al Rubeling he was lifted. Lovenguth completed the walk to Rubeling and then wild-pitched the runners up a base. Catcher Jerry Burmeister followed with a two-run single.

Springfield Cubs and Toronto Maple Leafs divided a doubleheader, the Leafs taking the opener, 5-0, and the Cubs the second, 4-2.

Grover Bowers blanked the Cubs on six hits in the opener. He was hooked up in a scoreless duel with Al Porto until the ninth when Ed Sanicki and Bud Heslet homered to break up the game.

The second game also was decided in the ninth on a home run. Ted Sepowski parked one out of the lot with one on off Max Peterson to win the game.

Hugh Outram Winner In Road Race

Hugh Outram, 16-year-old high school student, won the local Harriers Club third annual three-mile road race Saturday, defeating a field of six runners. Tom Starck of Norwood, was second and Jim Flowers third. Outram's time was well off the marks set the last two years, but good for a junior as he finished in 19 minute and 47 seconds.

Outram took the lead followed by Starck and Smith, and then Flowers and Brown. They kept their positions for a quarter of a mile and then Flowers moved up to set the pace by about 10 yards. At the three-quarter mark, he and Outram moved ahead and Brown and Starck began closing the gap shortly. Outram set a stiff pace for so early.

Moved Up

Passing the mile Starck moved up behind Outram and Jack Brown as sprinter Flowers slowed down. Halfway through, Chapman and Smith retired to leave four, with Outram in the lead. Brown was through at two and a half miles as Outram and Starck stepped it up with Flowers 100 yards back. Starck tried to pass Outram and it was a sprint some 200 yards to the finish, with Outram hitting the tape by less than a yard advantage. Starck's time was 19 minutes and 47.6 seconds, and Flowers did it in 20 minutes and 22 seconds.

Coach Bill Morewood presented the trophy and medals. The club appreciates the help of police in the race in heavy traffic, and Gord Minty for help officiating. The next event is Saturday next when a cross-country championship race will take place in Jackson Park.

3 Women, 5 Men Die Violently During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The deaths of three women in a level-crossing accident at Welland were among eight fatalities reported in Ontario during the weekend.

Mrs. Alex Shepetunko, 35, Mrs. Raymond Motolanez, 51; and Mrs. Harry Koroway, 50, were killed instantly when a New York Central train smashed into the truck in which they were ridingi. Harry Koroway, driver, of the ill-fated vehicle, escaped with face lacerations and a fractured arm.

Immediately following the accident, Edwin Yaeger, 23-year-old gateman on duty at the crossing, was arrested and charged with manslaughter. Witnesses said the gate was not closed at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Shepetunko's neck was broken. The other women suffered fractured skulls. All residents of the Welland district, their bodies were found on the tracks at the crossing.

Sing In Choir

Witnesses said the truck had travelled only 200 yards when hit. The three women had been at a choir practice of the Russian Canadian Federation and were to have participated in a concert at nearby Thoroid tonight.

Yaeger, a relief gateman since last fall, was arraigned in court and released on $2,000 bail.

In two fires, Victor Blodgett, 63, and nine-year-old Edward Wowrocky were burned to death under similar circumstances. At Durham, Blodgett attempted to pour gasoline into a running milking machine. It caught fire and fatally burned him. Wowrocky, playing near a wrecked truck at Hamilton, was killed when the gas tank exploded.

A drowning and traffic mishap accounted for the two other deaths in the province. At Swastika, near Kirkland Lake, Patrick Gallien, 56, was drowned in the Blanche River. At Toronto 74-year-old Edwin Miller and 81-year-old Ernest Jowett were killed in the traffic accidents.

Red River Flood Veteran Fed By Small Tributaries

WINNIPEG, April 24—(CP)—Floods are an old spring sport for the rambling Red River.

From its source in the Minnesota Lake country, whence the southbound Mississippi also springs, it sallies each break-up time like a great winding serpent looking for some place to strike.

In its 250-mile course to Winnipeg, and on to Lake Winnipeg, it picks up the winter's refuse from some 100,000 square miles Several large and countless small tributaries feed it, and every once in a while it goes on the rampage.

Shallow Tributaries

The chief danger comes from the small tributaries. The larger ones have carved out channels deep enough to take care of low and medium flood crests.

The small tributaries are younger and their channels weave through level prairies. Like the Pembina, which drains 6,000 square miles of border territory, their channels brim over as easily.

The Pembina last week eased over its banks and started the floods in Southern Manitoba. Four towns to the west of the Red's north-south course were flooded, but the local run-off now apparently is over.

A unique feature about the Red is its course. The melt starts in the south, then moves northward with the flow of the river. The ice-bound terrain starts breaking up at Breckenridge, Minn., two to three weeks earlier than at Emerson, Man., scene of what may be the worst floods in years.

Water Accumulates

The flood rolls down the river with cumulative effect, in reaching the mouth of each tributary at almost the same time as the tributary contributes its own run-off.

If the Red were all in the same latitude ice would clear from its whole length within a few days. But the rise reaches each successive section of the system before it is entirely clear of ice.

The channels thus are partially blocked, and this retards and swells the Red.

In 1826 the ice went out May 5 and where Portage Avenue and Main Street now mark the centre of Winnipeg, water was five feet deep. It spread to touch Stony Mountain, nine miles north, and Birds Hill, 10 miles northeast. On the present gauge that would register 36.75 feet above datum —against Sunday's reading of 21 feet.

Horse Kicks Farmer

ROSENEATH, April 24 (ENS) —Harvey Eddy, Alnwick township farmer, was kicked by a horse while working around his stables recently.

Eleven stitches were required to close the gash on his right hand. Mr. Eddy was treated by Dr. George H. Field, Roseneath.

St. Laurent Urges Start On Seaway

SARNIA, April 24 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Saturday sounded an indirect plea for United States action in ratifying the St. Lawrence Seaway plan.

He said Canada is "waiting patiently but a little less patiently as time goes on" for Congress to implement a treaty signed nine years ago by Canada and the United States.

He spoke to a luncheon audience in this Gdeat Lakes port during a two-dap tour of Southwestern Ontario.

He said development of the plan, which would be shared by the two countries, would strengthen the western powers and help deter aggression, in addition to adding economic strength to the countries and power and transportation facilities.

Later, he told a public meeting that Canada stands at the "beginning of another era of expansion and development" and can look forward to a high level of income "as far as we can see."

If, however, economic conditions took a downward trend and national income fell, present tax rates would not produce enough revenue to meet federal government expeditures.

East Africa To See Woman Bullfighter

JOHANNESBURG, — (CP) — Conchita Cintron, 24-year-old South American bullfighter, intends marrying Francisco Castelo Branco, Portuguese nobleman and keen bull-fight enthusiast, and her future home with her husband will be in Portugese East Africa.

Bull-fight fans in Lourenco Marques are certain that the "blonde goddess" as she is called by Spaniards, will fight at the Tomas de Rocha arena there when she arrives.

Conchita was born in Lima, Peru, and has been fighting bulls ever since she was 14. She killed her first bull before a crowd of 40,000 in Mexico.

Brethren Will Open

MONTREAL, April 24—(CP)—Th Christian Brethren intend to reopen their meeting place at Shawinigan Falls, Que., although they have "no assurance" of police protection, Dr. A. C. Hill, chairman of the religious sect in Quebec Province, said Sunday. He said in a staeement that "no satisfactory follow-up police action" was taken after the recent riotous demonstration at Shawinigan Falls, when a large crowd pelted the Brethren's meeting place with stones, eggs and bottles.

100 Whales Washed Up

KIRKWALL, Orkney Islands, April 24 — (AP) — Nearly 100 bottle-nosed whales, washed ashore in the Bay of Holland at nearby Stronsay, noisily gasped out their lives Sunday while islanders looked helplessly on. The Orkney county council's plea for outside help to clear the beach of its mammoth "invaders" fell on deaf ears. The whales were washed up Saturday on an unusually high tide.

Mrs. Ketchum Heads Lakefield Red Cross

LAKEFIELD, April 24 (ENS). — Mrs. Hugh Ketchum, of the Grove School, Lakefield, was named president of Lakefield Red Cross Society last week. E. W. Bailey, organizer of the recent campaign for funds, announced that the villagers had been most co-operative and the objective had been 125 per cent successful The Rev. W. Tonge was guest speaker at a small dinner meeting. Mrs. H. D. Wilford gave a report on the Red Cross convention which she and Mrs. C. Galvin had attended in Toronto as delegates from the Lakefield branch.

35 Dead Found On Jap Mountain

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, April 24—(AP)—The burning wreckage of a U.S. air force transport and the scattered bodies of 35 Americans who died when it crashed Friday night were found Sunday on a mountain peak 37 miles southwest of Tokyo. There were no survivors.

Best known of the civilian and military victims were Frank E. Pickelle, 40, chief of the occupation's foreign trade section since the Japanese surrender, and Capt. John C. Jones, chief of staff of United States naval forces in the Phillipines.

Skidded 200 Feet

Searchers said the four-engined C-54 plane appeared to have hit the rugged tip of 4,800-foot Mount Hirugatake and skidded in explosive flames about 200 feet down the south slope.

It was less than 20 miles from Tachikawa airbase, its destination on a flight from the Phillipines, when it crashed during a rainstorm. The melted wreckage was scattered over an area of 200 to 300 yards. Lieut. Joseph Cooper, pilot of a helicopter, said he saw what appeared to be a wing tip in a tree a half-mile away. Large trees nearby were sheared off and burned.

Searched In Rain

Discovery of the wreckage by a B-17 plane climaxed an arduous air and ground search in fog and rain by more than 3,500 American service men and Japanese.

Gen. MacArthur issued a statement expressing the shock and sympathy of the allied occupation command over "this terrible tragedy" to those who "were gone from our midst." In addition to Pickelle and Jones, veterans included Bernard W. Adams, chief of the occupation trade procedures branch, and F. J. Scarr, chief of the management organization and manning section.

Suspect Arrested

HULL, Que., April 24—(CP)—Douglas McAdam, 44, sought by police since last January in connection with a shooting incident near Parry Sound, Ont., was arrested Saturday. Police said he is being returned to Parry Sound to face a charge of shooting with intent to commit grievous bodily harm. He is alleged to have shot at two Indians he caught in the act of robbing his trapline in the Georgian Bay area. The Indians were not injured.

5,000-Mile Canoe Trip

SAGINAW, Mich., April 24 — (CP)—Two men stepped into a canoe at the mouth of the Saginaw River Sunday to begin a trip which they expect will take them to Aklavik, 5,000 miles away on the Arctic Ocean, in about four months. Organizer of the trip is Emerson Scott, 39. He has two good aids—a five-horsepower outboard motor and a strong outdoorsman, Raymond Diessen, 20.

Brooke Claxton Back From U.S. Army Tour

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP) — Defence Minister Brooke Claxton returned to Ottawa Saturday night aboard an RCAF Dakota aircraft after witnessing U. S. army and air force demonstrations at Fort Benning, Ga., and Elgin Field, Fla.

He was the personal guest of U. S. Defence Secretary Louis Johnson, and viewed the demonstrations with President Truman.

Mr. Claxton said marked progress in the unification of United States forces was evidenced in "teamwork in operations and in good feeling between personnel of all branches at every level."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any drugstore.

But
Have You Provided for Their Financial Welfare in the Future?

As today's costs of living are high, obligations and expenses heavy and complex, thousands of men are asking themselves:

"What will my life insurance do to cover the needs of my family? How far will my life insurance go?"

Such a question may well lead to an examination of your policies and to the realization that it just isn't practical to leave a lump sum of cash for your widow to manage as best she can.

In these days, more and more men are analysing their life insurance with the help of well-informed Dominion Life representatives. They are arranging the proceeds of their policies to be paid as incomes over a period of years.

Such arrangements enable a man to give his family financial protection which provides for every future eventuality. Furthermore, the proceeds of a policy last longer when payments are spread over the years. We invite you to ask us how you can make life insurance go farther.

YOUR FAMILY IS WORTH A MILLION DOLLARS TO YOU . . . SEE THAT THEY ARE ADEQUATELY PROTECTED!

200 Composers Submit Songs For U.N. Anthem

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., (CP)—When the United Nations adopts an official anthem there will be at least about 200 disappointed composers.

The U. N. has in its files that many songs submitted by amateurs and professionals for use as a U. N. anthem. The compositions range from a published work by Irving Caesar, Broadway song writer, to pencil scrawlings.

One march named "United Nations" written by Russian composer Dimitry Shostakovich has been played at concerts in connection with the U. N. but the Soviet composer has not submitted it as a possible official anthem and it is not recognized as such.

U.N. officials tell those submitting songs that their works will be filed for the day when the U. N. runs a world-wide competition to pick an anthem.

That's what they told Mrs. Wilhemina Speight Bowman of Kitchener, Ont., who sent in the "World's Interational Peace Anthem."

Some For Orchestra

Many of the songs were written prior to the U. N.'s formation and now are offered as possible anthems. Often they came with scoring for a complete orchestra.

Most have titles like "United Nations Hymn," or The United Nations March," but there is a sprinkling with such names as "Peace For Everyone," and "U. N. Hail To Thee."

Songs flooded in during 1948 and still arrive at the rate of about one a month. Most come from the United States, although some have been received from France, Germany, Haiti and the Philippines.

Sing Every Month

One song was submitted with the instructions that it should be sung by delegates at the opening of every meeting.

The U. N. has given semi-official approval to six jingles written by two Broadway songwriters and used by radio stations between regular programs.

The U. N. radio division has distributed several hundred records of the jingles to radio stations throughout the United States.

The jingles, written in the style of singing commercials, in fact advertise the work of the U. N. A couple of the titles are "Round the World Polka," and "Building A Happier World."

THESE DOGS ARE FULL SISTERS but there is two years' difference in their ages. Both Tiny, 2½ years old, left, and five-month-old Baby were born with one front leg missing. Otherwise the animals, a cross between pomeranian and a fox terrier, are normal. Their owner, Dolores Bernard of Windsor, Ont., holding them, says they can romp as well as any other dog. Veterinary Dr. T. H. Boyd says they are the first three-legged dogs he has ever seen.

$35,000 Required For Hospital At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24 — (ENS)—The annual meeting of Campbellford Memorial Hospital Board was held on Friday. A. J. Meyers gave the financial report and pointed out that after paying for all work that has so far been completed on the new hospital, there would be a bank balance of $72,236.21. However, to complete the project it will be necessary to raise an additional $35,000.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Hon. president J. E. Ayrhart, president H. M. Donald, Directors—W. F. Scottt, A. B. Billen, A. D. Bennett, J. A. Murray, F. W. Burgis, R. J. Locke; secretary, F. S. Linton; treasurer, J. D. Mills; auditors, R. J. Bale and C. J. Maier.

Mr. Meyers said the board would continue to follow its policy of letting contracts only for the amount of money on hand. This, he said, may prolong completion of the hospital to some extent, but it would be free of debt.

The financial position now is better that it was one year ago at this time. A year ago the board required an additional $50,000.

The building committee has instructed the contractors, Wilfred Spencer & Sons, to proceed with the partitions and the roughing-in of the plumbing will be done at the same time.

Must Return Courtesy To World Affairs

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP).—An old-time diplomat and former Ontario newspaper man would like to see the "courtesy and diplomacy of the old days" return to international relations.

Lt.-Col. Hugh Clark, 83, Canada's first Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, solemnly viewed world affairs as "difficult" during a week-end visit here.

"We now have to deal with men who do not hesitate to lie, steal, torture, or even murder when it serves their purpose," he said in an interview.

"That is what happens," he added, "when great nations allow themselves to fall under the rule of gangsters."

Col. Clark, a resident of Kincardine, is a former newspaper man who climaxed a brilliant career in the Ontario Legislature by being elected to the House of Commons in 1911. For four years he sat as Conservative member for North Bruce and then was named Canada's first Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State in the wartime Borden Government.

The veteran parliamentarian acquired his hometown weekly, The Kincardine Review, in 1890, and retained ownership until 1925.

Col. Clark worked as editor of the Ottawa Citizen in 1897 and later as its parliamentary correspondent in the Ontario Legislature. He was in the Press Gallery in 1902 when he ran for and won the provincial seat of Bruce Centre.

He was closely associated with Sir Robert Borden during the 1908 and 1911 general election campaigns, touring Ontario and Quebec with the not man.

Franco Bids To Strengthen Falange Position In Spain

By HENRY BUCKLEY

MADRID, Spain, April 24 — (Reuters) — The Falange movement in Spain, after being in the background for some years, is strengthening its position as a political force.

Evidence of the increasing importance of the Falange is found in the publicity given to the recent meeting near Barcelona of the 120 members of the national council of the Falange youth front, known as Frente de Juventudes.

The council members, representing 200,000 youths under 21 from all sections of Spain, held their ninth annual meeting at the small seaside resort of Arenys de Mar and then moved to the historic setting of Barcelona's ancient city for the formal closing of the gathering by the Minister of Justice and General Secretary of Falange, Raimundo Fernandez Cuesta.

Franco Speech

From there, the councillors left by bus for Madrid where they were received in the palace of El Pardo and given a fighting speech by Generalissimo Franco.

As a movement, it has emerged from its partial eclipse more moderate in tone, less violent in its propaganda, strongly Roman Catholic and with little sign of the once strong anti-clerical vein which pervaded at least some sectors of the movement.

With propaganda prohibited for all other political parties, the steady annual turn-over in 11 years of the thousands of young people, who each year take long or short training courses in the youth-front academies and instruction centres, has made the Falange a large and powerful political group.

What these young people will eventually make of the strong political movement they form, is something that few observers would care to prophesy.

Directs Activities

Primarily, the Falange organizes and directs the activities of the young men of the movement —2,402 "centurias" comprising 179,715 young Falangists of up to 21 years of age. In addition, there are 70,000 girls and young women who come under the women's section of Falange.

The youth front also fights illiteracy and interests elementary and secondary school teachers in its efforts to influence and educate boys and youth, particularly in neglected country areas. At a meeting last summer it asked abolition of censorship and reduction of price controls.

Love's Labor Lost Eggs Go Overboard

LIVERPOOL, Eng., —(CP)—All the way from Montreal Sheila Hill, 19, jealously guarded two dozen eggs. She was bringing them for her mother.

But things had changed since Sheila left London seven months before to make her home in Canada. She learned eggs now are plentiful in Britain.

So, light-heartedly, she tossed the eggs over the rail of the liner Empress of Canada into the Mersey River.

Boys At Lakefield Pass Sea Scout Tests

LAKEFIELD, April 24 (ENS)—Theodore Down was examined for the tests at the Sea Scout meeting last week when Bob Pratt and Ronald Kingdon passed the firemen's test and Jack Bergen repassed his. Walter Lean passed his Scout Laws and Promise and Camp Bed.

Rickey Wilford will be invested at the next meeting.

Dr. Lloyd Balley gave the Scouts instruction on the St. John's Ambulance Course.

Avon Disappointment

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, April 24—(Reuters—H. S. Bradshaw, of Stratford, Ont., watched disconsolate as 80 national flags were unfurled Sunday as part of the Shakespeare celebrations. He had come with a party of fellow-Canadians to unfurl a flag given by his home town. But the banner, sent by air, had not arrived.

Bribery Hint Made In Inter-Union Fight

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP) — Anthony Valente of Washington, international president of the United Textile Workers of America (AFL), said Sunday that Azelus Beaucage, ousted UTW official, may have been bribed to attempt a switch of Local 102 members to the rival CIO Textile Workers Union.

Addressing some 450 local members here, Mr. Valente said he did not know why Beaucage "sold his members down the river and I don't know whether he was paid any price."

Air Force Shows Off For Truman, Claxton

ELGIN AIR BASE, Fla., April 24 (AP)—The United States Air Force laid down a thundering bombardment with its new-type attack weapons Saturday to impress President Truman and top military officials.

The President turned time and again to high military leaders grouped around him to remark on the destructive potentiality of United States air power.

Among the observers watching the demonstration was Defence Minister Brooke Claxton of Canada.

Asking For Vote In Lakefield On Warehouse

LAKEFIELD, April 24 (By Staff Reporter)—The villagers of "dry" Lakefield have petitioned the council for a vote on a proposal to establish a brewer's warehouse in the village.

Obtaining the necessary ten per cent of the voters' list before sending in the petition, those wanting the warehouse have sent their list of signatures to the council and this has been forwarded to the Liquor Control Board.

A date, to be set by the Board, for a vote is now being awaited.

In the meantime, those opposing the 'wet' proposal, are organising a campaign. An interdenominational meeting has been called for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the United Church to elect a campaign manager.

Lakefield is known as a local option area, which means that three fifths of the votes registered must be in favor of the warehouse before it can be established.

Trophy 30 Years Cannon Blows Up

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. —(CP)— One of the trophies of the First World War, a 75mm. German cannon, was the plaything of children for 20 years as it stood outside a Birmingham high school.

In 1938 it was moved to a scrap yard.

The gun exploded.

There had been a live shell in it for 30 years.

Derrick suffered burns about the eyes.

Heckles Red Dean Has Face Slapped

SYDNEY, Australia, April 24 (Reuters) — Face-slapping and fisticuffs Sunday marked an open air "peace" rally here, at which Most Rev. Hewlett Johnson, "Red" Dean of Canterbury, addressed a crowd of 7,000.

A young man who shouted to the Anglican Dean to "go back to Russia," had his face slapped by a woman. The woman's male companion then punched him heavily on the ear.

The rally was organized by the Australian Peace Council.

Later, the Dean said that United States refusal to grant him a transit visa for Honolulu and San Francisco will cause him to miss a meeting he has scheduled May 7 in Toronto.

"If that is the case," he told a press conference, "I will spend my time travelling from one end of Australia to the other, telling the people about the ways of American imperialism."

U.S. Airman Admits Killing Girl, 17

FLINT, Mich., April 24 (AP) — A handsome United States air force private broke down Sunday night in front of his sweetheart and again confessed he killed Beatrice Dickerson, 17, last summer, sheriff's officers reported.

Earlier in the day, Pte. Kenneth Nesbitt, 22, repudiated statement he made Saturday night that he killed the girl because she wouldn't get into his car. Then he demanded to see his girl friend, Patricia Simmons, 21, a women's air force corporal stationed at Selfridge air force base.

Miss Simmons was summoned. Deputy Sheriff Jack Turner said Nesbitt broke into tears and passionately embraced the girl. Then, the officer said, Nesbitt told Miss Simmons he had killed the theatre cashier here.

Discharged Nurses End Stay-in Strike

WEST HARTLEPOOL, England —(CP)—Two dismissed nurses who staged a six-month stay-in strike in Hartlepools hospital finally have agreed to leave.

Elsie and Elizabeth Driver, sisters, were dismissed last October after criticizing the food served the hospital staff. Backed by a nurses' union, they refused to vacate their quarters.

Their stand brought an official probe and the resignation of the hospital management committee. But the regional hospital board upheld their dismissal.

The sisters agreed to leave after the hospital management threatened to cut off their meals. They said they were given to understand their leaving would "clear the way for negotiations on our behalf."

Stony Cottagers To Reorganize For Mutual Aid

The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association will hold a special general meeting of shareholders at the 48th Highlanders Memorial Hall, 519 Church St., Toronto, on April 26 at 8:30 p.m. They will consider amendments or modifications and present some new by-laws.

Some of the new proposals are as follows; a new corporation is to be formed from the old and will be known as the Association of Stony Lake Cottagers Inc. The new body will assume both assets and liabilities of the old association in consideration of the delivery of promissory notes payable five years after the date of issue in the amount of the book value of the old company's standing. Fully-paid annual memberships in the amount of $5 will constitute a share in the new corporation.

To Check Property

Objectives of the new body are to make necessary repairs and improvements to the pavilion, boathouse and store. Arrangements are to be made for a systematic check of members' properties during closed seasons to report damage or hazards.

Sport and social activities will come under long-term planning as well as appropriate reception of visiting yachtsmen and guests in the Kawarthas. Children's water sports will receive special consideration.

Navigation aids are to be improved and some sort of control of casual campers will be arranged in order to avoid fires and nuisance. There might be a listing service for corporation members who have properties to buy or sell.

The executive committee handling the above affairs in Toronto on Wednesday are L. Crawford Brown, chairman, R. Roy McMurtry, secretary, J. E. Ganong, legal adviser., R. K. Slater, W. A. Richardson and H. H. Webb.

House Burned Near Bewdley

Frank Davis' house a mile west of Bewdley burned to the ground in about a quarter of an hour Saturday evening in a blaze which could have been seen for miles.

Alone in the frame building, Mr. Davis was having his supper when he noticed the flames. He dashed out, grabbing only his violin, just before the roof collapsed.

The volunteer fire brigade went out from Bewdley but the fire raged through the frame building so quickly that nothing could be done to save either the house or contents. Mrs. Davis and the children were away from home.

Three Charges

A Toronto man, John Donohue, was arraigned before Magistrate W. R. Philp today on charges of drunk driving, careless driving, and theft of an automatic pistol. He was remanded to May 1 on $2,000 bail.

No evidence was given, and Donohue pleaded not guilty to all charges.

The charge of theft of a pistol dates back to August of last year, when a warrant was sworn out. The traffic charges were laid over the weekend by Corporal Lloyd McClure, Provincial Police.

Grass Fire

A booster pump was required to put out a grass fire that broke out Sunday afternoon on a vacant lot on Ware St. When firemen arrived the grass was blazing so furiously they decided to take no chances and used the booster. There were also two cases of overheated pipes and one chimney fire reported over the weekend.

None Hurt In Fire At Blind Institute

TORONTO, April 24 — (CP) — Firemen were called to a small blaze in a second-floor washroom at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind today. A. V. Weir, institute general manager, said damage was negligible.

There were about 20 persons in the building at the time. None had to leave.

File For Nails, Screwdriver To Tune Guitar; Five Months

George LeClerc, of Montreal, charged with having housebreaking instruments by night, and vagrancy, was today sentenced to five months definite and one month indefinite in reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp. PC William Scott testified that on April 10, he found accused in a George St. building with two flashlights, a screwdriver, a file, and a number of keys in his possession.

"Accused was hiding in a broom closet," PC Scott told court. "He told me he was looking for a place to sleep."

LeClerc said he used the file "to file my nails. It's only five inches long. The screwdriver is for tuning my guitar, and I found the keys on the sidewalk."

"You have a long record of convictions, mostly connected with theft," commented His Worship. "If you want to learn a trade, you will be able to do so at reformatory."

On the charge of vagrancy, LeClerc, who told court he was a farm hand, was sentenced to ten days, concurrent with the larger sentence.

Paper Editors Blast 'Off The Record' News

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) —The American Society of Newspaper Editors, winding up a three-day session here, passed a resolution Saturday striking a blow at the growing practice of federal and local officials speaking "off the record."

The resolution disapproved "any attempts to withhold news to which the public is entitled, and particularly if such attempts are made under the guise of providing information in confidence."

The press spotlight now shifts to New York, where Gen. Eisenhower will speak today at a luncheon highlighting the annual membership meeting of the Associated Press.

Softball Assoc'n Picks Conveners

HAMILTON, April 24—(CP)—Names of seven special conveners appointed for the 1950 season were announced today by president George H. Campbell of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association. They are Bill Cornich, North Bay; John Davis, Gravenhurst; Wilf Morris, Stratford; John Nicol, Ottawa; Sid Parker, Hamilton; Oliver Sale, Humberstone; and Harry Zalba, Windsor.

Major change in the playing rules for the season is the addition of the three-foot line at first base which forbids a runner from running inside the baseline on the last half of the journey to the bag. Clarifications have been made in the no-lead-off rule which makes it obligatory for the umpire to call a runner out for standing off the base while the pitcher has the ball.

Boy Not Seriously Ill After Brain Operation

TORONTO, April 24, (CP) — Five-year-old Albert Brown underwent a brain operation today after being brought here Sunday from Owen Sound. Officials at the Hospital for Sick Children said he is "not on the seriously ill list."

The youngster was struck by an automobile Friday and suffered a fracture of the skull, brush burns and bruises. He was driven here by his father, Gladwyn Brown.

Thug Slugs Man Alone In House Steals Wallet

A bump on the head and an empty wallet are what Orville Hardy, 32, of South Monaghan, has to show for an encounter with a thug or thugs, early Sunday.

Thirteen dollars were stolen and the empty wallet was left beside the unconscious Hardy who was slugged over the head with some unidentified instrument.

Hardy is an employee of Nick Peconi and lives at the Peconi residence in South Monaghan. Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Peconi went out for the evening and when they returned about 2.45 am. Sunday they found Hardy unconscious in the hallway of their home.

Believed Alone

Hardy told Provincial Constable Roy Feeley that he was alone in the house to his knowledge and that he decided to go to bed sometime between 1.30 and 2 am. He stepped out of the living room of the house and into the short hallway there to go upstairs.

A blow from some weapon knocked him unconscious. He said he saw no assailant.

Apparently the thug had entered the house and lain in wait for his victim.

Normandy School Teacher Cares for 25,000 War Graves

By JEAN E. STENTON.

CAEN, April.—A shy, bespectacled school teacher in Caen, Mr. Fernand Gaudu has spent hundreds of hours in the last five years arranging for care of the 25,000 Allied graves, including 6,000 Canadian tombs in the Calvados area.

As secretary of the Association France-Grande-Bretagne, he is responsible not only for finding families willing to adopt these graves, but for arranging accommodation and planning trips to the cemeteries for those parents who come from overseas. During 1948 and 1949, he and his Caen committee of 500 received more than 2,500 visitors from Canada and Britain.

Jean Stenton

The original organization was founded in 1916 and after the Second World War, it was soon in operation again. Norman families throughout the province who expressed a desire to look after Canadian graves were carefully chosen and the newspapers publicized the plan. The work was much heavier in 1946 and 1947 than it is now. He has had the satisfaction of seeing 5,000 graves adopted in his own area.

A teacher of languages in one of the Caen schools, Mr. Gaudu is most modest about his volunteer job. He is lavish with praise about the co-operation of the people in the area, but almost ran away when I began to thank him for his work on behalf of the Peterborough mothers and fathers.

Mr. Gaudu's committee is linked with the British Legion and the Canadian Legion. They have sent pamphlets throughout Normandy urging the adoption of these graves and outlining the steps to be taken. Anyone wishing information can contact him at 14 rue du 20e, Siecle, Caen, Calvados, France.

Everyone Has Part

From Caen, the organization is broken down into the villages. Mr. Louis Meriel of Courseulles (near Beny-sur-Mer), a former headmaster of the Courseulles school, has been appointed chairman of the Association in his village.

Mr. Meriel's family alone cares for 15 graves. In his large garden he grows all the flowers for them. He receives hundreds of letters each year and answers every one himself. There is a special book in which he records the date of the letter received and the date it is answered.

There are two things Mr. Meriel is most enthusiastic about — the courage of Canadian soldiers and the fact that the work of his organization costs Canadians nothing.

Lad Of 2 Years Succumbs After Operation

Dennis Harry Lintlop, 26-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lintlop, Charlotte St., died at his home Sunday night shortly after leaving hospital where he had his tonsils removed Wednesday.

A post mortem was ordered early today by Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton but the findings will not be known for several days. Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist, performed the post mortem.

The boy seemed well enough to return from the hospital Sunday afternoon and was boarded by his parents with Mrs. John O'Neil of 588 Charlotte St. She was feeding him when he became unconscious.

Dr. J. M. Wishart was called as was the Fire Department.

An inhalator crew under Captain Garnet Brown responded and worked on the unconscious boy for 13 minutes but were unable to revive him. Firemen George Reynolds and Clare Bennett assisted.

Toronto Case

Meanwhile in Toronto a five-year-old girl, Phyllis Takayana, is reported to have died during an operation to remove her tonsils.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson of Toronto said he is investigating.

Dr. Carleton would make no further comment on the death of the Peterborough boy.

Son of George Lintlop and the former Gladys Nixon, he was born in Kirkland Lake. The family moved to Peterborough about two years ago.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. from Nisbett Funeral Home, the Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United Church, officiating.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Demand CCL Re-admit UE

Re-admittance of two left-wing unions — the United Electrical Workers and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers—into Canadian Congress of Labor was demanded at the quarterly UE district council meeting held here over the week-end.

Both unions were looked upon as Communist-dominated by the CIO and the CCL.

Some 160 delegates from Ontario and Quebec — representing 26 local and 57 shops—came into Peterborough for the week-end conference.

The delegates also called on the CCL to stop "splitting and dividing the working people" which would only result in the weakening of the trade union movement as a whole.

About 50 observers, mainly from the Peterborough unions—Locals 524 and 527—also sat in at the business sessions held in the Empress Hotel.

Saturday night a dance was held in the Kawartha Room and the UE said nearly 600 were there.

Affiliate With WFTU?

There were a number of other resolutions.

One was to take back to the locals a full report on the activities of the World Federation of Trade Unions. If they approved belonging to it the matter would be decided at the next district council meeting.

At one time the UE was an affiliate, but when the CCL left the WFTU—along with the CIO in the United States and the TUC in Great Britain—it automatically took the UE with it. Since then the UE has been suspended from the CCL.

A new world labor organization has been set up in London, to which the CIO, CCL and TUC belong. They regarded the WFTU as Soviet-dominated.

Moral and financial support was also pledged to the Union of Unemployed Workers. This body is to hold a national convention in Ottawa shortly.

Discuss Bridges

Another resolution supported the National Civil Rights conference taking place last Saturday in Toronto. And there was a condemnation of the conviction of Harry Bridges, president of the International Long Shoremen's Union. Bridges recently was convicted of perjury in a United States' court.

The council asked that Canada make diplomatic representations to the United States protesting this is "a deliberate attack on the labor movement in the United States."

Ross Russell, director of organization, said the rival IUE had been able to "entice a mere 450 workers away from the 25,000-strong membership of UE."

C. S. Jackson, Canadian president of the UE, and George Harris, secretary-treasurer, also gave reports.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Cars driven by Robert Robbins, 655 Park St., and Vincent Monagne, 237 Woodbine Ave., were damaged lightly Saturday night when they collided at Charlotte and Aylmer Sts. Robbins said he was driving south behind Monagne, and thought Monagne was going to make a left turn on to Charlotte St. ... to pass him, and the cars collided.

Safecrackers Pull $1,100 Job At Ware St. Feed Store Gloved; Used Shop's Tools

Safecrackers made off with an estimated $1,100 in cheques and cash early Sunday morning from the feed and grain store of Harold J. Inman on Ware St. In what Det. Sgt. John Stevenson termed "a slick job", the safecrackers entered the north side of the building by a chute used for grain, opened an inside door, and cracked the safe with tools they found on the premises.

The theft was discovered Sunday afternoon by Mr. Inman. Det. Sgt. Stevenson said the proprietor estimated cash stolen at $625 and value of the cheques at about $500. Payment on the cheques has been stopped, and actual loss to the store will be the $625 in cash.

"They didn't leave us a thing to go on," said the detective. "They wore gloves and there wasn't a fingerprint on the safe."

Although the thieves used a sledgehammer and crowbar to pry the door from the safe, citizens living nearby heard nothing.

Mrs. Robert Ross Dies Suddenly

Stricken suddenly late Sunday night of a heart ailment Mrs. Robert Ross, 675 George Street North, died at her home in the early hours of this morning. She had been one of the most prominent women members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church since coming to this city from Ireland 39 years ago. She was Honorary Mother of the MA Club and superintendent of the Cradle Roll of that church for 15 years. She was an honorary president of the Peterborough Civic Hospital Auxiliary, and visiting convener.

Mrs. Ross (Josephine) a daughter of John Morrow, was born in 1886 at Killyleigh, County Down, Ireland. She came to Canada in 1911 as bride of Robert Ross, then manager of T. Kinnear & Sons, later the National Grocers. Neither Mrs. Ross nor her husband, a native of Armagh, has revisited Ireland since 1911, although a trip back was planned two years ago after Mr. Ross's retirement as manager of the National Grocers.

Mrs. Ross is survived by her husband, two sons Robert J. of Oshawa, Donald E. of this city, asociated with his father in the Ross Food Markets, and one daughter Dorothy (Mrs. Kenneth Hanbidge), also of Peterborough, and several grandchildren. She is resting at Comstock Funeral Home, and the funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's Church on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. by the Rev. Charles G. Boyd.

In commenting on the loss to St. Paul's Church, in whose work she was so actively engaged, its minister, Mr. Boyd, said today that he considers her to have been "one of the saintly characters in St. Paul's, whose Christian life was exemplary. Her cheerful, willing work was an inspiration. She thought first of the church and its welfare."

Marble Champ 13, Wins Twin-City Crown

KITCHENER, April 24 (CP) — Thirteen-year-old Ronald Hartung, holder of the Kitchener marble championship, Saturday won the all-twin city title in competition with nine other "mibs" players. He defeated the Waterloo city champion, Jerry Heer, 7-3, 7-2 and 7-3, to take the three-out-of-five game event in straight sets.

The team championship went to Waterloo, which defeated Kitchener 6-4 in two rounds of play.

Rev. M. MacLean Wartime Pastor Dies In Welland

WELLAND, April 24. (CP) — Rev. M. M. MacLean, 81, active in the ministry of the Baptist Church for nearly 50 years, died in hospital here Sunday. He was a past vice-president of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

He was for several years secretary of the Federation for Community service of Toronto and had been active in social service work in various centres. A native of Manilla, Ont., he graduated from McMaster University at Hamilton and served pastorates at St. Catharines, Cobourg and Peterborough, living here since his retirement as pastor of Gilmour Memorial Church, Chemong Road, during the war.

He is survived by his widow and three sons. Funeral services will be held at St. Catharines.

Mr. MacLean served as interim minister of Murray Street Baptist Church between the ministries of the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan.

Lots Of Bears Rug, Steak Type

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — If it's a bear rug—or steak—you want, try northern Ontario.

The Provincial Lands Department said today it shouldn't be too hard. There's a good supply of bruins up there.

"In some areas," said one official, "residents will be only too happy to have someone come up and shoot a bear. Guides and prospectors in particular find the bears are a nuisance because of their destructive tendencies. In some districts they have asked that a bounty be placed on the marauders."

Youth 22, May See Blinded 9 Years Ago

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — A newspaper clipping has brought new hope to a Toronto youth partially blinded nine years ago when ammonia splashed across his face.

Samuel Paskowitz, 22, leaves tonight for New York and an examination by Dr. Wendell L. Hughes, a graduate of the University of Western Ontario, London. The youth's mother read in a Toronto newspaper last month how Dr. Hughes successfully performed a cornea-transplanting operation on a London girl.

His eyes were damaged when he and a boyhood friend playfully kicked at a tin can one evening. The can was smashed, spurting ammonia into Paskowitz's face.

Wardens Meet With Guides To Aid Wildlife Population

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Ways and means of furthering the conservation of fish and wildlife resources and the raising of licensed guides standards highlighted the conference between officers of the Department of Lands and Forests and Guides, representing every region of the Province, at the Ontario Forest Rangers School at Dorset.

Dr. W. J. Harkness, chief of the Department's Division of Fish and Wildlife, who presided over the meetings, said in an address that the Department felt that any sound moves should come from the guides themselves and this had been one of the motivating factors in calling the conference.

Guides Key

"We must look to the guides and trappers for the good management of our fur-bearing animals and fish," said Dr. Harkness. He said the best system of fish and wildlife management was to "take off the crop" and stimulate the increase.

"We must be careful to keep a balance and not pare down to the danger point," he added. "We must see that we do not take too heavy a crop from our fish and game resources and that is the reason why the Department is interested in getting the best guides possible for Ontario."

Regulations pertaining to guides should be concrete and yet cover the field of operation with as little red tape as possible, Dr. Harkness said.

District Councils

Among the many suggestions put forth by guides was the setting up of a council of three, in each district, to consist of the district's fish and wildlife specialist, a resort owners' or tourist outfitters' representative and a senior guide to be selected by any recognized group of guides, to judge on the qualifications of an applicant before he received a guiding licence.

It was also suggested that licences be issued to suit the requirements of the region in which they were to be used; that an apprentice guide system be set up whereby apprentices may make application for senior guides' pins, when they become qualified and that a First Aid course for all guides be started. The regulations in force should aim at making it compulsory for all guides to carry a First Aid kit. A minimum age limit for guides of 21 years, plus three years bush experience was urged.

12 Rescued From Boat

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 24—(AP)—Nine United States Marines and three Bermudians were reported picked up today after spending two days in rough seas on a 32-foot fishing boat. First reports did not tell how or where the men were located, but said all were safe.

Post-War Conversion

LIVERPOOL, England, April 24—(Reuters)—The 26,000-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland went into dry dock today to complete her post-war conversion, which has taken 2 years. She will sail for Canada May 9 to resume, with two other ships, Canadian Pacific's weekly service from Liverpool.

Tight Censoring Points Need To Freer Press

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—The board of directors of the Associated Press, noting that censorship of news is growing, said today that factual reporting never was "more vital to the survival of our free institutions."

Tighter censorship control and other restrictions on news gathering are multiplying as a result of the "cold war" between east and west, the board said.

The report was submitted to members of the Associated Press, worldwide news gathering cooperative, at their annual meeting.

The board termed "especially grave" the increasing difficulties of reporting the world's news "in our tradition of accuracy, impartiality and thoroughness."

People Concerned

"The American people — and peoples generally—are greatly concerned by the widespread and constantly changing atmosphere of world crisis," the board said. "Their demand for information distinguishing between fact and rumor challenges the news gathering resources of the Associated Press.

"This challenge must be met by every feasible effort to report the truth. Therefore the basic concept of the Associated Press is a foremost weapon in the arsenal of democracy. At no time in our history has the need of factual reporting been more vital to the survival of our free institutions."

Reporters Expelled

"... Barriers to news-gathering have become more apparent in countries of central and eastern Europe. A number of western correspondents have been expelled from Czechoslovakia recently, including two representing the Associated Press, on vague and completely unsubstantiated charges of 'unobjective reporting,'"

The board said that in some instances the Associated Press had become "a special target for restrictive actions by governments" because of the AP's insistence on reporting the facts.

"Under this type of pressure the Associated Press has refused to resort to any form of journalistic pandering to win favour or preferential treatment," the board said. "The technique of writing 'softly' instead of boldly is an expedient that sometimes gains temporary advantages. The board is confident that the staff has the full support of the membership in refusing to engage in such tactics. Maintaining the idea of objective reporting is still more important than any other consideration."

Restrictions on the free flow of news are not limited to communist-controlled areas, the board said. It added that in some parts of Western Europe, as well as in Asia, Africa, South and Central America there are varying degrees of censorship or officially imposed regulations which hamper reporters.

Have Deadliest Weapons Johnson Claims For US

WASHIGTON, April 24 —(AP)—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson said Saturday that the United States has speeded up development of new weapons more terrible than any the world has ever seen.

Johnson declared a belief that the United States leads in fashioning a variety of new arms that "may mean the difference between victory and defeat in war."

In his semi-annual report, the secretary said the country's atomic arsenal is no longer a small number of bombs of a single type and size."

He also said the trimmed-down fighting forces of the United States are proficient and are getting "equipment superior to that of any other nation."

He discosed that Russia's atomic explosion last September, coming far eailier than had been expected, had stepped up American development of new war tools that "surpass in destructive power any arms previously known." He did not explain the nature of these weapons.

The defense department report for the last half of 1949 heavily accented the importance of new means of destruction. It also high-lighted the conservation of military manpower and the elimination of activities not strictly necessary for national defense.

At the end of 1949, armed services manpower totalled 1,551,000 a net decreaseof 2,000 officers and 63,000 men within six months.

At the year's end the United States had 36,000 military planes, with 5,400 more being obtained with funds already authorized. Johnson also reported that 11,000 of the existing aircraft were fighters, 2,000 of them jet-powered.

Reports of the army, navy and air force secretaries filled in some details of how reduced military funds are affecting the fighting services.

Stuart Symington, air force secretary, reported that the last six months of 1949 completed the downward adjustment to the 48-group force fixed by the President.

Symington said that more than 80 per cent of the air force's 10,250 combat planes are Second World War types that will be obsolete by June 30, 1951.

Navy Secretary Francis Matthews, reported that the navy at the end of 1949 met its requirements fairly well, but it could use more aircraft carriers to advantage.

Gordon Gray, former army secretary, reported that army manpower decreased 35,000 during the last six months of 1949, and would drop 12,000 additional by June 30 to meet the budget limit of 630,000.

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: I have read in your column that you will give advice regarding the preparing and serving of small parties with refreshments.

Early in May I have the responsibility of providing a buffet, in the evening, for some 100 people, men and women. We have been told to serve small fancy sandwiches, small cakes and cookies, relishes, and celery, radishes, olives pickles; and coffee.

The tables setting arangements are practically complete but my difficulty is with quantities. Would you tell me how bunches of celery, radishes; how many jars of pickles and olives to order? I think I should know how many sandwiches (about one-third should be fish filed, at least not meat) and how many cakes and cookies would be adequate.

As accommodation and finances are at a minimum we are limited, but I should be grateful for any suggestions you may be able to give me.

Coffee is being prepared for us, by the way, but I should know how much sugar and cream to provide.

Answer: There are approximately 70 lumps in 1 pound cube sugar. So provide 5 lbs. to be safe.

Two quarts 18% cream mixed with 1 pint homogenized milk will be sufficient for coffee for 100.

You will need 8 10-inch 2-layer cakes or the equivalent to 2-layer cakes.

Two hundred cookies will be sufficient unless they are very small, since you are serving cake too.

If sound outside stalks from a large head of celery are used and cut into long strips. 1 large head of celery will serve 10, so you will need to provide 10 large heads.

As for radishes the size of the bunches varies—count the radishes in a bunch and allow 3 radishes for each person.

In a wine-gallon size bottle of olives (128-oz.) there are 350 medium sized olives In a wine-gallon bottle of jumbo size olives there are 248. Either of these sizes of olives would do and I gallon would be sufficient.

One-wine-gallon jar of medium to small size sweet pickles will be sufficient.

The number of sandwiches is a problem. On some charts 3 slices of bread are usually suggested as the average amount to provide for men. Others suggest using 2 slices of bread and cutting them into 4 small sandwiches. However, if the crusts are removed this reduces the quantity considerably. Another variable is the time of evening you serve this meal. If the time is very late guests will eat more.

I think I want to suggest that you provide 4 sandwiches each. That is, 4 rather thin slices of bread (1 loaf slices into 20 slices) and if the crusts are to be cut off, provide a few more.

I think I have covered every detail. If not you will have time to write to me again.

Question: Just a note to say how very much I have enjoyed your column since we have been here.

The Lenten recipes are particularly helpful and any ideas to brighten meals during the winter season are always appreciated. I always think it is particularly monotonous trying to serve meals that are tasty as well as eye appealing during these long drawn out months.

We live on a small vegetable farm and so in summer always have an abundance of fresh vegetables and fruits which I can. I had over three hundred jars this year, as well as almost one hundred jars of jelly which certainly came in very handy these winter days. Although at canning time it did seem an endless job.

I would appreciate receiving one of your calorie charts, as I an on a reducing diet and have not the information as to which things are best to eat. As my husband is also on a diet for ulcers, and can eat no vegetables and fruits, fresh that is—I find it a bit difficult at times to prepare meals we can both eat, since we have three children, and I must try to have nourishing meals for them as well.

There is a question I have been wanting to ask you for sometime. It is rather unseasonal just now but when it is I never think of it till it is too late. Why do my dill pickles turn cloudy and have a white sediment in the bottom of the jars? I have tried very hard to do them the way the recipe called for but still have not met with success. Someone told me it was due to fertilizer used on the plants. The cubes themselves tend to soften. The first year I put them in large jars, so last year I put them in 2-qt. sealers and sealed them well, but still no luck.

I washed them well and used fresh cukes and even resorted to soaking some overnight but had the same results. Some of my neighbours had the same results so you would help us all out if you could tell us the reason.

I have been using your Emem Xmas cake recipe, the one that calls for so many cherries and everyone loves it although this year I was not able to eat it.

Here is a little idea I have had that you may find useful and I find it so fro my diet. I make a salad from plain gelatine, usually there is a recipe for it on the package. It is made with lemon juice, and a little vinegar. I have found it a very good idea to add a few drops green vegetable colouring to the gelatine water and mix it well till it is a nice bright shade. It makes it much more appealing and takes little time. I find it a good idea to make one at the end of the week before I do my shopping and then I can use up any odds and ends of fruits and vegetables I have left. I like to put raw carrot, radish etc. is as it makes it more colourful and I use up all the leftovers this way. It seems to crisp up the vegetables as well. It may not be an original idea but I have found it a help. It is one that all the family enjoy and in the winter when looks are important I have found it a "brightener upper" for mealtime. I usually serve it on a lettuce leaf.

I sent a few of my recipes in to the cook book. It is nice to try someone else's ideas and helps add variety to meals.

Well, as usual I intended this to be a note and it is an epistle. This is a failing of mine. I wanted you to know I enjoyed your column and the human touch you always give it which means so much. Best wishes. Mrs. John B.

Answer: I make dill pickles and put them when washed in a large jar and pour over the vinegar and salt and crushed blossoms, and sometimes have a failure too, but for you I thought I should talk to a chemist who works with pickles and his first and pick answer was "incomplete fermentation period". Fertilizer in soil does not enter into the picture.

The fermentation of pickles is much more rapid in a brine containing 5% salt than in one containing 10%. Place in the bottom of porcelain crock washed grape leaves, then a layer of dill blossoms and ½ oz. mixed whole spices. Fill jar to within 2 or 3 inches of top with washed cucumbers of uniform dill size. Add another ½ oz. spices and layer of dill and layer of washed grape leaves. Pour over the pickles a brine made as follows; 1 lb. salt, 1 pint vinegar, 2 gallons water. This must not be hot. Cover with clean plate of sufficient weight to hold cucumbers below surface of brine.

The ideal temperature is 86 deg. Fahr when fermentation will be complete in from 10 days to 2 weeks. The lower the temperature the longer the fermentation period. Remove scum as it forms, for sure.

After active fermentation has stopped, pour off brine and wipe pickles dry with very clean cloth. Pack in glass jars.

Make brine exactly as directed above and bring in to boiling point and then cool to 160 deg. Fahr. pour it over the pickles and add more dill blossoms, filling the jars full. Seal jars. Store in cool place.

I have condensed this method but roughly it is the method used by pickle manufacturers. Good luck.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"Please settle an argument for us," pleads a Cleveland reader. "A friend of ours tried a new one the other night, and she got very angry when we stopped her.

"She needed 50 points for her first meld. The card at the top of the discard pile was a nine. This player did not draw, but she put down three aces and then tried to take the discard pile with a nine and a joker.

"We stopped her from taking the pile, but it took three of us to hold her down. She was a lovely quiet girl before Canasta entered her life, so it's up to you to straighten her out."

Fine thing! Anybody has a right to get violent when she needs 120 points, but this business of raising Cain when you need only 50 points is carrying matters too far. Tut, tut, young lady.

My Cleveland correspondent was, of course, quiet correct. The girl did not have the right to take the discard pile.

The rule is that you are allowed to take the discard pile with one matching card and a wild card only if your side has made the initial meld at a previous turn of play.

For example, if your partner make an initial meld, you may take the discard pile with a matching card and a wild card. If you make the initial meld yourself, you must wait until your next turn before you can use a wild card to take the discard pile.

Q—Is it permissible to meld two aces with three deuces as a single meld?

A—Yes. This is a perfectly legal meld. You may combine a natural pair with three wild cards.

Q—How long does the discard pile stay frozen?

A—Until it is picked up legally by one of the players. It then becomes a normal, or unfrozen, pile.

Q—Can you make a canasta of black threes?

A—No. You may meld four black three, or three black threes or two black threes with a wild card. Those are the only melds possible with black threes.

Q—In the middle of a hand we discovered that the pack contained nine deuces. What should we do?

A—Examine the deck carefully to make sure that it is otherwise all right. Take out the ninth deuce and begin the hand over. Any previous hands played with that deck are not affected. The previous scores stand.

"Somebody told us one of your rules, but we don't understand it," writes a Cleveland fan. "You say that low cards are safer discards than high cards. Is this always true?"

No, it isn't always true. In fact, this is not a "rule," but is only a bit of general advice. Even as advice, it applies only up to the time that the opponents have made their first meld.

The logic of it is very simple. The next player usually has some pairs in his hand, and you are trying to throw cards that don't match his pairs. Unless you are a mind-reader you will occasionally throw a card that he can match with a pair in his own hand.

Don't forget, however, that he must meld a minimum number of points. If you have thrown a ten-point card, that and his matching pair add up to thirty points. If you have thrown a five-point card that and his matching pair add up to only fifteen points. That often makes all the difference.

To put it another way, suppose you had this choice: Would you walk a tight rope high in the air, or would you prefer to walk a tight rope that was only a few feet up? It wouldn't make any difference unless you slipped. But if you did slip, you'd stand a better chance on the low rope.

None of this applies once the enemy have melded. Then your opponent doesn't need to make a minimum count. To take your discard, all he needs is a pair of matching cards or just one matching card and a wild card. In this situation no general rule will help you. You must try to figure out what cards your opponent is likely to have in his hand—high, low or middling.

Q—Some of my friends follow a new rule. They say that the deck is always frozen. In other words, you always need a natural pair in your hand to pick up the discard pile. Is this rule official?

A—No. I've heard of it in one or two places, but very few people play it. It certainly is not the official rule. I personally think it's about the worst way to play the game.

Q—The first card turned up is a black three, and I make the first play. Can I make the dealer turn up another card?

A—Not legally. That black three is the proper card to leave for you because you can't pick it up. That means that you don't really have a choice at your turn to play. You are obliged to take the top card of the stock pile. However, there are many situations in which you have good or bad luck, so why complain about this one? When they take all the luck out of Canasta, we'll all stop playing it.

Q—I had a red three on the table and a couple of small melds, but no canasta. The other side went out and said the red three counted against us because we didn't have a canasta. Was this right?

A—No. You get credit for your red three as long as you have any legal meld on the table. You don't need a canasta. For example, you might have only three aces on the table at the end of the hand. That would be enough of a meld to earn you the credit for your red threes.

The Puppet Group, which has been organized and directed by Mrs. Campbell, presented "Ding Dong Bell" and was enthusiastically received.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Makes Bad In-law If Too Close to Daughter

DEAR MISS DIX: I acquired a mother-in-law in my home soon after my marriage. My wife is grand, but we both admit that her mother just about has us on the ropes.

Dorothy Dix

My mother-in-law would be a peach if she lived 500 miles away. But in the house she is a pain in the neck. She commits no one great offence. She just piles up little things. She interferes in everything, especially the upbringing of our child. Nobody can speak in the house after she goes to bed without her coming charging sleepy-eyed to ask: "Is there anything wrong, darling?" And only the other day I overheard her say to my wife: "I'd keep a pretty good watch on Jim. He is on the road now and you have no way of knowing what he is doing. I certainly would not put as much trust in a man as you do in him. You are too sure of him."

My wife, good sport as she is, replied: "Well, mother, he has just as much right to check up on me." But I still think I made a mistake in not choking the old lady. Why should she try to create suspicion in my wife's mind? JIM.

ANSWER: I think Jim has drawn about the best picture that could be made of the good woman who is a bad mother-in-law and who, with the best intentions in the world, does more harm than malice itself can invent.

Doesn't Realize Faults

She is the head of the home-wrecking crew and she does not know it. You could not convince her that she had anything to do with the disaster even when she saw her daughter sitting on the ruins of her house of happiness with her divorce decree in her hands. And the case is hopeless because it is just as impossible for a middle-aged woman to change her habits and way of looking at things as it is for a leopard to change its spots. Mother has run a house for forty years and she still thinks she has a right to run one, no matter if it is her daughter's.

There are so many good women who would be admirable mothers-in-law if they lived 500 miles away, as Jim says, and that is why so often in this column I urge mothers to have a heart and not to go to live with their children unless it is absolutely financially necessary. And if they do, to try to remember that they are guests and act as guests.

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you umpire this fight between my husband and myself? He thinks that a mother should make a slave of herself to her children and should be at their beck and call any hour of the day or night. For instance, our daughter, a capable college girl, was away for the day. I kept her dinner piping hot for her until 7 o'clock. She did not return until a much later hour. That was quite all right, as she was having an innocent good time and I was glad of it, but my husband thought that when she did return I should go out and prepare her a hot meal, which I refused to do. Which of us is right?

A MOTHER.

ANSWER: I think you are exactly right and that your husband is all wrong, and that you take the only possible means of retaining your children's respect when you force them to accept their share of responsibility in family life. There is no other crime that a mother can commit against her children that is so cruel as for her to spoil them. It utterly unfits them for life, for she can't softpad existence for them. She can't do their work for them and coddle and pamper them when they leave home.

Far, far better to teach children to stand on their own feet as soon as it is possible. Far, far better to make them pull their weight in the boat. Far, far better to teach them to try to save Mother than to make Mother work herself to death trying to save them.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow 43 years of age, unusually young-looking, and in excellent health. I have no encumbrances as both of my children are married. I have no income whatever and would like to be self-supporting, but I don't know what to do. What do you advise?

WIDOW.

ANSWER: In reality, a woman of 43 is just coming to the best of life, and she isn't a bit too old to start out for herself on any sort of career that appeals to her fancy and for which she feels that she has an aptitude.

My advice to you is to sit down and have a heart-to-heart session with yourself and find out what you really want to do, then go to some vocational school that teaches that particular thing. It does not make a bit of difference what you undertake to do if you can turn out a first-class job at it. The world is anxious and eager to pay for expert service. Fit yourself to give this and the people will clamor for you.

US Woman Envoy Popular Figure At Danish Court

By LASSE LEMKOW

COPENHAGEN— (AP)— Mrs. Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing, Minn., is the most frequently interviewed and photographed person in Denmark.

The first United States woman ambassador in four months has won the hearts of four million Danes. Danish papers print detailed reports on her wardrobe. Her official residence "Rydhave" has been photographed over and over again. Danish papers have no society columns, but the reports of her doings pop up in the press like mushrooms on a rainy day.

The arrival of Mrs. Anderson, with her husband and two children, gave the Danish foreign office a diplomatic headache. While it stewed and fretted with protocol, the blonde, smiling Mrs. Anderson busied herself making friends with the Danes.

The problem was how to address her. The royal court itself solved that one. Rather than the French "Madame Ambassadeur", the court told the foreign office, it preferred the English "Mrs. Ambassador."

Since her arirval, official duties have taken most of Mrs. Anderson's time. She has met all the foreign ambassadors in Denmark and some of the ministers. The Dutch, Norwegian and French ambasasdors are among the Andersons' special friends.

Danes don't care much for ceremony. You will find the King's telephone number in the directory and you can call him if you wish. Hence it was natural for Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft to phone Mrs. Anderson and ask, since his office was being redecorated, would she mind waiting a few weeks to make her official call.

"Of course not," Mrs. Anderson replied. She likes the Danish way of life. "It is so much like the American way."

Acomplished Linguists

Danes usually speak several languages. King Frederikk speaks English, French, Norwegian, German and Swedish. So does Queen Ingrid.

Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen is an accomplished linguist. At a banquet, Mrs. Anderson heard him converse in German, English, French, Spanish, Italian and Russian, "which impressed me very much."

Mrs. Anderson arrives at her office at 8 a.m. and leaves at 5:30 in the afternoon. Her staff consist of 150, half are men and half women.

After hours, Mrs. Anderson studies Danish with phonograh records to get acquainted with the rhythm and swing of the language. When she has time she plans to take four lessons weekly. The two children, Johanna, 15, and Hans, 12, have a Danish tutor. Next fall they will go to a Danish school.

When the Andersons moved in, only 20 rooms of their 40-room villa, former headquarters of Werner Best, the wartime German gauleiter, were furnished. The ambassador brought furniture for five rooms which she calls her "Red Wing" corner.

An air raid shelter, complete with special doors for poison gas, has been converted into a playroom for Hans. Husband John already has made another room into his "workshop" for his study of three-dimensional art.

Mrs. Anderson has been much too busy to devote any time to her favorite hobby, cooking, although she said on arrival she was anxious to learn typical Danish cooking.

Can You Broil a Steak To Perfection Every Time?

By MARY MOORE

A church group invited me to give a series of three talks on nutrition, and I thought it was composed of ladies.

Actually there were more men than ladies present, and I had to ad. lib. fast because I was going to tell them such things as "We know that the men have to be fed and they have to be pleased but there are ways of slipping in extra nutrition that they won't suspect."

You see, I could not go on on that theme,—so after telling them a few stories with a moral about hidden hunger due to eating too much white bread,—I threw the meeting open to questions and the very first question fired at me was "How should steak be cooked?"

If you are going to justify the cost you certainly should acquire the know-how for selecting the perfect steak and broiling it fit for that chosen man of yours.

How to Select a Steak

First be sure your butcher is dependable and that he handles red brand beef. This is cherry red in color and firm to touch. It should be evenly marbled with creamy white fat throughout the entire "lean" tissues.

Have the butcher slice it not less than one inch thick and not more than two inches thick.

How to Broil a Steak

Do not desecrate it by pan frying it,—use the broiler.

Score the fat edges of the meat at one inch intervals and put steak on cold broiler rack. Have broiler preheated for at least 10 minutes. Place rack so that top surface of meat is approximately 2 inches from broiler. Broil it half of the required time. It will sizzle and sputter and smoke, but this is in a good cause and the oven may be washed afterwards. Season the cooked side when you turn it over with salt and pepper, and broil other side, then season it. To turn the steak over use 2 forks stuck through the fat, not through the lean. Time of broiling depends on thickness of steak NOT ON WEIGHT.

Times for Broiling

To broil steak "rare" broil a 1-inch steak 8 to 10 minutes; broil a 1½ inch steak 14 to 16 minutes; a 2-inch steak 35 minutes.

To broil steak "medium" (where meat is still pink at centre) broil a 1-inch steak 12 to 14 minutes; broil 1½-inch steak 18 to 20 minutes; 2-inch steak 45 minutes.

NOTE: Butchers tend to make steaks thinner than customers ask for; so watch your butcher and see that he cuts your steak as thick as you want it.

NOTE 2: Heat platter, heat plates, have family at table waiting for the steak; do not let the sizzling hot steak wait for the family.

Little Shop Idea Has Become Craze Of Paris Fashion

By DOROTHY WADDINGTON

PARIS — (Reuters) — "Boutiques"—little shops selling all manner of fashion accessories — are the latest craze among France's leading fashion houses.

Once the word "boutique" simply meant a shop.

Today it spells a fashionable wonderland.

Shaped like a flower vendor's cart or designed to represent anything from a huge bird cage to an exact reproduction of an old garret, a boutique has become the dream of every important fashion house.

The more original the idea upon which it is based, the better.

The first boutique was opened by Madame Schiaparelli just before the war, on the ground floor of her show rooms on the Place Vendome.

The idea then was taken up by Robert Piguet who launched "Chariot"— a gilded flower vendor's cart, filled with all the accessories worn in his collection, which was pushed through the salons.

The "little shop" plan had come to stay.

At first, the boutiques served simply to sell the dressmaker's perfumes and to allow the client to buy accessories the designers recommended for her costumes.

Sell Simple Creations

Since the war, with prices for models soaring these boutiques have permitted the dressmakers to design simpler clothes which require only a single fitting. The prices correspond, and here one may buy a dress bearing the label of a famous fashion house for 20,000 francs (about $60) and up.

Now, boutique presentations take place each morning with all the fanfare of the major collections. The group of clothes shown is generally limited to about 40 instead of the some 180 garments shown at the major collections.

Christian Dior continues to ask the top prices for his boutique clothes. A simple cotton dress is priced at 45,000 francs while a suit or coat will cost between 70,000 and 80,000 francs.

Keynote Simplicity

In his boutique clothes, he repeats the theme of his big collection, with simplicity as the key note.

So successful has the French boutique been that United States department stores are now attempting to copy the idea, with boutiques modelled directly on those of their French cousins.

One New York department store calls its boutique "Fantasia" and provides the Fifth Avenue shopper with the exact type of luxury item which a Frenchwoman expects to find at Dior's or Lanvin's.

$20,000 Test Tube Babies Reported in United States

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—There are probably about 20,000 test-tube babies in the United States.

This is the estimate in a new book, "Fertility in Marriage," by Dr. Louis Portnoy and Jules Saltman.

Dr. Portnoy has been for about 10 years a member of the staff of the sterility clinic, Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, and of the fertility service of the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau. Saltman is a writer and editor on medicine and psychology. The publishers are Farrer, Straus and Company, Inc., New York.

The book says that artificial insemination succeeds 79 to 80 per cent of the time. Some doctors achieve even higher percentages.

Even the test-tube methods frequently requires several months of trials. The failure usually comes from the great difficulties in discovering a woman's fertile period.

Exercise Great Care

Doctors, the book says, are very careful in test-tube baby cases. They study not only the donor but the prospective parents, and sometimes refuse because they do not think the parents are sufficiently stable in character. In these refusals the doctors fear that after the test-tube baby arrives, either husband or wife will begin blaming the mate.

"It has occasionally happened," the book states, "that a husband who became a father through donor insemination has later, perhaps years later, proved fertile enough to produce a child of his own. Resentment and emotional difficulties involving the two children might conceivably arise, yet doctors who have had such cases report nothing of the kind occurs."

Father Anonymous

Doctors preserve the anonymity of the donor father. Sometimes it is suggested by a couple that the donor be a male relative. The doctor invariably vetoes this.

No reputable doctor, the book says, will consent to artificial insemination without the husband's knowledge. But wives sometimes ask this.

"In England it is customary to limit the number of inseminations from any one donor, so as to avoid the possibility of children of the same father marrying under the belief that they are not related.

Smartness Brings Death To Gorilla

LONDON — (CP) — Asked a voice on the telephone "Can you preserve Alfred?"

Said a spokesman for a Piccadilly firm of taxidermists, discussing the call later:

"He talked as if I could have [illegible] from he was referring. I even though it might be a local celebrity by the confidential way he kept referring to Alfred."

The celebrity, it turned out, was a gorilla from a Bristol zoo, where the name Alfred meant only one thing.

The taxidermists weren't too keen at first. They had six years' work on hand, including the job of stuffing more than 100 wild beasts such as elephants, giraffes and occasional rhinoceros.

"But because of Alfred's local significance we decided to do a rush job, and today he is back in Bristol, looking very life-like," said the spokesman for the Piccadilly firm, which has been in business 150 years.

Authorities decided that Alfred died because he was too intelligent.

"Yes, intelligent," said the spokesman. "He learned to connect the sound of planes with falling bombs. One day, when a plane flew low over his cage, he was so scared that he had a heart attack and died."

Open Road Illegally Princess Lends Hand

DARTMOUTH, Devon, Eng. — (CP)—A road recently opened by Princess Elizabeth was illegally constructed by the Dartmouth Council Transport Minister Barnes told the council.

The council spent £1,000 ($3,100) on the road named College Way. Shortly after the Princess had officated at the opening ceremony, the council received a letter from the minister saying the council had broken the defence regulations.

The ministry had not given its permission for the road and the council had not asked for it. The minister did not say what could be done about it now.

Buddha's Birthday

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Friends of Indian society members were among 600 persons who gathered around an image of Buddha Saturday and with solemn religious rites celebrated what is said to be the 2,513th birthday of the oriental deity. The ceremony was presided over by Rev. Takashi Tsuji.

Gunmen Get $154

CARTIERVILLE, Que., April 24—(CP)—Three gunmen early today held up Stationmaster Stephen Murphy at the Canadian National Railways' via Royale National Railways Val Royale station near here and escaped with $154 in cash. Cartierville is a suburban town on the northwestern outskirts of Montreal.

FIRST NEWSPAPER

French Canada's first newspaper was the Quebec Gazette, founded by two Philadelphia printers in 1764.

US Selling Wave Hits Market, Prices Go Down

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—A sudden selling wave in the stock market today hammered prices down by fractions to more than two points.

Railroad issues showed early weakness as a result of a strike call against four major lines.

Stocks lower included Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Chrysler, Goodrich, Admiral Corp., Philco, Radio Corp., Motorola, American Smelting, General Electric and Standard Oil (NJ).

Canadian issues followed the lower trend with Hiram Walker taking a heavy drop of 1¼ and Distillers Seagrams down ¾. Canadian Pacific dropped ⅛. Dome Mines was unchanged.

On the curb, Royalite Oil eased ⅛. Giant Yellowknife was unchanged.

Normandy School

"Please tell Canadians for me, that we do not want their money," he said. "If we do anything for these graves, we do it as a cult of memory. We don't want Canadian gifts. We do it for love and are only too happy to help in any way. If there are any Canadians coming to visit Beny-sur-Mer cemetery, tell them to write to us here. There is a room available in every house in the village and the people will be proud to have these people as their guests. It will also avoid travelling long distances from a hotel to the cemetery, and it will cost much less, for they would be our guests."

There are 150 people in and around Courseulles who are actually writing to Canadians and 600 Canadian graves have been adopted by families.

Wonderful Fighters

Canadians are wonderfully courageous, Mr. Meriel declared. He watched the heavy fighting after the landing D-Day. Courseulles is right on the coast. He saw a Canadian captain and half his men killed in the village and other members of the company thrown back into the sea. They were members of the Regina Rifles. Another 19, who were tossed back into the sea were half drowned and lost their equipment. They managed to swim to a small ship, but there were no more arms or provisions available.

Seeing this, some of them staggered and crawled back to the beaches, regrouped and picked up their dead comrades' arms. Then they continued their mission, he said.

"I want to honor the courage of Canadians for they fought magnificently, and the French people also want to honor their memory by adopting their graves."

Writes Parents

He saw one Ontario boy burned to death in a tank on the main street of the village, and he has kept in touch with his parents, Mrs. Mae Pike, 544 Grace Street, Woodstock, Ontario, and Robert Bailey, 26 Tait Street, Galt, are two parents who have kept in touch regularly with Mr. Muriel.

Each member belonging to the Association donates so much to the fund to cover the expense of operating and flowers. The money from lectures given by Mr. Muriel goes to the fund also. None of the officers or associates are paid, or want to be. Frenchmen who adopt graves write their own letters to the families and the answer can be translated by the commission if necessary.

Anyone wishing to contact Mr. Muriel, chairman, can do so by writing to him at 54 Rue de l'Eglise, Courseulles, Calvados, France.

Well Informed

Another very useful friend to have is Mr. M. P. Duquesne, Secretaire Administratif, du Syndicat l'Initiative, de Caen. He knows the battlefields thoroughly and the surrounding villages and cities. Not only is he extremely helpful, but charming as well. Visitors to Normandy will find a good friend in this man. For a time after the war, he served as traffic manager at Carpiquet Airport.

Thousands of tourists come from all over France and Britain to Caen, and Normany is hoping to welcome more Canadians, particularly those whose sons are buried there.

NEW WORLD OF LIGHT—One of the youngest persons ever to wear spectacles is 11-month-old Johnny Peoples, seen being fitted with special glasses at a Philadelphia, Pa., eye hospital by nurse Madeline Dorsey. Born blind, Johnny underwent a series of four operations for the removal of cataracts, and saw for the first time when the glasses were put on him.

Four Men Fined On Liquor Counts

Magistrate W. R. Philp today fined four men on liquor charges.

Harvey Bedford, 332 Rubidge St. and Garfield Shilling, 129 Hazlitt St., were each fined $50 and $2.50 costs for their second offence as drunks.

Elwood Cannon, 536 Paterson St., charged with being drunk, was fined $10 and $2.50.

Kenneth Johnston, 381 Grady Ave., charged with having liquor illegally, was fined $$15 and $2.50.

DIVIDED MEASURE

Until 1931, the United States and all other English-speaking countries used inches, feet and yards as the basic for measurement while other nations used the metric system.

Livestock Expert Asks Policy On Floor Prices

GUELPH, April 24—(CP)—A satisfactory floor-price policy for agricultural products depends basically on a "reasonable relationship to world prices," Ontario Livestock Commissioner W. P. Watson said today.

The alternative, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario, is for a government to control production and prohibit import practices "obnoxious to believers in free enterprise."

Supply, Demand

Mr. Watson said the law of supply and demand is the principal factor in determining prices. If it was not permitted to function in one form or another, Canadians would not enjoy freedom of enterprise.

"There may be some minor modifications but any radical departure spells the end of democracy."

Floor prices fell into the category of "a moderate effort on the part of man to tamper with this law." To make a floor-price policy effective, a government had to set up an agency with power to purchase any or all of the product offered if it reached the minimum price.

Destroy Surplus

"The government agency must then find a way of disposing of any product that it acquires. This is not an easy task unless the government isp repared to destroy the surplus.

"If it is offered in world markets it must, according to the Geneva agreements, be priced at not less than cost . . .

"In the final analysis, no country is likely to permit another country to dump a product to the detriment of its own producers."

Pulp Workers Receive Six-Cent Pay Boost

TORONTO, April 24 — (CP) — A contract signed Sunday between the Ontario Paper Company and the Ontario and Manitoba Council of Pulp and Paper Mills Unions (AFL) calls for an average six-cents-an-hour wage boost and an additional three cents night differential for 15,000 pulp and paper workers.

The negotiating teams represented 11 companies and eight AFL unions. The contract marked conclusion of 30 years' strike-free relationships between management and labor.

Three weeks' vacation after 15 years' service, granted in some mills last year, was also extended to the entire group in the new contract.

One Driver Charged Cars Collide At Tracks

A charge of drunk driving against Emmett Cavanagh, 184 Westcott St., was today adjourned to May 1 by Magistrate Philp.

The charge arose out of an accident Saturday night in which his car collided with an auto driven by Anthony Pepe, 635 Charlotte St.

Pepe told police he was driving south on George St., and stopped at the CPR tracks for a train. Cavanagh, also driving south, struck the rear end of Pepe's car.

What has LOW TEMPERATURE Brazing to do with a BICYCLE?

RESILOBRAZING is the secret of
C.C.M's Famous CUSHION-COMFORT RIDE with ★ GREATER STRENGTH ★ GREATER SAFETY ★ LONGER LIFE

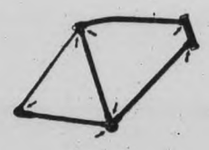
Ordinary brazing, with its excessive heat, takes the life out of steel . . . crystallizes it, leaves it easy to fracture by sudden shock. That's why C.C.M. developed Resilobrazing . . . the exclusive C.C.M. process of brazing at low temperatures that do not affect the liveliness of the metal. The result of Resilobrazing is a lighter, stronger, springier frame . . . a resilient frame that gives you cushion-comfort riding over any surface.

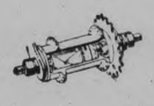
Yes, Resilobrazing means a lot to the performance of your bicycle . . . and only a C.C.M. is Resilobrazed!



And Only C.C.M. Gives You All These Other
EXTRA-QUALITY FEATURES

BONDERIZED Frame
Every C.C.M. frame is first treated with Bonderite . . . the quality corrosion-resistant base for enamel. Then high-grade gloss enamel is baked on by the famous C.C.M. "slow-bake" process. The result is a hard, glossy finish that will not rust even when chipped or scratched by accident. C.C.M. beauty is permanent.

PRECISION-CASTERED Front Wheel
The curve of C.C.M. front forks is a precision curve which, with the angle of the framehead, is designed to create perfect swivel-balance in the front wheel. This action assures you easier, safer, more sensitive steering . . . C.C.M.'s famous "Straight Line Drive".



C.C.M. "Hercules" COASTER BRAKE
Positive brake control plus friction-less free wheel assures easier, more enjoyable cycling with maximum safety. New 3-point bearing actually increases coasting distance by more than five times!

ONE-PIECE GIBSON PEDAL
Longer wearing. A smooth-spinning, perfect-fitting, light-weight pedal with non-slip rubbers held securely in one-piece aluminum frame. Exclusive on some models; optional on others at slight extra cost.

Flying Saucers Split World —Believers, Unbelievers

WASHINGTON, April 24 — (AP).—So you'd like to start an argument. Try throwing out a conversational flying saucer.

If you do, you're rather likely to find what some United States air force officers say they have discovered: Many people hope those flying discs really are manned by little men from Mars.

Today's world sometimes seems to be made up mostly of people who believe there are flying saucers and those who believe there aren't. The argument apparently has been going on a long time. The air force says people have been reporting unidentified flying objects since around 1700—and probably a long time before that.

White House Report

Charles G. Ross, President Truman's secretary, said the White House knows of no flying saucer secret weapon that United States or any other country has developed. But this didn't put an end to all the recent reports.

Why does the flying saucer story stay alive?

Air force officers say it is because some people are convinced the United States has developed a flying saucer type of aircraft and believe that officials can't admit it publicly because it's in the secret weapon class.

Other people are convinced there couldn't be so many reports flying around if there weren't real flying saucers.

Astronmers say objects seen at great distances frequently resemble balls or discs.

Makes Study

Charles Ford, author of a number of books which Air Force officers have studied, made it a point to gather information on remarkable happenings reported in the heavens for centuries.

He cites an incident reported to the British science magazine "Nature" by Admiral Erasmus Ommanney.

The admiral said he aws standing outside a hotel at Llanberis, North Wales, and saw a light which "immediately resolved itself into a clearly defined disk about three times the size of Jupiter." It disappeared, discharging brilliant orange clouds.

He reported this happened on August 26, 1894. His description is not dissimilar to descriptions made this year of flying saucers.

Montreal Defended

MONTREAL, April 24—(CP)—A force of jet fighters controlled by a radar network successfully defended Montreal during a series of week-end "raids" by "enemy" aircraft from Toronto and Hamilton. Nine Vampire jet fighters and 32 Harvard planes involved in the mock attack were grounded early Sunday because of overcast weather conditions and light rain.

Happy Reminder

ASHFORD, Kent, Eng., (CP)—When constable Fred Milford and his bride were married here they had the ceremony recorded so as to have a permanent sound record of the happy event.

New CGIT Group Holds Banquet

MILLBROOK, April 24 (ENS)—More than 50 sat down to a banquet in St. Andrew's Sunday School Rooms Thursday when the Golden Links Mission Circle had as their guests the girls of the newly formed CGIT group and their mothers. Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, Circle president, acted as chairman, and proposed the toast to the Rev. T. G. Husser responded. Jessie Lunn the toast to mothers and Mrs. Guy MacKaye replied; Margaret MacKaye the toast to the King. Marlyn Husser proposed the toast to the church and the CGIT, and Jean Smith of Peterborough, president of St. Paul's CGIT, and chairman of the Girls' Council, made the reply.

Miss Smith, who had been introduced by Miss Jean Burnham, led a sing-song. She also told of life in a Girls' Council camp and of the way the CGIT program helped in the development of girls' ability for leadership.

Miss Marion Pogue of Peterborough, leader of the Murray Street CGIT, and chairman of the Girls' Work Board, was the guest speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. B. E. Ingham. Miss Pogue sketched the development of the CGIT from the time of its formation in Toronto in 1915. She also told of the camp which will be held at Clear Lake from August 23 to September 2. She stressed the four-point program—cherishing health, seeking truth, knowing, God, and serving others.

Mrs. Hobbs called on Miss Estella Hetherington to present the book awards in the presbyterial poster contest won by Mrs. Arnold Fallis and Miss Velma Thexton. It is the second year Miss Thexton has been a winner in this contest.

Mrs. T. G. Husser, CGIT leader and the following girls conducted the worship service. Frances Elson, Shirley Bredin, Barbara Anne Thompson, Alice Hawkins, and Sheila Sloan. Those lighting candles on the worship centre were: Jessie Lunn, president, Arlyne MacPherson, Lena-Marie Lowery, Margt. Guthrie, Beverley Forsythe, and Marie-Claire Husser.

Mrs. Husser called Miss Pogue and Mrs. Hobbs to the platform with the newly-formed CGIT group for their affiliation service. At the close of this service Margaret MacKaye asked Miss Pogue to accept, on behalf of the presbyterial secretary, a gift from the girls. After welcoming the girls into the missionary societies of the United Church, Mrs. Hobbs assisted Mrs. Husser in presenting each girl with a certificate and crest.

Frances Dawson expressed the thanks of the CGIT group to the speakers, song leader, and to the Mission Circle for entertaining them. The Rev. T. G. Husser was at the piano for the sing-song and hymns. The place cards, in the shape of churches, were the work of the CGIT girls. The committee in charge of the banquet was convened by Mrs. David Lunn.

'Iron' Captain Drowns At Dock

HALIFAX, April 24 (CP)—The "high liner" of the Lunenburg fishing fleet is dead.

Captain Guy Tanner, 53, was drowned Saturday when he fell between his schooner Frances Geraldine and a wharf as he was about to step aboard the vessel.

It was a strange end for the 260-pound skipper who first went to sea at the age of 10. In 1943 he spent 15 hours in chill Atlantic waters clinging to an oar with a broken arm after his vessel was cut in two by a blacked-out convoy ship.

He was one of the iron-breed school who man the fishing fleet's wooden ships. In 1947, he earned the title "High Liner" for landing the largest salt fish catch of the year at Lunenburg and retained it until his death.

Senator Blasts Delay St. Lawrence Seaway

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Senator Alexander Wiley (R.-Wis.) said Sunday the failure to complete the St. Lawrence seaway and power project is a "shocking disgrace."

"It is also," Wiley added, "a miserable commentary on the fact that narrow-mindedness can sabotage a great international project crucial to our security."

Wiley's criticisms were contained in a letter to chairman Nelson Lee Smith of the Federal Power Commission. He made the letter public as the House of Representatives public works committee arranged to start hearings today on legislation to authorize the proposed seaway development by Canada and the United States.

Began As Child Actress Wins Oscar First Try

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 (AP) Mercedes McCambridge, who has just performed the rare feat of winning an Oscar — moviedom's highest tribute—in her first picture, says: "I almost had to be an actress."

"I was alone," she recalls of childhood summers on an Illinois farm. "I had to invent and imagine because I was lonely.

"I used to pretend I was dead. I used to sing sad little songs about how "beautiful Mercy is dead. . .she's lying in her coffin. . . no more will her feet he heard the floor'.

"Or I'd imagine I was a queen, and the animals were my slaves."

But "Mercy," as Mercedes is called by family and friends, said she wasn't neglected or unloved — "maybe I was a little more melancholy than most because of the Irish in me."

Spanish and Irish

Carlota Mercedes McCambridge, one-eighth Spanish and seven-eighths Irish, won't say how old she is but looks early-thirty-ish. The name is prounounced "Mer-say-deez" with the accent on the "say." She has red-brown hair and brown eyes.

Mercedes was only the third player in the 22-year history of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences to win its award on a first picture. Her predecessors were Helen Hayes ("The Sin of Madelon Claudet," 1931-32) and Kayina Paxinou (For Whom The Bell Toll" 1943).

Oscar Winner

Her oscar was for her performance as the cynical secretary and confidante of Broderick Crawford in "All The King's Men." The picture itself won an oscar. So did Crawford as Willie Stark, small-town rabble-rouser who became a state governor but lost his ideals in the scramble for power.

Miss McCambridge was married last Feb. 19 to Fletcher Markle, well known in Toronto a few years back as a producer of plays on the CSC. Markle now is an associate producer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The actress met him three years ago when he was the producer of an American radio program on which she appeared.

It is the second marriage for Mercedes. Her first ended in divorce.

Union Aids Iroquois

BRANTFORD, April 24.—(CP).—The Long House of the Iroquois has accepted an offer of help from the United Automobile Workesr (C.I.O.) in Canada in its fight for treaty rights, a union official said Sunday. Robert Johnson, chairman of the Fair Practices committee of Local 458, U.A.W., said the Hereditary Council of Chiefs had accepted the offer.

HOW ABOUT A DRINK?—A White Leghorn rooster lived to crow another day after scampering from a blazing chicken coop. Here Reg. Larion, of the Brantford, Ont., fire department, obliged the scorched bird with a cooling drink from a fire hose nozzle.

Shooting Chase

TORONTO, April 24.—(CP).—Six police bullets were fired during a wild 65-mile an hour chase through midtown streets Sunday before William Hanley, 21, was arrested and charged with dangerous driving and driving while his license was suspended. He suffered a slight bullet wound in the left forefinger. He said he had been at a party held to celebrate the homecoming of his wife, who had recently given birth to a baby.

U.K. Communists Slipping Lose Members, Money, MP's

By ERNEST AGNEW

LONDON, April 23 —(AP)—British Communists aren't doing so well right now.

A party spokesman reports membership has dropped to 42,000 from a peak of 60,000 in 1942, and only about 33,000 of those are active.

The party lost its only two members of the House of Commons—William Gallacher and Phil Piratin—in the February election. Its newspaper, the Daily Worker, is running up a monthly deficit of £3,200 ($9,920) on a daily circulation of 111,000, and the trade union movement has struck another heavy blow at communist influence within its ranks.

Still more serious, perhaps, the official Russian Government newspaper Izvestia has declared that the communist party here "has not yet become the mass party of the working class."

Fuchs Case

"The Fuchs case hurt us," the spokesman told an interviewer. "It was very bad propaganda so far as we were concerned and certainly will cost up more members even though Fuchs wasn't a member of the party here."

(Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born communist scientist who gave British and American atom secrets to Russia, was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment Feb. 28)

The Labor party considers British Communists politically ineffective right now, although it recognizes they are powerful in the foundry workers' union, the Electrical Trades Union, the Civil Service Clerical Association and that many of the shop stewards in other unions are Communists.

"They can cause us a hell of a lot of trouble," a Labor Party official said.

Expelled C. P. Member

The powerful trade union congress council has expelled its lone Communist member, Bert Papworth; defeated Arthur Horner, Communist secretary of the powerful National Union of Mine Workers, in his bid for a council seat, and directed that hereafter no Communist is eligible to attend the annual conferences of the local units of the T. U. C.

The Communist official, who spoke with the full authority of the party's 30-member executive committee but requested anonymity, made these points:

1. The party is financed "soley by its members here in Britain. We get absolutely no money from any outside source."

2. The party "has no guidance from Moscow and most emphatically no link with the Soviet embassy."

3. Communists will eventually govern Britain "but possibly not in the foreseeable future and possibly not under the label of Communists. The workers' party would be the more likely name."

4. Although party membership has dropped from its peak, it still is 27,000 more than in 1938.

The year was 1834...

Toronto's waterfront buzzed with excitement as all eyes turned to the men who worked with tripod-mounted instruments. On this June day, engineers began the initial survey for the first official plan of Toronto. The harbor survey line they plotted ran from the Gooderham & Worts Windmill to the Fort Point, and has ever since been known as the "Windmill Line."

These were indeed the challenging times, as the frontier pushed Westward from Upper Canada, and the pulse and power of growing nationhood was felt across the wilderness miles. On coasts and prairies, on mountain foothills and in fertile valleys, soon would grow cities planned under the whiplash drive of far-seeing men with unbounded faith in this new country . . . men inspired by freedom of action guaranteed by the freedom of the secret ballot.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Rampaging River Cuts Off Manitoba Town, 7 Feet Of Water In Streets

Two-Inch Snowfall Adds To Difficulties As Flood Peak Passes 1948 Crest, And Reported Still Rising

WINNIPEG, April 25—(CP)—The border town of Emerson today prepared for isolation from the rest of Manitoba and North Dakota as the flood tentacles of the Red River tightened about the stricken town. Authorities spoke of rationing and an auxiliary power plant as the Red topped its 1948 crest and threatened to cut the rail link with Morris and Winnipeg to the north. A driving snowstorm Monday night hampered workmen and swelled the river. By 6 p.m. it hit the 1948 level; by midnight it was three inches higher.

The business section was deserted and water coursed down the main street, with the depth in some spots seven feet. One quarter of the residential area was deserted. By midnight 250 feet of the 1,000 residents of the town and its environs were evacuated. Army Weasels and Red Cross boats were still plying the streets.

Milk Shortage

Len King, provincial health inspector, said 24 cases of canned milk were all that remained for 50 children.

"We are considering rationing evaporated milk in case the fresh milk supply from Morris is cut off," he said.

The two-inch snowfall Monday night weighed down power lines and threatened to plunge the town into darkness. Attempts were being made to set up an emergency plant.

More than half the town's 12 wells have been condemned—polluted by the filthy river water. Two tank cars of fresh water stood on a spur line. Officials said they would be saved for an emergency.

At Winnipeg the river held steady at 21.4—two feet below the level of the 1948 deluge which brought millions of dollars worth of damage to Southern Manitoba farmlands. The gauge had not moved since Monday morning.

Tax Deadline April 30, Have 5% Penalty

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Deadline for filing Income Tax returns is midnight April 30, and district Income Tax offices will be kept open until 6 p.m. local time Saturday to help late filers, it was announced today.

Penalty for filing a late return is five per cent of the tax unpaid as at April 30, but any mailed return postmarked with an April 30 date will not be subject to penalty.

Meanwhile, since many taxpayers are due for a refund this year, the Department has received an unprecedented number of early returns.

From the time Income Tax forms became available early last February up to April 17, a total of 1,864,657 returns had been filed, compared with a total of more than 3,300,000 expected to be filed by the end of this month. This was 55 per cent. of the total and thousands more are pouring in daily.

It is estimated that 80 per cent. of individual taxpayers this year were entitled to refunds on their 1949 returns.

Small Red Force Takes Hainan

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 25 — (AP) — Communist guerrillas, penned for months in the rugged "five-finger" mountains of Hainan Island, today swarmed within four miles of Yulin, Nationalist escape gate on the southern coast.

(A Hong Kong press report said Nationalists had evacuated emergency army and navy headquarters at Yulin.)

The guerrillas were spurred by the collapse of Chinese Nationalist troops in the face of numerically-inferior Communist forces who stormed ashore nine days ago. The Nationalists, possibly 125,000 strong, cracked under the pressure of some 15,000 veteran Communist fighters and the threat of 60,000 guerrillas at their rear.

Communications with Hainan were virtually cut off. It appeared the evacuation of top leaders was in progress.

The suddenness of the Nationalist collapse provoked gloom on Formosa. For one thing, it prevents transfer of sorely-needed war material. Formosa itself may be fighting Communist invaders before the year is out.

Ontario Employment Shows Slight Decline

TORONTO, Apr 25 (CP) — Employment in Ontario is showing a decline according to the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research.

Latest return indicates that employment in leading industries in February was two per cent below the previous month and one per cent lower than the same time last year.

Compared with last year employment registered the greatest drops in logging, non-ferrous metal products, iron, steel, and textiles. Gains were shown in the communications and construction.

Employment in manufacturing increased in eight zones over the month but dropped in 13 areas as compared to last year. As of the end of March there were 102,237 unemployed as compared with 64,933 a year ago.

Staunch Red Replaces Key Czech Minister

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Apr. 25 (AP)—The official Czech news agency today announced one of the government's staunchest Communist party members, Dr. Alexei Cepicka, had been named Minister of Defence.

He succeeds Ludvik Svoboda, who the agency said had been relieved of his post "by his own request" and now becomes a vice-premier and director for the state office of physical culture.

The cabinet shake-up came in the midst of widespread trials of alleged spies and saboteurs. During the week-end 47 persons were sentenced and state courts are trying another 18.

Sdenek Fierlinger, former deputy premier, will take over the state office for church affairs. Dr Stefan Vais, head of the president's chancellor, was named Minister of Justice, the agency said.

Build New Subs

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—The United States Navy today disclosed plans to build radically new type submarines — one to be atomic powered—and to convert a cruiser into a guided-missile combat vessel. These construction plans were made known in a request to Congress for authority to build 112 vessels of varying types.

Fraser Charges Gov't Publicity Costs Too Much

OTTAWA, April 25 — (CP) — A couple of sharp-eyed Progressive Conservative members gave the government a few pointers on budgeting in Monday's Commons budget debate.

Indicating they had scanned the government's balance sheets, G. K. Fraser (Peterborough West) and E. D. Fulton (Kamloops) told Finance Minister Abbott how they thought he could trim his financial sails a bit and save the country a few dollars.

Mr. Fraser nailed the government on the question of publicity and pointed to the 19 departmental publicity division which employ a total of 218 persons at an annual cost of $1,046,000. A business consulting firm, he suggested, might be asked to recommend improvements in publicity handling.

Mr. Fulton, winning applause from even Mr. Abbott himself, had a thriftier suggestion — a $25,000,000 paring operation on the $49,500,000 which the government will spend this year on publicity, advertising, information, travelling expenses and miscellaneous items.

Raps Overlapping

A CCF member—Ross Thatcher (Moose Jaw)—joined them with a proposal that the government do something about the overlapping and duplication that was inevitable in rambling structure of government.

Other speakers included John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge), Andre Gauthier (L, Lac St. Jean), William Bryce (CCF, Selkirk), J. M. Dechene (L, Athabaska), W. A. Boucher (L, Rosthern), G. D. Weaver (L, Churchill), J. I. Hetland (L, Humboldt) and George Fulford (L, Leeds).

Earlier, the chamber voted 101 to 50 against a motion by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) for production of documents that would show the amount of retirement allowance paid R. C. Vaughan, former president of Canadian National Railways.

In the opening stages, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the new floor price for butter will not be set until after he receives and considers representations expected from dairy men now meeting here.

Trade Minister Howe said he thinks there is "some hope" that European currencies, including sterling, will be made convertible "in the near future."

In the main debate, Mr. Fraser charged the government with trying to "keep up with the Joneses" and cited partial figures to show that it was spending at least $2 a minute on newspaper, magazine and street car advertising to "glorify" itself. Press releases of

US Cold-Shoulders UK On Debt Aid Proposal

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —Cold opposition was raised in the Senate today to Britain's proposal that the United States shoulder part of Britain's £3,000,000,000, ($9,300,000,000) debt to the sterling-block countries.

Three leaders spoke out vigorously against it and their position was believed to reflect a general feeling among Congressmen.

Here is what they had to say:

Chairman Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "The British proposal is astounding. It is my view that the United States cannot and should not entertain the British plan."

Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Senate Policy Committee: "It is an extraordinary presumption on their part."

Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska, Republican Senate floor leader: "I am not in favor of giving any further aid to Britain."

The British proposal, announced Monday, would call for the United States to take care of a big share of Britain's debts to India, Pakistan and Southeast Asia.

"When the British loan of $3,750,000,000 was made," Taft said, "it was the clear understanding that it was to help the British bring about a long-term settlement of their outstanding sterling debts."

Wherry said the British government's financial statement last month showed the British have a balanced trade budget abroad and a balanced financial budget at home.

"Why should we advance them more money?" he asked.

The British proposal came in the midst of the Senate debate over a $3,372,450,000 aid bill which contains $687,000,000 for Britain.

2,000 Troops Unloading Food Ships

13,409 UK Dockers Now On Strike Tie Up 80 Vessels

LONDON, April 25—(Reuters)—More than 2,000 troops and naval ratings marched into London docks today in a blinding April snowstorm to unload foodships tied up by 13,409 striking dockers.

About 1,000 more dockers joined the strike today, leaving only 12,087 still working in the crowded port.

Troops and sailors, in "operation Springtide," were unloading 31 ships, but another 84 were idle.

The strike began last Wednesday in protest against the expulsion from the Transport and General Workers Union of three men alleged to have led last summer's stoppage in support of the Canadian Seamen's Union dispute.

The unofficial strike committee announced today a plan to picket docks still working and to make a protest march of 13,000 dockers through dockland tomorrow.

Seek Support

Matthew Gravitt, member of the committee, said they would seek support from London bus depots and Smithfield, London wholesale meat market.

The government, which has labelled the strike as "Communist-inspired" Monday ordered 1,000 soldiers and sailors to begin shifting urgently-needed food cargoes from some of the 80 idle ships.

More troops were drafted into the port area overnight bringing the total service force in the docks today to 2,476.

A heavy two-hour snowfall added to the troop difficulties on the slippery quaysides and docks.

Tugmen, lightermen—who man the Thames barges—dock clerks and drivers of fuel trucks carrying oil for dock equipment threatened Monday night to refuse to work with the military.

Lightermen called a mass open air meeting for tonight to discuss action.

Find Baby Alive After 21 Days

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—A tiny Negro incubator baby, kidnapped and given up for dead more than three weeks ago, was found alive and well today in the storeroom of a mid-Manhattan hotel.

Police said an 18-year-old Negro woman, Mrs. Evelyn Jane Jordan, a hotel chambermaid, admitted snatching the two-pound 11-ounce premature infant girl from Lincoln Hospital in the Bronx the night of March 30.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Clifford Holden, took one glance at the baby this morning and exclaimed:

"Yes, that's her."

The baby, Chaneta Holden, was only nine days old when she was spirited away from the hospital's incubator ward.

Even if sheltered, the premature infant was given little chance to live. After three days without a trace of the child, she was listed as "presumably dead," although the search continued as actively as before.

No motive ever was advanced for the kidnapping, and police did not give an explanation after their first questioning of Mrs. Jordan.

Likely Begin Work On Highway Soon

OTTAWA, April 25 — (CP) — Work on completion of Trans-Canada Highway links in six of the 10 provinces is expected to start within the next few months.

However, it may be years before Canadians will be able to travel in comfort from one coast to the other over a hard-surfaced highway.

Agreements signed Monday by six provinces—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Prince Edward Island —provide for completion of Trans-Canada links within their boundaries during the next seven years.

Acheson Claims Seaway Plan Vital Project

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —State Secretary Dean Acheson said today building of the "long overdue" St. Lawrence seaway and power project is as essential to the economy and defence of Canada as it is to the United States.

He told the House of Representatives public works committee, considering legislation to authorize the $800,000,000-plus development, that American action on the proposal cannot fail to have an immediate effect on the relations between the two countries.

"If we adopt the (legislation), Canada and the United States can go forward in this joint venture for their mutual benefit and our already happy relations will be made happier," he said.

"If we refuse to co-operate, there will be disappointment and justifiable criticism on both sides of the border."

Important Partnership

The Secretary said partnership with Canada is of "the utmost importance."

Benefits to be derived from the joint development, Acheson said, are sufficiently important to warrant the contemplated expenditure.

Creation of the "great inland waterway," he said, would:

1. Permit goods originating in the mid-continent area to be shipped to European markets at low cost.

2. Make possible the shipment of iron ore from the Quebec-Labrador area of Canada to American steel mills.

3. Allow production of low-cost hydro-electric power to reduce materially the acute shortage in both northeastern United States and southeastern Canada.

Fliers Hang 22 Hours Over Icy Crevasse

WELLINGTON, N.Z., April 25 (Reuters) — Two young fliers spent 22 hours hanging upside down in a wrecked Tiger Moth plane, not daring to move in case they sent it crashing into a glacier crevasse.

The craft, caught in a downdraft, had been sucked onto an icefield where it became wedged between two ice pinnacles.

The two uninjured men described their ordeal after being brought down by rescuers Monday night. Murray Thomas, 22, was the pilot, and his friend Norman Marshall, 43, was a passenger.

"The nose of the plane rammed one of the pinnacles and this left us nicely suspended and upside down over a crevasse which was pretty deep," Thomas said.

"We did not dare move in case we upset the plane's balance. We were just hanging by tail and nose."

Tiny Liberal Group Holds Government Fate In Hands

LONDON, April 25—(Reuters)—Nine Liberal members of Parliament were deciding today whether to join the Conservatives in their attempt to bring down the Labor government on Budget resolutions tomorrow. The tiny Liberal group was intrigued by Winston Churchill's budget speech in parliament Monday night in which he put forward the idea of a coalition government only to knock it down again a few minutes later.

Churchill recalled Britain's wartime coalition government. Then he added that the ties that bound Britain's parties together during the perils of the war "now have been severed by all that has occurred."

The Liberals fear that if the government were defeated tomorrow and a general election followed, the Liberal party — which suffered heavily in last February's contest — might be wiped out.

Toying With Idea

They are therefore toying with the idea that now is the time to use their balancing position to make a bargain with the Conservatives.

They might vote with the opposition tomorrow if Churchill's party would agree to give them a clear field against Labor in several constituencies in the next election.

Government quarters show a growing confidence that Labor will not be defeated on the vote.

There has been a heartening return to parliament this week of Labor "casualties" through illness.

Train Kills Baby Playing On Tracks

OSHAWA, April 25 (CP) — Terry Bales, 18 months, was killed today by a Canadian National Railways freight train as he played on the tracks with his sister near his Rosebank home, 12 miles west of here.

Mrs. Bruce Bales, 20, said she heard the train whistle and called to Terry and his sister, Suzanne, 3. Terry jumped from the wagon and stood laughing at his mother as the train struck him.

2-Week Truce In Rail Strike

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —The government today pushed for rail labor peace meetings today after a serious strike due Wednesday on several key railroads in the United States.

Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., chairman of the National Mediation Board, said negotiations will be started soon in Chicago in an effort to solve a union demand for an extra fireman on big Diesel locomotives.

The union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, agreed Monday night to a two-week truce proposed by O'Neill. This postpones the strike deadline from Wednesday morning to May 10.

The issue, however, has been discussed so many years in rail labor relations without a solution that prospects for any settlement in the two-week truce period seemed dim.

Steel Union Applies As Agent For Miners

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — The United Steelworkers of America (CIO), announced today it has applied for certification as bargaining agent for 1,500 employees at Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines at Timmins.

The steelworkers union is seeking to take over from the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelters Workers, present bargaining agent. The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union was expelled from the CIO and CCL last year on charges that the union was Communist controlled. The CCL has since awarded jurisdiction over the workers in the mine to the steelworkers union.

Find Child Hospital Bed But Father Still Missing

MONTREAL, April 25—(CP)—A hospital bed has been found for Maureen O'Reilly, five-year-old polio victim, but her father again is reported missing.

Richard O'Reilly came to Montreal last March 28 in an unsuccessful attempt to place his daughter in the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

The 36-year-old accountant from Bourlamaque, in northwestern Quebec, was supposed to take his daughter back home April 14, but the pair mysteriously disappeared.

They were located in Cornwall Sunday at the home of friends and O'Reilly returned here to attend a hockey game. Monday night, he was again reported missing.

Meanwhile, relatives said they had found a bed in Alexander Hospital for Maureen but the father's signature was needed before she could be admitted. Maureen still is in Cornwall.

All available city and provincial police personnel were on the lookout for the pair since last Saturday when Mrs. O'Reilly told police in a long-distance telephone interview from Bourlamaque that they had disappeared.

100 People Homeless, No Casualties

Police, Workers Wake Sleeping Occupants Damage $500,000

FORT WILLIAM, April 25—(CP) — A spectacular fire swept through a whole city block in central Fort William early today destroying or damaging 10 dwellings, two apartment buildings and a lumber and fuel yard. No lives were lost and none was reported injured.

First reports said that more than 100 persons were left homeless and the damage might exceed $500,000.

Flames first were noticed in the building of the wholesale fuel and lumber buildings of Snelgrove and Evans about 3:30 a.m. Swiftly they spread to adjacent houses.

Rouse Sleepers

While firemen fought the flames, policemen and night workers ran from door to door arousing the sleeping occupants. The red glare over the downtown section of the city soon attracted hundreds of citizens who pitched in to help remove belongings from homes in the path of the fire. So fast did the flames spread, however, that some tenants escaped with little more than the clothes they were wearing.

Flames nearly leaped across the street to a solid row of dwellings. Occupants of these homes manned garden hoses to drench roofs and walls as protection against searing heat and flying embers.

As dawn broke, firemen still were battling to protect dwellings close to the fire area. On lawns, sidewalks and streets were piled furniture and belongings of the homeless.

Red Cross workers swung into action to aid the homeless.

"Bullied" Choir Inquiry Soon

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — A decision will be made in a "day or so" on whether to hold a formal inquiry into the complaints of seven young church choir singers that they were "bullied" by two Ontario Provincial Police officers.

Commissioner William Stringer of the OPP said today a preliminary investigation of the affair is still going on. Reports from the two officers and from the persons who made the complaint are being studied at headquarters.

The choir singers complained that two Provincial Police officers, "dressed like a couple of tramps and reeking of liquor," searched their automobile as they returned to Toronto from a church service at Orillia, 75 miles north.

Woman Gets 12 Years For Slaying Landlord

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) J A 12-year penitentiary term was imposed today on Mrs. Rae Leland, 40, convicted April 18 of manslaughter in the paring-knife slaying of her landlord.

The charge arose from the fatal stabbing of the landlord, Thomas Monteith, 43, during an altercation with the Lelands outside their apartment in his east-end River Street home last Dec. 30.

As Monteith started down the stairs to his own quarters, he cried out to his wife: "Rose, she stabbed me through the heart." He collapsed at his wife's feet and died a few minutes later.

$15,000 Barn Fire

PICTON, April 25 (CP)—Loss estimated at $15,000 was caused Monday night at the farm of E. A. Jessup, two miles east of here, when fire destroyed a large frame barn, together with 24 head of cattle, a team of horses, two sows, 1,000 bushels of seed grain, hay and farm machinery. The fire attracted hundreds of spectators from the district.

TCA Officials Say Engines Do Good Job

Say Drew Charges Misinterpretation Of Warning To Crews

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines are satisfied with the performance of their aircraft engines, but they are constantly on the outlook for developments.

W. F. English, Vice-President in charge of Operations, Monday told the Commons Railways and Shipping Committee that T.C.A. was content with the performance of the British liquid-cooled Merlins used on North Stars and air-cooled Pratt and Whitney engines used on DC-3s.

He had investigated engines used by other air lines, including those in the United States, and he was of the opinion that the T.C.A. engines were of equal performance.

Questioned by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. English said a bulletin cautioning flight captains against flying four-engine North Star aircraft with three engines had been distributed in March, 1949.

Wron Impression

Mr. Drew's assumptions that the notice went out because of "alarm" over TCA engine failures was "far-fetched."

The notice asking flight captains to be conservative in use of three engines applied to ferrying of aircraft from one airport to another.

It did not apply to movement of passenger pay-loads. TCA North Stars then flew with all four engines in operation.

Mr. English also confirmed Mr. Drew's contention that a notice had been issued recently asking that North Star aircraft be operated at medium and not fast speed.

Mr. Drew maintained the reason speeds of the Merlin were being kept down was to avoid burning out engine bearings. Merlin engines were not operated at "maximum" efficiency because of concern over North Star engine failures.

To Cut Deficit

The Commons committee, continuing investigation of TCA operations, was told that TCA expected to cut the annual deficit from $4,317,000 in 1949 to $1,243,000 in 1950.

G. R. McGregor, TCA president, said the TCA forecast was for a decline in revenues from the Atlantic service because of increased competition from other countries.

Although operating revenues for 1950 are expected to decline from $9,000,000 in 1949 to $7,900,000 in 1950, the deficit on the North Atlantic run also is expected to come down from $1,700,000 in 1949 to $163,000 in 1950.

On the Atlantic service, operating revenue is estimated for 1950 at $9,500,000 compared with $10,200,000 in 1949; operating expenses $10,500,000, compared with $12,700,000. This deficit is expected to decline to $1,264,000 from $2,898,000 in 1949.

More optimistic is the company's estimate of TCA operations on North American routes. The 1950 forecast is for operating revenue of $30,500,000, compared with $26,500,000 last year and for expenses of $30,195,000, compared with $27,500,000.

Instead of a deficit of $1,419,000 last year, the company expects to end up the year's operations in 1950 with a surplus of $21,000.

US Fights Against Time To Avert Phone Strike

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—Peace efforts to halt the country-wide telephone strike set for tomorrow morning went into their final hours today. Neither side held out the least hope for settlement. Already 10,000 equipment installers were on strike against the Bell system and under union orders to jam long-distance lines wherever possible.

Only an unexpected, last-minute break—possibly arbitration or calling a presidential fact-finding board—remained as a chance to head off 230,000 workers in a twice-postponed general telephone strike.

President Truman's second strike truce expires at midnight EST tonight. If final negotiations collapse in New York City, the walkout is set to follow automatically at 6 a.m. local time tomorrow.

Aside from jamming—which is illegal in some states—the installers' strike can have only a long-range effect on the public.

Instant Curtailment

But a general strike tomorrow would bring instant curtailment of phone service in the United States. Only a few and comparatively minor independent companies, mostly in rural areas, would be exempt.

Supervisory employees, who would try to carry on as in past strikes, might find themselves hampered by the new union tactic of mass jamming.

In case of the big walkout, the union, the Communications Workers of America (CIO), has asked all its own members as well as other sympathetic unions to be ready to swamp long-distance exchanges with "hang-up" calls. The method would be to place a call and hang up before it was completed.

This would first hinder hand-operated exchanges, but enough calls can eventually swamp even the automatic dial systems.

The jamming order of the Installers' Union—Division 6 of the CWA—brought a warning from the company and a threat of prosecution from the State's Attorney in Cook county (Chicago), Ill. The division covers 43 states.

Calls On Newspapers Keep Unbiased News

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower called Monday on American newspapers to keep their news columns free and unbiased and to defend "the political and economic freedom of each one of us."

"Only an informed public opinion can win the peace," the Columbia University president and wartime Allied commander told 1,400 publishers and editors at the annual luncheon of The Associated Press.

Eisenhower's address came after the AP board of directors reported that censorship of news is growing and said that factual reporting never was "more vital to the survival of our free institutions."

Eisenhower paid high tribute to the American press for its reporting of the Second World War.

Trial Interrupted Witness Absent

The trial of John Millen, Omemee, charged with careless driving, was interrupted today in police court when crown witnesses failed to appear to give evidence.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., criticized provincial police for starting a case without making sure their witnesses were available.

Constable Norman DeBow testified a car driven by Millen had struck another car in the rear on Highway 7 a mile and a half west of the Chemong road turn about seven a.m. Dec. 30.

Marlene Martin, 14-year-old daughter of Arthur Martin, Smith township, driver of the car struck was hit by the Miller car when she failed to respond to the shouted warnings of her brothers and sisters helping to push the car to get it started. She suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, shock, cuts and bruises.

Edgar Millen, father of the driver, and Ross Dutnam, 24, Omemee, also a passenger in the Millen car, both had cuts on their faces.

Pearson Asks Effort Restore Trade Flow

HAMILTON, April 25—(CP)—A concerted effort to restore the international flow of trade was urged Monday night by External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson.

In an address prepared for delivery to the annual meeting of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, he predicted Canada may see imports from the United Kingdom, "encouraged by our government, compete successfully with our own domestic products." He said that "in certain contingencies" the government might have to take action to keep out competing imports from non-sterling countries."

Lock Workers Ballot On Strike Vote

Following a mass meeting at 11 a.m. today the production workers at the Peterborough Lock Co. began balloting on a strike vote. The voting will not be completed till 6:30 p.m.

About 180 workers are affected.

The strike vote follows a lengthy period of negotiations between Local 528 United Electrical Workers and the company. Recently a Conciliation Board under the chairmanship of Judge W. S. Lane of Picton recommended no shortening of hours or increase of pay. In fact it said that the company had made out a legitimate case for a wage reduction.

At 11 a.m. today the plant shut down and the workers went next door to the Knights of Columbus hall where they heard from their president Romeo Leonard and the entire negotiating committee.

The main contract demand of the union is for a 40-hour week with no loss of take-home pay.

Ford To Spend Millions In Expansion

WINDSOR, April 25 —(CP)—Start of an expansion and modernization program involving "many millions of dollars" has been announced by Rhys M. Salt, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd.

He told the company's annual meeting here Monday that one of the first projects to be undertaken is a $3,500,000 steam and electric generating plant at the Ford works in Windsor. The new turbine generator and high-pressure boiler, expected to take three years to complete, would take care of anticipated needs for the next 10 or 15 years.

Two months ago the company announced purchase of a 205-acre site in Windsor for future development. The first stage in this is expected to be a $4,000,000 national parts depot. Ford's present plant here extends over 240 acres.

Efficient Facilities

"We attach the greatest importance to keeping our productive facilities up to date, efficient and competitive," Mr. Sale said in his annual address to shareholders Monday. "That is why our planning today includes several long-range projects involving expenditure of many millions of dollars."

A record level of purchasing power, high national production, capital investment and development of natural resources "give us the greatest confidence in Canada and in the future of our company," said Mr. Sale. "Upon this confidence are founded all our plans for the years ahead."

He said there might be a levelling-off of the market for motor cars in Canada, but he did not expect a severe slump and he did not believe the market in Canada would shrink to pre-war dimensions. Ford production in 1950, up to April 21, totalled 41,300 cars and trucks, 6,100 more than in the same period last year.

Competition Keener

"Currently our ability to sell is limited only by our ability to produce," he said. However, "competition in the automobile business is keener than ever, not so much in immediate selling but in making sure of the future."

He also announced that late this year or early in 1951 Ford would introduce an automatic transmission as optional equipment on all Ford, Meteor, Mercury and Monarch passenger cars.

Windpipe Bleeding Caused Girl's Death

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) — Death of a five-year-old Japanese-Canadian girl while undergoing a tonsillectomy Monday was caused by bleeding in the windpipe, Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said Monday night.

The girl, Phyllis Takayama, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shoichi Takayama, died a few minutes after an ordinary operation in an uptown doctor's office. Dr. F. S. Nichikawa said he administered ether.

The doctor said the girl's three-year-old brother, Christopher, had his tonsils out a few minutes earlier and the operation was a success.

The last tonsil death in Toronto was also a Japanese child Dr. Lawson said.

See No Relief

But the respite held no promise of relief from the week-long vigil kept by those along its banks.

From the south came disquieting reports of further rises in Red Lake River, a Red tributary which had already forced half a Minnesota city to flee their homes.

Snow and break-ups in the ice sent more water to join the Red at Grand Forks, N.D., 75 miles below the border. It meant another flood crest had started on its way towards Emerson and Winnipeg.

Parts of North Dakota reported eight to 12 inches of snow; two inches fell at Emerson while workers battled to keep vital rail lines open to the north. A strong northeast wind swirled muddy water through the deserted one-quarter of the town.

Large-Scale Evacuation

Large-scale evacuation of residents of threatened areas had moved more than 250 persons to higher ground by midnight.

Th deserted business section was awash with water as deep as seven feet.

The first big crest, which entered Canada Sunday, was slowly moving downstream towards towns between Emerson and Winnipeg. Road links were cut in many places, but main highways still were open.

In the Winnipeg area, where the Assiniboine River joins the Red and the now-quiet Seine winds in, workers expected the main crest later in the week. Many families already have fled riverside homes in suburban St. Vital and West Kildonan.

Dean Suggests Crime Board

DETROIT, April 25—(CP)—An international crime commission for the Windsor-Detroit area was proposed here Monday night by Very Rev. Wilfrid J. Langlois, of Windsor, Roman Catholic Dean of Essex.

His suggestion followed a description of the citizen-sponsored Chicago Crime Commission by its chairman, Guy E. Reed, in an address Monday to the Economics Club of Detroit.

Dean Langlois said he was not drawing a parallel between the Windsor-Detroit area and Chicago.

"My suggestion was to consider the feasibility of such a commission as a preventative rather than a curative step," he said today in explaining the suggestion he made in Detroit.

The commission might be a means of erasing the slurs cast at Windsor by other Ontario centres who should clean up their own cities, he said.

Appeal Fails In Rent Cases

An appeal in County Court against a conviction under the Wartime Leasehold Act was dismissed today by Judge S. L. Smoke.

Emmett F. Sheehy on December 6 was convicted by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, in City Police Court on three charges laid under the Act. He was fined $150, and $25.50 costs.

Mr. Sheehy promptly filed an appeal, but it was dismissed by Judge Smoke on the grounds he had not fulfilled all the requirements necessary for such an appeal. And he was assessed $35 costs.

The first charge on which he was convicted in Police Court was that he forced M. R. Knox to vacate the lower apartment at 364 Simcoe Street, claiming he needed it for personal living accommodation.

The second was that he collected a rent higher than was considered reasonable for the apartment. And the third was also for overcharging on rent from Neil Coyle who occupied the upper apartment at 262 Simcoe Street.

Aware of Regulations

Magistrate Baxter observed that Mr. Sheehy was well aware of the regulations, having carried on a lengthy correspondence with the Ottawa offices of the Board and other government agencies.

Mr. Sheehy represented himself at both the Police Court trial in December and the County Court appeal early today.

Prosecuting was Ross Payne, investigator for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Erdman Friesen was the special counsel for the respondent.

In the industrials, papers, utilities, steels showed majorities of declines in the groupings while agricultures, construction and liquors firmed. Several blue-chip financial issues bounded up strongly. Canada Permanent Mortgage was head $3 at a new high at $220 on sales of 10 shares.

Base metals were mixed in a narrow range. Leaders were ahead fractions. Waite Amulet, East Sullivan and Sherritt-Gordon showed losses ranging up to 10 cents.

Puzzled as to what to do with thet hree Toronto teen age girls who police picked up on vagrancy charges in Port Hope, the court decided that the best thing to do was to ship them back to Toronto and so Derene and Lorraine Smith, twins, age 17 and Lenore Ryan, 18, were placed aboard the noon bus and told to keep going until they were in Toronto. There was no "call again" invitation from the local authorities.

U.S. Senate Still Hunting Reds

WASHINGTON, April 25 (CP) —A Senate foreign relations subcommittee today continued its investigation of the state department's security division after President Truman said no known Communist or disloyal person is on the United States government payroll.

The sub-committee again called Louis F. Budenz, former Communist and now a Fordham University professor, before it in a closed morning session for further testimony on the case of Owen Lattimore.

Lattimore, Far Eastern expert and a professor at Johns Hopkins University, has been accused by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) of being a Soviet spy.

He has denied these charges as well as Budenz's statement that Lattimore was a member of a Communist cell.

President Truman told the Federal Bar Association in a speech Monday night "We know the greatest threat to us does not come from Communists in this country, where they are a noisy but small and universally despised group. The greatest threat comes from Communism abroad, where the centre of its military and economic strength lies.

"The real danger is that Communism might over-run other free nations and thus strengthen itself for an ultimate attack on us."

New Flying Gadget

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —The United States Air Force has developed a gadget to help fliers find out from the air whether an ice floe is strong enough for plane landings. The device is dropped on the ice by parachute. The impact detonates a small charge which sets up vibrations in the ice. A seismograph, similar to those which detect earthquakes, records the vibrations. Its report is transmitted automatically by radio to the plane and the depth and strength of the ice mass can be obtained.

TILLSONBURG, April 29 (CP) —Evidence of a Neutral Indian village dated about 1,000 AD has been unearthed by a party of archaeologists representing the University of Toronto, the National Museum of Canada and several United States groups. Animal bones, fish bones and scales, nuts, seeds and implements were found.

RCAF Man Fined After Accident

COBOURG, April 25 (ENS) — Kenneth Fowler, RCAF, Trenton, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place. As the car is being held, he was allowed to return to the air station and to pay his fine on Saturday.

Constable E. Butler testified that on Saturday night, Fowler sideswiped another car as he pulled out from the curb on King St. and did not stop. He was picked up later at which time he told police that he didn't stop because he had beer in the car and was afraid of the consequences. Police found six full bottles under the back seat and 12 empties in the trunk compartment.

Donald Smith of Cobourg paid $20 and costs on a careless driving charge. Provincial Constable Bill Baluk of Cobourg told the court that Smith had been in an accident a few miles east of here, with a Trenton car.

On a shopbreaking charge, F. C Bataglia, 35, of Buffalo, was remanded until May 1. Bail was set at $2,500. Bataglia is charged with breaking into the service station of Sid Wakely at Welcome on Jan. 14.

Trans-Canada Through Peterborough

It has been Peterborough's fate during the railway age to be off the main line map. We have train service to Toronto, and service of sorts to Montreal, but both have a milk-stop air. The Ottawa-Toronto direct run is through Peterborough but most travellers between the two points take this route only at night when they want a long sleep. In its road service Peterborough has fared little better. Our highways have been chiefly connecting links; indeed until a decade or two ago, we had but one highway Number 28, which ran for 28 miles to connect Peterborough with Port Hope and Number 2. Peterborough was only the terminus of a branch line.

* * *

The road pattern has changed and expanded; highways now radiate from Peterborough—to Port Hope, to Lindsay, to the Kawartha Lakes, to Perth and Ottawa. The greatest potential change of all was announced yesterday when various provinces signed the Trans-Canada Highway agreement. The Trans-Canada will pass through Peterborough, on the route of Number 7 from Lindsay through to Ottawa.

* * *

It is too early to assess what changes in the city and district's commerce will be brought about by Peterborough's being astride the Trans-Canada. Most Ontario traffic now passes along the lake front, between the major cities of Windsor, Toronto and Montreal. The weight of this traffic is not likely to shift northward. Nevertheless, the Trans-Canada will open up a new route from the north-west, and motor traffic bound for Ottawa and Montreal will pass through the city. It is likely to stop here, if the city's restaurants, hotel and tourist accommodation is attractive, for Peterborough is the last logical staging place before Ottawa for east-bound travellers, and the first for west-bound.

* * *

The demand for accommodation and meals should increase considerably. It is to be hoped that Peterborough is sufficiently enterprising to prepare for the demand with more forst-class hotel service and really good restaurants.

Broad Highways Are Safer

The chief way to make our roads safer is to relieve their congestion. Since an edict restricting the number of cars on the roads would be impossible, the relief can be gained only through providing more roads and better ones—ones on which traffic may flow smoothly. The great new road-building program now being undertaken by the Ontario Department of Highways is expensive, but, as the Ottawa Citizen points out, the expense will be well repaid in the saving of human lives, as well as in the acceleration given the flow of traffic throughout the province.

Straight, wide, carefully engineered highways seem to be an invitation to speed, and to consequent increases in the rate of accidents. The truth is, however, that although the speed may increase, the accident toll does not.

A survey has been made on the traffic and accidents on a four-mile section of the Queen Elizabeth Way immediately west of Toronto. On it only three fatal accidents have occurred over a ten-year period. Two involved pedestrians (who are not supposed to be on that highway) and one was due to careless driving. Yet the traffic on this four-mile stretch reaches a volume of 20,000 vehicles a day, including numerous heavy trucks travelling at night. The extension of the Queen Elizabeth type of highway from Toronto to Montreal (already the Toronto-Oshawa section is complete and work has begun on the Oshawa-Newcastle stretch) will reduce the number of accidents on this lake-shore route, the most heavily travelled long highway in Canada.

The Comic Books Continue

It is only a few weeks ago since a discussion about "comic books" engaged the attention of Parliament, and the decision was made to ban "crime comics" from entering this country. No attempt was made, however, to prevent the printing and distribution of this sort of literature inside Canada, and that work proceeds apace. The people who feel that crime comics are incitements to crime have still much to do, if they choose to continue their crusade. The law which forbade the importation of these magazines is, as events have shown, useless.

We have already expressed our opinion of comic books. We think that they are rubbish, and that they do their readers no good. We refrain from joining those who say that they do their readers positive harm, because we have seen no strong evidence to this effect. But the reading of rubbish is in itself objectionable, for it tends to implant rubbishy ideas in people's heads, and to exalt rubbishy values.

We are thinking at the moment not of crime comics, but of what may be called "romance comics"—books of love stories told in comic strip form. We have at hand such a book, which we bought for ten cents. Let us consider its contents.

The first story is about a girl whose tragedy is that she has no family; she grew up in an orphanage. At last, goaded to desperation by the mystery of her birth, she hires a private detective to trace her parents; he discovers that her parents deserted her; she is greatly depressed by this news; she tries to run away; but the handsome young detective seeks her out and marries her. "Then suddenly the world was bleak for me no longer. I had learned one more truth: that real love asks no questions! Real love is hope and trust and faith in its own right to exist". Another tale shows how a girl got a date with a soda jerk by spilling a soda on him. A third tells of a girl whose mother kept a boarding house; her lover was the star boarder; he was well off, as her mother knew because she had extended her privileges as a landlady by snooping into his bankbook; but it proves that he is a crook, and the girl marries the detective who captures him. This girl too was torn by doubt, until she found her man.

These stories are on a level with the soap operas. They teach nothing that is evil. But they teach virtually everything which is cheap and false, and therefore likely to lead to unhappiness. They teach that a girl's principal occupation in life is to snare a man; that love is the supreme sensation of life, and that it has the power to make everything right that happens to be wrong; they teach that money is, after love, the greatest thing life has to offer; they teach that the mere fact of being a girl of marriageable age is enough to command the lifelong adoration of any decent man. They teach, in fact, a farrago of nonsense that has no relationship to reality. Children who gobble up this stuff, month after month, cannot be blamed if they have a stupid and essentially base attitude toward life.

Our law against importing comic books has done nothing to stop the circulation of these things in Canada. Perhaps there is nothing to de done. But parents who want their children to grow up with better values than those which sell at ten cents a copy would do well to keep an eye on what their children read.

One Kind Of Hospitality

A man called on us recently who had motored to Canada through the U.S.A. When he stopped in Montpelier, Vermont, he put a coin in the parking-meter, just as a policeman approached him and said, "Excuse me, sir, there is no need for you to do that". The policeman handed our friend a card, which read:

> On behalf of the citizens of Montpelier, we welcome you to the Capital of Vermont. This card entitles you to unrestricted parking during the daytime. All-night parking on the streets is prohibited. Please observe speed limit and traffic rules . . . May your visit to our city be a pleasant one and long remembered. We invite you to come again.
> Frank B. Baldwin, Chief of Police — Ansoń F. Barber, Mayor

This hospitable gesture impressed our friend deeply. We suppose that its costs Montpelier something in parking pennies, but it makes friends. Is it worth imitating?

NOTE AND COMMENT

The day when man brought nothing into this world and took nothing out of it has, strictly speaking, gone. He still starts with nothing, but he leaves a mess of unpaid taxes for his family.

We read of a newly discovered "radio-active drink" which eases pain, shortness of breath, and that tired feeling. We know of a similar drink, but it causes nasty headaches in the morning.

Atlantic Union The New Hope

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE Lyons speech of M. Bidault, the French Premier, on April 16, in which he called for the creation of an "Atlantic High Council for Peace" to integrate the economy as well as the defence of the Atlantic nations and prepare their eventual political unity, epitomises a world political development which has rapidly gathered momentum in the last six months. This is the shift from European Union to Atlantic Union as the aim of progressive Western statesmanship and the future basis of a new world stability.

THE idea was first put forward last July by ten U.S. Senators, who called for a Congressional investigation into the possibility of Federal Union among the member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty. There was little immediate response in Western Europe at the time, but by now the idea of Atlantic integration has gained increasing acceptance in British and French as well as in U.S. official opinion.

THERE is obviously no question of immediately establishing an Atlantic Federal Union, just as in the years 1948 and 1949 no practical politician thought of establishing a European Federal Union at one jump. But it is more and more clearly recognized that the whole Atlantic Community rather than its Western European half by itself is the right framework in which to plan an effective Western defence, and the right starting point for building up an integrated slump-free world economy.

✧ ✧ ✧

CONSTITUTIONAL integration can only follow, not precede, defensive and economic integration; but it is obvious that it has to follow on the same geographical lines. There is little sense in aiming at a politically-united Europe which neither in defence nor economics could stand on its own feet. It must be expected therefore that the United Europe movement, both in its official and unofficial forms, will lose importance proportionately to the progress achieved in practical Atlantic integration; while the movement for a constitutional Atlantic Union, still in its first beginnings, will become increasingly powerful the more unified Atlantic defence and unified Atlantic economy call for unified direction at the top.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is looking ahead. At the moment we are at the point where the "Atlantic" point of view has definitely replaced the "European" one in defence policy and is just about to replace it in economic policy. Moreover, the forthcoming series of Conferences in London and Paris which will culminate in a meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the 12 Atlantic Treaty member-nations on May 15, may see the beginning of a co-ordinated Atlantic foreign policy vis-a-vis the rest of the world—friendly, unfriendly or neutral.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the field of defence, it has always been evident that Western Europe had no hope of achieving real security except in alliance and co-operation with the United States. What is new is the realization that even alliance and co-operation is not enough. If the Atlantic Treaty nations are to achieve real security with the resources at their disposal, they cannot be content with a pledge to fight side by side in war-time, but they must pool their resources and build up a unified defence system in peace-time: this has been generally realized as a result of the defence and staff conferences of the Atlantic Treaty Powers held during the last six months, and especially of the recent important meeting at The Hague, where the principle of pooled defence policy was finally accepted.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS General Bradley, the U.S. Chief of Staff made clear to the American public in his important Chicago speech last week, this implies the abandonment by all concerned of a slice of sovereignty. It means that no single nation in the Atlantic community will in future have a balanced and complete defence system, but only the Atlantic Community as a whole, and no single member State of it,—not even its European or Transatlantic half—will in future be in a position to wage war on its own. It is clear that thereby the chief attribute of statehood—the power to wage war and to decide on the issue of war or peace—will pass from the present nation States in North America and Western Europe to the Atlantic Community as a whole, and that political and constitutional forms will sooner or later have to adjust themselves to this fact.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the economic sphere, we are still a step behind the developments in the sphere of defence. The Atlantic community is still economically split into two by the dollar problem. On the one side are the dollar and hard-currency countries, on the other a number of soft-currency countries each preserving a precarious internal stability by means of currency and trade controls and bilateralism. Official U.S. policy has been aiming, up to now, at a complete merging of all the Atlantic economies, but at European economic integration without America and Canada.

THERE are, however, signs that new ideas are replacing this conception. It is increasingly recognized that the Western European economies, which are competitive rather than complementary, cannot be merged among themselves alone without dangerous dislocation. Moreover, the Atlantic integration which is now replacing European integration in the field of defence cannot succeed without a parallel economic process, for economy is the basis of defence. Finally, even the Atlantic Community as a whole cannot be economically isolated from the rest of the free world.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON the other hand, if a way is found to keep the free world as a whole supplied with sufficient dollars — by private investment or Government loans or grants—to give all nations access to American production and keep the American export industries permanently fully employed, it may be possible to re-establish on a new basis a functioning and expanding world economy comparable to that which existed in the 19th century. The new ideas have found expression in the U.N. Report on Full Employment and in a recent report by President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers. They have led to the appointment of Mr. Gray, the former U.S. Army Secretary, to the new post as special adviser to the President on the world dollar problem. Considerable work on the problem is also carried on in Britain and France.

MR. Bevin, the British Foreign Secretary, alluded to all these developments in his recent speech in Parliament, when he said: "I hope and trust that before long instead of aid from America in the way we have known and instead of pressure on us (Western Europeans) to integrate, we shall evolve in such a way that the wider integration will take place". It is this wider integration—the integration of the Atlantic Community as the citadel and power-house of a secure and prosperous free world—on which rests the first clear post-war hope of a new world stability and a long peace.

ST. JOE AND THE RELUCTANT DRAGON

When Jews Were Disqualified

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE appointment of Mr. Justice Batshaw to the Quebec Superior Court marks attainment of the highest judicial post to which any Canadian Jew has yet been appointed. It recalls, too, a little-known phase of Canadian history. In the 18th and early 19th centuries, Jews in Canada, as in Britain, could not hold public office. But in 1807 Ezekiel Hart, a Jew and a respected and influential citizen of Three Rivers, was elected to the Lower Canada Legislature. When he tried to take his seat in 1808 the House was rocked by a bitter controversy that lasted two days. And although he was re-elected several times he did not finally take his seat until 1832, when the legislature approved an enactment giving Jews the right to hold public office. He was the first Jew to sit in a British legislative body, for in Britain itself it was not until 25 years later that Jews were allowed to do so.

Since then, the Jewish community in Canada has grown, and Jews have been elected to provincial legislatures and to the federal Parliament. Many in Ottawa still remember with affection the late Sam Jacobs, of Montreal, who came here in 1917, and who won the admiration of the House of Commons with his good-humoured, keen wit. Another to be recalled was Sam Factor, elected to Parliament in 1925, and now a county court judge in Toronto. Col. Dave Croll, the member for Toronto-Spadina, has had a distinguished career in municipal, provincial and federal politics.

These men, and other Jews holding public office, have represented all their constituents of whatever religious persuasion, and not merely the Jewish community in their districts. In fact it was this telling argument that Ezekiel Hart placed before the Lower Canada Legislature when his right to a seat was challenged. Canada has come a long way since the 19th century in a recognizing the equal citizenship of its nationals. But it has not yet gone all the way, and the Chinese, for example, still suffer some legal disqualification because of their race.

Anglo-Irish Treaties

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The assertion has been made in connection with the visit of Sir Basil Brooke, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, to the United States and Canada, that Northern Ireland was "arbitrarily carved out" without Ireland having been consulted. This seems to show a disregard for the facts.

The Treaty of December, 1921, signed by the Governments of Britain and the Irish Free State, expressly provided for Northern Ireland's right to hop out of the Irish Free State and for a Boundary Commission.

The further agreement of December, 1925, signed by the Governments of Britain, the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland formally recognized the present Constitution and extent of Northern Ireland.

Northern Ireland has never closed the door to co-operation with what is now the Irish Republic. It is not encouraged to co-operate, however, by the denial of its right to exist. This attitude on the part of the Government in Dublin implies a repudiation of the treaties, both of which were ratified by each of the Parliaments concerned.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Jonah prayed unto the Lord his God out of the fish's belly, and said, I cried by reason of mine affliction unto the Lord, and he heard me; out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice. For thou hadst cast me into the deep, in the midst of the seas; and the floods compassed me about: all thy billows and thy waves passed over me. Then I said, I am cast out of thy sight; yet I will look again toward thy holy temple.

The waters compassed me about, even to the soul: the depth closed me round about, the weeds were wrapped about my head. I went down to the bottoms of the mountains; the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet hast thou brought up my life from corruption, O Lord my God. When my soul fainted within me I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.

They that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy. But I will sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the Lord. And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land. (Jonah 2: 1-10.)

Charges Canada Refused Right To Trade In BWI

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — George Fulford (L-Leeds), a Brockville business man, charged Monday night Canada is being "deliberately refused" the right to trade in the British West Indies on an equitable basis.

He said a lot of business firms in those islands, colonies of the United Kingdom, resent this situation and told the Commons the time has never been riper for Canada to cultivate closer economic relations there. The West Indians, he said, are even writing calypso songs about the situation.

Speaking in the budget debate, he told the government pressure should be applied on the Colonial Office in London to improve Canada's position in the BWI markets, at least to the point of being allowed to balance her exports and imports.

Such an opportunity beckoned in impending renegotiation of the Canada-BWI trade treaty and it came just at the time when the trend of thought in the islands was toward closer collaboration with Canada.

Imports Higher

Mr. Fulford said Canada's imports from the BWI have outvalued her exports there for some years and argued that Canada should at least get a guarantee that Canadian dollars spent there will be used to buy Canadian goods in return. At present those dollars went into the sterling area pool in London and New Zealand Australia and other sterling area countries were usurping markets formerly held by Canada.

Trade barriers were built up against Canada in the guise of currency controls. Canada had never sought to become a colonial power and he wasn't suggesting she should know. But her sister dominions all exercised a degree of rule over outlying islands which gave valuable economic advantages. He knew what protests would well from them if they were denied access to the markets of those possessions as was being done to Canada in the BWI.

FIERY PROTEST—The home of Philip Pereversoff, a Doukhobor, goes up in flames set by the radical Sons of Freedom branch of the religious sect. Ten houses were destroyed in Krestova in the Kootenay district of southeastern British Columbia in fire raids beginning April 19. Raiders made no attempt to conceal their identities and 80 are in jail. Fires and public disrobing are two of the methods used by the fanatics to protest "man-made" laws.

Toronto Brief Made Public

TORONTO, April 25—(CP)—The city of Toronto Monday made public its brief to the Ontario Municipal Board in support of its application for progressive amalgamation with the 12 smaller surrounding municipalities in the greater Toronto area.

The controversial amalgamation scheme, spurred by the Ontario government, still has to be argued before the Ontario Board which governs municipalities.

General improvement of civic services would result from the move, the Toronto brief said. It contended police and fire protection would be improved throughout the whole area, in which more than 1,000,000 persons reside.

Affected by the proposal are the villages of Forest Hill, Long Branch and Swansea, the towns of Leaside, Mimico, New Toronto and Weston, and the townships of East York, North York, Etobicoke, York and Scarborough.

Says Crowding Will Get Worse

Present crowded conditions at Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School will be aggravated by an increased number of students in the next three or four years, predicted K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, Monday.

Mr. Wightman was addressing the Rotary Club, of which he is a member.

At present the Collegiate is "very much over-crowded" Mr. Wightman told the club. Evidence of the conditions may be obtained from a visit there to see the basement rooms used as classrooms and the changing classes at the end of period. Such a visit, he said, is convincing enough to realize that something should be done.

Through the depression years schools were not built, explained Mr. Wightman, and the same policy continued throughout the war years. During these periods the demand for schools was increasing Mr. Wightman said in the past few years the expansion of schools has been carried out in Peterborough, across the provinces, and in other countries. But despite this building program the school population need has not been satisfied and will not be until some time to come.

Mr. Wightman dealt briefly with the changes in the public school curriculum such as the addition of map reading and conservation. He valued highly the suggested change which will tend to help the junior grade pupil of the secondary school.

Caused Disquiet

The present situation, according to Mr. Wightman, has caused considerable disquiet. Regulations first required a boy to be 14 years old before he could leave school. Now the age limit is 16. The change in the curriculum would be to the advantage of the boy or girl who would now continue in school for another two or three years.

Educatin was in the home, said Mr. Wightman, before schools started. Amateurs first were the teachers but gradually the positoin of the teacher became professional.

School Not Enough

The superintendent explained that all the education of the child was not intended to be moved to the schools. The trend now is to load the schools which were never intended to be the sole educational agency.

Mr. Wightman dealt with the relationship between the school and the community and what effect changes in the curriculum are able to bring about.

Tom Taylor, program chairman, introduced Mr. Wightman, who was thanked by Charles Cummer.

James Thompson of the Crippled Children's Committee reported that $4,623 has been collected to date. The receipts from the seals are nearly all in.

Charles Allen led a sing-song.

Machines Cause One-Quarter Of Disabilities

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) — Twenty-five per cent of all permanent disabilities resulting from industrial accidents are caused by machinery, the annual convention of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations was told today.

Major contributor to these accidents, said F. W. Mulvale, of St. Catharines, safety engineer of McKinnon Industries Ltd., is ignorance of how to handle machinery properly. More than 20 per cent of all compensatible occupational injuries in manufacturing were due to machinery.

He said an analysis of 309 manufacturing accidents last year showed that 273 were due to unsafe mechanical or physical conditions, and that in 243 cases there was "evidence of unsafe acts." In the majority of cases, both factors were present.

Industrial Education

J. D. Arcouiet, Welland safety engineer with Atlas Steels Ltd., spoke on industrial education and V. C. Cook, of Niagara Falls, Ont., an official of Canadian Cellucotton Products Ltd., on enforcement.

Mr. Arcouiet said the time to educate workers on safety rules is when they first join a company. Management also must be educated in "benefits derived from safe working conditions."

Mr. Cook said disciplinary action is necessary to enforce safety regulations because many rules "are not sufficiently far-reaching, and often it is difficult to compel people to act safely."

Management had accepted responsibility for accident prevention and "there is a growing interest in it each year," said Mr Cook. Indifference or an incompetent attitude toward safety "should be treated in the same way as a similar attitude toward production."

Liberal Approves Legislature Policy

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — John G. Brown, Liberal member of the legislature for Waterloo North, said Monday night he approves Ontario government policy of avoiding unnecessary expenditures in time of prosperity.

"I criticize government fiscal policy in many respects, but in this they have my unqualified support—that unexpended revenues over budget requirements for expenses should be guarded most diligently."

Mr. Brown said in an address prepared for delivery in the "Provincial Affairs" series of free-time political broadcasts over a CBC Ontario network:

"He is an astute provincial treasurer indeed who, having finished a year with a surplus, refrains from creating liabilities . . . which could grow as the years progress."

Tried Slay Children

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 25—(AP)—A former postal employee was booked early today on a charge of attempting to murder his four children with illuminating gas. Police said James M. Ryley, 36, tied the four children, ranging in age from six to 14 years, to chairs and then turned on the gas in the kitchen stove and a jet on a gas heater. The eldest child, James, 14, freed himself and notified neighbors.

Will March To Church

MILLBROOK, April 25—(ENS)—The Independent Order of Oddfellows and the Rebekah lodges of Peterborough and district will march to St. Andrew's Church, Millbrook, on Sunday for a special service at 7:30 p.m. Daylight Saving Time. The service in Cavan United Church, which is usually held in the evening, will be at 3 p.m. DST because of the special service in Millbrook that evening.

Pension Hike Asked

HALIFAX, April 25 (CP) — A bill to increase from $60 to $75 the minimum monthly pension to totally-disabled persons under the Workmen's Compensation Act was introduced in the Nova Scotia Legislature last night by Labor Minister A. H. MacKinnon.

Many Old Favorites Missing In New Hymn Book Version

By DON GILBERT

London, April 25—(CP) — A completely revised version of "hymns ancient and modern" is out and many old favorites are missing.

More than 450 changes are made in the new edition. Church of England organists who can name any hymn from its number will have to learn all over again.

But first reaction to the revised hymnal showed many churches will be in no hurry to adopt it. Some clergy are upset by the dropping of well-known hymns.

The expense of replacing a complete set of Church hymn books also will be a consideration in many parishes.

The BBC was cautious, too. The Rev. Francis House, Director of religious broadcasting, said the old book would be used until the new is sufficiently known, probably a matter of years."

Hymns Dropped

Among hymns dropped are the 18th Century "Almighty Father Hear Our Cry" and "A Few More Years Shall Roll." Two favorite wedding numbers, "The Voice That Breather O'er Eden" and "O Father All Creating" have disappeared.

The newcomers include Blake's prophetic "Jerusalem," set to music by Sir Huber Parry, which is regarded in Britain as a sort of second National Anthem.

Another addition is Sir Cecil Spring-Rice's "I Vow To Thee My Country," written Jan. 12, 1918, Sir Cecil's last day as British ambassador in Washington.

The revisers also have let in some noted Welsh tunes: "All Through the Night," "Hyfrydol," "Cwm Rhondda," and "Llanfair." English words of "Guide Me, O Thou Great Redeemer" are provided for "Cwm Rhondda," composed in 1907 by John Hughes.

National Institution

First published in 1861, "Hymns Ancient and Modern" was the attempt of a group of Anglican clergy to consolidate all the hymn books of the previous 100 years. It rapidly became a national institution.

In 1904, a revised edition was published. But churchgoers would have none of it. Mindful of that setback, the late Sir Sydney Nicholson spent the war years laying the groundwork for the new edition by sounding out clergy, organists and choirs on their likes and dislikes.

Musical editor of the revised edition is Dr. J. Dykes Bower, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

No professional wrestling show here this week, second week in a row the grapplers won't be seen down this way. Promoter Frank Tunney of Toronto sends word that his top talent is either on tour or busy in other eastern centres this week, but he'll make sure and have a good card for next week in Peterborough. Doesn't want to send a bunch of second-raters here as there's a good city and district following of the pro matmen. The big fellows like Whipper Watson, Yukon Eric, Hi Lee, Earl McCready and some more are in considerable demand at this time of year, and the Sharpe brothers are among others showing recently in the States.

Weather permitting, the senior baseball prospects will workout nightly now at Riverside at six, except Friday, and at 1.30 Saturday afternoon there. Nearly two-dozen on deck for the first drill, just a loosening-up process. A bit early and chilly yet for strenuous stuff but they'll gradually work into shape as the Viaduct League schedule opens in less than three weeks. Most of last year's Petes are available but there'll be quite a bit of bolstering, too, as the competition should be stiff this semester in the Toronto senior circuit, which includes the Oshawa COBL champs of last summer.

OHA Meeting Saturday

Annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association is this Saturday in Toronto, and local delegates will attend. First time such a meeting has been held in the spring, but officials feel now, with so many artificial rinks around, organization work should be done through the summer and early fall, and an early start in schedules made in the autumn. Previously, such starts were held up till late fall or early winter by a late OHA meeting. Frank Buckland of this city is running again for an executive post. The three local clubs, Legion, Petes and Oddfellows, all expect to be back in OHA competition in the 1950-51 season.

The king is dead—long live the king. Or something. Meaning Legion no longer are provincial senior "B" puck champs. Brantford Nats are now. Won it 5-2 last night at home in the seventh game of this hectic final serial. Some 2,200 fans heaved a hefty sigh of relief and bellowed in delight at the windup, whilst Legionnaires congratulated the worthy winners. A good squad, the Nationals. Husky, speedy and full of fight and hockey savvy—yeah, worthy senior "B" champions this season. Legionnaires went down battling right to the final gong, and were certainly not disgraced. But they lost to a better club.

And Not A Single Alibi

No alibis to offer at all. Ice was good, team was on deck in time for a good warmup and the refereeing was fair enough. It's true that three Brantford goals were scored with a Legion player in the sin bin, but he deserved to be there is each case. That's playoff hockey, and it wasn't a powder-puff tilt at all. Rugged and hard, with the checking close as each team highly respected the other. Brants earned their 3-1 lead in the first and that spelled the difference—this tussle on home ice not hurting them any, either. Legion outplayed them in the second and third, but penalties hurt in the third and they couldn't whittle it down. All the Ellis outfit toiled hard, with the first line supplying the scoring punch, and Nicholls tough to beat in goal. It just wasn't in the books for a repeat on that Ontario title.

* * * * * *

Well, Legion have had a good year, in any case. Played 43 OHA games—not counting exhibitions—since the season started back in October. They created several records in hockey here this season. Had the longest season and the latest finish ever, as well as drawing the biggest Peterborough puck crowds in history. And made a swell show of it in the provincial finals against a tough team. And that, mind you, after losing high-scoring Bob Greenlaw and a smart defenceman like Ned Vitarelli ere the season started—besides having Chum Fryia out the last half with a fractured collarbone. They did well, and we enjoyed our trips with a good gang like that. The ice will come out of Civic Arena within the next few days and the six-month puck season is o'er.

Legionnaires Lose Crown To Brantford Nats In Seventh Fray of Finals

By CEC. PERDUE

Legionnaires reached trail's end last night in Brantford as the classy Nationals dethroned the 1949-50 champions to take over the throne in the seventh game of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" finals. A crowd of 2,200 cheared the new champions loudly at the finish of a 5-2 thriller, and the Legion crew added congratulations to the victorious puckists.

After spotting the Brants a 3-1 lead in the first frame, the Ellis outfit fought furiously all through the scoreless second, and had an edge in play in the third, though outscored 2-1. Thrice penalties cost goals in another speedy, rugged and close-checking contest. They drew eight of the 14 penalties.

Ice Was Good

The ice was in good shape this time and the refereeing impartial. While Legion were an hour late leaving Peterborough, owing to bus trouble, they were in Brantford in plenty of time for a good workout. They offered no alibis afterward, feeling that the better club had won out. Both sides expressed relief at the finish of the gruelling series at such a late date, the latest Peterborough hockey has ever been in provincial playoffs.

Led by Hnatiuk, Holota and Stephen on the attack, the husky Nationals piled in early to earn the 3-1 margin in the initial inning. They then hung on doggedly with some close checking and stellar goaltending by McGrattan as Legion made a fighting bid the rest of the route. Breakaways threatened Legion as they hemmed the homesters in their own area time and again, while penalties hampered their drive in the third as both sides laid it on in hard hockey.

Fought Hard

Ross Nicholls again shone in goal, being beaten once by a screened shot and again by a deflected puck. His defence toiled like troopers throughout, and none of the forwards let down over the distance. They all turned in a fighting effort that had the home crowd jittery for the last half. The first did all the sniping, Bill Crowley counting both goals, while Joe Rochetta and Dootch Vitarelli had two assists each. Hnatiuk got two markers for the new champs, with Stemmler, Simpell and Linn counting one apiece. Stephen clicked for three assists, Holota two and Jamieson one. They all played bangup hockey all the way.

Brantford had an edge in the first as both sides kept up a sizzling pace. Freddy Mortimer made a good save in front of Ross once, and Coombs got in a neat try. Holota was penalized for using a broken stick but they held Legion out. Campbell later got it for kneeing, with Parnell following for tripping. All were back when Nicholls thefted Campbell. With Burns off for cross-checking, Stemmler slapped in the first one from Holota and Jamieson. Nick was down and they whacked at it three times in the scramble before beating him. Later, Crowley tied it after going around the net on nice combination with Rochetta and Vitarelli in close. Hnatiuk then put the Nats up 2-1 from Stephen on a slap shot passout. Near the finish, Simpell's screened shot on Holota's passback of a faceoff was ticked in off a home defender and it was 3-1.

A Bit Ragged

Play was close to open the second and ragged at times with the players slowing down. Stephen and his line-mates had Ross on the jump for a space, and Rochetta missed the net on a breakaway. Crowley was gated for interference but Legion checked well in his absence. When he returned, the visitors started to gain an edge on play as they fought in there. Crowley and Laconte got the nod for roughing, and Holota followed soon for tripping. All were back when Burns got it for tripping just s Legion began to really pour in there to test McGrattan often at close range. Neither side could dent the hemp in this close-checking chukker.

Legion ganged up to open the third with first the Hill line and then the Rochetta trio hemming the home crew in for minutes at a time. They peppered McGrattan, but he rose to the heights to keep the burnt biscuit out of the oven. Brantford shook loose a few times on breakaways and iced the puck at times to relieve the pressure. Holota missed on a breakaway and then went off hurt. Stephen was waved over for boarding and Godfrey got the finger for hooking as it roughed up some. Linn scored from Stephen on a hot shot, partly stopped, to make the count 4-1. Greenlaw got the thumb a little later for high-sticking and that also cost a goal, Hnatiuk's flip shot from Stephen picking a corner off the cage. With all back, Crowley raced in on a fine passing play with Vitarelli and Rochetta to hit the mark from six feet out. Near the close of the hot period, Stemmler and Crowley were chased for roughing, and it ended right after at 5-2 for Brantford, with the crowd sweeping out happily onto the ice and the winning players doing a jig.

Savoie Kayoes Alan McFater

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) — Armand Savoie, a Montreal lightweight making his first Toronto appearance, stunned a crowd of more than 5,000 in Maple Leaf Gardens Monday night by knocking out Toronto's favorite Alan McFater.

In his first main bout appearance, Savoie kayoed McFater in the last second of the seventh round of an eight-round main bout. Savoie weighed 132, McFater 137.

Savoie was on the way to his 12th straight knockout victory, and his 21st out of 22 professional starts, when he unleashed a savage attack in the hectic fourth round. He slammed McFater about for fully two minutes. The Toronto boy was hanging on at the bell.

Apart from the fourth and seventh rounds McFater appeared virtually even on points. But the Toronto boxer never recovered fully from the fourth round beating, and in the seventh round was unable to withstand another flurry of power-packed punches. It was a right cross after a burst of infighting that finished him.

Toronto Maple Leafs Down Springfield

By The Associated Press.

Chet Laabs, who used to "break 'em up" for St. Louis Browns, still has the habit of producing that "money" hit.

The 35-year-old outfielder, whose home-run slugging helped to bring the St. Louis club it's only pennant in 1944 still wields a big bat, even in pinch-hitting roles.

Laabs, now a performer in the International League, delivered a pinch single Monday night that sent Toronto Maple Leafs off to a 6-3 victory over Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs. The winning blow came in the eighth inning and snapped a 2-2 deadlock.

The Maple Leafs added three more runs on Johnny Mayo's two-run single and Johnny Welaj's double. Jack Britain got credit for the Maple Leafs' third victory of the season, although he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the big Toronto eighth. Gale Pringle was the loser.

At Baltimore, the Orioles overcame a 9-1 Montreal lead to defeat the Royals, 10-9. Montreal pitcher Paul Epperley heaved a wild pitch in the ninth inning that gave Baltimore the game.

The Orioles, in winning their first game against two defeats, used six pitchers, with Ray Shore—the fifth—gaining the victory.

No other games were played Monday.

Rae Scarborough Thrives On Halting Boston Sox

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

What strange power does Washington's Rae Scarborough hold over Boston's Red Sox?

Joe McCarthy, Boston's puzzled manager, would give half his salary to find out. Tom Yawkey, the Red Sox' wealthy owner is reported to have offered the Senators $200,000 and two players for the pitcher's services, just so that his club won't have to face him. He was turned down.

And no wonder. In six seasons in the big leagues, the 32-year-old righthander has won only 38 games and lost 43 to the six other clubs. Against the Red Sox, Rae boasts a gaudy 10-5 record. No wonder the New York Yankees offered six players for him recently.

Scarborough Monday night met up with the Red Sox for the first time this season. He shut them out 3-0 on three hits—all by one player, Al Zarilla, who rapped out two doubles and a single.

Lucky Eighth

The Senators scored all their runs in the eighth. Until then Al Papai had kept pace with Scarborough, holding the Nats to four hits.

Another masterful pitching performance was turned in by Max Lanier, veteran southpaw hurler of St. Louis Cardinals. The pardoned Mexican League jumper threw a four-hitter at Cincinnati Monday night in defeating the Reds, 1-0. Ken Raffensberger, who holds to one-hit shutout victories over the Redbirds, was the loser.

Lanier drove in the lone run of the game with a double.

Brooklyn defeated the Boston Braves 6-4, in the National League's only other game, scoring the winning runs in the seventh inning on a wild throw by catcher Del Crandall.

Dick Donovan, making his first start in the majors, was the loser. Don Newcombe was credited with his first victory although he needed help from Willard Ramsdell in the ninth.

No Visa Needed To Visit France

TORONTO, April 25 — Canadians planning to visit France no longer need visas from the French consulate, it was announced Monday. A reciprocal arrangement between the French and Canadian governments extends the same privilege to citizens of France visiting this country. The abolition of visas goes into effect May 1.

Since Jan. 1 of this year, more than 1,200 Ontario residents have obtained visas for entry into France. The Holy Year observance is responsible for the upsurge, an official of the French consulate said.

"Apart from Holy Year, more and more Canadians are visiting France," this official said. "Two years ago the total number going from Ontario was about 1,200 for the whole year."

Elimination of visas will bring about a saving of from $1 to $3 to the applicant.

The statement issued by the Consulate reads:

"The French Government and the Canadian Government have just concluded an agreement by which as of May 1, 1950, Canadian citizens, holders of Canadian valid passports, who do not intend to establish themselves in France as immigrants, will be able to enter France and Algeria for a period not exceeding three consecutive months, and Tunisia for two consecutive months."

Scientists Confer

NEW YORK, April 25 (CP). — Twenty-three Canadian and United States scientists began a two-day meeting Monday to exchange ideas on uranium mineralogy. Only non-secret information will be discussed at the conference being held at the New York office of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Hear Applications

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — The Ontario Liquor Licence Board announced Monday the following dates to hear new applications for licences: Kirkland Lake, June 20; Sault Ste. Marie, June 27; Kitchener, July 5; Fort William, July 10; St. Catharines, July 18; Windsor, Sept. 18; Toronto, Sept. 22; Ottawa, Sept. 26.

SECRET WAS SIMPLE

"Isn't it amazing what children notice? Last night my little girl said, 'Mommy, why is Granny's washing whiter than yours?' I swallowed my pride and found out today. The secret's a swish or two of Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse for it's Reckitt's Blue that prevents clothes turning yellow. There is no pure white without blue. Costs only a few cents a month, and means I take no chances with anything that may damage fabric. It is the safe way to keep clothes snowy white." A-1-R

DOUKHOBOR TERRORISM — The aged woman sitting on the rock is bowed with grief as she watches the results of 50 years' work in Canada go up in smoke. Her house at Krestova, BC, was set on fire by members of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors. She saved only the clothes she is wearing but will go along with other members of the fanatic branch of the Doukhobor religion.

Fraser Charges

all types flooded out of its departments.

Wasted Money

Mr. Fraser said much of the publicity ended up in the wastebasket. It also was handing out money liberally to "retired brass" such as R. C. Vaughan, retired president of the CNR, who, he said, was given a $50,000 grant in addition to pension.

The government was trying to duplicate the efforts of 80 reporters in the parliamentary press gallery. Every department had its own information bureau and they were expanding all the time.

Mr. Fraser suggested that business firms should be allowed to deduct from their tax returns the money it cost them to handle employees' tax deductions for the government.

Peterborough should have an income tax office. It had long been promised a Federal building and it should be hurried, Mr. Fraser said. Establishment of a permanent tax office would in time save the government money.

Hangover Budget

Mr. Fulton, 34-year-old former Rhodes scholar, described the budget as a "hangover budget" which reflected a billion dollar complex among ministers. The opposition felt that both spending and taxation could be cut without hurting essential services. The government should allow house committees to study departmental expenditures.

Mr. Fulton, taking issue with the Minister's statement that Federal expenditures have reached their minimum at $2,400,000,000 a year, named three services that could be cut in half without doing harm and he said they were typical of others.

He said the government will spend $49,500,000 this fiscal year on publicity, advertising and information, on travelling expenses and on sundry or miscellaneous items which constituted "a petty cash grab bag." All three groups could be slashed in two.

Mr. Fulton was replying to Mr. Abbott's challenge to members in opposition to show how the budget could be cut without cutting essential services.

Mistaken Idea

He said the conclusion Federal spending can't be cut "is totally insupportable" and insisted that the time has come for the government to decide some things should go if an excessive tax burden is to be lowered or if more essential services are to be financed.

Mr. Fulford charged that Canada, through currency controls, is being "deliberately refused" the right to trade in the British West Indies on an equitable basis. The government should apply pressure on the British Colonial Office to improve the Dominion's position in BWI markets.

Suggests Barter

Mr. Fulford said the government could assist Canada's farmers and industries by negotiating more multi-lateral trade agreements "and even by barter, if necessary."

He suggested Canada's trade commissioners and members of the Diplomatic Corps should be more closely integrated so as to be inter-changeable.

It should not be forgotten that Marshall Aid will end in two years. To find new markets, Canada should cultivate the British possessions ranging from Bermuda down to British Guiana.

Mr. Hetland asked for the removal of immigration barriers against German nationals. They would bring new skills and trades to this country and would not add to unemployment. An industrious and religious people, they would be easily assimilated.

Mr. Boucher suggested the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act be extended to all farming areas across the country. Its application would repay the Treasury 10-fold for any monies which might be spent on its application.

Dartford Mission Band To Start End Of Month

DARTFORD, April 25 (ENS). —The WMS April meeting was held on Wednesday at the home of Miss Muriel Darling. The worship service was in charge of the president, Mrs. A. McCracken assisted by Mrs. G. The next WMS meeting will be held on May 10 at the church, and is open to all women living in the community. At this meeting church union, which took place 25 years ago, will be celebrated.

Mrs. Percy Honey, program convener, took charge of the program. Readings were given by Miss Verna McDonald, Miss Clara Payne, Mrs. Stuart Atkinson, and Mrs. Percy Honey. Lunch was served.

12 Sailors Rescued

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 25 — (AP).— Nine United States Marines and three Bermuda sailors, who set out last Friday to catch supplies for an old-fashioned fish fry, were rescued Monday after a week-end of terror, drifting helplessly in mid-Atlantic. The Royal Navy cutter Bigsbury Bay picked up the group after getting a radioed tip from an American search plane, which persisted in the search despite a fire in one engine.

To Join Manoeuvres

MONTREAL, April 25 (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton Monday announced that ships of Canada's navy would take part this summer in naval exercises in European waters. In an address at HMCS Donnacona Mr. Claxton said Canadian ships would be co-operating with fleets of other North Atlantic Pact member countries.

Seeking Jail For Doukhobors

KRESTOVA, B.C., April 25 (CP)—History may repeat itself for the Radical Sons of Freedom sect of Doukhobors.

Police Commissioner Roger Peachy said Monday he had been looking over a former army camp at Nanaimo, B.C., with a view to using it as a jail for Doukhobors if the current uprising in the Kootenays results in further mass arrests.

In 1932, near 600 Doukhobors were sentenced to three years for nude parading. They were confined in a specially-built penitentiary on Piers Island off Vancouver Island. It cost the government $350,000.

Commissioner Peachey said the government does not plan any mass arrests but "all that depends on how many break the law."

So far, 79 Sons have been jailed at Nelson, 23 miles from here and some 250 miles east of Vancouver. The main jail is overflowing and a wooden annex has been pressed into service.

There were no further fire-raids Monday, making it the first peaceful day here in almost a week. Forty residents—both men and women—stripped and held prayers. Police took names but no arrests were made.

Senate Approves Bill Widening Air Control

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — A bill to extend control of the Air Transport Board over Canadian aircraft operating in areas outside the country Monday night was approved in principle in the Senate.

Reconvening after a three-week Easter recess, the Senate voiced no opposition to the government measure to amend the Aeronautics Act. It now will go to the standing committee on transportation and communications for detailed study.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said the measure would not entail any major change in government aeronautic policy. Rather, he said, the changes had become necessary because of administrative readjustment through the years.

UAW Metal Factory Contract Meet Ends

WINDSOR, April 25 (CP) — A conciliation board hearing on contract negotiations between Walker Metal Products Limited and Local 195 United Automobile Workers (CIO) ended Monday after a one-day session.

The board, under the chairmanship of Judge M. A. Miller of Cobourg, will report its findings later.

George Burt, UAW regional director, told the board the union was willing to drop pension demands "for the present" in favor of settlement on other demands, which include a reduction in the work week and a health security plan.

Don't Like Neckline

BUFFALO, NY, April 25 (AP) —A group of more than 1,200 Roman Catholic teen-agers is campaigning aginst the plunging neckline and bare midriff. Girls in the Western New York School Sodality Union pledged themselves Sunday "to buy and wear only modest dresses." Boys in organization resolved "to indicate approval if friends and dates are dressed modestly, and disapproval of any immodesty in dress."

Nabbed At Church

PORT ARTHUR, April 25 (CP) —A number of Port Arthur residents who went to church Sunday were let off with a warning at the police station Monday. Not for going to church for parking illegally while they were there. Parking tickets were issued to members of the congregation at four churches. Monday they were torn up.

Farmers Taught To Choose Mates

GUELPH, April 25 (CP)—Ontario's junior farmers—"experts" at selecting farms and livestock—Monday got a lecture on choosing marriage partners.

The matrimonial talk, given by Dr. G. E. Wilson, climaxed the annual sessions of the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario at the Ontario Agricultural College here.

Dr. Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Kingston, urged the 600 delegates to have equally alert vision when contemplating marriage.

Insecure children, he said, became insecure adults who do not have much chance of making the right choice of a mate. "All interests should not coincide, but there should be some common interests as well as physical attraction. . ."

W. P. Watson, Ontario's livestock commissioner, told delegates that a satisfactory floor-price policy for agricultural products depends basically on a "reasonable relationship to world prices."

City To Assume $15,000 Cost Of Park Lighting

Of revised estimated cost of $30,000 for floodlights at Riverside Park, city council is to assume liability for $15,000 and supporters of the Peterborough Baseball Club have undertaken to raise an equal amount.

That was the prospect of financing the park improvement for night baseball and other community uses at the meeting of the Board of Works Monday night.

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke was instructed to prepare a bylaw authorizing the council to pay $15,000 of the cost of this project, providing the promised $15,000 from private sources is forthcoming.

With expected receipts of $2,500 a year, beginning in 1951, from the ball club's gates, the Recreation Commission and the Council are hopeful that floodlighting the park will eventually cost the ratepayers nothing.

R. J. Bolton, chairman of the Recreation Commission, presented a statement to the board of works Monday night which made the floodlighting scheme more attractive.

Vern Dawson, George Clarke and other supporters of the ball club in recent interviews with the council and the Commission said they had opened a subscription list of pledges, chiefly from industrial sources, and that from their reception they felt confident they would have $15,000 to contribute to the financing of the lights. At that stage of "careful consideration", it appeared that the total outlay might be up around $35,000 to $38,000. Mr. Bolton's figure was approximately $30,000.

The report from the Recreation Commission listed the following details submitted by a lighting engineer of the Toronto office of Canadian General Electric Company:

Materials $16,000; safety platforms, eight, $1,200; 90-foot poles, ten, $2,750; installation, $8,000. Total, $27,950.

Each item was an approximation which was said to be based upon floodlighting experience and costs in other cities.

"To this we have added approximately $2,000 to cover any unforseen contingencies, including any difficulties which might arise in connection with the nature of the ground in the park, thus bringing the estimated total cost of $30,000. We feel this is as close an estimate as it is possible to make without having actual bids," Mr. Bolton continued.

The following estimate of receipts and expenditures has been made, based on an expected average attendance of 1,000 persons paying 50c admission:

"Receipts: 25 p.c. of the gate receipts, $3,750; advertising, $1,000; miscellaneous, $1,000—$5,750.

"Expenditures: electrtic power service charge, $800; power con-

Red Patch Club Raises Funds For Sick Vets

Purchase of a tract of land for helping convalescing veterans back to health advanced another step Monday night when the Red Patch Club held its lucky draw.

Ticket money will go toward purchasing land where veterans just coming out of hospital can remain with their families until they are ready to work again. Red Patch Club officials have already looked at a couple of tracts north of Havelock but no final decision has been made.

If the land—up to 300 acres—does not already contain cabins, these will be built. The purchase price is expected to be approximately $1,500.

Besides being a convalescing home for veterans, the land is also slated for use as a picnic ground.

Monday night the veterans of two world wars, all of them members of the Red Patch Club, celebrated the winning of the second battle of Ypres in April-May, 1915. It was here that the Canadians withstood the savage attack of veteran German troops using gas.

First Ypres Party

The Red Patch Club was formed in 1922 but Monday was the first time the Ypres battle was celebrated at a mixed gathering. Altogether 120 attended the banquet and dance held in the Legion Hall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Albert Mason, prepared and served a turkey dinner. Theree was no main speaker, but the Rev. C McCarney and Paddy Burk, president of the Legion, gave short addresses.

Lucky Winners

Gil Downer, president of the Red Patch Club, welcomed the guests and told of the club's major project.

Lucky draw winners were:

William Hilyer, 176 Brock St., an outboard motor; Mrs. B. Hall, 59 McDonnel St., a mantel radio; and Bob Moscron, 51 Sophia St., and electric kettle.

Two Cars Collide Stewart-Reid Junction

Two cars collided at the junction of Reid and Stewart Sts. at the north edge of the city Monday, doing some damage to both cars.

Lorne D. MacTaggart, Orillia, driving south on the Chemong Rd. turned into Reid St. He met in collision with a car going north on Reid St., driven by William Baird, Leaside, who was about to turn into the Chemong Rd.

The left front fender of the MacTaggart car and the left side of the Baird car were damaged.

Garbage Wagons and Horses On Block; Trucks Instead

The displacement of horses by the motor truck in the municipal job of collecting garbage, begun 17 years ago by Fred T. Tuggey, has now been completed by Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

The fleet is now enlarged with the addition of two new trucks a few days ago, increasing their number to six, plus two smaller pick-up trucks.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the sub-committee in charge of that department, reported to the board of works last night progress of the sale of horses and equipment recently authorized. Ald. Gillespie said total receipts would probably reach expectations.

Seven horses have been sold for $525. Three are left. They rate about best in the barn. Estimate of what the horses should bring was $825.

Five wagons with rubber tires have brought $235; the estimate was $375; seven sleighs went for $190; they were expected to yield $200. Harness $157.75; estimate $200. Total $1,107.75.

Also sold: one hay fork $50; litter carrier $80; one set of harness for $40; four steel wagons $25, and some other odds and ends of the outmoded establishment of the horse barn. Total receipts $1,360.25 as compared with the estimated $1,650.

When the last of the material has been sold, Ald. Gillespie hopes "to end up all right."

It was back in 1933 when Fred Tuggey was chairman of the committee in charge of garbage collection, that the council bought its first motor truck for that department. He was convinced that the work could be done with saving of time in the house to house pick-up and also in the long runs to the incinerator. The truck that was purchased at that time was too light in its chassis construction and was somewhat wide for use in the narrow lanes, most of which were in the west end.

Considerable opinion was set against relegating horses from this job, and the council generally was persuaded that motorizing should not be further adopted in that department.

The fact was that Mr. Tuggey's estimate of the possibility of the motor truck for garbage collection was higher than the capability of the only truck that was then available.

Fred Ash Heads Millers Division

FRED G. ASH

Fred G. Ash, superintendent of the Quaker Oats Co., was elected on Monday chairman of the Millers, Feed Manufacturers and Grain Elevators Accidents Prevention Association at the annual meeting now being held in Toronto. This represents the second time in recent years that the Quaker Oats Co. have been honored in the accident prevention work of Ontario as L. H. Ingram, vice-president of the company, was president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations in 1948-49.

A number of Peterborough industrialists are taking part in the two-day convention. The speaker at the luncheon held by Mr. Ash's group on Monday was T. A. Lister, safety engineer, Canadian General Electric Co., Peterborough. Mr. Lister took as his subject 'Making It Work.'

At the Industrial Nurses meeting this afternoon Miss Mary Greer, R.N., also of the CGE, is the presiding officer at the meeting of this group and the speaker was Dr. M. F. McGavin, chief medical officer of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada.

The chairman at the final banquet this evening will be Mr. Ingram and the speaker will be N R. Crump, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Cost Accountants Tour Outboard Plant

Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company Ltd. were hosts Monday afternoon to 25 Peterborough accountants. A guided tour of the plant from the receiving door to the shipping door provided the guests with a very interesting view of the problems involved in making and assembling precision-built parts in large quantities.

In the evening the dinner meeting of the Peterborough Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario was addressed by Len Bearne, chief cost accountant for Outboard Marine and the accounting system used for controlling costs was very ably explained.

Mr. Bearne is an active member of the group and needed no introduction. The members were very appreciative of his efforts and their thanks were expressed by Blake Bell.

DISCOVER COUNTERFEIT BILL

A $10 counterfeit bill, the seventh since Christmas, was caught at the Bank of Montreal Monday by an alert teller. The bill was the second counterfeit $10 bill discovered by the Peterborough banks in the past week.

OFFICERS TAKE OVER

The new executive of the Optimist Club moved officially into their positions at Monday night's meeting. They are: President, Stewart Gardiner; vice presidents, Colin Smillie, Jack Dawson; secretary, Harry Race; treasurer, Jeff Grinrod; sergeant-at-arms, Aubrey Braund, and bulletin editor, Clare Galvin.

RELEASED ON BAIL

Released from the Cobourg court Monday when a charge of false pretences against him was withdrawn, George Vandenburg, 37, Millbrook, appeared in police court here today on a charge of stealing $200 from Patrick A. English, Peterborough, March 28. Vandenburg asked for a one-week remand and was released on $100 cash bail without plea or election.

WILLOWS LIQUIDATED

Somebody is hacking down the willows on the east bank of Jackson Park creek, north from King St. to the rear of buildings on the south side of Charlotte St. The improvement can be imagined, the pleasance from Charlotte St. Details of the back yards of that block will now be visible the whole year round, instead of during the winter, from the street and the new postal-customs buildings. Just what offence the willows had committed apart from obscuring the junk collection in the shallow creek will be beyond the ideas of most people. Apparently somebody doesn't like trees.

Parking Illegal On Wrong Side; Amended Bylaw

Parking on the wrong side of the road has become illegal in Peterborough with the passing of an amendment to the Traffic Bylaw recently.

The new section lays down that parking must be parallel to the right side of the road "having regard for the direction in which the vehicle has been proceeding."

This new provision is likely to get more attention from the police than some of the older sections such as the one which says no one under 14 years of age may drive a horse about the city streets. So motorists, beware.

Cadets Clean Up George St. Wharf

Sea Cadets of the RCSC Howe started working on their new headquarters at the George St. wharf over the weekend. Besides cleaning the buildings, the store room and the pavilion, the cadets started painting the storage building white. The two buildings will be white with a royal blue trim.

Lieut. William Thomas, commanding officer of RCSC Howe, said today the boys will be working on their new ship two nights a week and all day Saturday until the work is completed.

A month ago the cadets were given permission to take over the two buildings and the wharf as their permanent headquarters. They will be responsible for the care and maintenance of the land.

The pavilion will be sheeted in, insulated and windowed and the inside will be sub-divided into instructional bays. The smaller building will be used as an office and storage room.

At least one cadet will be on duty at the wharf throughout the day during the summer to meet the American and Canadian tourists travelling by the canal system. They will help the tourists in every way possible.

The new cadet whaler, especially made in Quebec for the Peterborough cadets, was launched on Sunday at 8 a.m. The 27-foot sailing boat was out in the lake from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Two Houses Burn In Night

COBOURG, April 25 (ENS)—Fire destroyed two dwellings during the night near Baltimore.

The dwelling house of Bill Stewart one mile south of Baltimore was burnt at four a.m.

Baltimore fire department responded but due to the start the fire had secured, the brigade was unable to save the house. The dwelling and contents were totally destroyed and loss will be several thousand dollars.

During the night, a small house owned by Paul Salonoff near Baltimore was also destroyed. Causes of the fires are unknown.

French Civilians Remember Canadians With Gratitude

By JEAN E. STENTON

COURSEULLES April — A strong German blockhouse on the beach at Courseulles (3 miles from Beny-sur-Mer) which formerly bristled with heavy German guns, now houses a small workshop for Mr. Paul Dubois. Where the big guns swung their muzzles over the nearby beaches, Mr. Dubois has arranged a pleasant window to aid him while he works.

Jean Stenton

Garde Municipal of Courseulles, Mr. Dubois is one of the unsung heroes of the Canadian landing there. Many men who never knew his name owe their lives to him and hundreds of Canadian homes welcomed their sons home again because of his courage.

The odd thing is that this Norman does not think he has done anything unusual. He saw a way to save the lives of people he considered his friends. So he did it. It was only by the merest chance that his story slipped out, during a brief visit to study the strength of the blockhouse.

Shortly before the Canadians hit the beaches at Courseulles, the Germans seized all wireless sets and 1,400 people who should have received warning to evacuate prior to the attack, remained in ignorance of the proposed landing. The Allies, thinking everyone had left, used all their weapons against the town. With the Canadians in front of them and the Germans behind, the inhabitants, among them Mr. Dubois, took shelter wherever they could and between shells watched the landing operations.

Guides Troops to Safety

Before the Germans had left, they had mined the beaches heavily, Row after row of men advanced and nearly all were killed as they crossed the sands. After watching them for only a few minutes, Mr. Dubois darted out of his shelter, ignoring the battle raging around him. He was one of the few men who knew the layout of the minefield and he quickly found an officer and offered to lead the sappers in clearing a path. His offer was accepted and an untold number of lives were saved.

"Never have I seen such courage," Mr. Dubois told me. "These Canadian were magnificent. They not only looked like soldiers, but they fought like soldiers under heavy fire. I cannot begin to tell you how brave they were. None of them was afraid to die and they feared nothing in battle. I was proud to know them and to be liberated by them. If any Canadian visitors come to Courseulles, there is a place waiting for them in my home."

The blockhouse, which he uses for his shop, has not been badly damaged. The Nazis spared neither money nor materials in making it a strong defence point. Thick stone walls protected the guns which crossed fire with those at Berniere and the next blockhouse toward Arromanches. The floor of the tower was lower than the surrounding land, giving an added protection to the soldiers there. One could easily have believed it impregnable.

Today, only the sunken ships on the distant horizon and some of the temporary tank landing strips rusting in the inlet are grim reminders of the war. Mr. Dubois and his fellow citizens work peacefully at their trades, but their thoughts turn often to Canadians who have engraved a place in their hearts.

Predict Trans-Canada Road Will Bring Peterborough More Industry and Tourists

Announcement Monday of the federal government's intention to run the Trans-Canada highway through Peterborough drew pleased comment from several prominent citizens. They forecast industrial expansion for the city and an increase in tourist trade for the district. All stressed that the city will have to cater to the new, transcontinental trade, and that standards of courtesy and service will have to be improved.

They agreed that Peterborough must make the tourists who will travel the transcontinental route want to come into the city. One suggested the highway be routed at least partly through the city, while others said that the city's own traffice problem is great enough.

"It's a wonderful thing," said Mayor Max Swanston. "We've been hoping and looking forward to it for a long time."

The mayor warned that Peterborough could not take this new trade for granted. "Both the city and the district will have to augment their standards and services."

Boom For Peterborough

"Some industries who wanted to come in here have told us we were off the main line," His Worship added. "Now, I think it will be a different story. I think it will mean a boom for Peterborough."

The mayor said, however, that he had fears about too much growth for Peterborough. "I'd hate to see the city get too big," he said. "I wouldn't like to see it get above 40,000."

Jim Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, remarked that the city must be prepared to accept the added responsibility that will come with the highway.

"It will mean money in everybody's pockets," he said. "However, the citizens of the community will have to cater to the trade. The city will have to make a reputation for good service, good food, and courtesy.

"There will be a definite increase in the tourist business, and I think one way Peterborough could catch the eye of the traveller would be to put up its 'scenic drive' signs once more," he added.

P. D. Scollard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said he hoped the highway would run in part through the city.

"It is all very well as far as the traffic problem goes, to route the road outside the city," he said. "But, unless we bring them through here, how can we make them stay? At any rate, the new highway will be a decided advantage, as it will provide an even better link with Ottawa."

H. L. Garner, chairman of the Peterborough Industrial Commission, foresees an increase in the city's industrial capacity. "Being on that highway will be the best advertising this city could get," he said.

"Both industrially, and as concerns the tourist business, it will mean better things for the city," he said. "I think more industries will establish here, and that will mean growth for the city."

All stressed the importance of what one called "the industry without a smokestack"—the tourist business. They prophesied increasing tourist trade for the Kawarthas, but some claimed that resort operators must improve the conditions they have offered guests in the past.

SNOW REMOVAL COSTS UP

The cost of county snow removal is up more than $1,000 this year. While this is more than 25 per cent over the previous year's figure it is not considered particularly high. There was an unusually light snowfall in the winter of 1948-1949. That year the cost of removal was $4,209.78 and for 1949-1950 $5,311.92.

Lay Sewer Pipe To Septic Tank For E. City Use

Another step toward the ultimate reclamation of Little Lake from kinship to the septic tank was indicated by the action of the board of works Monday night in arranging for the right of way along the C.P.R. in East City for a line of sewer pipe in the vicinity of Maria St.

Sinking of the iron sewage pipe across Little Lake between Burnham's Point and McDonald's Point last summer was a sectional job that was done for the board of works by the Utilities Commission on a 50-50 cost agreement.

The Commission has completed its inclusion of their stretch of pipe in the new water service to Ashburnham, thereby increasing pressures across the river.

Pipe Not Yet Used

The board of works sewage pipe was plugged at the Ashburnham side until the proposed sewer line is laid from the neighborhood of Maria St., turning at the CPR to parallel its main tracks, and then take to the lake shore to Burnham's Point. This will connect the East City septic tank and sewers, which are still emptying into Little Lake, with the sewage pipe already laid across the lake, but not yet in use. When the whole job is completed, East City sewage will be disposed of through the city's main sewage disposal system.

Terms of an agreement with the railway company for trespass on their right of way were briefly discussed Monday night. One clause says the city shall remove the sewer on one month's notice in the event that the land was required for railway purposes. The company is also charging $25 a year rental.

CPR anticipated that some time in the future they might wish to change the track structure near Maria St., but the council members commented that the suggestion seemed so remote from reality they need not hesitate about signing the agreement. This part of the agreement also asserts that should the sewer have to be removed from the right of way, the city shall not have any claim for indemnity against the company.

A motion by Aldermen Young and Dewart authorized City Solicior Huycke to draw a bylaw sanctioning the agreement with CPR.

Asks Businessmen Share Profits

PARIS, April 25—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle wants French business men to share profits with their employees on a country-wide scale.

The wartime leader of the fighting French heads are rightest Rassemblement du Peuple Francais.

One of RPF's basic ideas is that workers and businessmen ought to co-operate, instead of clashing in strikes and lockouts. RPF labor experts have drawn up a bill to make their idea plain. They call it a system that associates, instead of separating, all those who work in a common economic task within the framework of a business. They hope that if it is generally adopted the unions, especially the pro-Communist Confederation Generale de Travail, will lose their reason for existing.

The RPF woul dgive substantial tax reductions to firms adopting the plan on the grounds they are helping to reduce labor trouble and contributing specially to the national wealth.

Limit Control

The RPF doesn't want to give labor control over private businesses. What it does propose is a contract between employees and owners of a firm to fix the proportion of the profits to go to both sides. Each employee would share according to his wages. The management would have the right to put away reserves from profits it does not distribute, but a share of such profits would have to be credited to the workers.

The plan calls for a council of exploitation in each business, with members representing the owners, managers, foremen, white collar employees and working men. The council would have the right to ask a report on how the business is being run, and the right to an accounting.

Uphold Conviction

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Monday upheld the conviction of Adelard (Eddie) Latour, 49-year-old bushworker sentenced to be hanged May 16 for the knife murder of his cousin's wife in Sudbury last Sept. 12. The victim was 23-year-old Mrs. Cecile Rainville, mother of two. Her partially clothed body bore 32 knife wounds.

Canada Refuses To Bar Small, Cheap Czech Cars

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP)—Canada will not bar entry of Czechoslovakian cars, despite the opposition of the Canadian automotive trade, it has been learned.

The small, low-priced automobiles, product of the huge Skoda works and Tatraplane plant in Czechoslovakia, are making their first major appearance on the Canadian scene.

Import permits, said an official, have been issued this year for more than 600 cars, including spare parts, and it is likely more will be allowed into Canada later in the year.

In Toronto, G. H. Hogan, president of the Toronto Automobile Trade Association, said recently that British cars are getting a big enough slice of the Canadian market. Canadian automotive dealers are opposed to the Communist-made produce which competes with cars produced by Canadian labor.

In Montreal, Randall Cotton, president of Etablissement Cotton, Inc., claimed that a shipment of automobiles from Czechoslovakia was sabotaged, and his company would lose $25,000 because nine cars had been totally ruined and more than 50 others badly damaged.

"This is more than carelessness on the part of the shipper," Cotton said. "It is nothing more than a deliberate attempt to keep Czechoslovakian cars out of Canada."

Indirect Taxes Spread Idea Gov't Costless

By JOHN TRACY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

MONTREAL, April 25 (CP) —, Heavy reliance on indirect taxes may spread the illusion of "costless" government, the Bank of Montreal says in its current business review.

The review takes up the March 28 Federal budget, under discussion in the Commons this week, and criticizes what it calls "the time-honored fiscal principle of 'plucking the most feathers with the least squawk.'"

The bank notes that in the fiscal year ended March 31, personal income tax produced $612,000,000 out of total Federal revenues of $2,549,000,000. Of the remainder, $587,000,000 came from corporation income tax and the greater part of the balance was produced by indirect taxes of various kinds.

"A study of the latest available data suggests, moreover," the review says, "that possibly two out of every three members of the Canadian working force do not pay personal income tax. They are substantial taxpayers none the less through hidden taxes, which by their incidence on consumer outlays, bear the relatively greatest weight on the lower-income groups.

"Such a heavy reliance on indirect taxes while obviously convenient from the standpoint of the time-honored fiscal principle of 'plucking the most feathers with the least squawk,' is scarcely conducive to widespread realism in matters of public finance.

"The greater number of people who do not make even a nominal direct contribution to the operating costs of government the more widespread may become the illusion that government is a beneficient provider of 'costless' services."

The review says the budget speech points out that only 12 cents of every dollar of the government's current expenditure is represented by civilian payrolls and the speech concludes that departmental operating economies cannot alter significantly the level of total outlay.

Wrong Impression

"One cannot but fear, nevertheless," says the bank, "that the very size of the budget may be conducive to an attitude of mind which regards minor economies as unimportant."

The review also deals with a claim that governments are at the mercy of public demand in respect to scope of government services.

"It is perhaps not unfair to suggest however, that in some instances specific programs are initiated by forms of taxation not readily apparent to the public without full realization of the implications in terms of cost.

"Lack of awareness in this regard tends to be aggravated by the fact that the major portion of the government's revenues is obtained by forms of taxation not readily apparent to the man in the street."

Coast Guard Wrecks Boat Can't Get Vessel or Money

WINDSOR, April 25 (CP) — Sgt. Charles Johnson of the Windsor police force is mad at the United States.

The U. S. Coast Guard wrecked the shore patrol fleet of the city police force two years ago, he says and he hasn't been able to get payment for the loss.

In August, 1948, Sgt. Johnson was admiral of the police fleet in charge of river patrol. He owned the fleet, speedboat, and used it to pull people from the river, recover bodies and perform other naval feats on the Detroit River.

A U. S. Coast Guard cutter passed close to the pier when Sgt. Johnson's boat was berthed. The cutter's wash smashed the police boat against the pilings. It sank.

A Coast Guard officer came to Windsor, accepted full blame, and two days later a Detroit salvage crew raised the boat and took it to the Coast Guard drydock.

There it was put in apple-pie shape. But there it has remained, despite all Sgt. Johnston's efforts to repatriate it.

He has asked for $2,000 in payment for the boat. He has received nothing to date.

A voluminous correspondence has passed from Sgt. Johnson and City Solicitors Lorne Cumming and James Watson to authorities in the United States. But the only reply in two years has been a request for full particulars, which were sent but never acknowledged.

The sergeant says the boat is actually worth about $3,000, but now he's getting philosophical about the whole affair.

"I'm kind of glad I didn't ask for $3,000" he says. "If I'm going to get anything at all I'd much rather be gypped out of two thousand than three."

Mrs. E. C. Richards, president, and 22 other members of the auxiliary attended the rally and banquet held in Peterborough on Friday.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger

"This is swell—will you pick me up again tomorrow if I get lost?"

How many people to the gallon?

Many thousands of Canadians have a part in making a gallon of Esso available for your car.

About 12,000 of them are employed by Imperial. Some search for new oil fields; some move oil from producing fields to refineries where others make it into Esso and hundreds of other useful products; still others see to it that these are on hand wherever you want them.

Then there are almost 10,000 independent business men who, as Imperial dealers, supply you with our products.

And there are the many thousands of people who derive part of their livelihood from making and transporting the things that Imperial uses in its operations. Last year we bought equipment and supplies from more than 3,000 Canadian firms.

But those are not all.

About 70,000 Canadian residents are shareholders in Imperial or owners of Imperial bonds.

And there are more thousands who have an investment in Imperial through their bank deposits or their insurance policies, because a number of Canada's banks and insurance companies have put some of their clients' money to work to help us do our job.

Finding oil and bringing it to you in the kind of products you need is a big job, a job that requires the skills and the savings of many thousands of Canadians.

Bringing you oil is a big job
. . . and a costly one

About Canada's Oil — On its 1949 manufacturing and marketing operations Imperial earned a profit equivalent to less than three-quarters of a cent a gallon for each gallon of product sold.

Imperial's investment in plant and equipment is equivalent to more than $19,000 for each employee.

The wholesale price of gasoline has increased only a third as much as the average wholesale price of all commodities over the past 10 years.

BB Mothers Told Aims of Teaching Method

"Rhythmic Arithmetic" was the subject about which Mr. F. B. Smitheram of the Peterborough Normal School staff spoke to Baby Band Mothers of George St. Church Monday evening.

He summed up this method of teaching under three headings: an attempt to present every new number situation in terms that are real and meaningful to youngsters through situations that make it unnecessary to make any explanation. (All topics can be taught in this way, he said); an attempt to make these relationships so complete the use of operational science is not necessary in beginning stages; an attempt to arrange every topic so that youngsters can, as they mature, understand the new set-up and be ready for it.

Two solos were contributed by Mrs. C. McKenzie who was accompanied by the pianist for the meeting, Mrs. I. Ellicott.

President Mrs. S. J. Rowe conducted the meeting and heard officers' reports. Mrs. S. Thompson gave a report on the Baby Band Rally held last Wednesday evening at St. Andrew's Church. Mrs. F. A. Mrs. L. M. Richardson took the chair for nominations. She called upon Mrs. E. Chambers, new vice president of Ontario Federation for an address giving the aims of the Collegiate Association.

Primary aim, said Mrs. Chambers, is for understanding between parents and teachers, but special stress is on how to handle adolescent children. It is hoped to start study groups on the subject shortly.

Work also includes arousing public opinion to the need of educational facilities such as a new building to relieve over-crowded conditions at the Collegiate at present.

The speaker called attention to the new phase of educational training—home making—which is to be instituted within the next few years. It is planned to give all students this training before they reach 16 and experts who have studied the situation believe this procedure will lessen the

Mr. C. Gledhill Speaks to ORMT On Piano Music

Peterborough Branch of Ontario Registered Music Teachers met Monday evening in the Public Library auditorium.

Guest speaker was Mr. Christopher Gledhill, M.A., Mus. Bach. (Oxon.) organist of St. Paul's Church, and music supervisor and organist of Grove School, Lakefield. He spoke on "Some Twentieth Century Piano Music," illustrating his lecture with playing compositions by Debussy, Ravel, Sutee, Albenez, Stravinsky and others.

Mr. Gledhill stressed that art never stands still—but either gains or loses. He said that music is affected by wars, brutalities and restlessness.

President, Mrs. Ross Williamson, and vice-president, Mrs. Elsie Chambers Flett presented reports of the recent ORMTA convention held at the University of Western Ontario in London. An all-Toronto executive was elected at the convention including Henry Rosevear, FCCO, president and John J. Weatherseed, FRCO, vice-president and Adelaide Allan Johnstone, secretary.

The local teacher-delegates heard such a well known authority as Frank Blackford definitely advocate group teaching for children beginners. Mrs. Earl Terry, director of music, Board of Education, London said children with monotone voices who once were considered hopeless are now called "out of tune" singers and are given special training by being taught to imitate bird calls, fire engines and animals.

One outstanding musician, accompanist and teacher declared that "simplified versions of the classics are disgraceful," and said students should wait until they are able to play them in the original form.

Mr. Christopher Gledhill closed the meeting with the playing of Mozart's "String Quartet in G."

DOROTHY DIX

"Frisky Bosses" Uncommon, Says Former Office Worker

DEAR MISS DIX: I notice in your column an ex-business woman says that her experience in an office had made her distrustful of men and therefore jealous of her husband. I am an ex-business woman also, but my experience impressed upon me that where there is one frisky boss there are ten bosses who employ women for their efficiency alone. That where there is one girl making eyes at her employer there are dozens to whom the boss is tolerated merely because he represents the weekly pay check. Twice I was the victim of wives' suspicion and in both cases I was merely trying to help the men to make more money for their wives. If there is one thing that I learned while working it is not to beware of men, but to beware of their wives.

MRS. J. O. E.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: This fine and wise letter reaches to the very heart of one of the greatest problems in modern life. For the great majority of business men are compelled to employ attractive women in their offices, and the great majority of wives are eaten up with jealousy.

Have False Picture

Why women are so much more jealous of their husbands' feminine employees than they are of any other women, nobody knows, but they are. They seem to feel that a business office offers a seductive environment that leads even the most prosaic and devoted middle-aged husband into philandering. This is, of course, far enough from being the truth. The business office is a workshop and a man's thoughts during business hours are not of romance, but of finance.

The average boss looks upon the women in his office as just so many cogs in the wheels of the business. He isn't interested in them personally, but only in their efficiency. And the average girl employee in her soul thanks God she is not her boss' wife and that she doesn't have to stand his whims and his crochets except during business hours.

So the jealous wife had as well wipe her tears away and look at the matter rationally. The world is full of women, and if a man is a wanderer by nature he will always find some one to philander with. And a husband who has to be watched isn't worth the trouble.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a schoolteacher about to be married and I have saved up about $2,000. My girl friend and I have had an argument about whether I should help in purchasing the furniture for our new home. I claim that it is up to the man to furnish the apartment, as he has steady work and the means to do it, but this would take all his savings. My girl friend claims that marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition, and that I should do my part. What do you think? R. T. S.

ANSWER: The accepted custom is for the man to pay for the furniture and for the bride to provide all of the linens for the new home. In your particular case, as the man hasn't much money, you might supplement this by paying for the rugs, or some particular pieces of furniture that you especially desire.

But no man ever appreciates the humiliation it causes a woman never to have a cent of her own, nor the joy she gets out of even a little financial independence. So for this reason I think that the woman who has any money of her own does well to keep it in a separate account from her husband's. She can help him with it if the need arises, and there are mighty few women whose money does not really, after all, go to the general support of the family, but she just gets a kick out of having her own investment, her own little interest coming in, and even in the knowledge that she can give her husband a present without his having to pay for it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a happy married woman with two lovely babies, a wonderful husband and a nice home. My husband is of a very affectionate nature and very demonstrative and thinks I don't care for him because I cannot show my love for him. Do you think if I refused to let him kiss me and pet me that he will find somebody who will?

ANNIE

ANSWER: Absolutely. It is a pity when men and women of different temperaments marry, because it brings happiness to neither.

Most divorces are the result of husbands and wives seeking abroad the affection they were denied at home.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 25 — (AP). — The State Monday formally charged 32-year-old John Henry Grant with six counts for attempted murder and one count of violating public health and safety in placing a fire bomb aboard a United Airlines plane a week ago Monday. Grant's wife and two children were among 13 passengers on the San Diego-bound plane. Grant was accused of plotting to kill his family and the three crew members.

African Violets Hardy Plants, Easy to Grow

African Violets are the latest craze in house plants and there was ample evidence of this at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society Monday at the YWCA.

Guest speaker was A. E. Hick, Lindsay nurseryman, whose subject was African Violets. More than 250 enthusiasts filled the recreation room of the YWCA to capacity and so large was the crowd that it was half an hour after the scheduled time for the meeting, before everyone could be seated.

Mr. Hick described how the plant was discovered in East Africa in the 19th century and said it was not introduced to this country until some 15 years ago. Since it began to appear in the florists' shops here many more varieties had come along.

Although there were many different types, some names were merely duplications for the same variety and it was not an easy matter to sort them out.

Mentioning a few varieties, Mr Hick said Dupont Blue did not have so many flowers as some other varieties. Lady Geneva was introduced in California only last fall and could be identified by a white edge around the plant.

Many people asked for a Red Head, expecting to get a red African violet. It was, however, more like an Orchid. Others would ask for a yellow African Violet but, Mr. Hick said, neither he nor other experts had, ever come across such a plant.

How To Show Plants

Describing how to show African Violets for exhibition purposes, Mr. Hick said what might seem a good plant to the visitor, often did not warrant notice by the judge. In the States six out of seven visitors disagreed with the decisions of the judges.

White Lady was not a good plant for exhibition. The flower was always straggly and had too many crowns.

The shape of the plant was an important factor for show plants. Unless the plant was turned continually, one side would grow towards the light and spoil the shape.

Points were usually awarded as follows: 35 for symetry, 25 for leaf perfection, 20 for quantity of bloom, ten for size of bloom and ten for color.

In spring and summer a northern window was the best location and in winter, a south, east or west window could be used, provided the plant was protected on a sunny day.

Likes All Temperatures

The African Violet was a hardy plant and could thrive in varying temperatures. The temperature, however, regulated the need for watering.

It was best to use water at room temperature. Some watered from the bottom of the pot and others from the top and Mr. Hick thought it made no difference which method was used. He did not recommend leaving the plant standing in water. Water it well and drain afterwards, he advised.

It was important to make sure the leaves were dry before putting the plant back in the light. It did not hurt to dry the plant out occasionally to allow air to get to the roots.

Mr. Hick also told how to avoid and overcome the most common forms of disease and pest among the African Violet.

A. D. Butcher, first vice-president, was chairman.

6—In Memoriams

MILLS—In loving memory of Albert Mills, who died April 25, 1949.
Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in pain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by his daughters.

ROGOW—In loving memory of Sgt.-Pilot Sam Rogow.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but all in vain:
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart,
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Always remembered by Mother, Dad, brothers and sisters.

SIMMONS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Mr. James H. Simmons, who passed away two years ago today.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

sumption cost, $500; operating costs, $1,000; minor baseball financing, $750; interest charges, $500; debt reduction, $2,000; surplus, $200. Total $5,750."

"The Commission proposes to pay off $2,000 a year," Mayor Swanston remarked.

Mr. Bolton: "We think that is rather conservative estimate."

That is, from the ball club receipts the Commission expects to pay $500 a year innterest charge, plus $2,000 to the council to be credited against the council's $15,000 investment.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said the ball club had talked of 1,200 to 1,500 average attendance.

In a spirit of expansiveness, probably inspired by memories of his own ball days, Mayor Swanston said: "If they can't draw 2,000 a game they don't deserve lights."

Question of Stands

The Commission's report continued: "The matter of suitable stands has been considered, and it is felt that this will have to wait until the project has proved itself financially sound. However, the lighting plan is being made with the stands in mind so that little or no alteration will need to be made if and when stands become a possibility. In estimating attendance, a reduction of 50 p.c. has been made because of the nature of the present bleachers.

"Information at hand leads us to expect no difficulty in connection with the fill at Riverside, as this fill is all on top ff solid ground. However, there is a sum of $2,000 left in the estimates to cover contingencies."

The report concluded with the information that required material is available at four to six week delivery.

Because the season will be advanced by the time the lights could be set in place, it was agreeable to the board that the $2,000 a year return to the council would not be expected until 1951. But, the Commission would receive its 25 p.c. of the gate money as proposed.

The motion recommending an enabling bylaw to the council was proposed by Aldermen Young and Gillespie. It was passed without opposition.

Ald. Doug Miller remarked that the estimate of cost was made up of approximate figures. "We should have a contract from some one, then we would know what the cost would be. There is no doubt of the sincerity of Mr. Dawson, Mr. Clarke and the men associated with them, but what happens in the event they do not raise the full $15,000?"

Ald. Dodds said he believed they were prepared to sign a note for the difference.

Patterson said he had been driving east on King St. and stopped at George St. when his car collided with the woman.

At Civic Hospital, Mrs. Perry was reported to be in good condition today. Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

Five Years Old, UN Now Faces Gravest Crisis

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., April 25 (CP)—Five years ago today representatives of 51 countries gathered at San Francisco to hammer out the charter of the United Nations.

The anniversary of the opening of the charter conference finds the U.N. with 59 members—but five led by Russia are boycotting 20 U.N. groups.

The walkout-protest against the presence of Nationalist China in the U.N. has plagued the organization into its gravest crisis.

The Chinese issue is the sharpest manifestation in the U.N. of the relations between East and West which have steadily deteriorated since the optimistic gathering in San Francisco.

Lie Visits Moscow

Today, the U.N. chief executive is on the high seas towards Europe where he may decide to visit Moscow as a go-between. The only hope Secretary-General Trygve Lie holds out, however, is for a slow elimination of the cold war.

He wants to call a special meeting of the Security Council where foreign ministers representing the member countries would start again on outstanding problems of international atomic controls and disarmament.

In five years of repetitious debate, East and West have failed to come to any agreement on these and other vital questions. But the U.N. has succeeded in helping to stop wars in Palestine, Indonesia and Kashmir. U.N. intervention in Iran, Korea and the Balkans probably averted conflicts.

Bingo For Pool Attracts 1,500

More than 1,500 bingo enthusiasts attended the third bimonthly Lions Club bingo Monday night. The attendance was slightly down on the second special bingo and considerably down on the first bingo when more than 2,300 people jammed the Summer Gardens.

Mrs. Albert Laton, 161 Antrim St., won the English-manufactured car which was given away by the Lions Club as a door prize. Besides the car was the usual $500 in prizes for the winners in the games.

A Lions Club official said today that the club will continue to give away a car at each bingo as long as the attendance remains high. There definitely will be a car given away at the next bingo in two weeks.

All receipts from the bingo will be used to finance the club's outdoor pool at Riverside Park. The club hopes to fill the $50,000 pool on May 24. The official opening of the pool will be in June.

Frost Tells Vets "We Need You"

LINDSAY, April 25.—The veterans of the First World War have been a great stabilizing influence in Canada which cannot be underestimated, Ontario Premier Leslie Frost told delegates to an all day meeting at the week-end of Legion District "F" which comprises the greater part of Ontario.

To the veterans of the Second World War, the Premier said "Canada and Ontario are going to need you now just as they needed the First War veterans as a great body of public opinion in this great country of ours."

Drawing a parallel between the legend of St. George and the Dragon, representing religion triumphing over paganism, and the task of Canada today, the Premier told his listeners "we have to be champions of our way of life as against forces which are just as destructive as the paganism of that day."

Mr. Frost declared "after many years of public life, again I get down to this: that the essentials which lead to a successful country and a successful government are in the end, very simple." Those simple and essential things in the Canadian way of life must be safeguarded, as in the past, he told the veterans.

Nurses Win Championship In Jr. Basketball

Nurses Juniors won the Girls' City Junior Basketball championship Monday night in the YWCA gym with a last minute drive to down the Normal School lasses 32-22. The game was typical of a final series, fast and closechecking.

Nurses had only a two point edge at the end of the first half, 14-12, as Betty Sutton flipped in three baskets and a foul shot to lead her team. Amy Curtis and Marg Coombes kept the Normals close as Curttis drifted in six points and Coombes four points in the half.

The Normal girls with Amy Curtis again the mainstay, clung to the Nurses until the last few minutes of the second half, when the Civic cagers broke away to win the championship. Betty Sutton, Vivian Latondresse, Ruth Green and Shirley Langdon were the scorers for the Nurses in the half and Amy Curttis topped the Normals.

Amy Curtis of the Normals and Betty Sutton of the Nurses shared the scoring honors for the contest, each having 12 points. Vivian Latondresse, Shirley Langdon, both of the Nurses, and Marg. Coombes of the Normals, each had six points. Line-ups:

Nurses Juniors—Pat Martyn 3, Vivian Latondresse 6, Betty Sutton 12, Ruth Green 5, Keitha McElroy, Shirley Brooks, Phyllis Boadway, Jean Brown, Shirley Langdon 6, Barb Whiley, Bev. Gamble.

Normals — Sheila McEwen, Gladys Clarke 4, Lois Cullins, Amy Curtis 12, Marg. Holroyd, Marg. Coombes 6, Marilyn Kerr.

Montreal Claim Lost CAHA Clears Bilts

MIDLAND, April 25 (CP) — Guelph Biltmores, who have hung up their skates until next winter, got a clean bill of health Monday from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

George Dudley, CAHA secretary-manager, said Monday that Montreal Canadiens' protest against Guelph's use of Andy Bathgate has been disallowed.

Montreal lodged the protest during the Montreal-Guelph series for the Eastern Canada Junior title. Montreal won the series Saturday and now meets Regina Pats for the Memorial Cup.

Dudley said the CAHA ruled that Montreal misinterpreted a residence rule and that Bathgate was fully eligible to play for Guelph.

Conacher Quits Black Hawks, Seek Successor

CHICAGO, April 25 (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks have tentatively begun searching for a new coach to succeed volatile Charles Conacher, who Monday announced his long-expected resignation from the National Hockey League tail-enders.

Conacher, 39, former star for Toronto Maple Leafs' famed "kid line" of the 1930s, had been at the Hawk helm since December of the 1947 season. The Hawks finished last in the 1947-48 campaign, climbed a notch to fifth in 1948-49 and again were last in 1949-50.

Hawk president Bill Tobin, who disclosed Conacher's resignation, said the Toronto native wants to devote more time to his oil interests in Western Canada.

Tobin said Conacher has been asked to remain with the Hawks in an advisory capacity, and indicated he might accept. Presumably, this would chiefly entail scouting in Canada for Hawk prospects.

Weeks ago it was rumored Conacher would leave the Hawks to become coach of the Boston Bruins, whose George (Buck) Boucher was released at the end of the season. Conacher, however, said he would not return actively to hockey if he left the Hawk post.

Tobin said Monday he has not given immediate attention to a successor to Conacher. Ebbie Goodfellow of St. Louis Flyers, Frank (King) Clancy of Cincinnati, also an American Hockey League member, and Hawk players Red Hamill and Doug Bentley have been mentioned as candidates. Clancy and Conacher teamed together on the Toronto squad during their prime.

Stamps Grab Western Title In 4-3 Victory

CALGARY, April 25—(CP)—Stan Devico scored the series-winning goal with eight seconds of the game remaining Monday night to give Calgary Stampeders a 4-3 victory over Fort Frances Canadians and the Western Canada senior hockey title.

The Stampeder victory gave them the best-of-seven series with Fort Frances four games to one. The Calgarians, who last represented the west in the Allan Cup final in 1947, now will meet the winner of the Toronto Marlboro-Sherbrooke Saints series for the Dominion's senior title.

The high-flying Stamps took a 2-0 lead in the first period and the game had all the appearances of being a repetition of two previous lacings for Fort Frances.

But the boys from the little Ontario paper mill town — who extended Regina Capitals to six games in a similar Western Canada final last year—were far from out. In the second period they dominated play as Calgary had in the first, pooped in three goals and hung on tenaciously to their lead until past the middle of the third period.

Gets Rebound

At 12.12 winger Herb Lovett slapped in the rebound from defenceman Hugh Coflin's long golf shot for a 3-3 tie. Then in the dying seconds two veteran wingers connected for the all-important marker.

Shifty Dunc Grant took the puck out from behind the Canadians' cage to Devico parked in front. Goalie Ed Phillips had no chance on the close-in drive.

Calgary's other goals were both scored by Roy Heximer in the first period. Butch Pearson, Ed Kliner and Fred Evans were marksmen for Fort Frances.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Lionel Conacher, onetime "big train" of hockey, says some of the goings-on in hockey nowadays are "a downright shame."

During a visit to Western Canada, the former International Hockey League defenceman criticized Conn Smythe, of Toronto Maple Leafs for his stand on this year's Allan Cup playoffs. Smythe said Toronto Marlboro Seniors, if they win the Eastern finals, will not come west unless guaranteed an additional grant by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"When you think that the Marlboros are representatives of the Toronto Maple Leaf organization, one of the wealthiest in the game today, and that the Allan Cup is supposed to be the highest trophy in Canadian amateur hockey, it makes you wonder just what the CAHA stands for," Conacher said in an interview at Winnipeg.

"I think it's time Eastern Canada quit trying to hog everything from the west.

Oscar Judd, in the twilight of his playing career, still is a much-sought-after baseball player.

The veteran major league hurdler, placed on the voluntary retired list last week by Joe Zeigler, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, is being sought by both Guelph Maple Leafs of the semi-pro Ontario Senior Intercounty League and Ottawa Nationals of the Class D Border League.

Tommy Gorman, owner of the Ottawa franchise, is reported ready to talk business with the native of Ingersoll, Ont.

In Springfield, Mass., Zeigler said Monday night:

"I had a job lined up for him but he wants only Ottawa. I'll not stand in his way if he can hook up with Ottawa."

Westmount, Que., will test Sunday sports this summer, the city council decided Monday. Following a referendum, authorities of the residential suburbs announced that municipal playgrounds and parks will be open four Sundays during the season to "gain experience on such matters as interference with the peace and quietness of the neighborhood and traffic parking . . ."

At New Haven, Conn., Rocky Graziano, of New York, former middleweight boxing champion, knocked out Danny Boy Williams, of Detroit, in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the New Haven arena Monday night before a near-capacity house of 5,000.

Vancouver Holds Strong Hand To Win BE Games

By VAL SEARS

VANCOUVER, April 25 (CP)—Vancouver thinks she holds a powerful hand when it comes to bidding for the 1954 British Empire Games.

Her cards, civic officials said in a brief submitted to the games committee, include an excellent climate, a sport-conscious public, a beautiful setting and a five-year plan designed to produce some of the best athletic facilities for amateur sport on the contin ent.

Vancouver is one of three Canadian cities to submit bids for the games, awarded to Canada following the 1950 games at Auckland, New Zealand. The others are Toronto and Hamilton. Montreal is expected to place a bid.

University Grounds

Nucleus of the game, if they are awarded to Vancouver, will be at the University of British Columbia, five miles from the centre of the city.

The university stadium would be the venue of the track and field events. By 1954, under the city's $500,000 British Empire Games development program, the stadium will be equipped with permanent and semi-permanent stands with a capacity of 40,000.

It has a regulation 440-yard cinder track with a grass infield. Four training tracks, all with regulation cinders and infields, are available in the city and its environs. Dresing rooms, showers, massage and rest rooms are available at the main stadium.

Housing for the athletes would be available less than half a mile from the main stadium. Arcadia village, used during th post-war influx of student veterans, could be turned over to games officials for use of the athletes. Dormitories now under construction, combined with the village, can handle up to 1,000 competitors.

City council has agreed to post a $50,000 bond to help defray expenses of competitors coming from all parts of the Empire.

For swimming and diving events, games officials are planning an outdoor Olympic regulation pool with a seating capacity of 5,000 at exhibition park, five miles from downtown Vancouver.

Training facilities include three closed pools and one open pool with a combined capacity of 4,500.

Port Moody, 12 miles east of Vancouver centre on Burrard Inlet, has been chosen as the site for the rowing events. Stands could be erected to seat up to 4,000.

Boxing, wrestling, weightlifting, gymnastics and fencing will be run off at the exhibition grounds. Two buildings there have a combined seating capacity of 10,000. Other venues are available at the university gym, which seats 2,400, and the Kerrisdale Arena, seating 3,000.

Mine Owners Refuse Ruling

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP)—Top officials of the larger unions of the Canadian Congress of Labor will meet here this week to discuss the labor situation in Northern Ontario mines.

A. R. Mosher, C.C.L. president, said the refusal of mine owners to accept Conciliation Board report had created a situation "of deep concern to the entire labor movement."

The Board investigating a dispute between the United Steelworkers of America and the McIntyre mines at Timmfns, recommended two weeks vacation with pay, four paid statutory holidays, joint exploration of a pension plan, adjustment of the wage rate by including the present cost-of-living bonus in the basic rate, and check-off of union dues.

Conciliation boards under Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston, will sit this week in Toronto on similar disputes in the Buffalo Ankerite, Coniarum and Preston East Dome mines in the Timmins area.

Movie Column

Brighter Colors Forecast By Vincent Price

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25 (AP) Paris and New York designers are getting a boost from Vincent Price in their campaign for brighter clothes for men.

"Men are just dying to try new styles," says the lanky actor. Just look around at all the bright-colored and flashy print shirts men are wearing. They're bursting for a chance to wear something different."

Price is helping the drive with his current role in "His Kind of Woman." He plays a flamboyant movie star and his outfits include:

Plaids and Suede

A dinner jacket of bold plaid with midnight blue trousers and a cumberbund.

A hunting jacket with built-in cartridge holders and a suede patch for gun rest.

A pure white gabardine suit.

A royal blue velvet smoking jacket with chartreuse trim, vertically pleated shirt with crepe tie.

Logical Place

California is the logical place to start the crusade for brighter and more practical clothes, Price said.

"The men here have long worn flashy sport clothes," he observed. "Informal and comfortable clothes are what they want."

To help Price's campaign along, I am getting out my black- and-red checkered mackintosh. The one with the belt in the back.

Was Lieut.-Governor Sir Richard Lake Dies

VICTORIA, B.C., April 25 (CP) —Sir Richard Lake, Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan from 1915 to 1921, died here Sunday. He was in his 90th year.

Sir Richard was born in Preston, Ont. Before the turn of the century he was in the British civil service.

Sir Richard became a member of the legislative assembly of the North West territories in 1898 and was a member of parliament for Qu'Appelle from 1904 to 1911.

He retired to Victoria several years ago.

U.K. Landlords Ask Boost In Rents Frozen Since '39

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25 —(CP)— Pride of property long nurtured by slogans such as "The Englishman's home is his castle," has fallen off in post-war Britain to a point where some landlords say they would gladly give away their holdings.

The country's 200,000 small property owners who among them own about one-third of Britain's homes, aired their grievances at a London conference. Some predicted dire happenings if rent control isn't relaxed.

Except in a few categories, rents have been rigidly frozen since 1939. For tenants lucky enough to have held on at pre-war rents, that item in the family budget often is fantastically low. For instance, some 3,000,000 homes rent for less than 10 shillings ($1.55) a week.

Country of Slums

Arthur Anderson of Burnley, Lancashire, told the conference that Britain rapidly will become "a country of slums" if landlords are unable to find more money to keep their property spick and span.

In many communities, municipal authorities insist on repairs, the cost of which has soared in recent years. To get around this, some landlords sign over their property to people without means and thus force the municipality to foot repair bills.

"Houses are becoming uninhabitable because the owners cannot afford to maintain them," Anderson said.

Give Them Away

"Some are being given away to local authorities or more over to men of straw whom the authorities cannot trace when they are required to do repairs."

Miss Marion Bostock, secretary of the Sheffield branch of the Property Owners Association, said she had among her members widows whose husbands thought they had done well in leaving a little property. Under present-day conditions, these widows are in distress.

"Property?" asked Miss Bostock, who lives in a rented flat. "I wouldn't touch it with a barge pole."

Sir John McTaggart, elected president of the group, said that in Glasgow, blocks of flats are being offered free to the city because their owners cannot afford to pay taxes on them.

50% Increase

The meeting demanded an increase of at least 50 per cent in rents fixed at 1939 levels.

But government action is unlikely. The Times commented:

"It is hard to imagine any political ground less conducive to action on rent restriction than the present electoral stalemate . . . but there is no body of controls more ripe for review, not only because of the complexity and injustice of the present application of the law but also because of its increasingly destructive economic effects."

HAMILTON, April 25 (CP) — The American Can Company announced today that a plant with an annual production of 300,000,000 cans a year will be built on the outskirts of Chatham. Work will start in a few weeks on the factory site, on No. 2 Highway 1½ miles from Chatham.

The company estimated that 125 workers would be employed when production starts next January. The plant is to serve the important vegetable-growing and canning districts of western Ontario.

'Phone Strike Postponed Indefinitely

Talks Last All Night U.S. Mediators Report Progress

NEW YORK, April 26—(AP)—Telephone workers and the huge Bell system appeared to be heading toward a general wage settlement today after indefinite postponement of the country-wide phone strike set for this morning.

New talks that lasted all night were adjourned to a later hour today without any final agreement. But confident Federal mediators reported continued progress.

Two major moves toward peace came quickly Tuesday night after the strike was postponed by the Communications Workers of America (C.I.O.), and talks resumed with the Bell parent corporation. American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries.

1. Union long distance operators announced the essentials of a wage agreement granting pay raises up to more than $5 a week.

2. Union equipment installers—already striking against a Bell subsidiary, Western Electric Company—called off plans to picket and start jamming long-distance telephones today.

Announces Break

The break in the seven-month fight that threatened to paralyze the United States phone system came in a message late Tuesday from Joseph A. Beirne, president of the CWA, from Washington to his leaders in New York.

"Recent developments indicate possibility of agreement in the present Bell system dispute," he told them. "There will be no strike Wednesday."

The union has been demanding a cash increase of 15 cents an hour, or nearly $6 a week, and other benefits.

IT'LL GET WORSE—This is the town of Emerson on the Manitoba-United States border after the Red River went on a rampage. The town's main street which runs diagonally across the photo from centre right to upper left was inundated April 22. When this picture was taken April 24, residents had been evacuated and every shop was closed. But new flood crest was expected by Friday. In 1948 Red River flooding caused millions of dollars of damage in Southern Manitoba.

6,000 RAF Men Called To Docks

LONDON, April 26 (CP)—The government called out 6,000 RAF men today to work as stevedores on the London docks in a spreading dockers' strike which started seven days ago.

The airmen will join the 3,000 soldiers and sailors already working on vessels immobilized by the wildcat strike. The strike was called in protest against the expulsion of three men from the Transport and General Workers Union for their part in last year's strike supporting the Canadian Seaman's dispute.

The National Dock Labor Board disclosed that 14,406 men now were on strike, an increase of almost 1,000 from Tuesday. Total waterfront force is 27,000.

Ballet School Fire Said Set Deliberately

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Fire which swept the midtown Volkoff Ballet School early today was believed of incendiary origin, police said.

Captain Sam Hill said two fires, about 40 feet apart, started in different rooms on the top floor of the three-storey building. Damage was estimated at $3,000 to the building, not including contents.

Water and smoke damaged a second-floor dress shop and a ground-floor clothing store.

Man, Dog Bite Cops; Man Fined, Jail Dog

MISHAWAKA, Ind., April 26 (AP)—Vernon W. Williams, 49, and his dog were accused jointly yesterday of biting two policemen.

Patrolmen Marion W. Ringle and Lester C. Myers related in court that they tried to arrest Williams in his home on a beating complaint from his wife.

They said the dog bit both policemen and Williams chewed one of Meyers' fingers.

The dog was ordered tied up for 10 days' observation. Its master was fined $21 for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Holdup Thug Paralyzed By Police Shot

MONTREAL, April 26 (CP)—A 20-year-old youth lies critically wounded in hospital, two alleged accomplices are under arrest and a manhunt is on for a fourth suspect following a $4,300 bank holdup in northeast Rosemount district.

Three of the four armed men who allegedly held up a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Tuesday were captured following a running gun-fight with police. Their getaway automobile crashed into another car and then hit a pole.

The fourth man crawled out of the wreckage and escaped with the money.

In hospital is George Wallace, 20, suffering from a police-inflicted bullet near the spine which may paralyze him for life. Hospital authorities say they may attempt to remove the bullet today.

Arrested were Eric McConnell, 26, said by police to be the driver of the car, and Jean Brunet, 25, who suffered minor leg injuries.

Aimed At Constable

Wallace was brought down with a bullet in the abdomen when police said, he levelled his gun at a constable.

The holdup occurred shortly before the 3 p.m. closing time when six persons—three employees and three customers—were in the bank.

Three men entered the bank. They forced a girl teller, Louise Germain, to hand over the money. They also forced bank manager J. N. Fradette to hand over his wallet containing $10 and took $22 from a customer.

After the bandits fled, Miss Germain sounded an automatic alarm connected with a nearby police station.

Constables Armand Bourret and Gerard Ruel, patrolling in a police radio-car, spotted the men soon after and started the chase.

"They kept firing at us along the way just like you see in big chases in the movies," Constable Ruel said. "Out of about 25 shots, only three came close."

Alberta Gas Co. Prepared Follow All-Canada Route

OTTAWA, April 26—(CP)—Representatives of the Alberta Natural Gas Company said today before the Commons Committee on Railways and Canals they are prepared to follow an all-Canadian route in building a natural gas pipe line from Alberta fields to the Pacific coast.

The Company and Prairie Transmission Lines Limited are seeking incorporation prior to applying for a licence to operate pipe lines. The incorporation bills have run into heavy opposition during the last two sessions because there was no assurance from the companies that they would follow an all-Canadian route and serve British Columbia before crossing into United States.

John J. Connolly, appearing on behalf of Alberta Natural Gas Company, said the applicants had considered five possible routes, one running through Canadian territory in its entirety.

To Serve Maximum

Mr. Connolly said the pipeline company wants "to serve first the maximum number of consumers in British Columbia who can be reached economically and, secondly, with such gas as remains available to serve consumers in the United States Pacific northwest.

"It is necessary to include the United States market because the limited market available in Canada would not in itself support the cost of a pipe line from any of the known Canadian natural gas fields to Vancouver."

Labor Wins UK By-Election

DUMBARTON, Scotland, April 26 (CP)—Tom Steele, Labor candidate, today won the Dumbartonshire West division seat in a by-election to raise Labor's overall majority in the House of Commons to five.

Steele's majority was less than 300 over Cmdr. Robert Allan, Conservative in the two-way contest. The Labor victory of 20,367 to 20,074 was confirmed after a recount.

The election was called to fill a vacancy created by the death of Adam McKinley, Labor, who died two weeks after winning the seat in the Feb. 23 general election. McKinley received 20,398 votes to 17,785 for Allan in the February election, with a Communist candidate picking up 1,198 votes.

The victory keeps intact the party's string of successes in by-elections since Labor was elected first in 1945.

Get Cracking On Snow Seven Weeks Too Late

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP) — There wasn't a flake of snow to be found on Ottawa's Rideau St. Tuesday but a letter from the Ottawa Transportation Commission to the Board of Control promised to get cracking on snow removal.

Explanation: the board wrote the Commission March 3 about snow on Rideau Street. The Commission replied in a letter dated April 24 saying it would have the snow removed.

In the seven weeks between request and reply, the weather took care of the job.

Strange Blast Wrecks Building

SEATTLE, April 26 (AP)—An unexplained explosion made a shambles of a four-storey frame apartment building early today.

Miraculously, no occupants were killed or critically injured. There was no estimate of the number in the building.

Fire captain R. F. Mahoney said the blast in the 30-unit co-operative apartment occurred on the second floor, just above a boiler section. He said the cause was unknown, but several firemen and rescue workers reported smelling illuminating gas.

A quick inquiry showed only five person taken to hospital—none regarded as critical.

Numbers of persons carried from the building by firemen and stretcher bearers were given first aid at the scene. One woman was revived by the inhalator squad on a lawn.

The blast blew out the rear wall of the building and the whole back end collapsed, but there was no fire, Mahoney said.

Split Over Diplomats

OTTAWA, April 26—(CP)—Dissension broke out today in the Senate External Affairs Committee as it initiated a detailed study of Canada's diplomatic machinery. Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Chamber, split with Senator Thomas Vien (L—Quebec) who urged that increased allowances be paid to diplomats serving abroad. Many of these, said Senator Vien, were paying for entertainment out of their own pockets.

Reds Downed US Plane Outside 12-Mile Limit

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 26—(AP)—A Swedish naval staff expert expressed the opinion today that the Russians shot down the missing United States navy privateer plane 28 miles outside the 12-mile limit claimed by the Soviets in the Baltic.

Cmdr. Stellan Hermelin, head of the shipping section of the Swedish naval staff, said in an interview he believed the wrecked undercarriage of a plane found in the Baltic Tuesday was from the missing navy patrol plane.

On the basis of water currents and winds, he estimated that the plane was shot down almost 40 miles straight west of Polangen, on the coast of Soviet-occupied Lithuania.

Craft Unarmed

The United States has charged that the unarmed patrol plane, with 10 men aboard, was shot down April 8 over the Baltic. Russia contended a B-29 trying to photograph Soviet military installations, exchanged fire with Soviet fighters which chased it away from Latvian territory near Libau.

A yellow rubber suit possibly from the missing plane, was found today on the beach of the Danish island of Langeland.

The aircraft undercarriage, picked up by a Swedish fisherman, south of Gotland Island, was due in Stockholm tonight for forwarding to American authorities at Port Lyautey, Morocco, the home base of the missing navy plane.

The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said one of the tires was riddled by bullets.

MP's Arrive On Crutches To Aid Party

Opposition Asleep Nearly Misses Resolution On Taxes

LONDON, April 26—(CP)—By a margin of five votes the Labor government today staved off two Conservative challenges which if successful might have forced a new election in Britain.

The votes came on tax measures introduced last week in the 1950-1951 budget. In each case the Conservative motions of opposition were defeated by 304 to 299.

The first motion would have rejected a budget proposal to increase the tax on gasoline by nine pence (about 12 cents) a gallon. The second opposed a proposal to impose a tax of 33⅓ per cent on trucks.

Labor members, who turned out en masse to stave off the latest challenge to the government, cheered uproariously as the results were announced.

Their enthusiasm was heightened by the outcome of a parliamentary by-election Tuesday in the Scottish seat of Dumbartonshire West where the Labor candidate, Tom Steele, had a majority of 293 over Cmdr. Robert Allan, Conservative.

No Absentees

The House was packed and tense today, with all three parties mustering every follower able to walk or hobble. Liberals voted with the Conservative party.

It was the narrowest victory the government had obtained since the Feb. 23 general election which returned Labor with a slender majority.

Last month they were defeated on a snap vote on a minor issue—a motion to adjourn a debate—which the government did not consider sufficiently important to warrant its resignation.

But today's threat was more serious. Observers were agreed that Prime Minister Attlee would have had to resign if his party had not been able to turn it back.

Still Precarious Spot

The result of the Dumbartonshire election cheered the Labor party but still leaves it in a precarious position. Absence of its followers through illness or official business could give the Conservatives a chance to unseat it.

Rarely has parliament witnessed such a collection on crutches and sticks as it saw today. Ironically, one Conservative member who arrived on crutches had injured his leg when running to vote in a division some time ago.

One Labor member wore his arm in a sling and several other members who had risen from sick beds looked pale and wan.

The House was so crowded that ministers almost perched on their colleagues' knees.

Attlee lunched in the House and then escorted Mrs. Attlee to a seat in the gallery before taking his place on the government front bench.

A Slight Mistake

Up to the last minute, government and opposition whips were frenziedly rounding up their supports to make sure there were no defaulters.

Board Delays Hearing Fire Dep't Charges

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP). — Board of Control Tuesday delayed for one week final consideration of charges of inefficiency levelled against the Ottawa fire department by Horace Merrill.

Some controllers suggested that a judicial hearing may be called to investigate the April 12 fire in Mr. Merrill's Bowesville Road home in the newly-annexed Gloucester township area.

Mr. Merrill, former star with the old Ottawa Senators of the National Hockey League, charged that the department was "indifferent and inefficient" in fighting the blaze that caused an estimated loss of more than $20,000.

Fire Chief Gray Burnett told the Board the progress of the fire before it was discovered and the delay in calling the department were main factors in destruction of the home.

38 Million Profit

NORTH BAY, April 26—(CP) Ontario's government made $38,000,000 profit in 1949 through being in the liquor business, Major J. W. Foote, V.C., told a North Bay audience Tuesday night. The Federal government bolstered its coffers by $60,000,000 last year through excise duties on liquor and taxes on hops, he said. "Do you want the government to sell it or do you want private enterprise to?" Ontario's Chief Commissioner of the Liquor Control Board asked. "I wouldn't be too hasty to damn the government for handling it."

Unemployment Much Better By April 30

OTTAWA, April 26— (CP). — There will be fewer job seekers in Canada after mid-April, the Labor Department predicts. In a periodic report on present conditions, the department said unemployment generally decreased slightly during the last two weeks of March.

A "slight worsening" was expected when figures became available for the first two weeks of April. But after April 15 the total number of job seekers "would drop rapidly."

By March 30, the report said a total of 428,216 Canadians were seeking work through National Employment Service offices.

The highest number of unplaced applicants seeking employment through N.E.S. offices during the 1948-49 winter was 265,000. It was impossible, the report said, to make a fair comparison with the March 30 figure of 428,216 job seekers "because the granting of supplementary allowance had caused 56,500 persons to register who had not registered before."

Represents Drop

Persons seeking work through N.E.S. offices at the end of March totalled 371,700, excluding the 56,500 new registrants under supplementary benefits provisions approved by parliament during February.

This represented a drop of 4,200 from the comparable number of applicants seeking work at March 16.

The improvement was attributed to a "continued sharp decline" in the number of work seekers on the west coast, together with new job openings in industries such as electrical apparatus, men's clothing, some primary textiles and preliminary work on the oil pipeline in Alberta.

The new job openings more than "offset layoffs in certain industries and areas such as those in the eastern logging industry, in the auto industry in Windsor due to the Chrysler strike in the United States, and in Newfoundland after the termination of the provincial government's works project."

Extends Invitation

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Ontario Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow today extended an invitation to the Ottawa Parliamentary Committee on Old Age Pensions to visit the Ontario department to examine administration systems. Accompanying the invitation was a suggestion from the minister that the committee consider the advisability of abolishing the means test.

Czech Peace Bid Contained In Embassy Note; Demands Atom Weapon Ban

Note Claims Only Soviet Union Carrying Out Peace Policy Vatican, Titoists Termed "Aggressors"

LONDON, April 26—(Reuters)—The Czechoslovak embassy in London announced today it had sent a note to the British Foreign Office requesting aid in placing an appeal for a big powers peace pact before Parliament. The appeal was in the form of a resolution from the Communist-dominated Czechoslovak National Assembly. An Embassy spokesman, Dr. P. Kavan, said that, if the Big Powers agreed, Czechoslovakia would herself be prepared to agree to supervision of disarmament.

The resolution gave a series of demands including:

That "imperialist production of arms" should cease; that atomic weapons and warfare should be banned; that "the criminal wars in Malaya and Vietnam" should cease; that "persecution" of "fighters for peace" should cease; in "imperialist-oppressed and colonial countries."

British Criticism

A British Foreign Office spokesman criticized that part of the Czech resolution calling for an end to "imperialist arms production." He said this appeared to recommend the disarmament of the western powers.

The spokesman added that although he could make no official comment until the note had been studied he wished to draw attention to this point, which appeared to be directed against the west.

The resolution finally called on the great powers to conclude a peace pact.

Vatican "Aggressor"

The resolution itself listed the Vatican, right-wing Socialists, and "the treacherous Tito clique," among aggressors, and claimed that "only the mighty Soviet union," was carrying out a peace policy.

Dr. Kavan was asked if Czechoslovakia intended closing down her own war industries, and what was proposed for supervision of disarmament.

He said these would be matters for the United Nations and the big powers but, he added, "if the big powers agreed, Czechoslovakia would be prepared to join in disarmament on whatever terms would be decided."

Newest Jet Plane To Protect Detroit

MT. CLEMENS Mich., April 26 (AP)—The United States Air Force's newest jet-propelled fighter plane—the F-86 Sabre—will protect industrial Detroit.

Selfridge air base here received the first of the planes Tuesday.

A speed of 710 miles an hour is claimed unofficially for the F86. The air force says the craft holds the official world record of 670 miles an hour.

The RCAF recently announced it was adopting the F-86 as its main jet-powered attack plane to take the place of the British-designed Vampire fighters.

Canadair Limited now is building 100 F-86s at its Montreal plant. These planes will be powered by Canadian-developed Orenda jet engines.

Sourdoughs Turn In Graves As Yukon Goes Respectable

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., April 26 (CP)—Any sourdough who lost his gold dust poke on a throw of the dice in the Yukon's rip-roaring pioneer days would turn over in his grave to see how respectable the frontier's main gamble has become.

The game is to guess when the Lewes River will heave off its ice coat and signal the opening of river navigation. It's worth $1,350 to have the right answer. A guess costs $1, and 25 per cent of the ice pool proceeds go to charity.

Persons from as far away as Florida and Scotland are on the list in the town station where all names and guesses are tabulated. Guessing closed April 4. Earliest break-up on record was April 8, and latest May 6.

Spring is late in the far north this year, but any day now the ice will start to shift near the Whitehorse Round House. By the time it moves opposite the railway depot it's expected the usual crowd of several score will be on hand to see it.

When it goes, a barrel in the ice moves. It pulls a rope which trips a switch. The switch stops an electric clock to give the official time.

When the ice goes it usually touches off a big celebration.

"Rivers are vital to the life of the Yukon," says E. J. Forrest, a veteran of the goldrush days who started the derby here. "When the ice goes it gives us a new lease on life."

Chinese Charge 70 Drowned In Ship Collision

HONG KONG, April 26 — (Reuters). — Seventy persons on board the 1600-ton Chinese vessel Hsinan were drowned in a collision with the 8,000-ton United States merchant ship California Bear on the night of April 20, the Chinese Communist Agency alleged today.

The collision was said to have taken place between Dairen and Chefoo on opposite shores of the Strait of Pohai, North China.

The news agency claimed the accident was due to a breach of international navigation regulations by the California Bear and alleged the American ship delayed 30 minutes before launching the first lifeboat to try to save drowning Chinese.

It said 24 survivors taken to Tientsin by the California Bear reported the accident.

The agency said the American ship must pay full compensation for the loss of lives.

Get Extra Day For Income Tax

OTTAWA, April 26.—Canadians have a day of grace this year in filling their income tax returns.

Because April 30, the normal deadline, this year falls on a Sunday, revenue department officials have decided that returns postmarked before midnight, May 1, will get in under the wire.

District income tax offices will be kept open until 6 p.m. local time, Saturday to help late filers.

Auto Shop Destroyed In Belleville Area

BELLEVILLE, April 26 (CP)—Half Way Motors was destroyed by fire Tuesday night when flames swept through the frame structure on the Belleville-Trenton highway, destroying seven used cars.

Used as an automobile storage and salesroom, about a dozen new and used autos were in the structure at the time of the fire.

Loss was estimated at $15,000. Origin was not known immediately.

Belleville fire department and RCAF firefighters were unable to save the structure and combined their efforts to save a nearby residence.

Traffic on No. 2 Highway was tied up for approximately one hour as heat from the burning structure and fallen hydro wires made passage impossible.

One Dies, 6 Overcome By Coal Gas Fumes

MONTREAL, April 26 (CP) — One man died, another was reported dying and five more were overcome today when coal gas escaped in a house on east-end Cuvillier Street.

Four Hydro-Quebec emergency cars together with police squad cars and ambulances converged on the scene when the alarm was given. None of the casualties, found unconscious in the home of Arthur Bernier, were identified immediately.

Say New Floods To Strike West Friday

WINNIPEG, April 26 (CP) — The swollen Red River Tuesday night displayed the temperament of a ballet dancer. Its levels at three separate stretches of southern Manitoba's 100-mile flood front were steady, receding and rising.

At Selkirk, 25 miles north of here the swell held steady; at Winnipeg it fell slightly, and at hard-hit Emerson on the international border the level still was rising.

Meanwhile residents fought to protect their homes under the added discomfort of unseasonable snow and sub-freezing temperatures.

The respite is not expected to last long. The river's first assault has slowed, but by Friday another is expected from the stream's sources in the north-central United States.

Still Rising

At Emerson, first Canadian town hit by the southern crest, the river is seven inches above the peak during the bad flood period in 1948. The rate of rise was a quarter inch an hour.

The last road out of Emerson has been cut off. Engineers say that another foot will sever the rail line, last link with the outside world.

More than 60 of 250 homes were surrounded, and 275 persons were homeless.

A severe shortage of sandbags at Letellier, 12 miles north of Emerson, has hampered flood-prevention operations. More than 50 of the town's 300 habitants worked at dikes against the swollen Marais River, a Red tributary.

Broda Denies Buying Any Race Horses

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Walter (Turk) Broda, reported to have bought a four-year-old filly, Super Girl, while visiting Kentucky said today it "must have been a misprint."

"It isn't so," said Broda, goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs. "Friend of ours down there thought he would like to turn over one of his horses to me. But I don't want any horses. I'm having enough trouble raising the mortgage."

Antwerp Dock Strike Stops Cargo Handling

ANTWERP, Belgium, April 26 (AP). — Cargo handling at the Antwerp docks was at a standstill again today as a Communist-led wildcat strike entered its third day.

Of the 14,000 dockers regularly employed, only 10 took jobs offered at the early shift hiring. About 350 police patrolled the dock area to maintain order.

Police arrested 14 Communist dockers in what they called a "purely preventive measure," accusing them of breaking an emergency decrce that no more than five persons could gather in one place.

The Communists claimed the strike was made to get supplementary unemployment allowances. Dock officials contended, however, that this was only a subterfuge to disorganize the docks before Atlantic Pact arms arrive in Antwerp at the beginning of May.

Specialized Casings Give A-Bomb Variety

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP) —The United States apparently is producing a variety of special bomb casing in which its new, immensely more powerful atomic explosives can be used against any type of enemy target.

With such specialized containers or missiles, the atomic bomb ceases to be only a mass destruction weapon for a shot-gun style of attack on an industrial city. It could be used against particular and difficult targets such as underground fortifications and factories.

A phrase in the semi-annual report of defence secretary Louis Johnson gives a significant hint. Says Johnson: "Atomic weapons are no longer a small number of bombs of a single type and size to be used only strategically on a carefully-selected target."

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

ONE SLIP HERE WOULD BE FATAL

For months now, your J-M Reporter has watched the construction of a towering office building while tons of stone and steel have been hoisted as high as 15 storeys! Yet on the busy street below, cars and pedestrians pass by unconcerned with what's going on directly over their heads.

The smooth, positive control needed to lift and lower heavy objects, safely, depends on such materials as Johns-Manville Brake Linings and Clutch Facings. They help control the tremendous power of hoists, bulldozers, steam shovels, cranes and winches.

J-M Friction Materials say "stop" and "go" to more tonnage than any other friction materials. For complete details, write Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

New Archbishop Consecrated

ROME, April 26 (CP) — Most Rev. Paul-Emile Leger today was consecrated Archbishop of Montreal in high and solemn ceremony in the ancient church of St. Mary of the Angels in the heart of Rome.

The solemn moment of consecration came when Cardinal Adeodato Piazzi, secretary to the Consistorial Congregation, laid his hands upon the head of the new Archbishop in symbolic transfer of the Episcopal authority inherited from Saint Peter.

At the same time, the two co-consecrators, Msgr. Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec, and Msgr. Julien Weber, Bishop of Strasbourg, laid their hands on Msgr. Leger's head with the words "receive the holy spirit."

Thus Msgr. Leger on his 46th birthday became one of the youngest and most important archbishops of the Roman Catholic Church with more than 1,000,000 of the faithful in his charge. The Montreal archdiocese is the largest in the Commonwealth.

Msgr. Leger, for the last three years rector of the Canadian College in Rome, was named Archbishop of Montreal two months ago by Pope Pius in succession to Most Rev. Joseph Charboneau, who resigned because of ill health.

Hungary Minister Out For Health Reasons

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 26 (AP)—Budapest papers today reported the resignation of Arpad Szakasits, chairman of Hungary's presidential council. Szakasits mentioned "health reasons" in his one-sentence letter of resignation.

Published reports said the Hungarian people's front of independence would propose that parliament elect Shandor Donai as Szakasits' successor. Ronai is minister of foreign trade and a member of the politburo of the Hungarian Workers (Communist) party.

Both Szakasits and Ronai were members of the Social Democratic party until it merged with the Communists to form the Workers party.

The Italian news agency Astra said last July that rumors were circulating in Vienna that Hungary's Communist - dominated government had arrested Szakasits.

Keep Express Service Even If Line Closes

GALT, April 26 (CP) — If electric railway passenger service is discontinued by the Lake Erie and Northern Railway and the Grand River Railway, the Canadian Pacific Railway will keep up express service in the areas in which the radial lines now operate.

This was announced today by F. Doyle of Toronto, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Express Company, testifying at a hearing at which the radial lines sought permission to give up their passenger service. The hearing may end tomorrow.

H. F. Nelson of Toronto, CPR district passenger agent, supported the application. He said passenger traffic on the radial lines, CPR subsidiaries, has declined steadily in recent years, due to competition from buses and automobiles.

Fraser Presses For Facts On Fuchs Case Followup

OTTAWA, April 26—(CP)—Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel), unsatisfied with evidence by External Affairs Minister Pearson, urged Tuesday that the "responsible government authority" be called before the Commons External Affairs Committee to testify about Canada's followup on the Fuchs' case.

He and G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) pressed for information about what the government did about the "scores" of other names found in the notebook that contained the name of Klaus Fuchs, British atomic scientist recently imprisoned for spying for Russia.

They did so after Mr. Pearson reported that "some scores" of names, including Fuchs, were found in a notebook owned by one of the 20 people charged in Canada's 1946 spy trials. Mr. Pearson, in the face of a series of questions about what Canada did about them, generally said he didn't know the answers or would try to get the information.

Leave Matter Over

Mr. Graydon, after considerable debate, eventually suggested the matter be left over until Mr. Pearson could report further on the basis of more than "hearsay" evidence.

The committee chairman, Joseph Bradette (L-Cochrane) said appearance of other officials would be up to the Justice Department and obtained approval of a suggestion that the steering committee consider what should be done.

Mr. Pearson, at the outset, testified that Fuch's name never

Beverage Room Row Brings Assault Fine

"Men who wear glasses, should not make passes—at other men", was the comment of defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, in answer to the charge of John Johnson, 255 Reid St., that he had been assaulted by Alex. Dunford, Lakefield.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, disagreed that Johnson had made the pass and found Dunford guilty of common assault and fined him $20 and $16.50 court costs or one month.

Dunford, along with his brother Braden and another Lakefield man, Roy Binnington, were all charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm as a result of a fight behind a downtown beverage room the evening of April 8.

The disturbance had started in the rest room of the beverage room, in which Binnington accused a friend of Johnson's with pushing around an old drunk he knew.

Binnington carried the incident to Johnson's table, but after some hard words, it was quietened down. Evidence showed that Braden Dunford had taken no part in the affair.

Followed Out

When Johnson and his friends got up to leave, Binnington followed Johnson's friend out to the back alley. Johnson said he told the Dunford brothers not to go out because he thought trouble might start.

Alex Dunford ignored him. Johnson said he followed Alex out and saw Alex hitting his friend while Binnington held him. He said he put his arm around Dunford's neck to pull him away and then lost his balance.

He testified that Dunford struck him, breaking his glasses and gashing his face just under the eye. Johnson said he was afraid to open his eyes for fear of getting broken glass in them. He said someone, he thought Alex Dunford, hit him several times while someone else held his head. He managed to break away and escape through the Ladies' Beverage Room.

A short time later he saw the three drive away in the car and took the car's licence number.

Alex Dunford and several other witnesses said Johnson had hit him in the right eye with no provocation whatever. Dunford said he had merely hit Johnson back once and then walked away.

Toronto Stocks Dip As Pressure Mild

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Prices dipped in mid-session from early firmness on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Mild selling pressure appeared in market leaders, wiping out early gains and sending several key issues into the minus column.

Papers opened higher while utilities, steels, refining oils and liquors showed majorities of gains. Montreal locomotive was down 1⅜ at 20 in steels.

Giant Yellowknife featured the mining board, adding 40 cents at a new high at $8.25 in brisk dealings. Smaller stocks traded briskly for some good gains while junior producers lost pennies.

Fractional losses by Quemont and Consolidated Smelters pulled base metals into lower price territory, Waite Amulet held, gaining 25 cents at $9.

NSW Gov't Cuts Pre-Voting Ban

SYDNEY, Australia, April 26—(CPY)—The Labor government in New South Wales decided today to cancel a pre-voting ban on press and radio news and comment about elections in the state.

The legal ban, effective for 70 hours before elections, was instituted before the last parliamentary elections. It was criticized as an encroachment on freedom of speech.

Many Labor members claimed it cost their party hundreds of votes in the last elections.

The legislation, enacted last year, made it illegal for any newspaper or radio station in New South Wales to refer to elections after the 70-hour deadline, except to state where and when they are being held. Even candidates' names could not be mentioned.

The law compared with federal law prohibiting political radio broadcasts on any two days immediately preceding a general election, but which does not affect newspapers.

MP's Arrive

Excitement in the chamber reached an unusual pitch as Attlee and Winston Churchill slumped in their seats opposite each other.

Due to a misunderstanding, the government almost romped home on the first resolution without a division.

Col. Clifton Brown, the Speaker, put the resolution on the increased gasoline tax to the House. There was a roar of "Ayes" from the Labor benches but the Conservatives sat in silence.

Nearly Missed Boat

Then a burst of laughter from the government side jolted them into the realization that this was the big moment and they let loose a tremendous "No." Members then trooped out to take the vote.

In its two months' life the government, in addition to its one defeat March 30, has overcome three previous Conservative motions of confidence with majorities of 14, 19 and 25.

As a result of the Dumbartonshire victory, Labor now holds 314 of the 625 House of Commons seats. The Conservatives and their supporters can roll up 298. One seat is vacant, and three members from Northern Ireland, one a Conservative and the others Irish Nationalists, have yet to take their seats.

Altogether there are 23 budget resolutions giving effect to changes embodied in the budget introduced April 18. Those challenged today dealt with the tax raising the price of gasoline to three shillings a gallon and imposing a purchase tax on trucks

To Ask City Council For Apartment Grant

OWEN SOUND, April 26 (CP) —Mayor E. C. Sargent announced today that he will ask city council at a special meeting tonight to provide $20,000 of the estimated $200,000 cost of erecting five apartment buildings here.

The buildings are planned to provide lowrent housing accommodation for old age pensioners, veterans on partial pensions and widows on mothers' allowances. The sum required, above the amount the city will be asked for, will be financed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation on a 47-year loan.

Plans for the project hit a snag last week when the Ontario government refused to approve the issue of city debentures for $20,000 longer than a 20-year term.

Cancels Visit

AUCKLAND, N.Z., April 26—(CP)—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, has cancelled a visit to New Zealand and Canada, word received here today indicated. It was learned that the United States has refused the "Red Dean" a visa to pass through Honolulu on an air trip to New Zealand and Canada. Dr. Johnson will return to London via the east.

Commons Holds Budget Talk Close To Line

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—The current Commons budget debate has one characteristic which makes it stand out above budget debates of the past. The talk is mainly about the budget.

Budget debates are unlimited in scope—the private member can talk on any subject he wishes. But, with a $2,400,000,000 budget to be adopted the house membership is hewing close to the financial line in its speechmaking.

Tuesday as the debate plodded through its third day, five of the 10 members to take the floor told the chamber how they thought the budget should be handled.

A note of concern came from J. E. Matthews, 80-year-old Liberal member for the Manitoba riding of Brandon, who frankly told the government he is worried about the "large and rapidly-increasing" portion of the budget which is now listed as "uncontrollable expenditures."

Gets Support

He got some support, in a left-handed sort of way, from H. O. White (PC-Middlesex East), who felt the government had embarked on a program of "out-going and outpromising" the Socialists. That was how it had built up a $2,400,000,000 budget.

Other speakers included Alex Jeffrey (L-London), Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo), J. W. Noseworthy (CCF - York South) and John Dickey (L-Halifax).

In the opening stages, Agriculture Minister Gardiner indicated the new wholesale floor price for butter may be announced today. The present floor expires April 30.

In the budget debate, Mr. Matthews said that if too great a load of uncontrollable expenditures was piled on the superstructure of Canada's economy the pillars of production and trade would not be able to stand the strain. The word "uncontrollable" was a danger signal that must be heeded.

He said the so-called uncontrollable expenditures included $449,000,000 annual interest, mainly on war debts, and $500,000,000 a year for social services. These were in addition to the "tremendous" amounts "absolutely necessary" for defence.

Takes Issue

Mr. Jeffrey took issue with suggestions by Mr. White as to how the government could reduce expenditures in the budget and said he wondered if Mr. White would want the government to abolish old-age pensions, family allowances and farm assistance. They all were major items on the government's expenditure sheet.

Gen. Pearkes asked Finance Minister Abbott to consider the "double taxation" which hits retired British service pensioners living in this country. They were subjected to both Canadian and British income taxes when they earned money in Canada.

Mr. Noseworthy described the budget as a "stand-pat" affair and said it indicated the government had no faith in the future expansion of Canada. There was nothing in it to indicate the government intended to do anything about unemployment.

Mr. Dickey said the Maritime provices still were not satisfied that their young people had the same opportunities for advancement as those of other parts of Canada. The result was that many young Maritimers emigrated to other parts of the country.

Labor Gov't Has A Crowded Day

LONDON, April 26 — (CP) — The vote in the House of Commons today on the new budgetary taxes crowned one of the busiest days in political history.

This was the Labor Government's crowded calendar:

1. The party's national executive met to discuss general political policy, probably including the place and time for a full-dress meeting in May on general election strategy.

2. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, received trade union chiefs to discuss the future of the government's wages-restraint policy. Organized labor already has shown that policy is in danger of breaking down, the last week's budget is thought to have made things more difficult.

3. The counting votes proceeded in Dumbarton West, scene of Tuesday's by-election involving a straight fight between Labor and Conservative candidates.

INDUSTRIALIST M.P. — George Taylor Fulford, 48, a Brockville, Ont., manufacturer and industrialist, is Liberal member of parliament for Leeds. He first went to the Commons in 1940 but was defeated in 1945. Mr. Fulford returned to the House in the 1949 general elections. He is a former member of the Ontario Legislature.

Prime Minister's Mail Full Of Oddities From Requests For Tie For Bazaar To Demands To Remove Means Test

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent's mail is varied and heavy with requests for everything from one of his old ties to a job as senator.

Recently he was asked to donate a tie or some other discarded article of his wearing apparel for auctioning at a church social. The answer was a polite note of regret—Canada's prime minister dislikes anything that hints of osteptation.

At present there is a steady trickle of letters giving reasons for and against establishment of diplomatic relations with the Vatican; urging removal of the means test and lowering of the eligible age for old age pensions, and suggesting new designs for a Canadian flag.

Want Jobs

There also are people who want jobs in the overnment service—those who would like to become judges, senators, or to obtain some other federal appointment.

Invitations constitute a sizeable portion of the prime minister's mail. Many are to attend social functions in Ottawa and others to speak in various parts of Canada and the United States.

Most of the correspondence is answered by secretaries but he handles a considerable amount personally. Sometimes, when the letter is from Ottawa he doesn't even bother to dictate a reply — instead he picks up his telephone.

Groaner Takes Snooze By Champs-Elysees Talks Way Out Of Night In Paris Cooler

PARIS, April 26—(AP)—Bing Crosby narrowly escaped being thrown into a Paris jail.

Vacationing here before going to England to play in the British amateur gold tournament, the singer told reporters:

"Saturday I'm walking up the Champs-Elysees and I decide to get a little sun. All those benches around the whatchamacallit—oh, yeah, the Rond Point—were filled, so I lay down on the grass, with a newspaper under my head.

"All of a sudden I'm whacked on the soles of my feet and I look up and there's three gendarmes, looking as mean as a New York cop. I tried to explain to them I was an American. I told them I was Bing Crosby. That laid an egg.

"I even showed them the lining on my jacket, where it said Bing Crosby. Still no soap. The three of them start dragging me off. Finally I pulled out this medal given me by the Professional Golfers' Association.

"So in my pidgin French I tell them—police guard American. They believed I was a cop, but they've still got a question. They asked and I couldn't answer: 'How can a cop afford a vacation in France?"

Rotary Holds Bingo Plans July Carnival

CAMPBELLFORD, April 26 — (ENS)—The Rotary Club sponsored a bingo at Edgewater Park on Monday to raise funds for the club's community service. The crowd of 125 was not as large as had been expected and although total receipts have not yet been officially tabulated, it is estimated the club realized about $70.

The club also plans to hold a mammoth three-day carnival to raise funds. The date for this will be July 13, 14 and 15. Arrangements for the carnival have not yet been completed, but a number of years ago a similar venture brought in about $1,600.

Oddfellows Last Bingo

CAMPBELLFORD, April 26 — (ENS)—Campbellford Oddfellows held their final bingo of the season in the lodge rooms on Tuesday night. A crowd of more than 125 people crowded the room for the last evening of games. The lodge has been selling tickets on a suit of clothes, made to measure, and Miss Rosemary Pierie, of Campbellford, was the holder of the lucky ticket.

Scrambled Eggs

WOODSTOCK, April 26—(CP)—Eggs were scrambled on the highway near here Tuesday. Some 59 cases, each containing 30 dozen were smashed when a truck skidded out of control.

Cars Get Stuck-Mud!

CAMPBELLFORD, April 26 (ENS)—Sideroads in the Campbellford district are in poor condition after the rain on Tuesday. Cars travelling from Havelock to Campbellford were mired in the mud on the county road and farmers with horses and tractors are kept busy freeing stranded motorists.

Most roads are passable, but drivers must keep a sharp lookout for soft spots, which although they look solid on the surface, are sometimes quite deep.

The school bus, after being stuck on the Healey Falls road one morning, was unable to make the return trip to deliver students to their homes. Many pupils had to remain in the town overnight.

Cobourg Ferry Makes Last Trip On Friday

COBOURG, April 26 (ENS)—The car ferry is expected to make her last trip on Friday of this week, putting an end to a ferry service between Cobourg and Rochester, which has been in existence since 1907. A number of Cobourg people are planning to take in the final run of the ferry, just for old times sake.

Protestants In East Germany Fighting With Backs To Wall

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN April 26—(AP)—Protestantism in Russian occupied East Germany is fighting with its back to the wall.

Church sources accuse Communist leaders of Forcing Protestant clergymen to join the "national front Communist mass organization at the price of their moral integrity.

Using the schools and the "Free German Youth" organization to turn the younger generation against religion.

Millions Baptized

More than 14,000,000 of the 18,000000 Germans in the Soviet zone are baptized members of the Evangelical (Protestant) faith.

With so much at stake Eastern Protestantism has sought several times to avoid an open break with the Communist - controlled government. But the Communists have appeared to interpret this as a weakness.

They have stepped up their campaign first to capture the church's influence and eventually to defy the church altogether.

The struggle may be racing to an early showdown.

Read Denunciation

Last Sunday in more than 4,000 churches of East Germany Evangelical pastors read a common denunciation of Communist pressure. Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl called this an "attack on the constitution, the government and the republic."

Under the loosely-written Communist constitution of East Germany, each pastor laid himself open to possible imprisonment or even death by his act. None has been reported arrested yet. But the threat hangs over all pending a conference Friday between Grotewohl and Bishop Otto Dibelius of Berlin-Brandenburg.

Church sources said the next development may depend entirely on what orders the East German Government gets from Russia. Anti - church campaigns in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary since the war have had the wholehearted endorsement of the Soviet Union.

The Nakedness Of The Doukhobors

Nothing about the Doukhobors seems to enrage other Canadians so much as their custom of taking off their clothes in moments of stress. The idea is widespread that the Doukhobors do this as an affront to decency. Recently a Canadian newspaper of national importance published some pictures of this sect, calling attention to the fact that children were permitted to be present when women were naked; it was asserted also that some of the people photographed began to strip as soon as they saw the camera—the implication being that they sought to make a display of themselves. Great numbers of Canadians, it appears, are convinced that there is something inherently disgusting about nakedness, and that the Doukhobors strip because they are dead to all instincts of decency. It would be impossible to misunderstand their motives more completely.

* * *

The Doukhobors are ignorant but deeply religious people. They recognize only one law, and that is the voice of God speaking within every man. They reject utterly the vanities of this world. They take off their clothes to demonstrate their innocence—their freedom from the taint of the world. A naked man, they argue, is as God made him. They have not learned, and will not learn that in every civilization religion is inextricably bound up with convention, and that to flout convention, for whatever motive, is to court accusations of contumacy.

* * *

The nakedness of the Doukhobors has been exaggerated out of all compass. It is comparatively unimportant. It is their resistance to law, and to education, and their habit of burning the homes of those who thwart them which is serious. And it must be stressed that of approximately 12,000 Doukhobors in Canada only 2,000—the "Sons of Freedom" make themselves objectionable in this way. The remainder—the "Independent Doukhobors"—are no more trouble than half a dozen other industrious but retrograde religious groups which exist in Canada without giving cause for complaint.

* * *

Primitive religious sects are always stumbling blocks to educational and technical progress, but they have virtues which cannot be overlooked. This small, dissident group of Doukhobors, however, behave in a way which cannot be tolerated, for they are firebugs and insurrectionists. There seems little doubt that they are sincere; only sincere people would go to such lengths to make nuisances of themselves. But their sincerity is of a type which needs correction.

* * *

The Quakers have offered to mediate between the Doukhobors and the government of British Columbia, and we hope that their offer will be accepted. The Quakers have been successful in understanding many groups which have been beyond the comprehension of less patient and considerate people. It was the Quakers, let us not forget, who made the first successful moves toward understanding the insane; perhaps they will succeed with the Doukhobors. But let us rid ourselves of the idea that it is their nudism which makes the Doukhobors intolerable, for to them stripping is a symbol of the highest intentions, and means no more than we mean when we remove our gloves before taking an oath.

The Firebugs Of Toronto

A newspaper man who complains of the conduct of other newspaper men is likely to be accused of fouling his own nest. But very often, in journalism as in other pursuits, it is a question of who fouled the nest first? In an case, we are grateful to Mr. Cliff Johnson, of the Pembroke Standard-Observer, who has written a letter of complaint to the press about the exaggerated accounts of the fire in Pembroke on April 17. We reproduce a part of what he says:

A young lady up here is plenty glad she got out of her house with her young infant but when she read about the young woman "feeling the wind on her face" and getting out "minutes before the flames caught at her log home and levelled it" she thought it was someone else at some other fire. Everyone at the fire knew she and her baby were out of the house well before 6 o'clock when the flames "caught at her log home."

Reporters are not known for their mathematical ability but something should be done for the lads in Ottawa and Toronto who made the fire loss in Pembroke four and five times greater than it really was. One Ottawa newspaper imagined it was out in front of its competitors by a good mile when it set the figure at $400,000 but was humiliated and indignant, no doubt, when a Toronto issue hit the street (and bounced) with an estimate of "more than $500,000".

The loss in this fire, as reported by Canadian Press, was $60,000 worth of lumber and a two-storey frame house.

People of the Peterborough district are not unacquainted with the tendency of the Toronto press to magnify the extent of fires. Last summer, when there was a brush fire in Belmont township, the Toronto press reported a forest fire of astonishing dimensions.

The blazes which are recorded in the Toronto papers suggest to us that their news editors must drink coal oil; nothing else would produce so much conflagration from a relatively small spark.

Canada And The United Nations

The United Nations is the only reality of international organization, and it is still a strong force in the world, morally and even politically. If there is ever to be full co-operation on this planet for peace and well-being, United Nations or an equivalent organization must be the medium. Canada maintains a faith in U.N. which is not merely wall-eyed and flabby. Indication of this is its permanent delegation in New York. This was established in January, 1948, when Canada was elected to a two-year term to the Security Council. This term has now ended, but the delegation will be maintained. Canada has been elected again to a three-year term to the Economic and Social Council, is a permanent member of the Atomic Energy Commission, sits on the Commission for Conventional Armaments, and, of course, it is represented by right on the Interim Committee. The Permanent Delegation is especially valuable when the General Assembly is in session, for its members have established personal contacts, and the continuity of their experience and the detail of their information are very useful.

Last week Canada and the United Nations, 1949, was issued by the Department of External Affairs. It is the fourth annual review of Canada's part in U.N. and its specialized agencies. As Mr. L. B. Pearson stated in the House last month, this report "will show, if anything is needed to show, how seriously we take our membership in the United Nations. It will also show the contribution we are trying to make to the organization which still remains, and will remain, the foundation of our international policy, and in the long run our best hope for peace". The Report is a 300-page exhaustive summary of what Canadian delegations said and did on U.N. matters. It is a record of policy in 1949, and valuable to anybody, who wants to know how U.N. and Canada now stand. Its price, from the King's Printer, Ottawa, is fifty cents.

H-Bomb Bugaboo

We met a man yesterday, a sensible, not unintelligent person, who admitted that he was sleeping poorly because of nightmares about the H-bomb. That seems to us as reasonable a subject for nightmares as pink walruses, snakes in the mattress and billion dollar gifts; all are possible, even if they are, as of this writing, figments of fantasy.

The most famous American atomic physicist and a Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Robert Milliken, told U.N. at Lake Success last week that "there is no chance of a hydrogen bomb in my lifetime". Lewis L. Strauss, who retired from the American Atomic Energy Commission on Saturday after ten years in allied U.S. government service, said that the extreme statements about the new weapon, which is not even designed yet, are "not warranted by the facts as I know them." He says that he does not believe that the H-bomb would blow a chunk out of the earth the size of the moon, or wipe out life on earth.

Lest we be accused of giving false comfort to our nightmarish acquaintance, we should state that Dr. Robert Milliken, who believes that there will be no H-bomb in his lifetime, is now aged 82; and further, that even if the H-bomb could not cut a moon-sized segment out of the earth, kill all life, it could make a pretty mess of Peterborough and its denizens, or even of Toronto and New York. But here we are dealing in futurities far from certain, as the man who does not sleep was troubled with fantasies unbased on facts.

From The Critic's Notebook

FIRST STEPS INSIDE THE ZOO, by John Lodwick (Heinemann).

THE publisher says of this book, "It is preeminently a story for the modern sophisticate". Perhaps so. A good many other people will find it enjoyable, however, for it is distinguished by a splendid freshness; after a diet of the gluey and gloomy novels about psychiatry and the distresses of young married couples, it is like a green salad, liberally sprinkled with vinegar.

It is about Secret Service adventures on the Riviera. The Secret Service men are not, however, big-jawed fellows with revolvers tucked in their armpits. The S.S. man who chiefly engages the reader's attention is a scruffy fellow, uncourageous and somewhat clumsy, who is on bad terms with his immediate superior. However, he manages to do his bit in foiling a Russian plot to steal an Admiral; this is, in a sense, wasted effort, for the Russians have the wrong admiral. He succumbs, not too graciously, to the charms of a girl of sixteen. He sponges, not too pleasantly, upon a rich American who is meeting with unusual difficulties while drinking himself to death.

This sounds unsavoury, and so it would be if the author had not a very light hand in dealing with such somewhat over-ripe ingredients. He has contrived to make a delightful entertainment out of some unpromising materials. This is skill of a rare kind, and deserves to be acclaimed. I can recommend this highly as a novel sort of spy story. R.D.

THE EYE OF THE NIGHT by Christopher Dilke.

THIS is a novel of suspense, terror and death. It is not a mystery story and, although a murder does take place, it is not primarily a murder story. It is one night in the life of Stephen Carroll, from dusk till the following dawn; the premonition of disaster is very cleverly carried through the book without betraying the final denouement till the right moment. Receiving a message from a childhood friend and sweetheart to come to her home at once, Stephen Carroll drives from London to the coastal town in which she lives and where his parents also have their home. Just before he arrives he passes a young girl by the roadside trying to get a ride. He signals that he is not going her way and goes on but cannot forget the forlorn figure with the suitcase beside her. Arriving at Ann Wisden's he finds she has gone out with a newer romance and he and her husband are left to discuss matters alone. Later Ann returns with Derek Soames and through him Stephen learns of the girl on the road—a movie extra whom Soames had once invited to stay with him but when she arrived he had changed his mind and quite casually handed her on to a friend of his, who is both brutal and perverted. Rosalie is terrified and runs away in the dark where Stephen finds her; he takes her to the local fair, then dancing, and at the dance hall Soames and his friend Lennox catch up with them. Lennox is slightly mad and the refusal of Rosalie to stay with him has started a murderous tantrum. Seeing that he is violent Stephen takes Rosalie to his parents' home and directs her to the guest room for the night, not knowing that Ann Wisden has also taken refuge there—her husband having finally revolted against her slights and infidelities and slapped her. Neither of the girls has any idea of the relationship the other has with Stephen and rather than hurt him Rosalie agrees to leave and runs out once more into the night, where Lennox is waiting for her and his revenge. Here the police enter the picture and the rest of the story is the chase and capture of the crazed killer whilst his friend Soames tries to shield him. Eventually the Wisdens return home together and Stephen goes to his own home just as dawn is breaking. S.S.T.

THE ART OF REAL HAPPINESS, by Norman Vincent Peale, D.D., and Smiley Blenton, M.D. (McLeod).

THIS pleasant, cheerful, gossipy book makes agreeable reading for those who are already happy, or at least content. What effect it might have on a seriously unhappy person the reviewer cannot tell. It is the joint work of a clergyman and a psychiatrist, and the art of real happiness, according to them, is to approach God by a combination of psychiatric and religious formulae. Religion is perhaps the oldest solace for the wounded soul known to mankind; psychiatry has, within the past century, wrought miracles of healing. Is there anything wrong with a combination of the two? Surely not, but when the combination is as facile as it is in this book many devout people, and many who admire the achievements of psychiatry, will be repelled.

Saints have their trials. Great psychologists, like Freud, admit to many failures. Dr. Peale and Dr. Stanton, however, take no account of failure. They have a charm for every ill. And there is no reason to doubt that they have done some admirable work together, and that they have brought relief, if not happiness, to many troubled people. But it is difficult to escape a feeling that the cures are too pat, the professions of belief too glib. It is a shallow happiness at best which is outlined in their work, and they write always as though worldly success and happiness were indistinguishable. This book cannot possibly do harm; it may be doubted, however, if it can do much good. R.D.

Unconsidered Trifles

"You know," she said confidentially, "I think of all the nasty things I've said during the day before I go to sleep at night."

"Darling," he murmured, "how can you get along on so little sleep?"

There was a quiet dignity about the doctor that held a certain type of familiarity in check. One day, as his class of medical students was leaving a hospital ward, following a visit there, a patient in a bed near the door called out: "Good morning, Doc."

The doctor made no comment then, but when the corridor was reached and we were out of the man's hearing, he stopped and turned to the students and said: "Beware of the men that call you 'Doc'. They rarely pay their bills."

Letters To The Editor

AN ACT OF TOLERANCE

Sir: In a leading editorial which appeared in the Examiner on April 19th, the statement is made that the Church in Quebec "retained its domination as the result of an act of tolerance". This is hardly in line with historic facts, and facts are stubborn things.

During the one hundred years between the appointment of Bishop Laval to the see of Quebec in 1659 to General Wolfe's victory in 1759, there was no other Church in Quebec save the Catholic Church and it certainly was not there through an act of tolerance. In fact there was no Anglican bishop in that province until 1793, two years after the Union of Upper and Lower Canada.

The Treaty of Paris, by which Canada was ceded to the British Crown in 1763, guaranteed freedom of religion to His Majesty's new subjects "as far as the laws of Great Britain permitted". The penal laws were still in force in Britain, for Emancipation did not come for more than half a century later. But these laws did not apply to the colonies unless so stated in their enactment. A diligent search was made through old dusty tomes to find a law that did apply to the Colonies and that search was rewarded by the discovery of the Act of Supremacy passed in the reign of Elizabeth which applied not only to the Colonies of that day but to all others that might subsequently be added to the Empire. As every student of history knows this act deprived Catholics of all liberties both civil and religious. A determined effort was made by some of the over-zealous officials to renounce the jurisdiction of Rome. The result was that relations between the Colonial government and the people were, to say the least, very unsatisfactory. At this juncture the American colonies rose in revolt. Governor Carleton, fearing that the French Canadians would join the insurgent, petitioned the British Government to pass the Quebec Act which removed many of the disabilities affecting the Catholics in Canada.

This, I presume, is the Act of Tolerance referred to by the Editor. It can scarcely be called an act of tolerance for three reasons. First of all it was passed chiefly out of fear of what was happening across the border. A second motive was one of gratitude to the Bishop and Clergy who Carleton publicly declared had saved Canada to the Empire. A third reason was that the supremacy of the King in ecclesiastical matters still remained in force.

After the danger had passed, Carleton, who was a very fairminded man, allowed the Church to function normally, but his successor Sir James Craig, whose name is anathema in Quebec to this day, was of a different mold. When Bishop Plessis wrote a letter to his clergy asking them to pray for Pope Pius VII who had been made a prisoner by Napoleon, and signed himself Bishop of Quebec, Craig complained bitterly to the colonial office. He demanded that the bishop should be merely Superintendent of religion under the Crown and that he could not appoint a priest to a parish or ordain any young man without a license from the government. Bishop Plessis was adamant. He replied that his spiritual jurisdiction was held as a deposit from the Church for which he must render an account.

This was the state of affairs when the War of 1812 broke out. Bishop Plessis, unmindful of past injuries called upon his subjects to rally to the defence of the Crown, and at Chateauguay they helped to turn the tide of victory, and the Prince Regent sent letters commending the Bishop and his Clergy for this loyalty. Thus ended the last attempt to enforce the old Elizabethan statute in our fair land.

(Rev.) F. J. O'SULLIVAN.

WHEAT AND WORLD POPULATION GROWTH

Sir: An item in the news-columns says that, for one cause or another, notably 'fear, stemming from iron curtains and cold wars', many European countries are being driven back toward self-sufficiency in wheat.

If true, I consider this a backward step, as it could easily lead us all back to the glutted market conditions of the 30's, and which led us straight to depression—and war.

So far as I am concerned, however, my money is on the international wheat agreement which, as likely you know better than I do, covers, now, about 500 million bushels of wheat entering world trade. This tonnage —at reasonable valuations for those who sell and those who buy—and representing, roughly, between 65-70 per cent. of the total movement of 'world wheat', should work mightily as a stabilizing factor, despite our lamentably obvious failures at the UN political level?

The following three paragraphs, from my recent reading on this cereal front, seem to smudge the above 'glutted' wheat picture: (a)—According to the United States Department of Agriculture, winter wheat crop prospects have declined to 764 million bushels, or 121 million below the Dec. 1 forecast; (b)—"Well aware that the outlook is precarious, owing to abnormally dry subsoil and the impending grasshopper invasion, the rural West, on the threshold of a new crop season is impatiently waiting for farming operations to get under way".... (Special to the Financial Times, from Winnipeg); and (c)—"Whether our interest in wildife conservation is sentimental or selfish, a basic fact is that the work we must do to increase wildlife crops is the same work we must do to increase farm crops and forest crops and the output from all our resources. That ties in to the fact that the number of humans on this old world increases day by day. Every time we sit down to breakfast there are 55,000 new people on earth who were not here yesterday. That means 20 million more every year—and that means a need for the equivalent of another 100 million bushels of wheat every 12 months."....E.S.R., to Canadian Club.

FOOD VS. HUNGER.

SANDING BOARD'S FLOORS

Sir: Would you kindly allow me a few lines in your Voice of the People, regarding the purchase of a sanding outfit by the Board of Education.

Mr. Bannon says the Board of Education can save money by doing their own floors. First, does Mr. Bannon know that two large rooms in the P.C.I. were done in 1948, for the sums of $35.00 and $30.00 respectively, which the writer lost money on, but that was all the Board could afford to pay. The teachers had a raise in salary and money was scarce last year. Secondly, does the Board of Education know that they will have to carry several different grades of sandpaper, which only comes in fifty yard rolls, and that this paper dries out and deteriorates when left too long. Thirdly, just how many of the Board staff will need their floors sanded over the holidays and week-ends, borrowing the same machine?

Why not ask the General Electric if it paid them to buy a sanding machine and equipment and material. Live and let live.

Yours very truly,
N. G. GRAHAM.

TOLERANCE AT SHAWINIGAN FALLS

Sir: Before publishing your views for the public, on the riots in Shawinigan Falls recently, don't you think it would be of some help to you and the readers of this paper, to understand just what took place, and the causes leading up to it. Also I don't like your saying that what happened there, might happen anywhere else in Canada were the influence of the church to spread. Don't worry too much about that, because if you care to emulate Paul Revere I'll supply the horse.

You certainly must be ill-informed or you are simply withholding certain facts of the case. Could you not have stated that Monsignor Roy said that the clergy of Shawinigan deplored the violence used by the crowd, which did not indicate an anti-Protestant attitude. In the 15 years the best of harmony has existed between the different faiths.

Rev. S. W. Williams, Church of England, has resided there 21 years, and Rev. R. Charlton, of United Church 18 years. Both those gentlemen expressed their condemnation of what took place, and in so doing they used a privilege which is extended to every one in the province of Quebec.

The people of Shawinigan Falls were getting fed up with the practices of the Witnesses over a long period. Only the day before the above incident occurred, they covered the town from door to door distributing leaflets in French, entitled "Reveillez Vous" (wake up), and it seems the citizens took them literally and did wake up, but not in a very peaceful way, so that when the Christian Brethren (known as Plymouth Brethren) began their meeting that evening the residents thought they were the Jehovahs who were back again to give them another dose of the same medicine. They simply thought they had been annoyed enough.

I wonder what your reaction would be if the Catholic Church in Peterborough started a campaign to convert every one in the city. By ringing doorbells and pushing pamphlets in your face telling you what they thought of your religion. I think I know your answer—and I don't blame you at all.

As for your reference to Spain, why not obtain from the right sources, information as to how Gen. Franco took over control, when the Reds thought it was time to turn the country over to greasy Joe, and started out by murdering priests, nuns, and every one suspected of being anti-Communist, also some 1,100 churches were burned or blown up. Yes, Spain and Portugal would be wonderful countries if they were not so unfortunate as to possess the Catholic faith. Well, I hope you won't think I'm a Red-baiter (a term used in the editorial column so often).

I am, yours for a little more tolerance,
WM. J. MOHER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time, saying, Arise, go unto Nineveh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee. So Jonah arose, and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the Lord. Now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days' journey. And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and said, Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them. For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not. (Jonah 3: 1-8, 10.)

Virtues Of Bubble Gum

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Father is sitting quietly in his armchair reading the evening newspaper. His offspring enters with the usual weekly request, having temporarily abandoned the relatively unimportant matter of homework.

Offspring: "Dad! Mmmmgmmmgm pop! splat! can I have my allowmgmm-ance pop! splat!"

Father: "What on earth is that inferal stuff you've got in your mouth?"

Offspring: "Bubble - mmgmgm-pop! gum splat! Dad."

Father. "Filthy stuff. It shouldn't be sold. It keeps popping out of your mouth like a gas balloon, and you've splattered it all over your face in a disgusting manner. Furthermore, I can hardly understand a word you're saying."

Offspring: "Well, Dad, when you-mmmgmmg-are chewing-pop! -gum you can't mmmmgmg talk very splat! much. Pop! see."

Father: "Hmmm! You can't eh? Well in that case the least you can do is offer some to your dear Mother."

Ignore Warning About U.S. Economic Future

By STUART UNDERHILL

NEW YORK, April 26—(CP)—Cautious warnings about the United States' economic future are being drowned out by optimistic predictions from business men in nearly every line.

A few observers are warning that before the year is out a deflationary trend will set in. Their chief argument is that while some industries may be working at capacity, the country's industrial plant as a whole is not.

The optimists point to the uptrend in metals, usually considered an indicator. Steel is being bought in the open market at premium prices above list quotations, while copper, lead and zinc prices have bounded up in the last two weeks.

A report to Congress by President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers said that during the first quarter of this year, national income, industrial output and home building all indicated gains.

Farm Comment Gloomy

The council's only gloomy comments were on a 10-per-cent drop in farm income during February compared with the same month a year ago, and a probable decline of 11 per cent in industrial expeditures for expansion.

"We are not getting the expansion in industry and investment that we need to absorb the steady increase in the labor force," said a council spokesman. "That is a serious problem."

The council produced a welter of figures dealing with gains in production, consumer spending, construction and corporation profits. Among other things, it estimated that the average personal income of Americans, after taxes, was $1,323 for every man, woman and child, an increase of $21 compared with 1948's record level.

The pessimists accent all this, but argue that today's chief booming markets—automobiles, electrical appliances and homes—are being sustained largely by easy credit, leaving just that much less cash available in future to buy the products of other industries.

But they make little headway in the face of announcements from big business concerns like General Motors, Aluminum Company of America and American Cynamid, all of which anticipate record-breaking sales this year.

FIRE THREATENS ATOM SMASHER—Fire rages at the two-storey administration and engineering building of the University of California's atomic project, Berkley, Calif. The building, a short distance from costly atom smashing equipment, was destroyed. FBI agents stopped everyone from entering the gate as nearly 110 firemen fought the blaze.

Professor Kills 2 Colleagues, Takes Own Life

PERU, Neb., April 26—(AP)—A quiet, reserved psychology professor Tuesday shot and killed the president of Peru State Teachers' College and another professor. Then he took his own life.

Beside his body was found a note saying in part:

"Willie (the college president) tried to fire the wrong person."

Slain as they sat at their desks were Dr. William L. Nicholas, 51, the president, and Dr. Paul A. Maxwell, 56, head of the Southeastern Nebraska school's department of education.

Found dead at his home a short time later was Dr. B. K. Baker, 54, teacher of psychology in Dr. Maxwell's department.

"There is no doubt that Dr. Baker did away with these two men and then killed himself," said Fred C. Kiechel, county attorney. There was "no doubt it was premeditated murder."

Kept To Himself

Associates described Dr. Baker as a man "who kept to himself—did not mix much."

The college is a state school of about 400 students in a town of about 1,000.

The slayings occurred in the school's administration building. Each of the slain men was shot three times in the head and shoulders.

A witness who saw the shooting of Dr. Maxwell said Dr. Baker uttered not a word as he entered Maxwell's office, shot him and left.

The county attorney said his investigation indicated Baker walked first into Dr. Nicholas' second-floor office, shot him, then walked down to the first-floor office of Dr. Maxwell and shot him.

Mrs. Mary Smith, Dr. Maxwell's secretary, was in his office.

There had been no public announcement that Dr. Baker was to lose his job, but informed school officials said the move was afoot.

Gives Up Comic Books Life In China More Exciting

HONG KONG, April 26 (AP)—Sipping a malted milk in the St. Francis Hotel 11-year-old William Ross vowed Tuesday to give up comic books.

"Life's more interesting," he observed, "and it's real."

Young William was dumped on the Hong Kong border with his father, Gordon, and 11 crew members of the yacht Volador after two months imprisonment in Red China.

His father promptly boarded a sea-going tug for Fort Bayard, Kwangchowwan, to recover the Volador.

William found his adventures in Communist China a far cry from the routine at Ione Reddly primary school in Southgate, Calif., which he attended before moving to Manila in 1948.

He set sail with his father from Manila in January, en route to Hong Kong to refit the Volador. After that, the older Gordon planned to plant a progressive-liberal colony in Central America.

Needed Fuel

"When a storm exhausted the yacht's fuel supply, Dad decided to enter Fort Bayard," William related. "It was marked on our maps as French-controlled.

"I spent most of the time reading comic books. They're trash, but I read stacks of them.

"The first thing I knew I heard a couple of shots. I dropped the comics, went topdeck and saw a boatload of Red Star soldiers pointing machine guns at us.

"The Reds ordered all but two to leave the yacht and march into the city.

"We were detained under custody with guards at all exits.

"One guard kept poking his nose into the room and babbling garbled English in a loud voice. I called him 'Donald Duck.'

"After a couple of days I got bored and decided to see the city I gave 'Donald Duck' a comic book.

"He read Superman; I went into the streets.

"I wrote a secret message to the American Consulate at Hong Kong which I gave to English-speaking Chinese. I wrote:

"'Crew schooner Volador and Fort Bayard under custody of Communists. Having wonderful time.'"

"The letter," said William, was written "in case the Reds intercepted the message they wouldn't be mad.'

"After two weeks we ran out of money. But the hotel had a store room of kerosene lamps. One day a street hawker came by with a cart of Chinese candy. I gave him five lamps for the entire cart. He was very happy."

Moved to Canton

The Communists moved the Volador party to Canton where they were held incommunicado at central police station.

"After three days there I got tired and cramped in one room and decided to get sick so I could send out more messages," William said. "So I ate Chinese fermented bean curd raw.

"I really got sick. The doctor said I had dysentery.

"For a week I sent messages through patients at Canton General Hospital to the American Consulate. Finally the doctor sent me back to the police station.

"I got tired of the same old boiled cabbage, tomatoes and rice I told the Communist chief police officer he ought to be ashamed to feed us such poor food.

"The next day we had meat."

Aldermen Invited To "AA" Meeting

Members of the council have received an invitation to the second annual open meeting of Alcholics Anonymous at the Centre Theatre Sunday night.

Adhering to the anonymity of this group as an essential of their method of organization and procedure, the letter was signed "Re."

The council in board of works session regarded the invitation as a formal or conventional message, without any implication of personal import.

"They are doing a real good job", Ald. Doug Miller commented, and the aldermen extracted some humor from suggestions as to the members who should attend.

Ald. A. B. Burrows said "I think we should accept their invitation."

"When we accept invitation, we should try to go," Mayor Swanston proposed as a general policy.

The motion was adopted, and it was understood that members should attend if they had no other engagements.

SUMMER TRAVELLING: "I am taking a vacation and would like to extend my visit by working a while in each country. Is it possible to take employment in Australia or the British West Indies with only a passport?"
The Immigration people tell us you would have to contact the British West Indies and Australian representatives in this country about this. You would write to the Trade Commissioner for British West Indies and British Guiana, 37 Board of Trade Building, Montreal; and the High Commissioner for Australia, 24 Sussex Street, Ottawa.
YOUNG FLIER: "What papers would a young 10-year-old require before going into the United States alone for four or five days? He will be flying from Malton."
The United States Immigration people recommend that one of his parents, preferably his father, bring him in to their office at 1174 Bay Street for a permit to visit the States. Bring proof of Canadian citizenship along too and they will be able to fix him up.
MENTAL CRUELTY: "My sister's husband who is a drunkard and a bully is quite deliberately trying to drive her crazy. He's succeeding too. Where can she appeal for protection from this inhuman monster?"
If your sister will take her case to any good lawyer he can advise her as to her course of conduct. There is such a thing as a legal curb against cruelty. Help and advice would also be given at the Court of Family Relations, 90 Albert Street. No appointment is necessary there—if she just drops in one of the counsellors would be glad to help her.

The CGE soccer team will not be entered in the local and district league this year, their first absence since 1912. Lindsay also has decided not to enter this season, nor will the Quakers. This leaves but two entries, O'Halloran's and the Petes. The registration fee has been set at $2.00 and but 12 forms will be given a team; with three more later in the season. The U.E. team will operate but not in this league. At the meeting here, Prexy Tom Garland was in the chair, with A. Featherstone representing U.E., Art O'Halloran his own entry, and W. Cribbis the Petes. King Edward Park will be allotted the teams, the U.E. squad beginning play with an outside crew here May 6. Next soccer meeting is May 8.

Having walked our last mile across hockey rinks this season, spring poetry gusheth forth to the tune of "The Bam-Bam-Bammy Shore" like this:

More'n a thousand miles we travelled
Back and forth to Brantford town;
Our pants wore thin and we're all done in,
And it pains us to sit down.
Thirteen hundred miles that series,
In snow and sleet and mud:
And to rub it in the Brants did win—
O, there is no justice, bud.

* * * * * *

Juicy Slice Of Melon

One little consolation the Legionnaires brought back with 'em from Brantford after the seventh game of the finals. A matter of almost $500 in cash. Got more than $200 for travelling expenses and then half of the net gate, according to OHA rules on a deciding play-off game. That lump of sugar helped take away the bitter taste in their mouths after giving up their provincial crown to the Brantford Nationals. For that kind of do-re-mi we'd give up quite a bit, too, but nobody asks us. Playoffs pulled Legion out of the financial hole toward the finish of their six-month puck semester. Which is good.

* * * * * *

Brantford scribe wrote: "Legion came on with one of their well-known third period blasts and for 10 minutes they hemmed the Brants in their own end with the exception of a few breakaways that did not materialize in a score. The Nats then added to the score gradually, wearing down their opponents and they got two goals before Peterborough scored the last goal of the season, showing a game conclusion. Legion congratulated their opponents. It was a great series and it might be added one of the cleanest of many past seasons. No untoward incident marred the seven games although a little flare-up was seen here and there." He also wrote a bit of Peterborough hockey history showing the good record this city has down the years in OHA play.

* * * * * *

Joe Lights The Lamp

Joe Rochetta was the Legion lamp-lighter this season, notching 37 goals and setting up plays for 57 more for a grand total of 94 points. Smallest player on the team, Joe is a heady hockeyist and plenty dangerous around the other guy's net. It was a huge total over the long season in OHA play. Line-mate Bill Crowley was next highest with 66 points, while Bert Hill led his line as Toodie Greenlaw topped the trio he played with. Keith Montgomery was highest scorer among the defencemen. Chum Fryia made a good showing considering the time he was out of action with an injury. Last year, Legion played just about half as many games, Bob Greenlaw leading with 56 points, while Rochetta and Crowley were tied for second with 47 each.

Three entries so far in the men's City Softball League: Johnny Russelle's squad, the Mutual Benefit; Red Sullivan's entry from over Ashburnham way; and the UEW team, the manager not being known to us as yet. They want a fourth club ere a schedule is drawn up. Cobourg and Lakefield (with lights) hope to get in, though local officials would prefer four city teams. Juniors here will be encouraged and get games at the Bowl. Those interested in entering junior or senior teams should be on deck at the next meeting at 7.30 p.m. in the "Y" next Tuesday. Umps can apply to Bert Bailey.

Marlies Capture Eastern Title Whip Sherbrooke In 3-1 Tilt

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Toronto's bustling Marlboros, the city's first Eastern Canada Senior Hockey champions since 1932, leave for Calgary and the 1950 Allan Cup final tonight.

The Marlies, who won the eastern title by defeating Sherbrooke Saints 3-1 Tuesday night, hope to equal the triumph of Toronto National Sea Fleas, National champions in 1932.

Tuesday night's victory gave the Joe Primeau-coached Dukes the sixth game of the best-of-seven affair before 8,792 fans.

The under-dog Sherbrooke crew surprised Toronto's supporters by taking two games from the Ontario champions.

Marlies, one of the youngest teams to represent the east in a final, won the first three games of the series in straight order. They were the betting favorites to end it all Saturday night when Sherbrooke found themselves and scored a 6-5 victory for their first win. The Saints stayed hot Sunday winning 5-2.

In travelling west to meet Calgary Stampeders, western champs Marlboros are following an alternating plan which has the Allan Cup final played in the east one year and in the west the next.

Outguesses Opponent

Marlboros' 18-year-old puck sensation from Fort William, Danny Lewicki, put his club back into the game in the second when he outguessed Paul Leclerc in a play at the mouth of the Sherbrooke goal. Lewicki had taken the pass from his 19-year-old linemate, George Armstrong.

But it was Hugh Bolton's shot from the blueline in the third period that brought down the house. The tall rearguard, a University of Toronto student, drove it into the corner from a few feet inside the line with less than four minutes remaining. Then Al Buchanan sewed up the victory with his goal at the 17:55 mark.

Keep Club Souvenirs

LACHINE, Que. — (CP) — Souvenirs of Lachine's old Summerlea Golf Club, burned last Sept. 13, were sealed in a lead cylinder and placed in the fireplace masonery of the new clubhouse by Mayor Anatole Corignan.

Rochetta Leads Legions With 94 Points

Joe Rochetta, starry first-line centre for Legionnaires, led his team in scoring this year with a grand total of 94 points in 43 games. He had 37 goals and 57 assists to demonstrate his playmaking ability, better than two scoring points through the long season of schedule and playoff games. The team went 43 OHA games this six-month season, compared with 22 in their successful quest last year for the senior "B" title, which they just missed this spring in finals. A year ago, Bob Greenlaw led scorers with 56 points and Rochetta and Bill Crowley were tied for second with 47 each.

Crowley again placed second this year, the first-line left winger having 66 points, followed by Bert Hill—centre on the third line—with 63. Toodie Greenlaw topped the second line with 45 points in 42 games. Keith Montgomery led the defencemen on the attack with 32 points. Chum Fryia was out a good part of the season with a fractured collarbone but still managed to amass 32 points in 18 games. Legion defaulted one game to Gananoque —with the latter's consent—or they would have had a 44-game season, not counting exhibition tilts. They started late in October and finished on April 24 for the longest puck season in Peterborough history. Following are the scorers, Goalies Ross Nicholls and Doug Heath not being included, of course:

Toronto After BE Games, Field A Lure

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO, Apirl 26 —(CP) — Toronto is putting most of its eggs in one basket in its bid to stage the 1954 British Empire Games. Chief lure is the spacious $4,000,000 lake-front Canadian National Exhibition Sports Field dubbed by some critics as a "white elephant."

The stadium, opened last year, "laid an egg" as a sport centre.

For some unexplained reason the cinder track circling the grass infield was made one-third of a mile instead of the regulation quarter-mile distance, automatically washing out any championship meets. The infield, more than 100 feet from the grandstand, is considered too far for fans to follow a football game.

Situated just a javelin throw from Lake Ontario in Toronto's west end, it was wide open on the south, east and west sides to chilly winds from the lake.

But all of this will be remedied if B. E. games association officials accept the city's bid for the commonwealth sports meet. Civic officials have backed up their invitation with the required $50,000 guarantee for the housing and feeding of the 600-or-so athletes and a decision is expected early next month.

Feelings Mixed On CRU Ruling

TORONTO, April 26 — (CP) — The reserve clause adopted by the Canadian Rugby Union has brought forth mixed comment from football teams affected by the rule.

The decision, made in a mail vote of delegates to the recent CRU annual meeting, stipulates that a player signed with a team affiliated with the CRU may not jump to another team without first obtaining his release.

A similar rule is already in force in the International Rugby Union—the east's leading conference, and the Western League.

Bob Moran, president of Toronto Argonauts of the Inter-Provincial Big Four, said he was "very pleased" with the rule sponsored by Ted Reeve of the Ontario Rugby Football Union. "It'll help to keep leagues strong."

E. K. Emerson, president of Ottawa Roughriders also expressed approval of the clause but a negative reaction came from Al Anderson, manager of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western conference. He said he felt it was acting in "restraint of trade."

Three Entries At Present In Men's Loop

Three entries in the men's City Softball League are sure so far, following an executive meeting of the loop last night in the YMCA, with President Pat Calladine in the chair. The teams are: Mutual Benefit, an East City club, and United Electrical Workers. One more is needed, with Legion mentioned as a prospect as well as Lakefield and Cobourg though the officials aren't anxious to have the Cobourg entry.

It is hoped to have two junior clubs, and the City League will grant them playing time at the Bowl to encourage minor softball in the city. Applications for umpires are still being received by Secretary Bert Bailey. The car carrying representatives up from Cobourg last evening broke down.

It was agreed at the gathering that another meeting be held next Tuesday night at 7:30, and senior and junior entries should be made at this time. The circuit expects to play three nights a week this season at the Bowl, using the floodlights again for double-headers. No opening date of play has been named yet.

Cricketers Set For Start In Port Hope

By C. H. IRESON

The Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club plays its first match of the season at Port Hope this Saturday against Trinity College School. The club has been busy making arrangements for the 1950 season, expected to be the best yet in this sport.

Two prominent members of the club are passing out of the picture after lengthy service. At the end of last season, the veteran captain, Frank Dyer, asked to be relieved of his duty in that capacity. He has a splendid record since joining the club in 1926. He was named captain in 1926 and again in 1931, holding this office for the last 19 years. In that time, he was leading bowler and took more than 1200 wickets, a record for this or any other club. In 1949, he bowled more overs and took most wickets (40), average 8.28, than any of his teammates. He might be willing to play again but not as captain.

Leaves City

A. H. Radford, secretary-treasurer, is departing from the city and this terminates the services of a valuable club official. He will be missed considerably, and the club—in a slight token of recognition—has named Mr. Radford an honorary life member of the cricket club. The new secretary is W. G. Wright, 66 Aylmer St. (phone 23119), while Archie Hamilton has been selected as treasurer.

Following the match Saturday, the club plays Grove School on May 6 at Lakefield, with a return game at the Oval on May 24. Parkdale B of Toronto visits here May 27. The rest of the schedule will be made up of matches with the Toronto District Council in the Godin section. This means five games at home and five in Toronto. There will also be a county match and some friendly games later.

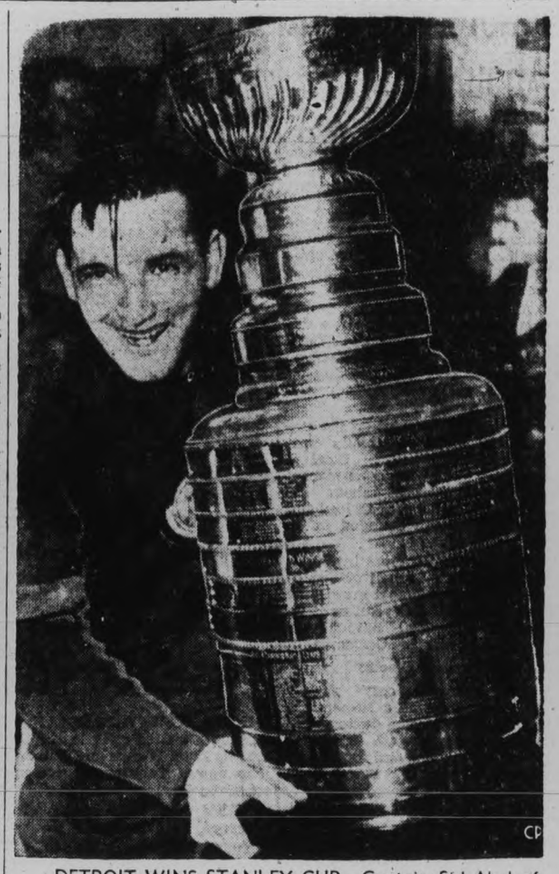
The players had a get-together at the Oval last Saturday and regular practices were arranged for Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The players are keen and confident with some new members lined up. A second team might be formed but it would be difficult to find opposing teams. The Bermuda team from the West Indies comes here on Aug. 9, and a local committee will make arrangements for a reception. The first match in the Council will be against West Toronto on June 3 in Toronto.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Association Press.

Batting—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees had a perfect four-hit day to lead the Yankees to a 6-3 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics.

Pitching—Joe Hatten, Dodgers, held the Braves to two singles in shutting them out 3-0.



DETROIT WINS STANLEY CUP—Captain Sid Abel of Detroit Red Wings, plainly showing the wearing effects of the 14-game battle for the Stanley Cup, happily holds the coveted hockey trophy in the dressing room after the April 23 4-3 overtime victory over New York Rangers. Red Wings also won the National Hockey League championship.

Irvin Boots Giants To 13-3 Victory

By The Associated Press

Monte Irvin's loud International League bat may earn the Negro another crack at major league pitching.

The pride of Jersey City, who blew one chance with the New York Giants last season, again has his sights set on the Polo Grounds.

Irvin, a six-foot-one streak of light with a powerful right arm, hit his third homer in as many games Tuesday night to help the Giants whip Rochester's Red Wings, 13-3.

But if Irvin is to better his .224 mark in 36 games with the parent Giants last season, he must overcome the deficiency of swinging at high pitches. The 195-pound slugger has a penchant for going after the high ones—his notorious "blind spot"—and, consequently, popping them up.

Irvin hit .373 for Jersey City last season and in one game hit three home runs, each to a different field—left, right and centre.

First Victory

The victory was the first of the season for Jersey City against two losses. Conversely, it was Rochester's first loss after two victories.

Tony West, 21-year-old right-hander, spaced seven hits for the triumph. He walked three and struck out four.

At Springfield, Toronto's rallying Maple Leafs came from behind again to nip Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs. The score was 7-5, with Al (Skippy) Roberge's base-clearing triple turning the trick.

The Jersey City-Rochester tilt drew only 400 fans, while Springfield-Toronto attracted 911.

Montreal at Baltimore was postponed due to cold weather.

Giants Have Last Laugh As Stanky, Dark Hit Stride

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

They snickered when New York Giants traded all that power to Boston Braves for defence-minded Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark.

They smiled knowingly when Sid Gordon returned to the Polo Grounds in a Braves' uniform and practically whipped his former mates single handed with a pair of home runs. One came with the bases loaded.

They laughed as Will Marshall, Buddy Kerr and Gordon continued to star for the Braves while Stanky and Dark did nothing at bat or in the field to distinguish themselves.

All this happened the first week of the season. But Tuesday started a new week—with different results.

Hit Their Stride

While Gordon, Marshall and Kerr were held hitless by southpaw Joe Hatten who pitched Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-0 triumph over Boston, Stanky and Dark sparked the Giants to their first triumph of the season. The pair reached base five times as the Giants defeated Philadelphia Phillies 8-4.

Stanky proved he was still an excellent leadoff batter by drawing a pair of walks and singling in five trips to the plate, he scored twice.

Dark galloped a home run and double in four times at bat to boost his batting average to a lofty .421.

Another Homer

Jack Harshman, rookie first baseman, also chipped in with a homer for the Giants to hand Russ Meyer his second loss of the young season. Larry Jansen was the winner.

Hatten allowed only two singles as the Dodgers registered their fifth straight triumph. He retired 23 men in succession.

Vern Bickford held the Dodgers in check in all but the third inning when the Brooks scored all their runs.

Vic Raschi became the first New York Yankees pitcher to go the route, pitching a 6-3 victory over the Athletics in Philadelphia. It was Raschi's 12th victory in 13 decisions with the Mackmen.

Detroit's Tigers won their fifth game in six starts, defeating the Browns in a St. Louis night game. Virgil Trucks had a one-hit shutout for seven innings but homers by Hank Arft and Dick Kokos and a double knocked him out of the box. Art Houtteman stopped the Brownie unrising in the ninth to preserve Trucks' second victory.

Set Six Months For Champs To Defend Title

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP) The National Boxing Association said Tuesday it will insist that all champions in the future defend their titles within six months against top-flight opponents.

President Fred J. Saddy, in announcing the quarterly ratings, declared the 47-state organization is going "to effectuate a program of enforcing a six-months title defence by all champions with equal insistence that contenders prove their right to title opportunity against each other rather than against inferior opponents."

The NBA then proceeded to list who should fight who, with their ratings.

The ratings contain only 14 logical contenders for the eight crowns. No top contenders are listed in the heavyweight and welterweight divisions.

Montreal's Johnny Greco is given an honorable mention in the latter division.

Other Canadians

Only other Canadians in the ratings are Arthur King of Toronto, rated an outstanding boxer in the lightweight division, and Solly Cantor, also of Toronto, given honorable mention in the same division.

Archie Moore, the only boxer listed as a top-notch opponent for Joey Maxim's light heavyweight crown, and Chicago's Freddie Dawson is the only one listed as a logical contender for Ike Williams' lightweight diadem.

Sandy Saddler is rated "the lone logical contender" in the featherweight division.

Three Europeans and one American were named contenders for the vacant flyweight crown recently given up by Ireland's Rinty Monaghan. They are Terry Allen of England, Honore Pratesi of France, Jan Sneyers of Belgium and Dado Marino of Honolulu. Allen outpointed Pratesi in London Tuesday night to win the British and European title.

The Lord Mayor of New York came to Toronto with a personal invitation to the Mayor of Toronto, once called York, to attend the English York's Festival of Arts in June, 1951. The 72-year-old Morrell, on a goodwill tour of North America, has presented similar invitations to the mayors of York, Pa., and New York.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Hitters at Toronto's Maple Leaf Stadium will have a chance to pick up an extra $500 this season as well as getting credit for a home run. A local used-car dealer has promised to pay $500 to every International League batter who manages to hit the ball through a three-foot "O" cut in the right-centre field fence. For hitting the surrounding sign board, the award is $50. The sign in which the hole is cut is outside the fence. Thus, any ball reaching it is an automatic home-run.

Walter (Turk) Broda, goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, has joined racehorse-owning sportsmen. Broda announced Tuesday he has purchased a thoroughbred in Lexington, Ky.— Super Girl, a four-year-old filly by Hash. The Turk, who plans to sport orange-colored silks, will probably race his horse during Dufferin Park's opening week, starting next Wednesday.

Two Canadian runners, Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., and Rich Ferguson of Toronto, will compete in special invitation events in conjunction with the intercounty track and field championships at White City Stadium London, May 27-29, the British Amateur Athletic Board announced Tuesday. McFarlane, holder of the Canadian 440-yard record, will compete in the 400 and 800 metre events. Ferguson, Canadian junior mile record-holder, will compete in the 1,500-metre and two-mile events.

At Troy, NY, formation of the "Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association," representing about 60 colleges and universities in the North-eastern United States and Eastern Canada, was announced Tuesday by one of the association's officers. Roland K. Brown, athletic director ond ski coach at Rensslear Polytechnic Institute, said the new organization replaces the Intercollegiate Ski Union.

Houston Buffs of the Texas League Tuesday night announced outright purchase of Outfielder Danny Gardella from St. Louis Cardinals. It was Gardella who February 9, 1948, sued organized baseball for $300,000 after he had been suspended by Comimssioner A. B. Chandler for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946. Gardella dropped the suit last fall after signing with the Cardinals.

At Quebec, Gus (Pell) Mell, 155, Montreal, gained an unpopular decision over Ted Bussey, Detroit, in the 10-round feature match of a boxing program on Tuesday night before 1,500 fans.

Taking advantage of provincial legislation permitting Sunday sport in Toronto parks, the Toronto Senior Soccer League has scheduled games at four parks on Sunday, May 7.

Thurso Loses Ruling Hang Up Their Skates

THURSO, Que., April 26 (CP) —Thurso Lumber Kings have decided to hang up their skates for the hockey season.

Gaston Clearmont, Thurso's coach, said Tuesday night:

"We have notified the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that we are not going to play any more this season. That is final."

Tuesday, Hanson Dowell, convener for Eastern Canada's intermediate hockey playoffs, notified Thurso that a protest filed against Thurso by Rouyn Flashes had been upheld by the CAHA.

The flashes protested Thurso's use of Maurice Gougeon who had transferred to Thurso from the senior Pembroke Lumber Kings after the final date for transfers, Dec. 15.

If Thurso had decided to continue playing they would have been without Gougeon and three other men who are out with injuries.

Evacuate' Foreigners

HONG KONG, April 26 (AP)—The United States consulate said today the American President liner Gen. W. H. Gordon will evacuate between 800 and 1,000 foreigners Saturday from Red China. The evacuation will bring out about 50 State Department personnel, the last in Communist China. It also will cut to half the number of foreigners in Shanghai since the Reds won that city last May. An attempt last month to evacuate 1,600 foreigners on the Gordon was blocked by the Communists.

Date For Arguments

TORONTO, April 26 — (CP) — May 15 was set Tuesday as the date for written arguments by the Crown and defence in the appeal of William Jay Cotterson against a fine of $25,000 for falsifying his 1945 income tax return. The Crown argued he should have paid $24,199 instead of $1,147 while the defence contended the additional amount of his income declared by the Crown was not taxable.

Costly Barn Fire

WATERFORD, Ont., April 26—(CP)—A team of horses, a cow, 13 pigs and 200 pullet chickens died Tuesday night in a fire which razed the barn of Peter Lepka. Also lost were 500 bushels of oats, four tons of hay, 20 tons of straw, machinery and tools.

Allen Holds Title But Must Improve

LONDON, April 26 — (AP) — Terry Allen, of London, today held the British and European flyweight championship but indications were he would have to improve to whip Hawaii's Dado Marino, whose challenge for the world title is backed by the National Boxing Association of the United States.

Allen, 24-year-old fruit peddler, captured the British and European crown Tuesday by outpointing Honore Pratesi, of Marseilles, France, in 15 rounds at Harringay Arena. Allen weighed 111¾ to his foe's 110.

The title had been left vacant by world champion Rinty Monaghan, of Ireland, when he retired last month because of ill health.

YMCA Swimmers Race In London

Swimmers of the Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club will enter 12 of the 23 Ontario YMCA championships events to be held in London Saturday. The swimming and diving championship meet will be held in the Spencer Memorial Pool, Thames Hall, University of Western Ontario. A record 192 entries have been received for the meet.

Coach Gord Minty has contestants from 12 years old to the senior bracket, over 17 years, in free style, back stroke, breast stroke, and relay events. Other teams will be entered from Toronto West End YMCA, Toronto Central YMCA, Toronto Broadview YMCA, Galt, Brantford, Woodstock, Windsor, Stratford, Sault Ste. Two Pianists From Canada Play In London

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, — (CP) — Wigmore Hall concerts—the traditional first bow to London's critics by new performers—have been given by two Canadian pianists, Gordon Manley of Vancouver and George Haddad of Eastend, Sask., and Toronto.

Though newsprint shortages often restrict critics' notes on such occasion to their notebooks, some notices did appear and were generally favorable.

And there was no mistaking the enthusiasm of the audiences which almost packed the venerable hall for both recitals, held within 48 hours of one another.

Wigmore concerts are rarely frequented by other than the reviewers, students, devotees of a particular work to be performed, and friends of the recitalist.

Both Manley's and Haddad's, however, were swelled by a good representation of the Canadian colony and London friends of the Dominion, such as Sir Shuldham Redfern, a former private secretary at Rideau Hall, Ottawa.

English composer Arthur Benjamin, who first became acquainted with Manley's work while in Vancouver during the war, was among the British musicians who attended his debut.

Now On Tour

Both artists now are on recital tours of the Continent and expect to return to Canada in the early summer.

Haddad, who is touring Scotdinavia, the Lowlands, France and Italy, has a private command performance scheduled for the Vatican during a week's stay in Rome. He plays for the Pope May 11.

His London debut—unorthodox by local standards which demand a player to show how he handles Bach, Beethoven and if possible Brahms, as well as representative romantic and modern work—introduced compositions by two Canadian composers, Harry Somers and Oskar Morawetz of Toronto.

"A Certain Dash"

Headed "Breezy music from Canada," the Daily Telegraph's notice spoke of "a certain dash" in his playing. "He proved an excellent exponent of Milhaud, as of his own compositions (arrangements of Syrian folk song) . . All this music represented a breezy world far from Schubert and Chopin, who received only superficial treatment."

The Times, on the other hand, said he chose "a commendably unorthodox program including lively miniatures by two young composers from his native Canada."

"These, like some modern French pieces, sparkled in his adroit hands — hands which, nevertheless, were scarcely able enough to convey the deeper, romantic incandescence of Chopin's B minor Sonata."

Some wondered whether a reviewer who said "under his touch the piano remained always a musical instrument" was complimenting the player or the instrument, remembering the volume Haddad was able to produce.

Gordon Manley's performance of Beethoven's 32 Variations in C minor was noted for its intelligence, said the Daly Telegraph which also found his technique "fluent."

Seaside Quiz Brings Two Thousand Ideas

HASTINGS, England — (CP) — Last summer's visitors said a mouthful when asked for their suggestions.

Anxious to improve Hastings' holiday amenities, the Town Council circulated a questionnaire among the visitors, and a total of 2,036 comments and suggestions were returned.

The ideas have been given to the responsible committees for consideration.

Most wanted stricter enforcement of no-speeding rules for traffic along the seafront. They wanted more post boxes, clocks, benches and deck chairs along the front and more cubicle dressing-rooms for swimmers.

A new one was from an angler who suggested that the corporation might rent out fishing rods for visitors wanting to fish from the pier.

Nickel Export Brings Canada $168,000,000

TORONTO, April 26—(CP)—Export sales of the International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd., during the last three years have returned $168,000,000 to Canada, Robert C. Stanley, chairman of the Board, told shareholders here today.

"More than 90 per cent. of the nickel produced in Canada is sold to other countries," he said at the annual meeting.

The company's world sales of nickel totalled 290,292,257 pounds in 1949, compared with 260,098,274 pounds in 1948. More than 85 per cent. of the Company's refined nickel was consumed in the U.S., Canada and Great Britain.

Urges Removal

Mr. Stanley again urged permanent removal of the U.S. import tax of two cents a pound on copper.

"Copper requirements of the United States have consistently exceeded domestic production, and this fact justifies the continued suspension or permanent removal of the tariff, an unnecessary and undesirable trade obstacle."

Mr. Stanley estimated capital expenditures at about $22,000,000 in 1950, compared with $18,553,851 last year. He reported that the entire output of nickel is handled by the new Matte Flotation process completed last July.

Mr. Stanley reported sales of refined copper totalled 221,075,080 pounds, compared with 219,130,830 pounds in 1948, of which some 30 per cent. was delivered to Great Britain.

"Not only was the average market price of copper lower than in 1948," he said, "but our costs were higher due to increased wages and higher prices for supplies."

Mr. Stanley stated that cobalt recovery at Port Colborne, Ont., is being increased at a time when interest is great in the metal for such use as in jet engines.

Of exploration, Mr. Stanley said:

". . . Expenses for prospecting for new ore bodies have become costly. Due to intensified exploration in 1949 this item was $1,554,000 as compared with $1,057,000 in 1948."

EAST GERMAN POLICE were charged with illegally carrying arms into the American sector of Germany last week. Members of a para-military unit at Magdeburg, they were headed by a 22-year-old lieutenant and political commissar, (extreme right). The pair were accused by a U.S. High Commission Court of illegally carrying loaded machine pistols into the American sector.

Boy's Game With Mother Ends In Death

DUNBARTON, April 26.—The game he played with his mother ended in sudden death Tuesday for Terry Bales, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bales.

The little boy and his sister, Susan 3, were running toward the railway crossing at Rosebank, in Pickering Township, when their mother shouted to them. Susan turned back, but Terry looked back, laughed and ran on.

While his mother ran to catch him the little boy ran onto the level crossing. A CNR freight hurled him down the embankment while his mother watched, horror-stricken and helpless. Then she gathered up his lifeless body and carried it to a nearby store.

Grim Case

"It is one of the grimmest cases I have ever seen," said Const. Fred White of Pickering. "The mother had just put the children out to play. She did all she could to reach him."

Two little three-year-old playmates, Danny Legge and Gregory Walsh, who live in the same apartment house as the Bales, also watched the little boy's death. They screamed in horror, then ran home sobbing.

Neighbors of the family complained that there was no way of seeing across the tracks at the crossing. Even gates would be better than leaving it open to let children run onto the rails, they said.

Must Cross Tracks

Children have to cross the tracks on their way to school, neighbors said.

Mrs. J. C. Rodd, owner of the store to which Mrs. Bales carried her son's body, said signs had been put up warning motorists about children.

Maiden Speeches Impress UK Parliamentary Scouts

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 26—(CP)—Parliament's scouts, catching up gradually with a record crop of maiden speeches, are inclined to be impressed. A tentative verdict seems to be that the new House of Commons contains the usual quota of "potential Prime Ministers" among its newcomers. The 39th Parliament is only six weeks old, but more than 50 freshmen orators have already had their say.

A maiden speech is still an awesome occasion. It can make or break a political career. There are certain traditional concessions—the speaker who follows is expected to deliver a high-sounding tribute, whether he liked the speech or not—but that first throat-clearing pause makes most men quail.

So far, the bravest first effort of them all has come from C. A. R. Crosland, 30-year-old Labor member for Gloucestershire South. He had the temerity to sail right into Sir Stafford Cripps, accusing the Chancellor of the Exchequer of excessive caution in framing Britain's new budget, and was rewarded with an encouraging wave from Sir Stafford.

A. J. Cummins, one of Britain's most experienced political writers, pronounced Crosland's address "the most effective and the most skilful maiden speech since the war."

Gets Special Attention

Also singled out for special attention was the parliamentary debut of Capt. Christopher Soames, son-in-law of Winston Churchill, after speaking from notes which gallery observers said followed the wide spacing favored by Churchill. Soames was lavishly praised by Liberal leader Clement Davies.

Churchill bowed his head when Davies congratulated the Conservative leader on obtaining a useful reinforcement.

Fireworks were expected from Dr. Charles Hill, Conservative member of Luton. Better known as the BBC's "radio doctor," he proved one of the stars of the general election campaign with his down-to-earth delivery.

Instead, the doctor dropped his bedside manner and delivered a speech on hospital finances which even the Socialists called constructive.

Credit for the snappiest comeback so far, however, goes to an old hand. When crusty Sir Waldron Smithers asked Prime Minister Attlee whether he would read a book called "British Socialism is destroying British freedom," Attlee shot back that he couldn't devote much time to "works of fiction."

Police, Natives Killed In Tribe Fight

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, April 26 (CP) — Twenty-four persons were killed in a fierce battle Monday between 300 befeathered Suk tribesmen armed with spears and a small party of Kenya police, a government statement said today.

Police opened fire to quell a mass spear attack in an outlying native area near Lake Baringo in northwest Kenya.

Among those killed were a British district officer in the Kenya administration and two British police officers.

20 Tribesmen Killed

The tribesmen were led by a fanatical African leader of an outlawed religious sect who recently escaped jail. The police had set out to arrest him.

About 300 Suk tribesmen attacked the police party when they attempted to parley for the arrest of the religious leader.

Hail of Spears

Under a hail of spears, police opened fire. Among the Suk dead was the man they sought to arrest.

Reinforcements were sent to the area immediately and the situation was later reported under control.

A Colonial Office spokesman in London described the Suks as a primitive people of a fanatical religion. They have a reputation for trouble-making.

Bear Has Triplets

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 26—(AP)—The Sherman Park Zoo here is astonished. One of its guests, a black bear, has given birth to triplets. Triplet births in the black bear family, says Conservation Officer Alex McLane, are "most unusual." The mother bear hasn't permitted the newcomers outside her cave yet. The Zoo says the cubs probably weighed only about nine ounces at birth—infant bears are small—but ought to be up around 70 pounds come fall.

Senate Calls Betting Czar To Be Witness

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A senate investigation of big-time gambling centred today on Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll of St. Louis—the "Mr. Big" of the odds-making business.

Carroll was called to testify before a senate commerce sub-committee studying a bill drafted to ban the movement of gambling information across state lines.

Carroll is known to betting men throughout the country as the man who announces the "official" winter-book gambling odds on the Kentucky Derby and the major league baseball races. Hence his title of "commissioner."

No Violation

But Chairman Ernest McFarland (Dem. Ariz.) told reporters as far as he knows Carroll has violated no federal laws.

Federal agents were reported searching for Frank Frickson of New York to subpoena him as a witness also. New York police ofifcials have desiribed Erilkson as a known "lay-off" bettor.

Carroll was the first witness identified with the gambling world to be called before the sub-committee.

"All we want is to get information on the pattern of bookmaking and track information furnished to bookmakers," McFarland told reporters. "Betting is not a federal offence and furnishing betting information to bookmakers violates no federal laws."

Missing Witness Turns Up Blacked Out For 20 Hours

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A missing witness in the Owen Lattimore case turned up safe but nervous today 20 hours after he had vanished from a Washington hotel.

John J. Huber, described as a one-time Federal Bureau of Investigation informer, telephoned his wife at Mt. Vernon, N.Y., that he had "blacked out" Tuesday shortly before he had been due to appear at the senate inquiry into charges of Communism in the United States government.

Although there had been hints that he might have met with foul play, Mrs. Huber said he seemed to be well.

This left up in the air the question whether he might return here today to testify before the senate investigators.

Other Developments

The disappearance of Huber came amid these other fast-breaking developments in the inquiry:

1. An assertion by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) that Louis Budenz, a former Communist, had identified as a Communist a man in a "very, very important job" in the state department. McCarthy told the senate late Tuesday that Budenz "put the finger" on the individual in secret testimony to the senate foreign relations sub-committee.

2. McCarthy also told the senate that he had given the inquiry committee the name of a man with a police record as a homosexual who, McCarthy added, holds "an extremely sensitive position" in the central intelligence agency.

More Resignations

3. Joining in a senate row over the investigation, Republican leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska said the man McCarthy termed a pervert has resigned, and Wherry shouted: "You're going to get some more resignations. This is not the only man."

4. Dr. Bella V. Dodd, a member of the Communist party's national committee until she was expelled from the party last year, testified she never knew Lattimore as a Communist, a fellow-traveller, or even a friend of the party."

5. The inquiry committee issued subpoenas for Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party, and for Jack Stachel, one of the 11 top American Communist leaders recently convicted on conspiring to overthrow the U.S. government by force.

The search for Huber the missing witness, got under way last night when Senator Millard Tydings (Dem. Md.), the committee chairman, called for him to take the stand. There was no response.

Former FBI agent Larry E. Kerley, now on the staff of the New York Journal-American, told the committee he flew to Washington with Huber Tuesday morning.

Kerley testified Huber had advised him that early in 1946 he saw Lattimore at a party given at the home of Frederick Vanderbilt Field. Both Budenz and McCarthy have called Field an avowed Communist.

Stage Holdup

TORONTO, April 26 — (CP) — Three youths, one armed with a nickel-plated pistol, held up Samuel Levine in his west-end smoke shop early today. Police said the three entered the shop and ordered soft drinks then when Levine opened his money pouch they produced the pistol, snatched the pouch containing $25 and ran.

OPP Inquiry On May 3 For Bullying Charges

TORONTO, April 26.—(CP). — Provincial Police Commissioner William Stringer today said a formal inquiry will be held May 3 into charges laid by seven Toronto choir members against two Provincial Police officers.

The choir members said they were wrongfully accused of drinking by the officers from the Bradford detachment April 21.

Commissioner Stringer said statements had been taken from the group and the two officers had been questioned.

"Nothing has been deduced from our field of inquiry to warrant suspension of these men," the commissioner said. "But an inquiry will be held at our headquarters."

HASTINGS, April 26 (ENS)—Group Four of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church held this month's meeting at the home of Mrs. Robt. Bibby.

The President, Mrs. Geo. Brown, was in charge and the worship theme was taken by Mrs. R. B. Bibby.

Mrs. Brown invited the members to hold the next meeting, May 11, at her home.

Quilt blocks were pieced during the afternoon. The hostess served refreshments. Mrs. A. Forde moved a vote of thanks to the hostess.

Millions For Security Wasted If Facts Divulged

OTTAWA, April 26 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Tuesday night "It doesn't make sense" to be spending $425,000,000 on security and then to give part of it away to the only possible aggressor—Russia.

For that reason he could not divulge to the public all the information about Canada's defence forces, although he felt Canadian people should have all possible information that the government was able to give.

Question of making more information available on Canada's defence forces was the subject of a recent controversy in the Commons, in which Mr. Claxton declined to establish a parliamentary committee to investigate defense policy and expenditures.

Too Generous

"Both in and out of parliament, more information has been given on defense than ever before and I believe more than is being given in most other countries," Mr. Claxton said in an address over the CBC's Nation's Business program.

"But no one can give all the information to you without giving it as well to a possible enemy."

The aggressive attitude of the Soviet and its satellites was the only possible threat to Canada's prosperity, peace and security, said Mr. Claxton.

"Their attitude makes it necessary for us to spend 20 times as much as before the war on our national defense."

Because Canada could not defend itself alone, it had joined with the Atlantic family of nations, and this group now was making good progress with defense measures and was moving "to the next and more difficult stage of translating plans and programs into action."

Great Project

Canada now had gathered about 120,000 persons to engage in defence projects. More than 48,000 full-time active officers and men now were in the navy, army and air force; another 48,000 were in the reserve forces and about 23,000 civilians were employed, some working in dockyards.

Recruiting for the active force was entirely satisfactory, and Canada has been getting the men of quality "and at the rate we want."

Soon all three forces would be enlisting only to fill vacancies resulting from normal retirements and discharges. As for officer training, Canada had nearly 6,000 trained to standards equivalent to a year's practical work and a university degree.

Mr. Claxton saaid that equipment was expensive and that each man taken on for the navy, army or air force cost Canada at least $2,600 a year.

Boy Hits Tram; Dies On Way To Hospital

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Four-year-old Richard Bovey died today after he ran into a street-car. He died on the way to hospital.

Crushed behind the car's safety catch, the child was carried almost 250 feet before the car stopped. The tram had to be jacked up before the boy could be released.

An eye-witness said Richard and two other youngsters had run across an east-end street. Richard turned to run back and raced into the car.

Mom And Dad Have Dual Birthday Party

HAVELOCK, April 26 (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Revoy was the scene of a double birthday celebration Saturday.

Mr. Revoy's birthday fell on Tuesday and Mrs. Revoy had planned the celebration as a surprise for him when he returned from his work at the weekend, while the family made the celebration a double one as Mrs. Revoy's birthday was Saturday.

Mrs. Revoy was formerly Reta McArthur, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McArthur of Campbellford.

Safety Measures Aid Production

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Installation of safety measures and appliances by industry is a genuine contribution to the raising of Canada's production, N. R. Crump, vice-president and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway said Tuesday night.

"We cannot afford accidents—they are too costly," he told the convention of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Associations. Anything that tended to reduce production "is a very real form of treason to the public interest."

Nearly 3,000 delegates were registered for the convention which heard other speakers stress various angles of industrial accident prevention.

Important Factors

Charles E. Rickets, plant safety supervisor for the Bell Telephone Company, said the most important factors in safety development were: a definite policy by management, development of a correct attitude by supervisors and understanding of a planned safety program by individual workers.

V. C. Cook, personnel superintendent from Niagara Falls, advocated application of intelligent discipline in carrying out industrial safety programs.

J. D. Arcodiet, safety engineer from Welland, said importance of beginning safety education as soon as a man starts a job cannot be over-estimated.

It has been thoroughly tested and shows remarkable results even in the most severe cases. The prescription is a clear, odorless and colorless liquid and will not stain or mark. Application is simple. Institute Sees Girls' Club Work

NORWOOD, April 26—Mrs. Alf Scott was hostess at her home on Friday afternoon for the postponed April meeting of the Women's Institute. Twenty-two members and two visitors were present.

Mrs. Fred Gardner presided. Mrs. G. R. Baker reported for the Sick Committee on the number of boxes, cards and plants sent to sick and shut-ins during March.

Mrs. Baker, as leader of the Girls' Club, spoke of the girls' work and some of the record books were exhibited.

Mrs. Baker and the entire club had attended Achievement Day in Peterborough April 1. The course chosen for next year is Well Dressed and Well Groomed.

Mrs. Frank Andrews gave a reading about two Institute members. Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs Houcke, who were chosen for the board of the Royal Winter Fair.

Mrs. Charles Fredericks, convener of community activities and public welfare, had prepared a paper taken from an address by the Rt. Hon. Malcolm McDonald. In the absence of Mrs. Fredericks, Mrs. Wm. Gallaher read the paper.

Mrs. Fred Gardner, Mrs. G. R. Baker and Mrs. Lottie Burtt were appointed a nominating committee for officers for 1950-51.

A play, "Aunt Susie Shoots the Works," will be presented tonight in Norwood Town Hall, under the auspices of the Institute, by the adult group of Lakefield United Church.

Mrs. F. Andrews thanked the members for serving lunch to Miss Creyke and those who took the sewing course.

Tea was served by the hostesses Mrs. A. Stinson, Mrs. J. J. Stewart, Mrs. John Starke and Mrs. D. Nixon.

Using Wrong Method

BALTIMORE, April 26 (AP)—Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, suggests that schools keep from going overboard in trying to keep Communists off their faculties. "To my mind," he told 2,000 educationists and Harvard Club members Tuesday night, "the harm done by a few crypto-Communists on a faculty would be far less than the harm done by instituting a policy of relentless inquiry into the private life of every teacher."

Civil Liberties Group Urges Full Canadian Bill Of Rights

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP) — The Association for Civil Liberties today urged that the Federal government meet with the provinces to produce a bill of rights which would comprehensively protect the fundamental freedoms of Canadians.

In a 4,000-word brief placed before the Senate human rights committee, the association recorded its support of the 18 draft articles being studied by the committee for possible incorporation in a bill of rights.

These four recommendations were contained in the brief:

1. The Federal government should take up at an appropriate time with the provinces the task of incorporating a bill of rights in the constitution.

2. The Supreme Court Act should be amended to enlarge its jurisdiction so that it can deal with cases involving civil liberties which cannot now come before it.

Job Ruling

3. The Federal government should enact a Federal fair employment practices act to outlaw discrimination in jobs for race, color, creed, religion, ethnic or national origin or ancestry.

4. A civil rights division should be established as a branch of the Justice Department to investigate complaints and seek to protect the human rights of Canadians.

The brief also asked that when the Criminal Code is revised, special consideration be given to defining and bringing together in one place, the specific right which the citizen and an accused person may claim under criminal law.

The laws protecting individuals now were so diffuse that it almost always took a lawyer to know what they were.

"There is a real need to consolidate our human rights and fundamental freedoms in a single document so that every person in Canada will know and not have to guess what his or her fundamental rights are."

Must Be Vigilant

The importance of vigilance by every citizen to support the bill of rights was emphasized.

"It would be a mistake for anyone to assume one's rights and freedoms are made secure simply by enactment of a bill of rights. It has always been true, and we expect it always will be true, that eternal vigilance on the part of every citizen, and respect for the rights of others, is the price of liberty."

The brief offered 18 examples of legislation and actions which, it said, showed that human rights were not sufficiently protected. One was the Prince Edward Island law prohibiting membership in a trade union outside the province. Another was the Quebec law empowering municipalities to pass bylaws prohibiting distribution of literature without a permit.

The Rev. Dr. R. S. K. Seeley is president of the association. The brief was supported by 21 other organizations.

Often appearing as a hen-pecked husband or a harried bookkeeper, his face, if not his name, was known to millions. Among his pictures were "Captain Blood," "Kismet," "Margie" and "Driftwood."

Russians Are Attempting To Set Up "Ruble Area"

By G. K. HODENFIELD

VIENNA, April 26 (AP)—Russia is pressing a campaign to drive the dollar out of the business dealings of her satellites, informed Western sources said today. She is setting up a "ruble area," a rival of Britain's sterling bloc and the Canadian-American dollar zone.

The anti-dollar measures are part of a long-range program the Russians are using to gain absolute control over the economic policies of the Eastern-bloc countries.

Out the window will go present mutual-aid treaties binding the eastern European states and the west. Moscow thinks these give the satellites too much freedom to make a deal on their own.

Replacing them will be a central customs union controlled by the Kremlin, with payments funnelled through an international payments bank in Moscow.

Figured In Rubles

Informed Western sources say all trade will be figured in rubles. All East-bloc currency will be pegged to that money. All prices will be quoted in rubles.

Most of the present treaties and trade agreements are calculated on the basis of the dollar. Believing Russia's plans to change this have a psychological and propaganda aim, one Western economist explains Russia's objection this way:

"No matter how loudly Russia proclaims the inevitable collapse of capitalism, her arguments don't mean a thing while the people know their own currency and their own trade is pegged to the capitalist dollar.

"The less the people hear about dollars, the easier it will be to convince them that the dollar is worthless."

Some sources said the new Russian plan was drawn up by Dr. Karl Clodius, former pupil and collaborator of the German financial wizard, Hjalmar Schact.

Opposing Merger

NEWMARKET, April 26 (CP) —A resolution opposing amalgamation of Toronto and its 12 surrounding municipalities was passed Tuesday at a meeting of reeves and deputy reeves of the 14 municipalities in the northern sections of York County. Secondary Link From Ottawa On T-C Highway

OTTAWA, April 26 —(CP) — Ontario Highways Minister Doucette said Tuesday that Highway No. 17 from Ottawa through Arnprior, Renfrew, Pembroke and North Bay will be an alternative link in the Trans-Canada Highway.

"We have not forgotten and we will not forget the upper Ottawa Valley," Mr. Doucette said in an interview. "Ottawa Valley towns will be served with a highway fully paved and measuring up to top Trans-Canada Highway standards by the end of 1950."

Mr. Doucette said Highway 17 will be officially designated as part of the Trans-Canada Highway. At Britannia, where Highways 15 and 17 intersect, two road signs are to be erected. One will read "Trans-Canada Highway via Arnprior, Renfrew, Pembroke and North Bay to Sudbury."

The second will read "Trans-Canada Highway via Perth, Peterborough and Parry Sound to Sudbury."

Difference In Payment

"The only difference will be that Ontario is paying the cost of improving Highway 17, while cost of the other route will be shared."

Mr. Doucette said the following definite plans for the Ottawa Valley route from Ottawa to Sudbury will be completed this year:

1. Paving and resurfacing of Highway 17 west of Renfrew for a distance of between 10 and 15 miles to link up with a recently paved section.

2. Paving of the balance of Highway 17 between Pembroke and North Bay, linking up with the section paved in 1949.

3. Paving and resurfacing of 50 miles between North Bay and Sudbury.

The paving job between North Bay and Sudbury, costing $1,000,000, has already been started.

Iroquois Falls' Elk Does High Stepping

IROQUOIS FALLS, April 26—(CP)—Iroquois Falls' famous elk will do some high stepping this week.

For nearly five months the young elk, owned by the Iroquois Falls Fish and Game Protective Association, has been kept indoors while recovering from a mysterious illness.

This week the ailing elk will finally be led out into the sunshine into a tiny corral built near his home.

In January, when he was brought from a reservation across the Abitibi River from Iroquois Falls, the elk had an ugly gash in his side. But after a number of visits from veterinarians the wound healed.

Fraser Presses

was mentioned before the Royal commission on espionage in 1946 but said the notebook containing it was made available, along with other evidence, to both the United Kingdom and United States at the time.

Mr. Fraser asked if there had been a check up on the other names since the Fuch's case. Mr. Pearson said he understood that was normal police procedure.

Not Sure

The Minister told Mr. Graydon he knew of no intergovernmental communications between London and Ottawa about the other names "but I wouldn't like to toss off an answer without inquiry."

As the questioning continued, the Minister said he didn't know if the notebook owner was one of those convicted and told M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, that not being a security expert he wasn't sure how far he should go. He would look into the question.

Mr. Fraser came back to ask whether, if any of the people whose names were found were still in Canada, they are being investigated. Mr. Pearson said "I will do all I can to get the information."

Mr. Graydon said that in view of the international importance of the case the responsible authority should be called to give evidence. He would like to know what was done about questioning the owner of the notebook about Fuchs and the other people.

VOL. C. No. 97 — WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1950

Arena Year Ends, 70,876 Fans Saw 64 Games

Total attendance of 70,876 people at 64 hockey games at Civic Arena this season was reported to the Arena Commission Tuesday night by Walter Smillie, manager.

Average attendance at senior games was 1,355, and at senior games 457. No records were kept of the number of spectators at minor league, industrial, school and other games during the winter.

Mr. Smillie's report to the Commission included the information that for 66 skating periods attendance was 14,615 children and 10,763 adults; total 25,378.

330 Hours Free Time

Free time to school children was 138 hours and to minor hockey 192 hours; total 330 hours. At the usual rate of $10 an hour that would have amounted to $3,300. It was a gift of the arena and the city to its junior citizens.

Percy Killingbeck, chairman of the Commission, presided last night, and the other members were all present: Cecil G. Upper, Stan McBride, Geddes Harper, Al Cameron, secretary- treasurer, Ald. H. Dodds, Ald. J. E. Gillespie, Mayor Swanston and Mr. Smillie, manager of the Arena.

The financial statement from Mr. Cameron was approved and sent on for audit to Edward Humpage, auditor for the city council.

It will be made public when it comes to the council. This was the final meeting of the Commission for their year of responsibility ending April 30. Re-appointment of the Commission for 1950-51 is to be made by the council, probably next Monday night.

Still Good Ice

After the meeting at the city hall, the Commissioners went down to the Arena to look over the property as the season closes. Incidentally they saw a fine sheet of ice on which the job of removal was already begun. That work was being continued today.

The Commission decided to have the seats painted and also some other improvements made to the interior.

A tentative program for the summer was discussed, but was left at that stage for the succeeding Commission.

Mr. Smillie's review did not include many of the industrial and minor league games, which should be considered in the general summary of the use of the Arena in its second winter.

WHADDYA MEAN, DAYLIGHT TIME? —The change to daylight time in Canada comes in Peterborough and most other areas at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 30. But Bossy doesn't get it. Farmers, opponents of advancing the clock one hour, use as one of their main arguments the contention you can't change milking time. The Alberta Legislature saw the farmers' side of the story and outlawed daylight time in that province. However, the extra hour of daylight is in effect in most sections of the country.

Brinton Extend Broadloom Weaving Plant

Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Company has taken out a permit at the city hall for an addition to their broadloom weaving department.

The permit issued by City Engineer Chalmers described an enlargement 115 feet to be built by Eastwood Construction Company. It is to be of concrete and steel sash; to be completed by the end of August.

Estimated cost of the extension is $31,000.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

The City of Peterborough, in accordance with By-law 4849, passed by the City Council February 20, 1950, will operate on Daylight Saving Time from two o'clock in the morning of Sunday, April 30th, until two o'clock in the morning of Sunday, the 24th day of September, 1950.

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect in Peterborough this coming Sunday morning at two o'clock and all clocks should be advanced one hour.

MAX J. SWANSTON,
Mayor.

Campaign Afoot To Keep Lakefield Dry June 21 Vote

LAKEFIELD, April 26 (ENS)—A campaign to keep Lakefield "dry" was launched Tuesday at a public meeting, when it was announced that the Liquor Control Board has set June 21 as the date for a vote on whether the village is to become "wet." The meeting was the first step taken by those who do not want the sale of beer, liquor or wine in the village, after a petition signed by 380 villagers was forwarded to the Liquor Control Board.

The vote will be on three separate issues: For or against a dining room licence to serve drinks with meals; government sale of beer for residents' consumption, and a government store for the sale of liquor.

Small Attendance

Fewer than 50 people attended the meeting, at which a campaign committee was formed. A parent-scout meeting taking place at the same time was believed to have attracted some who would otherwise have attended.

Ministers of all the churches in Lakefield — they were not all present—were asked to serve on the campaign committee, and others named were W. Fife, secretary; Roy Brown, treasurer; committee, W. Walker representing the Baptist Church, T. C. Young of Gospel Hall and T. W. Chaplin, who was not present at the meeting, was suggested to represent the Presbyterian Church.

The committee, which was formed on the recommendation of Walter Walker and Wallace Hendren, will choose a campaign manager.

The Rev. W. Tonge of the United Church was chairman and the Rev. D. E. McClelland, field secretary of Ontario Temperance Association, was guest speaker.

Arguments Con

Mr. McClelland claimed there was a chance that violence and crime would increase if beer and liquor were made readily available in the village. Some put forward the argument that a licence would cut down the illegal sale of liquor, but evidence in other places proved that illegal sales increased when the areas became "wet."

An outlet in the village would increase the number of street accidents, immorality and unhappy homes.

In answer to the argument that a great many tourists went to the tourist booth to ask where they could get liquor, Mr. McClelland said the actual percentage of tourists who asked this question was never quoted.

One hotelkeeper he knew in a different locality had received complaints from his guests about

Widen Driveway For Army Trucks

To provide extra room for the heavy vehicles of the 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers), RCA and the 37th Heavy A.A. Workshop, RCEME the driveway at the front of the armouries is being widened.

Tuesday the McFarlane Construction Company of Picton ripped up the eight-foot-wide sidewalk from Murray Street to the main door of the armouries. Workers today prepared the stretch for the cement. Widening of the driveway necessitated the removal of the fire plug at the end of the lane. A new plug was installed 150 feet east on Murray St.

The new width of the driveway will allow the trucks and guns to make the turn into the armouries without first turning on the parade grounds.

The two doors at the west end of the armouries are being widened to allow the large vehicles to enter. This work in the gunnery room is being done by the Sheehy Construction Company of Peterborough.

City Posts Money Secures Access New Hall Site

Today the city obtained the right to enter the new city hall property, in the block north-east of Murray and George Sts.

Although all the property has not yet been sold to the city the contractor should be able to start work May 1.

The hearing before Judge S. L. Smoke allowed the city to pay into court the approximate value of the expropriated properties. Once this is complied with the contractor may begin work without fear of trespassing.

If the valuation is not agreeable to the owners (i.e. if they cannot reach a settlement with the city) they are free to take the dispute to arbitration. But in the meanwhile the demolition of buildings on the site and the subsequent erection of the city hall will go ahead.

Notices of expropriation were mailed previously by City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, and owners and tenants are looking around for other living quarters.

Leased Until August

One possible snag was encountered during today's hearing. Three of the tenants on properties owned by Mrs. Helen D. Sharpe have leases till August 31. Forcing them to move might result in counter legal action.

Because of this possibility Judge Smoke added another $1,500 to the sum paid into court. Fifteen thousand dollars was the value set on the Sharpe property with the $1,500 to cover any legal action that might be brought against the responsible party by the tenants.

Mrs. Sharpe said her understanding with W. H. Bosley, Toronto realtor carrying on expropriation negotiations for the city, was that the city would be responsible should legal action arise.

Mrs. Mabel McPherson, who owns the large 90-ft. by 115-ft. property at Murray and Water, has settled for $19,500 Mr. Huycke said. She has four tenants but it is believed they will be out in a month.

Tenants Present

The three tenants were present in the Judge's Chambers during the hearing.

Mrs. A. E. Tuck, 488 George Street, said she was looking around for accommodation, but as yet was unable to find any.

Alfred T. Hempstead, 142 Murray Street, stated his three children were all attending the school and he would like to wait until the June examinations were over before he moved.

Alfred Townsend, 146 Murray Street, said he had a house, but it was being decorated and would not be ready till early in May. He felt the city should compensate the displaced tenants because of the inconvenience.

It was intimated unofficially, that perhaps the architect and contractor would be willing to let the Murray Street terrace remain undisturbed for a couple of months.

Were this arranged it would still be of no benefit to Mrs. Tuck.

Ottawa People's Money Aids Caen Rebuild University

By JEAN STENTON

CAEN, April — When the people of Ottawa supported a concert March 31 in aid of the rebuilding of Caen University, with Raoul Jobin of Metropolitan Opera Company as guest artist, few of them realized how much it would mean to the people of this badly battered city.

Jean Stenton

The university was destroyed in the second terrible bombing in the summer of 1944. What the bombs didn't finish, fire did. There was practically nothing saved. The remains of the college which I saw did not even contain any part of a foundation. It was just a flattened heap of crushed stone.

Refusing to be daunted by the tremendous difficulties, the university opened its doors again in December 1944. The city permitted them to use a few only partially damaged school buildings and for books they have depended largely on donations from other countries. The pride of the college professors' hearts is the 1,500 book collection which has been amassed to date with the help of outsiders.

Rushing Building

It is hoped to have completed the outside of the new building by the end of 1950. It will take at least one more year before they can move in. At the present time there are between 1,500 and 2,000 students enrolled in this provincial college.

Students and teachers faced great difficulties in the early months after the war. Roads were almost impassible because of the amount of rubble and debris blocking them. There was no electricity for a year after the war passed Caen, and students invented a small homemade candle for studying that first winter. It was made of cotton or wool with any kind of grease and was used in small dishes. A faint glow was the only illumination. Then there was the shortage of books. Only the great desire for learning provided the incentive for students and teachers alike to keep struggling.

When the new university opens, Canadians and Canadian universities who have so generously contributed, can have the satisfaction of knowing how much their gifts have meant in its re-establishment.

Toronto Group Buys Total At Premium of $8,704 Interest From 2¾ - 3¼%

City council went into the money market Tuesday to borrow nearly one million dollars to pay for various municipal works that are completed or in the course of building. Debentures in the amount of $932,212.82 were sold to Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., and associates at the price of $100.9337, to quote the fraction of a cent, the highest of nine tenders. Associates with Wood, Gundy were —Gairdner & Co., Limited, and the Royal Bank of Canada, who shared in the purchase of this large block of debentures.

The difference between the two top bids was $948.06; and the premium accruing from the price in excess of par amounts to $8,704.07.

As Ald. Herbert Young commented, this premium is used to the credit of the debentures and is not deposited in the general municipal account.

"I think we have done very well on this issue," Mayor Swanston remarked to the council at its special and brief sitting Tuesday afternoon.

Interest 2¾-3¼%

The money which the council has had to borrow was required for various purposes:

$40,000 for the Utilities Commission to pay for improvements to the waterworks; 10 year bonds paying 3 per cent.

$22,000 to pay for the factory sites in North Monaghan township as requested by the city's Industrial Commission; term five years at 2¾%.

$143,369.58 to pay for the pavement laid last year by Warren Paving Company; ten-year debentures bearing 3 p.c.

$615,000 for the sewage disposal plant that is now being built by the George Hardy Construction Company. This block is for 20 years paying 3 p.c.

Acceptance of the price of Wood, Gundy et al at $100.9337 was moved by Ald. J. A. Dewart, seconded by Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

Premium of $8,704

The premium in the tender means that on every $100 bond bought by Wood, Gundy and associates the city receives 93 and a fraction cents additional, amounting on the whole issue to $8,704.07.

The nine bids were tabulated in a report to the council for their information dealing with the question of price.

Ald. E. C. Braund asked why the tenders were not opened in the presence of the whole council as was done in letting the city hall contract.

Mayor Swanston replied that the custom in selling debentures was to refer the bids to a subcommittee composed of the chairman of the finance committee, the city treasurer, the city auditor and the Mayor.

In the absence of Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, Tuesday, Mayor Swanston said he asked Ald. Dewart to act with himself, City Treasurer Cooper and City Auditor Edward Humpage. They opened the tenders, tabulated the information, and the facts were listed for the members of the council.

Month's Toll 29 On Local Roads, More Care Urged

Many pedestrians who walk along heavily-trafficked highways still do not observe elementary safety precautions, provincial police warn.

During March a total of 29 people were injured in highway and road accidents in this provincial police district. Three of these were pedestrians, struck by passing cars.

If you must walk on the highway, face the oncoming motor traffic, warns Corporal Lloyd McClure. Don't risk having a vehicle approach you unnoticed from the rear.

Better still: walk as far over on the left shoulder of the roadway as possible.

While this is only a simple precaution many people seem to disregard it. Last year a total of 36 were killed in this manner in Ontario, and another 157 were injured.

Spring Checkup Begins

Provincial police are beginning their spring checkup on vehicles travelling the highways. Lights, brakes, and drivers' licences will come under their scrutiny.

And make sure those high beams don't blind oncoming drivers. The rules of the road call for you to snap off the high beams when another car or truck approaches. It's not just a matter of courtesy but the law.

"The law is there for the protection of both drivers," commented Corporal McClure. "If one driver loses control because he is temporarily blinded by glaring headlights then he may involve both cars in an accident. And the whole thing could have been avoided by turning off the high beams."

Highway Roundup

A roundup shows there were a few more accidents in District 8 during March than in February, 84 compared with 78. The district includes Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton counties.

Jury Convicts Pair In Assault

ROME, Ga., April 26 (AP). — An all-white jury Tuesday night convicted two white men of intent to rape a 13-year-old negro girl, who testified she was ravished while two white women and two white children looked on.

The jury, predominantly made up of middle-aged farmers, fixed the penalty for both men at three to five years in prison. They deliberated approximately two hours.

The two white women told conflicting stories. One testified the men did not touch the child. The other said they wrestled with the little girl, pulled off her clothes and attacked her.

Convicted were James Marion Elder, 26, and Jerald David Hicks 24. A third man, Louie Eugene Byars, 20, is under indictment, but will be tried separately.

Two physicians, who examined the girl shortly after the alleged attack, testified they found "no evidence of rape."

Trade Union, War Office Change Minds Frequently

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, April 26 — (CP) — London women learned recently that when it comes to changing minds, their sex has no monopoly. A trade union and the war office both changed their minds—about women.

The union was the transport and general workers which turned thumbs down on a London transport executive suggestion that women again be recruited as bus conductors.

Four years ago the same organization vetoed an executive suggestion that the 10,000 women employed during the war as conductors — "clippies," they were called—be discharged as men became increasingly available. There still are 2000 of them punching tickets.

The women's right to do the work was defended then. Now it is challenged.

The executive's predicament stems from a shortage of both drivers and conductors.

Same Treatment

To bridge the gap it had proposed opening recruiting to women, and at equal pay — another long-term T. G. W. U. goal.

But the equal-pay offer drew union opposition this time.

It said there would be no trouble getting enough men if the money available for the women were spent in improving existing conditions.

One angle the conductors raised —and feminists later termed it a "chestnut"—was that theirs was a man's job, exclusively.

The economist, a weekly, sided with the feminists. Of the "man's job" suggestion, it said:

"This may be perfectly true, although the travelling public, who should be the final arbiter, would by no means agree with this judgment."

Anyway, the nays had it and the L. T. E. abandoned the idea.

However, the publicity earned by the disagreement partially eased the executive's worries and London papers have had pictures of men queuing for employment-office interviews.

Rank Now

In the army the women at least have been given rank designations identical with the men's. They now run the gamut from private to major-general. Next grievance is the pay—the women get a little more than two-thirds of the male salary.

A result of the change, Olga Collett wrote in the Sunday Express, is that recruiting figures in the Women's Royal Army Corps already have shown an increase.

"Women have left jobs in factories, shops, private houses and offices to join the ranks," she said.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By DON GRANT

The investiture of charter members of the newly formed Buckhorn Scout Troop was held during the past week before a capacity crowd in the Scout hall in Buckhorn. The troop is under the sponsorship of the Community Club and received its first boost when Mrs. Bruce Hall, president of the Women's Institute, presented the troop colors and to Charles Quick, chairman of the Group Committee, the Union Jack. Thomas Mason, president of the Community Club, welcomed the large audience to the investiture.

Commissioner George Groombridge invested Doug Green and Earl Hall assistant Scoutmasters. This ceremony was followed by the investitures of Danny Wilson, Teddy Quick, Wayne Blewitt, and Fred Stabler into Scouting by their Scouter, Earl Stanford, who was assisted by Assistant Commissioners Peter Dominik and Fred Ford, and Scoutmaster Ken Jakins of Lakefield, Peterborough and Curve Lake.

Commissioner Groombridge was called upon to outline the Scout movement and the history of the new Provincial Badge. A singsong, movies and refreshments were also part of the program.

Among those present were Reeve Gale Elliott and Russ Weir from Lakehurst, who are planning for some of the Lakehurst boys to join.

The visiting groups were represented as follows: Curve Lake Indian Reserve, Scouts Wendell McCue, George McCue, Garnet Copperway, Lennox Taylor, Everett Taylor, Donald Taylor, Elgin Taylor, Junior Knot and Cleveland Taylor under Scouters Mrs. C. Knot and Mrs. A. McCue; Lakefield Sea Scouts, Bob Pratt, Morley Brown, Ricky Wilford under Scouter Ken Jakins and Assistant Scouter Lynn Pratt; Peterborough, Assistant Scouter Graham Carruthers, accompanied by John Phillips, Dave Coit, Gary Hancock, Alvin Phillips, Allan Miles, Tel Spearin, Bob Burgess, Ron Cooper, Graham Horton and Bob Malby from the 16th Peterborough Trinity Troop.

Badge Awards

Boy Scout and Cub proficiency badge tests passed and approved by the local association's badge secretary, Charles Johnson, in the past two weeks are: Scout, All Saints, Bob Leach and Fred Jay (Marksmans) and Fred Jay (Cyclist); Cubs, All Saints, Gar White and Ron Jackson (Toymakers).

Fifth All Saints

With the formation of a new six the sixers are now Scott Morley, Gerald Foy, B. Reid, Jim Parker and Gar White with the seconders, Ron Beard, Peter Johnson, J. Cook, Terry Downer and Ralph Daniels. First Stars have been awarded to Jackie Cook, Barry Hughes, Paul Emery, Terry Downer and Buddy Jackson.

Paul Emery and Daniel Doughty, who were received into the pack a short time ago, were given their neckerchiefs at the weekly meeting. Peter Green, D. Doughty, Bobby Davies and Graham Sutton passed the skipping and book balancing tests to finish their First Star work.

Scouting Around

Fresno, California — James Douglas Cooke, a former Belleville and Peterborough Scout who moved to California, will be the representative of the Boy Scout Troop No. 49 of Fresno to the American Jamboree. Cooke now holds "Life Rank" in the Boy Scouts of America. He also holds the rank of King Scout in the Canadian Boy Scouts, which is the equivilent of the Eagle rank in the Boy Scouts of America. 1. French's Mashed Potato

NO WASHING! NO PEELING! NO COOKING! NO MASHING!

When dinner is ready to serve, put 1⅓ cups water, ½ tsp. salt in medium-sized saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove pan from heat and add ½ cup cold milk. Commence stirring with wire whip or fork, then add ½ cup French's Instant Potato. Beat until light and fluffy. Add butter and pepper to taste. Makes 2 cups mashed potato.

2. Potato Soup

To 3 cups very hot (but not boiling) milk, stir in gradually ¼ cup French's Instant Potato. Stir over low heat until mixture thickens to desired consistency. Season to taste with onion salt, pepper and butter. If preferred thinner, add milk. Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 3. (For each additional serving use 1 cup milk and 1 heaping tablespoon French's Instant Potato).

3. Party Potatoes

To two cups mashed potato, beat in 1 to 2 tbs. minced chives, or 1 tbs. chopped watercress and 1 tsp. finely cut mint leaves.

4. Codfish Cakes

2 cups mashed potato made with French's Instant Potato
2 tbs. butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ tsp. white pepper, dash nutmeg
2 cups salt cod fish freshened

Add butter, pepper, nutmeg and egg to mashed potato. Beat until light and fluffy. Freshen fish according to directions on fish package. Add fish to potato mixture and mix well. Chill. Shape into balls or patties. Roll in French's Instant Potato powder. Fry in deep fat heated to 390°F or brown in a little fat in a frying pan. Drain on absorbent paper.

5. Cocoanut Kisses

½ cup hot mashed potato
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 lb. confectioner sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
1, 4-oz. can moist cocoanut

Measure mashed potato made with French's Instant Potato into a medium-sized bowl. Add butter. Beat in gradually the sifted confectioner sugar. Add almond extract and cocoanut. Mix thoroughly. Drop by spoonfuls on wax paper to harden.

6. French's Fried Potatoes

Bring 2 cups water to brisk boil in medium-sized saucepan; while still boiling, quickly stir in 1 cup French's Instant Potato. When slightly cooled, turn out on lightly floured board. Roll ¼ inch thick. Cut into strips ¼ inch wide and 2 inches long. Fry in small batches in shallow fat (2 inches deep) heated to 390°F. until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Salt. Serves 6-8.

7. Cocktail Puffs

Prepare potato "dough" as for French's Fried Potatoes. Roll out as thin as possible. Cut with cookie cutter 1 inch in diameter. Fry in shallow fat. Salt. Delicious hot or cold.

FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO is also a wonderful help to:

- Quickly top a Shepherd's Pie, Meat or Chicken Pie, or baked casserole dish.
- Thicken gravy, stews, chowder, cream soups, vegetable soups, etc.
- Coat fish, croquettes, cutlets, before cooking, for a crisp, even brown coating.

Commons Committee Supports Continued Expansion Of TCA

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—The Commons Railway and Shipping Committee, shortly to make its report to parliament on operations of Trans-Canada Air Lines, is expected to lend its support to continued growth and expansion of Canada's 16,000mile air line system which now spans half the globe.

The committee Thursday night completed examinations of 1949 operations—$4,000,000 deficit year for TCA—and forecasts for 1950 when the air line expects to cut its over-all losses to $1,243,000.

Though there was some criticism, many committee members expressed pride in the national air line and a desire to help it along. Members indicated they were prepared to recommend that the government seriously consider TCA's request for an extra $70,000 on the present $450,000 monthly air mail contract.

Because negotiations for a new contract are going on between the air line and the post office department, the committee decided against going into the matter at this stage. It voted down a request by George Drew, Conservative opposition leader, that W. F. Turnbull, deputy postmaster general, be called as a witness.

Don't Want Pressure

Both Trade Minister Howe and G. R. McGregor, president of the air line, spoke against calling Mr. Turnbull. Mr. McGregor said the post office department might get the idea TCA was "calling out the heavy artillery to bull through a new air mail contract."

Mr. Drew and Davie Fulton, (PC-Kamloops) also wanted three other witnesses called including J. R. Baldwin, chairman of the Air Transport Board, H. W. Seagrim, general manager of flight operations and James Bain, director of engineering and maintenance for TCA.

Mr. Howe said Mr. Bain couldn't appear because he was ill. J. F. English, vice-president in charge of operations was present to answer any questions Mr. Drew might want to put. When the opposition leader insisted Mr. Seagrim be called his motion was voted down.

Mr. Drew also insisted on the production of certain files on TCA flight operations but this too was defeated by a vote of the committee. Mr. Howe said he questioned the propriety of asking for such files which referred to technical details on "a batch of trouble back in 1949."

Earlier Mr. McGregor said 1950 plans included installation of new pressurization equipment on its fleet of 20 North Star planes.

He got through all right, he smiled, but he soon realized he wasn't the only one on the line.

"A party line," quipped a committee member.

Introduce Scheme To Check On Senators

OTTAWA, April 26 — (CP) — The Senate got an inkling Tuesday of a scheme under which a group of Senators will check on their colleagues to find out whether they are doing their work as quickly and as expeditiously as possible.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the Chamber, gave notice of a motion under which he will organize a committee to investigate how the other standing committee of the Senate are doing their work.

The new committee, said Senator Robertson, will have power to investigate all of the standing committees and make recommendations which will help "facilitate" the business of the Chamber.

It was indicated outside the Chamber that Senator Robertson has the standing committee on divorce particularly in mind and would like to see its work speeded up.

NEW YORK HOLOCAUST

A New York City fire in 1835 destroyed 530 buildings over 52 acres, with total damage of $15,000,000.

Radio Network From Regina Links Far North

PRINCE ALBERT, —(CP)— The vast "unknown" northland of Saskatchewan now is only as far away as the telephone.

A vast radio network links the north three-fifths of the province to officials of the forestry and fisheries departments in Regina.

The 144-station government network —one of the biggest in the Dominion—has removed one of the major deterrents to development of the once-isolated area. No longer do the trappers, prospector and forest ranger disappear for weeks and months.

In fire-lookout towers, in field officers' cabins, at the edge of a forest blaze, in a canoe knifing down the river, in a plane speeding on a mercy mission or a car rushing supplies to fire-fighters, the crackle of radio voices is only a moment away.

It is a far cry from the days of hand-opperated—and often unreliable—telephones and heavy transmitters of 25 years ago. Communications now are as mobile as the people who make their living flitting through forest and muskeg, river and lake.

The change began when Ron Hook, now head of Saskatchewan's communication system, joined the department of national resources in 1936.

"They had about 22 transmitters and receivers then," he recalled. Compared with today's equipment they are like the old Red-River wagons and present-day automobiles."

Build Own Equipment

Now the province builds all its own northland-designed radio equipment. Mr. Hook is working on an even-smaller set suitable for smoke-jumpers, woodland patrols, and timber cruisers.

The system comprises regional networks feeding through Meadow Lake, Hudson Bay, La Ronge and Prince Albert. With this breakdown they operate on a relatively-small power output. The centres relay information through Prince Albert.

At present Mr. Hook and his aides are busy rigging additional two-way equipment for the coming fire season. It too will work through Prince Albert.

Gives "Twin" Message

Sometimes the air-waves carry messages of importance to Hook's own staff—as the time when a technical assistant perched in a remote fire tower learned he was the father of twins.

Mr. Hook tells of one message that still gives him a chuckle.

Addressed to the administrator of northern education, it read: "School to be closed. On fish haul."

The officials were in a flap, thinking the teacher had abandoned his charges to go fishing.

A checkup, however, revealed that it should have read: "School to be closed. Unofficial."

United States Considers Staging New Atom Tests In South Pacific

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON —(CP)— Indications of another atomic-weapons test this summer seems to be in the wind.

That is true literally, because from April until around August, prevailing winds at the testing grounds at Eniwetok Atoll, far out in the Pacific, move in a favorable westerly direction. An easterly wind might push radioactive clouds across Hawaii.

Therefore summer seems to be the best time for such experiments.

Whether a hydrogen bomb might be ready for a test in the next few months, along with improved atomic bombs, is a matter for speculation. There have been unverified conjectures that the government already may have run some hydrogen bomb tests in a minor way.

But some atomic experts have said it would take at least a year or two to develop H-bombs. And some even have suggested we may never succeed in perfecting one.

Besides the factor of favorable winds at this time of years, there are other signs that an atomic test may be coming up at Eniwetok.

Without mentioning dates, the United States Atomic Energy Commission and defence department advised President Truman last November that they were planning a new series of tests. Since the war, there have been only two, one at Bikini Atoll in 1946 and one at Eniwetok in 1948, so the time may be about ripe for number 3.

Contract Tells Tale

A contract has been let for repairing and improving technical facilities at the Eniwetok proving grounds, obviously to get ready for something. An army construction force recently was assigned to help with the work, and a joint task force, commanded by Lt. Gen. E. R. Quesada of the air force, has been set up to manage the next tests.

Evidently some U. S. ships are moving to Eniwetok. The "Elder," a small naval vessel which caught fire and got in trouble recently, is a buoy-marker layer that was Eniwetok bound.

Presumably it was going to drop new or additional buoys to mark the safe channels into the area around Eniwetok where the United States has posted "keep out" warnings.

Now Danger Zone

This forbidden area, roughly 150 by 200 miles, was blocked off at the start of 1948, when word was passed that it was a danger zone, and only persons authorized by the government to take part in experiments at Eniwetok would be welcome.

But despite such precautions, and although governments authorities are keeping a strict silence about details of tests, military officials believe Russia will manage to find out about new atomic experiments.

And if the Russians do get a line on the next tests, authorities here fully expect them to take up patrol stations this side of the Marshall Islands, where Eniwetok is located, to check on ships outbound from the country.

Even if they stationed submarines far outside the danger zone, they still might be able to pick up scientifically-valuable information or clues with seismographic or radiological recording instruments, or with balloons sent into the upper air to take radiological readings.

They might even get something out of visual checks, since radioactive clouds at Bikini were visible through polaroid glasses for several hours at distances of 30 to 40 miles or more.

Group Three WMS Has Quilts Ready For Bale

TRENT RIVER, April 26 (ENS) —Mrs. Frank Openshaw was hostess for the April meeting of Group Three of the Women's Association which was held at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Twenty members attended.

Mrs. Ross Pollock, convener of the group, took charge of the meeting.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. T. K. Thompson. Cards for the parcel post sale were distributed among the members.

The group has two large quilts and two baby quilts completed and ready for sale.

Mrs. T. K. Thompson, deaconess reported cards sent to sick and bereaved. During the afternoon two surprise birthday cakes were presented to Mrs. Openshaw on the occasion of her birthday. These were made and decorated by Mrs. Steve Deline and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin.

Mrs. Harry Mann, convener, presented the following program: sing-song led by Mrs. Walter Lewis, accompanied by Mrs. Openshaw at the piano; wedding anniversary contest was won by Mrs. P. K. Thompson. Readings were given by Mrs. Ernie Vaness and Mrs. Steve Deline. A "T" contest was won by Mrs. T. J. Brown. Mrs. Bert Robson sang a solo and a guessing contest was won by Mrs Thomas Wight.

A lap lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Prentice and Mrs. Bert Robson.

MILLBROOK, April 26 (ENS) —Lenore Ouellette, Anne St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ouellette, celebrated her tenth birthday on April 23. It was also her mother's birthday, and that of her little cousin Janet Larmer of Fraserville, who attended Lenore's party on Monday. Other guests were Helen Wright, Marguerite and Gloria Wall, Carol Ridge, Verdyn Perkin, Elizabeth Anne McKnight, Donna Murney, Eva Laurence, Helen Ingham. Muriel Mae Husser, Judy Hobbs, Laureen Guthrie, Dorothy Dawson, Marlene Chapman and Dorothy Ball.

ZONE B OF TRIESTE FREE TERRITORY—A narrow strip of Adriatic coastline with a pre-war population of 75,000, occupied by Yugoslav troops—holds today the attention of all political Italy because of the elections being held there. Yugoslav officials claim that the elections, in which a Socialist and a Christian Democratic list are admitted besides that of the Titoist "Popular Bloc", have no other purpose than to put local administration on an effective basis. Though only a tiny spot on the map, this North Eastern Adriatic corner, which has seen bitter Italo-Slav antagonism for centuries, remains a centre of danger in present relations between the two countries.

Tower Of London, England Displays Armor Of Edward The Black Prince

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON—(CP)— For a brief period during April and May, Tower of London visitors are being shown the armor of Edward, Black Prince.

For almost 600 years—with but previous visit to the Tower—the armor has been hanging over the Prince's tomb in Canterbury Cathedral.

There it was hung in accordance with the practice of the times, after having been carried before the bier at his funeral. The Prince died in 1376 after turning over his French dominions to John of Gaunt.

Father of Richard II, he was known in his own day as Edward of Woodstock, and description "Black Prince" is believed to stem from the color of his armor and to have been first applied 200 years later.

The armor was sent to the Tower of London last autumn for cleaning by its armorers. The repair has been so successful that dean and chapter have given permission for the armor to be exhibited in the Tower before being restored to its place in the cathedral, high above the canopy and beyond range for close examination.

Of Rare Value

It consists of the Prince's crested helmet, shield of arms, coat of arms, gauntlets and sword scabbard.

Its first cleaning was in 1894, the last time it was seen in the Tower, and a net "jupon" spun then to hold it together has rotted since.

The present netting was worked by the Royal School of Needlework with resistant fibre specially prepared.

A lion atop the Prince's helmet has been restored to its original gilt, as have the gauntlets, made of a type of medieval brass.

Apart from their historical significance as articles used by the Black Prince, the equipment is valued as a rarity.

Only one other contemporary helmet is known in Britain, that of Sir Richard Pembridge, one of the early Knights of the Garter. It is in the Royal Scottish Museum in Edinburgh.

Stripes Breeze Into Summer

DAZZLING STRIPES show off in these breezy young dresses for warm weather. Yellow stripes are worked diagonally on a black pique background to make the full skirt and brief bolero (left) designed by Betty Barclay. Black pique top is boned for flattery. Deep pocket juts out from skirt. The same designer fashions the cotton chintz skirt (centre), striped in black and white and printed with floral nosegays, to tie at the back like an apron. Sleeveless top is black. Graduated stripes in shades of green form horizontal bands on the flared skirt of the chambray dress (right) designed by Jerry Parnis. Stripes are repeated on the wide revers at the neckline.

Worship service was in charge of Mrs. E. F. Reid's group and these members also served refreshments.

University Women Entertaining National President

A distinguished visitor in the city today is Dr. Marion A. Grant, of Wolfville, Nova Scotia, the president of the Canadian Federation of University Women since her election at the triennial meeting in Vancouver last year. As well as this position she holds the exacting posts of Dean of Women and Associate Professor of Psychology at Acadia University.

Dr. Grant is herself a graduate of Acadia University and obtained her MA and D Paed. at the University of Toronto.

An informal tea was held in her honor this afternoon in the YWCA Green Room with members of Peterborough University Women's Club attending. Mrs. J. E. Watters and Mrs. C. G. Boyd, first and second vice-presidents, and Mrs. J. L. McKeever, hospitality convener, received.

Red Cross Sewers Complete Quota Seek Blood Donors

The group of ladies who have been serving for the Red Cross were given a sincere vote of appreciation by the executive of Peterborough Branch at the meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. G. C. Tollington, serving convener, reported the quota of 75 children's garments had been completed and is ready for packing. No new quota will be undertaken until after the summer.

President Mrs. C. J. Ray asked members to try to secure new blood donors. The blood bank at the hospitals has to be replenished weekly and for accidents and emergencies a reserve list of donors is essential.

Mrs. W. M. Cruthers and Mrs. W. A. Hinds were appointed to arrange that a quantity of children's clothing be purchased and kept on hand for the Disaster Service and Welfare Service committees, for immediate relief of victims.

Closer Co-operation

To ensure closer co-operation in an emergency, it was decided that members of the Haliburton Red Cross and Lindsay and Victoria Red Cross be invited to attend a demonstration arranged by the Local Disaster Service committee. A conference of the members of these branches is planned to follow the demonstration.

A report by Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell stressed that while victims in a disaster must have first consideration, plans must be made to furnish shelter and information for relatives who may arrive on the scene. It was planned that the local branch of Red Cross be prepared to undertake this further problem.

Reports were also heard from Miss Florence Gladman, Mrs. R. M. Glover, Mr. D. A. Loomis, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, Mrs. Richard Ward and Mrs. F. E. Hooper.

Fairmount News

Visitors at Fairmount Church on Sunday were Mrs. Marshall of Toronto with Mrs. R. F. McIndoo; Miss Norma Agnew of Peterborough with Wilma Seymour, and Miss Madeline Thompson also of Peterborough, with Doreen McGee.

The WMS is sponsoring a pancake supper with maple syrup in the SS room on Friday at 7 pm. Slides will be shown after supper.

Brief Claims Discrimination Of Women's Responsibility

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—Discrimination against women in appointments to public bodies was claimed today before the Senate committee on human rights in a brief submitted by the National Council of Women.

"Since women are about 50 per cent of the adult population we regard it as our right that we should have women on the boards that control and direct many public services," the brief said. It claimed there was undue discrimination in other aspects.

In war and peace women had proved themselves capable of assuming their full share of responsibility. Their contribution was at least equal to that of men.

"Yet our government in income tax acts regards a husband's income as solely his without consideration in money for the services of his wife within the home and her contribution to the family and the state in bearing and raising children," the brief continued.

The council believed woman's function of managing her household "fully equals her husband's work outside the home..." It contended a wife's right to one-half her husband's earnings should be given recognition.

The brief said it regarded as "unfair" the afct that a man's children could earn up to $500 a year without affecting his income-tax exemption. A wife could only earn $250.

City Government Set-up Outlined to Study Group

When the set-up of government in the city of Peterborough was outlined Tuesday by Mayor M. J. Swanston, at the first open meeting of the Study Group on Civic Affairs, members discovered their previous knowledge had been lacking to a surprising extent.

Numerous questions about unexplained details were clearly answered by the mayor and he invited citizens to write or phone the city clerk for an explanation of any civic matter. He congratulated the women on forming the study group and said "We have fought for a democracy and we owe it to ourselves to exercise the vote it gives us and know who and what we are voting for so that communistic sympathizers may not gain a foothold as they have in other countries."

The City Council, elected by the people, consists of the Mayor and 10 aldermen who are responsible for the tax rate and raising all money to conduct the city's business. The City Trust, which is peculiar to Peterborough, was formed nearly 100 years ago because of some financial difficulty at that time. It has looked after all debentures and through wise investments has made a considerable sum of money that has been turned over from time to time toward civic building projects. Usefulness of the Trust is almost ended and it will be dissolved next year, the Mayor said.

The City Police Commission is an appointed body, set up by statutes of the Provincial Government, consisting of the judge, the magistrate and the mayor. They appoint a police chief who is in charge of all police work. Elected bodies are the Utilities Commission and the Board of Education, neither of which can issue debentures.

Council's work is done through several appointed bodies such as Civic Hospital Board, Town Planning Board, Library Board, etc. Each has a committee to prepare estimates and submit for approval of the Council. All members of Council are on the finance committee and the Board of Works The City Clerk is an attendant at all meetings.

Other committees mentioned by the Mayor are Parks, Fire and Light, Property, Legal and Reception, Welfare. Civic employees, appointed by council according to a by-law to serve as long as their duties are fulfilled satisfactorily, are City Engineer, Assessment Commissioner, City Treasurer, Welfare Officer, City Auditor, Medical Officer of Health who appoints sanitary and food inspectors and a superintendent of nurses.

Powers and limits of the City Council are laid down by the Provincial Government through the Municipal Act, Mayor Swanston explained. They appoint a Municipal Board of five members who hold a sitting on all matters appealed by the City Council. When a sitting is held all those citizens concerned are notified and may attend to register complaints or approvals.

Chairman of the Study Group Mrs. W. E. Fanning, introduced the Mayor, and he was thanked by Miss Margaret McCulloch.

100 YEARS OLD—When Mrs. W. A. Caverly, of Kingston, celebrated her 100th birthday April 22, she received a message of congratulations from the King and Queen. Mrs. Caverly is of United Empire Loyalists stock. Sive years ago she celebrated her 70th wedding anniversary.

Sr. Sodality Plans Closing Activities

St. Peter's Senior Sodality met in St. Mary's School for the monthly meeting after the holy hour on Sunday. Prefect Miss Helen Strano was chairman. In absence of Miss Shirley McKenzie, who has left the city, the treasurer's report was read by Miss Mamie Sullivan, vice-prefect.

The communion breakfast scheduled for April 23 was forwarded to Sunday, April 30, in order to accommodate Rev. Father Marrocco of Ottawa, who will be honorary guest speaker. The breakfast will take place after nine o'clock mass at the Empress Hotel. While complete plans have not been formulated, it is expected the "at home" which customarily takes place on Mother's Day will be changed to May 21.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Strano for the most enjoyable treat given to sodalists since Easter. This referred to the bus trip which the Sodalists took to witness the musical show "Brigadoon" in Toronto.

Excellent papers were delivered by the following guest speakers: Miss Teresa Doran, Good Literature; Miss Betty Houlihan, Social; Miss Grace Schriazza, Eucharistic; Miss Margaret Gorman, Publicity.

Appoint Observers To May Meetings Of Civic Bodies

A slate of officers for the newly formed Study Group on Civic Affairs was approved at the open meeting Tuesday evening in the YWCA Green Room.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning is chairman with Miss Margaret McCulloch as vice chairman, Mrs. J. A. Nornabell as secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. J. Hornal as archivist. An executive committee is composed of Mrs. D. Rogers, Mrs. D. R. McGregor and Miss Margaret McIntosh.

Mrs. D. R. McGregor was named convener of the observers committee and is to appoint observers for meetings of the City Council and Board of Education each month. The observers are asked to secure a substitute whenever they are unable to keep an assignment. Suggestions for their guidance in reporting have been prepared in printed form.

The following observers were named by the chairman for May meetings: City Council, May 1, Mrs. C. K. Hurst and Mrs. D. R. McGregor; May 15, Mrs. Olga Turner and Miss M. McIntosh; Board of Education, Miss S. Eastwood and Miss M. Moore.

A general membership fee of one dollar was approved with the notation that it might be lowered when the amount of expenses and the number of members had been ascertained. More than 30 have now become paid-up members.

Open Monthly Meetings

Open meetings are to be held on the fourth Thursday of each month at the YWCA, the next to be on May 25. Observers will give detailed reports of the meetings they attended and these will be open for discussion. Papers on various phases of local government, prepared by members, will also be presented.

Mrs. Fanning cautioned members that they must not express approval or disapproval of any civic program without first hearing discussion of the situation and getting an opinion from the meeting.

The Group is not organized for electioneering or to prepare a candidate for election, she stated. "Our aim is to stimulate year-round interest in policies that affect our lives and our children. The sole requisite of membership is an earnest desire to know more of civic administrations in Peterborough and willingness to assume a share of necessary work toward fulfilling that desire."

Woman MLA Raps Practice

KITCHENER, April 26 (CP)—Agnes Macphail, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for York East, Tuesday night criticized legislature practice of ending a session with some bills and resolutions still untouched.

Referring to this year's six-week session, she told a CCF meeting:

"We sat for about 12 hours a day, trying to get through the order paper, but the best we could do was to clear off the government's slate and leave the rest to an uncertain fate at the next sitting."

Bills unpassed at the end of a session must be reintroduced at the next session.

DOROTHY DIX

Nagging Wife Cannot Hope To Regain Husband's Love

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it too late for this wife? From the moment of marriage she changed from a winsome, agreeable girl to the proverbial ball and chain. She became tyrannical, her opinions were always right and her husband's wrong. She became a whiner and a nagger, always complaining over her lot in life although her husband was an excellent provider and kind and considerate. During the course of their ten years of marriage the man's life has been a veritable hell on earth and the result is he has taken unto himself the "other woman," for which I do not blame him.

Dorothy Dix

Do you think that the wife can win his love again? Do you think she can undo what she has done?

A FRIEND.

ANSWER: I don't think the wife has a chance on earth of ever reinstating herself in her husband's affections. There is nothing so dead as a dead love. Nothing so impossible as to conjure up again an illusion that has been dispelled.

There Are Preventives

I get so many letters from wives asking how they can revive the interest of the husbands who have tired of them, how they can regain the affections of the husbands they have lost. I know of no miracle that will turn a bored and disgruntled husband into an impassioned lover again, but I know many preventive remedies that will prevent this catastrophe from happening.

For virtually every man is in love with a woman when he marries her, and she can keep him that way ninety-nine times out of a hundred if she is willing to take the trouble and make the sacrifices it requires.

But she cannot nag him. She cannot henpeck him. She cannot make scenes and have hysterics. She cannot tyrannize over him. She cannot go about looking slouchy and dirty. She cannot feed him on bad cooking and keep a house that looks like a pigsty. She cannot be cold and indifferent to him and show him lack of affection and appreciation and expect him to remain in love with her.

And when she has killed his love she cannot expect to revive it. It is too late then.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a man and woman marry who are different in tastes and habits? She likes to dance. He doesn't and won't. He believes in hard work. She is a trifle lazy. He is extremely practical-minded. She is sentimental. She likes to read. He never touches a book. She is talkative and makes friends easily. He is silent and unsociable. He is money-saving. She is extravagant. She has more training than he has and has a more important position and a larger salary. They have been engaged for about five or six months and can drive miles or sit through an entire dinner with hardly a word spoken, yet they are sure their love will make up for these differences between them. What do you think? H.R.M.

ANSWER: I think that a couple who are radically different as this one is should have a divorce coupon attached to their marriage licence. They will need it inside of six months, for by that time they will have got upon each other's nerves so completely that they will not be able to endure each other.

What draws this man and woman together is a physical attraction which soon passes unless there is spiritual attraction added to it. The only happy marriages are those that are based on congeniality. It does not matter how good-looking, how intelligent, how high principled, how kind and considerate and worthy a man and woman may be, they can find no happiness in each other unless they have the same viewpoint, unless they enjoy the same things, unless they have the same "ways."

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow 60 years old and live with my daughter, though I have other children. My daughter and her husband want to break up housekeeping and board, but I don't think that they have a right to do this, because, if they did, I would have to go and live with my other children, and that would not be home to me.

MOTHER.

ANSWER: Inasmuch as you love other children with whom you can live, I do not see that it is incumbent on your daughter to maintain a house just for you because you want to live in a certain place. This is nothing but rank selfishness on your part. Your daughter has to think of her husband's welfare and his happiness even before yours.

A woman of 60 is generally stronger in body and mind than she has ever been in her life before, more capable of turning out good work, and should be ashamed of being a parasite, instead of striking out for herself and making her own independent living.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"I saw a picture of you taking the cards out of the tray and counting them," writes a Chicago fan. "Is that permissible, or was it just a stunt for the movies. I'd get my arm broken if I ever tried it!"

I don't want to be responsible for broken arms, but it's really quite on the up-and-up. With or without a movie camera, you can pick up the stock pile and count it. The only restriction is that it must be your turn to play.

Naturally, you'd never bother to count the cards towards the beginning of a hand. You wouldn't care whether there were 45 or 50 cards left.

Towards the end of a hand, it is sometimes important to get the exact count. It may make a tremendous difference.

For example, you may have a lot of meldable cards in your hand. You have been holding them up for some good reason, and you intend to put them down on the table before the hand comes to an end. If you count only three cards in the stock at your turn to play, you'd better meld; you probably won't get another chance to play. If you count five cards in the stock, you don't have to meld. There will be another turn for you—provided that nobody melds out in the meantime.

It would be possible for a serious player to keep track of all the cards so that he wouldn't have to count the stock. This would be a terrific burden on most players. After all, Canasta is a game, and games are meant for enjoyment.

Q—When you meld a joker as a four does it count just as much as when you meld the joker as an ace?

A—The joker always counts 50 points. It doesn't matter whether you meld with low cards or high cards; the value of the joker doesn't change.

Q—Are you ever allowed to add a card to an opponent's meld?

A—Never. You may add cards to your own side's melds but never never to those of the other side.

Q—If you don't want the first card that's turned up, must you offer it to any other player? You have to do that in Gin Rummy, but the rules don't seem to cover this point in Canasta.

A—The rules give you the choice between the first discard and the top card of the stock. You have the right to play first, regardless of which card you take. You never offer the first up-card to an opponent.

Q—I put a red three down on the table and forgot to draw a card to take its place. Did I have the right to take two cards at my next turn to make up for it?

A—No. There is a time limit on replacing a red three. You have until the next player has drawn. After that, you must play on without the replacement. You do not have the right to draw two cards at your next turn.

CHILD'S SULKY SPELLS WORRIED HER UNTIL...

If your child has moody, cross, irritable spells for what seems to be no reason, watch for "hidden" constipation. Oftentimes, youngsters' bowels, altho moving regularly, do not move completely. As a result, harmful wastes remain in the intestines, making the child listless, peevish and not feeling like eating. What may be needed is Children's Own Tablets. They help give the thorough evacuation that quickly helps make most children feel like their usual happy selves. Pleasant tasting, small, easy to swallow, Children's Own Tablets are especially prepared for kids from 3 to 15. Only 25¢ at your druggist. Get a box today.

Canadian Doctors HelpGreekCripple

MONTREAL, — (CP) — Mary Coulacuo, a pretty 24-year-old Greek girl who had to be carried from a ship to the Montreal dock with a smashed spine seven months ago, is leaving for her homeland—under her own steam.

Mary will not be walking but it will be next best thing to it. She still needs leg braces and crutches.

The girl was injured in an automobile accident in Athens in March, 1948, and was told she would never walk again.

Eighteen months later she met Dr. Arthur E. Elvidge of the Montreal Neurological Hospital, who was visiting Athens.

Dr. Elvidge advised her to come to Canada where medical science here and the paraplegic rehabilitation centre could help.

All the girl had was an unshakeable optimism that her helpless limbs would carry her normally again.

The Montreal doctors decided upon physiotherapy and after three months she was able to stand with the aid of leg braces and crutches.

Last Christmas she was discharged from hospital and lived with a family in surburban Montreal west.

Doctors are still undecided whether Mary will walk unaided again. But to the pretty brunette that is nothing, "I am determined to walk," she says.

MOVIE COLUMN

Yvonne DeCarlo Would Devote Life to Singing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 26 (AP) —Yvonne Decarlo would like to abdicate as the undraped queen of film fantasies and devote her life to singing.

"When the time comes," the Vancouver gal vowed, "I want to do musical pictures altogether. If I don't get my way, I will quit the screen and do concerts."

"I've been studying for this for a long time. But I don't think I can really concentrate on my singing and work in (non-musical) pictures, too. It won't be for a few years yet."

Meanwhile the curvaceous cutie is content to caper in eye-catching costumes. "I don't mind wearing clinging dresses," she remarked, "as long as the part calls for it. And it doesn't detract from the acting."

In the current "Desert Hawk" she plays a Persian princess, and the role naturally calls for some sexy outfits. "But I'd just as soon play a ragamuffin and go through the picture in the same plain dress," she claimed.

Right Direction

She has long sought a straight dramatic role and considers her next picture, "Tomahawk," a step in the right direction. In this one she plays an Indian girl. Her main ambition is to star in "Song of Norway."

"Actually it isn't easy to play these princess roles," she decleared. After all, they lived many centuries ago. You have to strive to make them believable in spite of the fancy costumes and settings and strange dialogue."

Capsule Review

"The Reformer and the Redhead" (M.G.M.) has a clever idea, but lacks the bounce to put it across. The reform candidate for mayor tangles with the zookeeper's daughter. Her passion for wild animals set up the comedy, but the laughs aren't as big as expected. Dick Powell and June Allyson help the nonsense along.

What's Right

You receive a wedding invitation and know the groom well but do not know the bride.

WRONG WAY: Feel that since you do not know the bride it is not necssary to send her a wedding gift.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that friends of both the bride and groom send gifts when invited to the wedding. All gifts are, of course, sent to the bride but they are meant for the couple.

Four judging sessions will be held in 1950 in Ontario, one to be held in Niagara, another at the annual Flower show in Hamilton, the third in Oshawa and the fourth in Peterborough.

The test gardens will be under the supervision of Dr. J. H Leslie, George Clarke, Herb Cardwell, Fred Storey, Harry Gabbutt, T. H. Jackson, R. Hocking, Mrs. Chris. Plunkett, Mrs. George Duncan and Bud Lloyd.

HUGHEY—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Marjorie Hughey, who passed away April 26, 1948.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
—Ever remembered by husband, son Henry and daughter Pearl.

HUGHEY—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. George Hughey, who passed away April 26th, 1948.
She had gone across the river,
To the shores of ever green,
And we long to see her dear face,
But the river flows between,
Some day, some time, our eyes shall see
The face we loved so well,
Some day we'll clasp her loving hand
And never say farewell.
—Ever remembered by daughter Ethel, son-in-law Jim and family.

HUGHEY—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. George Hughey, who died April 26th, 1948.
Peaceful be thy rest dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name,
In live we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
—Sadly missed by daughter Florence and son-in-law Bert and grandchildren.

North Bay Worried About Tourist Loss

NORTH BAY, April 26 (CP)—North Bay must begin pressing immediately for the reconditioning of Highway No. 11 to Toronto to offset the loss of tourist traffic which will result from construction of the new Trans-Canada Highway, W. G. (Bill) Harvey, member of the Provincial Legislature for Nipissing, said today.

The new highway route will extend from Parry Sound to Sudbury, missing North Bay completely.

Mr. Harvey said he also plans to seek a link between this district and the Parry Sound-Sudbury section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

PRAIRIES - TO - PARLIAMENT—Percy Ellis Wright was born in Toronto but he went west and settled at Tisdale, Sask., before becoming a member of parliament. New Revolt In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia, April 26 (AP)—A new revolt against the central Indonesian government was reported today to have broken out in the state of East Indonesia.

Reliable neutral sources said separatists on the island of Ambon, traditional capital of the Moluccan Islands, had proclaimed an independent state of the South Moluccas.

The separatists included local authorities on the island and were supported by Indonesian soldiers of the Netherlands' East Indies army awaiting transfer to the Indonesian federal army.

The revolt was the fourth outbreak against the young central Indonesian government. Like the others, it presumably stemmed from efforts by the central government to supplant the federal structure previously established for Indonesia with one unified state.

PCVS Band Plays Friday Concert

Under the direction of Albert Croasdale, the PCVS concert band will present its third annual band concert Friday night in the Collegiate auditorium. This will be the second public performance of the band this term. In the fall the concert band and the PCVS Girls' Choir produced a combined program.

During the past three years the band has grown in strength to 31. The instruments now include five cornets, one trumpet, three saxophones, two trombones, two euphoniums, nine clarinets, three French horns, two sousaphones, one bass violin and three percussion.

The program prepared for the Friday night concert offers a wide assortment of numbers from the classical to the light modern novelty numbers. Mr. Croasdale plans to begin the concert with a medley from "HMS Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan. Other selections to be heard will include the first movement from Franz Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," the characteristic "The Teddy Bears' Picnic," the novelty "Pop Goes the Weasel" and the test piece for the high school boys and girls' bands in the Kiwanis Music Festival "Determination."

May Keep Air Routes To Orient Via Alaska

WASHINGTON, April 26 (CP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board says it will seek continued operation of the Aleutian air bases needed to maintain commercial air line routes to the Orient by way of Alaska.

One of the routes is that of Canadian Pacific Airlines, linking Vancouver with Hong Kong and Tokyo.

Abandonment of the routes had been threatened by a decision of the United States Air Force to withdraw from its bases in the Aleutian chain, which extends westward from Alaska on the great circle route to Japan.

Economic Needs

Last month the Aeronautics Board told Northwest Airlines that economic needs could not justify the expense of civilian operation of Shemya Air Base and one other base for an alternate refuelling landing point. The expense was estimated at more than $4,000,000 a year.

The position was reversed after a meeting Friday. If Congress provides the necessary funds, the airlines operating to the Orient will be able to continue using the great circle route.

land forming the east end of the Murray Street Terrace. These were valued at $8,000.

Mr. Metheral owns the northerly strip of part of the same lot. It has more than an 11-foot frontage on George Street and was valued at $8,000.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Metheral and Mrs. Sharpe seemed satisfied with these amounts.

Alex. L. Elliott, KC, appeared for Miss Marjorie E. Best, owner of a 91-foot property on Water Street; also for Barry Seabrooke, owner of a 49-foot property on George Street.

Mr. Elliott said he thought the valuation of Mr. Bosley too low on both properties. Judge Smoke ordered the city to pay $10,000 into court for the Best property, and $15,000 on the Seabrooke land and building.

Turner Property

An agreement has been reached for the northern 127 feet on Water Street. Cost of this J. J. Turner property is $16,500 for the 78-foot lot containing the old house, and $4,500 for the southerly 49-foot lot.

The Imperial Oil Company on George Street has been sold to the city and so have the two remaining Water Street properties —L. Buckham and M. A. Fisher, and the property of the Murray Street Baptist Church.

The expropriation by-law was passed in December, 1938.

Million Dollar Blaze Follows Trinidad Blasts

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, April 26 — (CP). — Fire sparked by two mysterious explosions on Tuesday swept through a downtown business block, causing more than $1,000,000 damage in Port of Spain's worst fire in a decade.

The blasts came from a building while three policemen waited in ambush for an expected burglary. A cordon of police also had surrounded the business block.

The police had set the trap early Monday night after an employee of one of the firms in the block told of unexplained boxes being delivered to the shop.

As police waited in a jewellery store, the blasts occurred a few doors away, about 2 a.m. City firemen and others from the US military base near by battled the outbreak for more than two hours.

Destroyed were a photographer's studio, a restaurant and several dry goods stores. The jewellery shop and five other stores suffered heavy damage.

Two men were arrested near the scene, but police declined to say if any charge would be laid.

FARMER M.P. — Col. James Arthur Ross, a farmer at Melita, Man., is Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Souris. He has been in the House of Commons representing that constituency since 1940.

Synod Approves New Presbytery

HAMILTON, April 26 (CP).—The Synod of Hamilton and London of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Tuesday approved an overture from the Synod of Hamilton asking that the General Assembly erect a Presbytery of Niagara, thus reducing the bounds of the local Presbytery.

The overture will be presented and discussed at the next meeting of the General Assembly of th Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The Rev. G. D. Johnson said the Presbytery of Hamilton has control over two totally different districts—the City of Hamilton with its surrounding rural area and small towns; and the Niagara Peninsula with its own distinct social and geographical characteristics and problems.

All Hamilton churches would remain in the Hamilton Presbytery.

Campaign Afoot

the noise coming from the beverage room. In that particular instance, the licence had been a nuisance.

In Hastings the introduction of sales in the village had not helped business. A grocer had told Mr. McClelland that since beer was obtainable in the village there had been more charge accounts for groceries.

"One Step"

Mr. McClelland said that if the village had a licence for sale of beer, liquor and wine, it would be only one step to opening beverage rooms.

The meeting was told to keep personalities out of the campaign. "Remember it is a concrete thing you are campaigning for, and don't let personalities enter into it," Mr. McClelland advocated.

H. A. Brethen of Norwood, president of Peterborough County Temperance Federation, also addressed the meeting. A film depicting the effect alcohol can have on home life was shown.

In reply to a question from the body of the meeting, Mr. Tonge said an office would visit the district during the next week to bring the voters' list up to date.

Month's Toll 29

Here are the March figures for the various highways with the February figures following: No. 2, 15 and 29; No. 7, 14 and 15; No. 7A, none and 2; No. 28, 12 and 17; No. 30, 2 and none; No. 35, 8 and 5; No. 36, 5 and 2; No. 45, 1 and 1; No. 46, 1 and none.

There were nine on county roads compared with 15 in March; three on township roads both months, and one accident in towns investigated by provincials compared with two in February.

The breakdown shows there were more accidents in Durham than any of the other four counties. Durham had 25, Peterborough 22, Northumberland 18, Victoia 17 and Haliburton two.

Convcit Motorist Of Hit-and-Run

LINDSAY, April 26—A Motorist paid fines and costs totalling 176 in police court when he was convicted of leaving an accident Friday on the Fenelon road a mile outside Lindsay.

The driver, Henri Rouleau, 572 Somerset Ave. also faced charges of careless driving and failure to report an accident.

The accident involved a collision between Rouleau's car and a car driven by Charles Degroat of Toronto.

Degroat told the court he had seen the headlights of the oncoming car when he was three-quarters of the way round a curve. He pulled over as far as possible to let the car by, but was unable to avoid the ensuing sideswiping. The driver of the other car, he said, did not pause. After a passing motorist had helped him to start his car again, he drove back to Lindsay to report the incident to the police.

Rouleau claimed he was sleepy when the collision occurred. He had stopped when he completed the curve but seeing nothing, continued on. He thought he had 24 hours within which to report the incident.

His sentence was made consecutive to a 2½ year sentence for breaking and entering. "The attack on this innocent young married woman with a baby in her arms was most shocking," said Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. "I am convinced you should be kept away from womankind for a long time."

52 Cents Suggested New Floor For Butter

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP) — Discussions on a new floor price on butter were held today among Agriculture Minister Gardiner and representatives of Canadian farm producers. Meetings were closed to the press.

However, it was learned that at one conference, Mr. Gardiner conferred with representativs of dairy farmers of Canada and at another with Nat'l Agricultural Advisory Committee of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Gardiner is expected to take the recommendations of the farm groups before the Cabinet and announce the new support price for butter within the next few days.

There was some speculation that the new price may be about 52 cents a pound or even lower, effective May 1. The support price last year was 58 cents a pound.

Claims Mistake In Road Route

EDMONTON, April 26 (CP)—E. T. Love, secretary-treasurer of the Trans-Canada Highway System Association, Yellowhead route, said Monday that choice of the Kicking Horse Pass route for the Alberta section of the Trans-Canada Highway was "a mistake."

Commenting on the agreement signed Monday in Ottawa by six provinces and the Federal government, Mr. Love said "we are going to have a transcontinental highway completed over the Yellowhead route or know the reason why."

"The governments concerned will not be able to hide from the taxpayers of Canada the mistake they have made in selecting the Kicking Horse Pass route for the trans-Canada highway. . .

"Apparently the route in western Canada was selected by compromise and not engineering principles on which such selections should be made.

"Even eliminating the important angles of defence and northern development, the advantages of the Yellowhead route. . . are overwhelming compared with the Kicking Horse Pass route. . .

"Strategic Edmonton and all it stands for as well as the other cities and towns along the Yellowhead route have been ignored and boxed in."

Pulp Companies Sign With Eleven Unions

TORONTO, April 26 —(CP) — Representatives of 11 Ontario pulp and paper companies have signed an agreement covering 15,000 workers.

A joint statement by the companies and eight unions said the agreement provides for an hourly wage increase of five cents, three weeks' vacation after 15 years' service and a three-cents-an-hour night differential. The basic wage rate was not announced.

Arthur A. Schmon, president of the Ontario Paper Company, was chairman of the company negotiators. Alex Gibson of Port Arthur headed the union delegation. Negotiations started April 18.

The largest of the unions involved are the International Brotherhood of Pulp and Sulphite Workers (AFL) and the International Brotherhood of Papermakers (AFL).

Lawson Urges U.K. Develop Branch Plants

LONDON, April 26 (CP) —Ontario's lieutenant-governor, Hon. Ray Lawson, today urged British business men to develop more branches in Canada or to enter a partnership with their Canadian counterparts in non-competitive fields.

"Some of us in Canada wish that more could be done by business men in this country in developing branch plants in Canada," he said.

Addressing a luncheon of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in the United Kingdom, Lawson continued: "Large amounts of capital are not always necessary as there is capital available in Canada awaiting British specific requirements.

In addition, many Canadians would welcome the opportunity to enter into partnership arrangements—the Canadians supplying the necessary knowledge of Canadian conditions and the British-er supplying the technical know-how—with the capital outlay on a 50-50 basis. . ."

CBC Will Show Deficit For Year

OTTAWA, April 26 — (CP) — Revenue Minister McCann, whose portfolio includes administration radio broadcasting, Tuesday told a House committee that the CBC will show a deficit in its report for the year ended March 31.

He spoke briefly at an organization of the Commons Radio Committee which will hold sittings for the first time since 1947. R. W. Maybank (L-Winnipeg South Centre) was elected chairman.

Dr. McCann spoke of the establishment of a new radio centre in Montreal which he said would be one of the best in the world.

Cost of government-operated radio broadcasting had been heavy, but it was worth it, Dr. McCann said. The international short wave system installations at Moncton had cost $1,800,000, and the Montreal centre which it controls were expensive.

The CBC would show a deficit because all costs were higher than ever.

350 Million Extra Voted U.S. Defence

Congress Shelving Economy Drive; Air Force Benefits

WASHINGTON, April 27 — (AP)—The tensing International situation brought added force today in the United States Congress to demands for new defence funds and extension of the Draft Law. It all but shelved an economy drive.

In response to the request of Defence Secretary Louis Johnson, the House of Representatives was resigned to vote an extra $350,000,000 for military spending. Most of it for airplanes.

And House leaders thought it likely that the members would have to vote on the question of keeping the Draft Law alive for two years beyond June 24, when it is scheduled to die.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (Dem.-Mo.) of the House appropriations committee Wednesday announced committee approval of an amendment that would increase the U. S. defence budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 from the $13,911,000,000 recommended last month by the committee to $14,261,000,000.

Split Three Ways

The extra $350,000,000 would be split up this way: $200,000,000 for the air force; $100,000,000 for naval aid; $50,000,000 for conversion of warships and for the anti-submarine warfare program.

Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem.-Ga.) of the armed services committee told reporters that because of "present world conditions" he will ask the committee next week to approve a two-year extension of the draft law.

No one has been drafted since January, 1949, but military leaders want it kept on the books for quick use if necessary. It covers men 19 through 26.

Secretary Johnson told the House and Senate appropriations committees Wednesday that "the force of events" necessitating an increase in defence funds included:

"The Soviet atomic explosion; the fall of China, the serious situations in southeast Asia, the break in diplomatic relations with Bulgaria and deteriorating relations with other satellite countries, the Soviet assumption of control over the armed forces of Poland.

N.Y. Rainmaker Comes Through

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—Success.

More than 3,000,000,000 gallons of water were added Wednesday to New York's depleted reservoirs following heavy rainfall attributed at least in part to the efforts of New York's $100-a-day rainmaker.

The rainmaking effort began Tuesday night when a generator set up at Stroudsburg, Pa., spewed clouds of silver iodide smoke skyward for 11 hours.

The smoke causes ice crystals to form in the clouds. The crystals fall earthward, precipitating rain.

About three hours after the smoke began soaring to the overcast sky there was a light drizzle. An hour later, steady rain began.

UK Hoping To Double Exports To Canada

NEW YORK, April 27—(CP)—Britain hopes to double her exports to Canada, now approximating $'00,000,000 annually, says Sir Cecil Weir, chairman of the British Dollar Exports Board.

Another target is to increase by 50 per cent the $240,000,000 annual volume of present exports to the United States, he told a meeting of the committee for the United Kingdom of the National Foreign Trade Council Wednesday.

A gain of that nature in the next 18 months "would go a long way toward achieving the interim objective of an equilibrium of British trade by 1952," he said.

Hiking Good In Park Ave. Skyscrapers

Elevator Operators Walk Out, 250,000 Stranded In Apartments

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP).—Elevator operators and other service employees— the people who make apartment life comfortable — began walking out today in a strike that threatened to affect 250,000 residents of the city's skyscraper dwellings.

The cliff-dwellers of Park Avenue and many a less-fashionable street agreed life was not so luxurious without them.

At 8 a.m. EST 15,000 employees in about 1,000 apartment buildings in all sections of Manhattan walked out. About 200,000 persons were affected by the first phase of the strike.

Altogether, the wage-hour dispute involves 18,000 employees and the landlords of 2,000 apartment houses.

The union, Local 32B of the Building Service Employees Union (AFL), said all its 18,000 members shortly would be out.

The union demands a wage increase of $2.75 weekly, a cut in the work week from 48 to 40 hours, and a welfare plan. Present wages, says the union, are from $45.50 to $50.32 for a 48-hour week.

As the pavements of Park and Fifth Avenues echoed to the shuffle of picket lines, the penthouse dwellers felt like flagpole sitters.

In cases where management did not keep elevators running, they could either walk 18 or 19 storeys, more or less, to the ground—or stay up in the air waiting to see if the heat and hot water went off.

In some of the larger apartments private operators at the telephone switchboards joined the walkout.

Canada's Exports Increase 5% During March

OTTAWA, April 27.—(CP)—Canada's domestic exports to the United States rose to 27 per cent in March from a year ago, but shipments to most Commonwealth and Latin American countries were lower.

Because of these opposite trends, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported, "exports to the United States amounted to the unprecendented ratio of over two-thirds of the total."

The Bureau's report showed a five-per-cent increase in Canadian exports during March over the corresponding month last year. Exports to all countries in the month were valued at $228,200,000 compared with $119,500,000 in February and $216,300,000 in March 1949.

The March increase partially offset lagging sales earlier in the year. In the first three months of 1950 Canadian exports totalled $649,900,000, a drop of $9,900,000 from the corresponding period last year.

Substantial Rise

Domestic exports to the United States were valued at $154,311,000 in March compared with $122,418,000 in March, 1949. Aggregate value of exports to the US in January, February and March was $418,008,000 compared with $345,150,000 a year before.

"Price changes reflecting the premium on US exchange have contributed to this increase," the Bureau said, "but its size indicates a substantial rise in the volume of exports."

Exports to the United Kingdom in March were valued at $30,120,000 compared with $39,498,000 in March last year.

Exports to the rest of the Commonwealth as a whole were lower both in the month and quarter. The main decreases were in shipments to the Union of South Africa and India. Exports to Australia were slightly higher in March but lower during the quarter.

Sharp Decrease

March shipments to the Latin American countries fell to $7,706,000 compared with $9,778,000 a year earlier. Exports to European countries and other parts of the world moved up slightly in March. Purchases by the European group rose to $11,051,000 from $9,205,000, but were down in the three months to $34,843,000 from $43,103,000.

The wood and paper products group—largest of the nine main commodity classifications—showed a marked increase both in the month and quarter.

Floods Threaten Wash Out Manitoba Railway Lines

WINNIPEG, April 27—(CP)—The Red river threatened today to wash out the Canadian Pacific Railway line near Emerson—last link between the flooded border town and the rest of Manitoba. It forced evacuation of the old hospital at Morris, Man., 24 miles upstream, to a new one on high ground. Also at Morris, the swollen Morris river, a Red tributary boiled over the approaches to a bridge and cut Highway 75 to the north.

At Bradley Coulee, just outside Emerson, the water has closed the normal 20-foot clearance under a short C.P.R. bridge to a bare six inches.

The Red struck Wednesday night at a 27-mile stretch on its wandering course through southern Manitoba—this time through creeping paralysis rather than a sudden deluge.

For Emerson, Man., almost on the border, it was the second assault wave in four days. For Dominion City, Letellier, St. Jean Baptiste and Morris it was the deadly clutch after the probing finger.

Only at Winnipeg and points north in the Red's 100-mile Canadian course did the level remain constant.

Still Rising

The rise at Emerson, focal point of the flood, was two inches. About three miles across the border at Pembina, N.D., a 2½ inch rise sent the Red to an all-time record of 50.8 feet. Officials expected another six inches.

At Letellier, nine miles north of Emerson, the rise was five inches. The level was a half-foot above the 1948 peak.

At Emerson Canadian Pacific Railway officials feared for their line. Vital to the supply of food, milk and other perishables from Winnipeg, some tracks already were under water.

Emerson's other main problem was water. With the 12 wells condemned, army purifying trucks process all drinking water. Two railway tank cars hold 14,000 gallons against an emergency. Isolated families get their water by boat.

Special Exercises At End RMC Year

KINGSTON, April 27—(CP)—End-of-term exercises will be staged today at the Royal Military College. With 120 cadets in the review and march past, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis will take the salute during the afternoon ceremonies. Maj.-Gen. Milton Baker and Col. M. Medenbach of the Valley Forge Military Academy near Philadelphia are to be present as distinguished guests. This is not a graduation year at the Military College. The next graduation is due in 1952.

Rail Employees Meet May 10

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP)—Representatives of 90,000 International Brotherhood members, involved in a wages-hour dispute with Canadian railways, will meet here May 10 to discuss a conciliation board report and what action to take on it, it was announced today.

The conciliation board report, handed down April 15, recommended a compromise on union demands for a 40-hour week in place of the present 48 hour week with no loss in take-home pay and a seven-cents-hourly wage increase.

Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for the international brotherhoods, said the Minister of Labor will be advised of the decision made at the May 10 meeting but he declined to discuss a possible strike vote.

When the conciliation board report was made public Mr. Hall said it would be rejected by the majority of union members.

Tito To Send Envoy To Greece

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 27 (AP)—Premier Tito announced today Yugoslavia is ready to resume diplomatic relations with Greece and will nominate a diplomatic envoy within a few days.

The premier made this known in a remarkable "state-of-the-nation address to his new parliament in which he expressed hope for better relations not only with Greece but with Italy and Austria.

At one time Yugoslavia was accused in the United Nations of aiding and abetting the Greek Communist rebellion, along with Hungary and Albania. Since Tito was expelled from the Moscow-led Comminform as a strayer from Leninism, Yugoslavia's relations with Greece betteered.

Regarding Italy, whose claims to Trieste Yugoslavia has bitterly disputed, the premier said:

"Yugoslavia . . . considers that the present unsolved problems between the two countries should not be a reason of worsening of relations."

In his three-hour, 20,000-word speech to the newly-elected, Communist - dominated parliament, Tito laid down a nine-point foreign policy program promising friendly co-operation "on equal terms" with the West.

Frenchmen Going To Try Politeness Crusade In May

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

PARIS, April 27 — (AP) — Frenchmen are going to try to be more polite—during the first two weeks of May.

The idea is that when a waiter spills soup down your neck you smile and say "nice try," or something. Taxi drivers are to be complimented on their driving skill when a bumper grazes your shin.

It will be "quinzaine de l'amabilite," or "two weeks of politeness," from May 1 to 15. A lot of Frenchmen think it's sorely needed.

The amiability crusade is the idea of Marcel Ranville, a professor at Paris Girls' School. He wants to "put back into French behaviour a minimum of courtesy, friendliness and good humor."

War Casualty

Daville says traditional French politeness was a war casualty, and that there's far too much of calling people such French slang names as "Tete de Lard" ((Lard Head) or "Espece de Cornichon" (Breed of a Pickle).

"Women sometimes are even worse than men," he added, thoughtfully.

Flying squads of young girls, selected for their charming smiles and friendliness, aret o form a girl battalion to tour Paris sidewalks. Their sole duty, Ranville said, will be "to smile at people."

UK Recognizes Israel

LONDON, April 27 (Reuters)—Britain today officially recognized Hashemite Jordan's annexation of Arab Palestine and at the same time accorded full—de jure—recognition of the state of Israel.

Kenneth Younger, minister of state, announcing this in the House of Commons, said Britain's recognition of Israel was subject to explanations of two points.

The British government, he said, was unable to recognize the sovereignty of Israel over that part of Jerusalem she occupied pending a final determination.

Similar reservations were made, he added, on Israel's boundaries with Arab states.

Younger added that Britain had no intention of establishing military bases in peacetime in the parts of Arab Palestine annexed by Jordan.

Shots Miss As Fugitive Wades River

Made First Escape As Twp. Constable Phoned For Assistance

KLEINBURG, April 27 (CP)—A man sought as the driver of an automobile who left the scene of an accident Wednesday night slipped through a police cordon today after shots were fired at him.

The police posse sighted him in bushland near this village 20 miles north of Toronto. The officers shouted at him to stop and fired warning shots, but the man waded through the Humber River and escaped. It is believed that none of the shots struck him.

Mrs. Marion Thompson, 29, of Long Branch, a Toronto suburb, who was found lying unconscious on Highway 27, is in Peel Memorial Hospital at Brampton today with severe head and face cuts and shock. Her condition was described as "good."

Made Getaway

Police said the man they are looking for is Charles Hewston who lives at the same address as Mrs. Thompson. They said he had been captured Wednesday night shortly after the accident by Sam Ireland, a township constable, but had fled when Ireland was telephoning Provincial Police.

Mrs. Thompson was injured when thrown from the car as it knocked down six guide posts, slid across the highway and plunged into a ditch. Mrs. Thompson told police Hewston had looked at her and muttered:

"I'll have to get rid of the beer."

Then, police said, he opened the car door and ran into a nearby field in the darkness. Provincial Constable Lou Swingler said 12 empty beer bottles were found in the car.

Hewston was captured about 10 a.m. today but fled later in the direction of a tract of bush which is being combed by police.

Dock Strikers Seek MP Support

LONDON, April 27 (Reuters)—Leaders of London's unofficial dock strike today were trying to gain support from members of Parliament as nearly 1,500 more airmen and naval ratings joined the 3,500 servicemen already moving strike-bound cargoes.

The unofficial port workers committee, representing the men on strike, decided Wednesday night to send a deputation to the House of Commons today to "acquaint members with the full facts."

Accompanying the delegation were the three men whose expulsion from the Transport and General Workers' Union started the stoppage nine days ago.

These three expelled for their part in last summer's dock strike in support of the Canandian Seamen's Union dispute, hoped to see Labor Minister George Isaacs.

The strikers announced they would not return to work until their union agreed to a ballot on reinstatement of the "disciplined" men.

Eden Loses His Title As Best-Dressed Man

LONDON, April 27 (Reuters)—Anthony Eden, second in command to Conservative Leader Winston Churchill, has lost his title of Britain's best dressed man to a fellow Conservative.

Oliver Lyttleton, six-foot-three Conservative front - bencher, qualified for the sartorial championship today. The man who nominated him was A. A. White, president of the National Federation of Practical Master and Foreman Tailors' Societies.

Occasion was a tailoring exhibition which Lyttleton opened.

The best-dressed man wore a black short coat and striped trousers, a double-breasted black waistcoat, a white collar and striped shirt, a black-and-white spotted tie, with pearl tiepin, and a thin gold watch chain.

Pearson Makes Trip

OTTAWA, April 27—(CP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said today he would leave by plane about the end of next week to attend the North Atlantic Council meeting in London. He will be accompanied by Norman Robertson, Clerk of the Privy Council and Secretary to the Cabinet, and by R. G. Riddell, his special assistant and chief adviser on United Nations affairs.

Municipalities Shouldn't Beg Mayors Told

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP) — Drastic action to give the municipalities means of carrying out their financial responsibilities without having to beg from the province was demanded today by Reeve Ann Shipley of Kirkland Lake.

Reeve Shipley spoke at the opening session of a three-day meeting of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves. She is president of the organization.

Municipalities in Ontario have limited taxing powers and the situation in relation to the province has reached an impasse, she said.

"We have become literally nothing more than agents for the provincial and federal governments, and I predict that unless there is drastic action, fewer and fewer of the best type of citizens will be persuaded to assume such enormous responsibilities with such dubious authority.

Shouldn't Beg

She said municipalities should not have to beg or be at the mercy and good will of any government that happens to be in power at Queen's Park.

Reeve Shipley said the Association has repeatedly called on the Ontario government to assume a larger share of the costs of education, welfare and hospital care.

"Three years ago, we were promised such a review and funds were passed by the legislature for the purpose, but, in spite of our repeated appeals, nothing has come of it.

"I could understand a difference of opinion to a division of responsibilities between the three levels of government, but I cannot understand a refusal to sit down and at least attempt to define such responsibilities or attempt to allocate appropriate taxing fields to equitably cover the costs.

"We have been patient, reasonable and most conservative in our public criticism of this or previous governments. We have asked nothing more from the province than it has asked from the Dominion.

"Many times the municipalities have been told we should not be burdened with the cost of social services, but that we are the most suitable level of governments to administer them. In order that the present high level of administration can be maintained, it is considered that we must bear a goodly portion of the cost."

Australia Introduces Bill To Outlaw Communists, Ban Reds From Key Jobs

Menzies Names 53 Controlling Key Unions Lose Jobs Or 5 Years In Jail, Parliament Buildings Sealed, Well Guarded

CANBERRA, April 27—(CP)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies today opened his promised offensive against Communism in Australia with a bill to outlaw and dispossess the Communist party and ban known Communists from government and key trade-union jobs. To an excited parliament, he named 53 leading Communists — between them controlling most of Australia's key industrial unions—who would be barred from their posts under threat of five years in jail. Outside a strong police guard stood ready to prevent any possible Red demonstrations.

Fulfilling an election promise of five months ago, Menzies cracked down hard on every kind of Communist activity in the country.

The preamble to his bill, explaining the unprecedented sharpness of the law, described Communists as disloyal wreckers directed from abroad who were trying to create chaos to prepare for revolution.

In his 4½ hour indictment of Communism, Menzies told the packed House of Representatives that only people living in "cloud-cuckoo land" would imagine that espionage disclosures like those of the trial of Dr. Klaus Fuchs in Britain and the earlier Canadian espionage trials could not happen here.

Gets First Reading

The bill, which would dissolve the party, declare it unlawful and appoint a receiver for its assets, was given first reading by Prime Minister Menzies.

The proposed legislation also would give power to outlaw other Communist-controlled organizations and freeze their assets. It provides prison terms for Communists who refuse to cease party activities and bars Reds from holding jobs in the government or in private firms vital to the country's security.

However, it specifically exempts any registered trade union from being outlawed even though it is Communist-controlled.

Labor is in the minority in the House but has a majority in the Senate. If the Senate rejects the proposal to outlaw the Communists the Menzies government may seek to dissolve the entire parliament and call for new elections. This would be done in the hope of erasing Labor's Senate advantage.

Hours before the House was due to sit, all entrances to the building were sealed and the main door heavily guarded in the event of demonstrations by Communists. Only persons bearing written authorizations were permitted to enter the building.

Telegraph Co. Prosecuted For Bookmaking

BRIDGETON, N. J., April 27—(AP)—The State of New Jersey today prepared to serve bookmaking and gambling house warrants on the Western Union Telegraph Company as the result of a raid on the firm's office here.

Nelson S. Stamler, Deputy Attorney-General of New Jersey, said Western Union could lose its franchise in the State if convicted.

He said raiding State Troopers Wednesday found that 80 per cent of the business handled by the local Telegraph Office concerned bets sent to out-of-state bookmakers.

He asserted the Western Union Company itself was charged with bookmaking and operating a gambling house, and that warrants would be issued for responsible New Jersey officials of the company.

Arrest Manager

The raiders arrested the manager of the local office and woman clerk on charges of aiding and abetting bookmaking.

In New York, Western Union officials said they would have no comment until they had studied the situation.

"This sending of bets over Western Union wires is a tremendous bookmaking operation," Stamler said. "It makes the bets that are phoned between New York and New Jersey look like a peanut operation."

Bridgeton, a city of 16,000, is about 35 miles south of Philadelphia.

Judge David L. Horuvitz released the office manager, Charles H. Frake, 40, on $5,000 bail and the clerk, Mrs. Delilah Pattitucci, 26, on $2,500 bail.

Dolan Predicts Tourist Boom

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 27 (CP)—Canadians in 1950 can expect the biggest tourist year in their history, D. Leo Dolan, director of travel and publicity for Canada, said here Wednesday at the second annual Ontario Tourist convention.

Mr. Dolan said that on the basis of inquiries now being received by his office, the tourist business should be up by about 18 per cent.

He warned, however, that Canadians must stop aping Americans. This year his department hopes to spend $900,000 on advertising in American periodicals.

Browder Denies Any Reds In US State Department

WASHINGTON, April 27. — (AP).—Earl Browder, former Communist party chief in the United States, told Senate investigators today that "to the best of my knowledge and belief" there are no Communists in the U.S. State Department.

Browder, expelled from the Communist party in 1946, said that if he knew of any Communists in the Department he would say so but that he doesn't.

Browder also told the committee that he has never met Owen Lattimore but knows him by reputation "as a person of anti-Communist views of a very profound character."

Specifically and flatly, Browder contradicted testimony from Louis F. Budenz that Lattimore's name came up at a meeting of Communist leaders in New York city in October, 1937.

There never was such a meeting, Browder said.

He said "it is hard to imagine how even a professional perjurer could think up" testimony such as Budenz gave a Senate Foreign Relations sub-committee that Lattimore is a Communist.

Budenz, an ex-Communist, made the statement last week to the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating charges of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) that the State Department is harboring many Communists and fellow-travellers.

Lattimore, Far Eastern Affairs specialist and John Hopkins University professor, has denied under oath that he ever was a Communist or a Red sympathizer. He also has denied McCarthy's broader contention that he is Russia's head spy in the United States.

Seven Red Armies Poised On China Coast

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 27 — (AP)—Seven Red armies are massed on mainland China and coastal islands for the assault upon Chushan, the Chinese Nationalists said today.

Two of the armies already are in position on nearby islands of the Chushan group, 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

The invasion is expected momentarily.

Chushan itself is the key Nationalist blockade base for Shanghai. Chiang Kai-shek's air and naval arms have stilled traffic into that once teeming port.

Nationalist army quarters again voiced confidence in the ability of Gen. Shih Chueh to hold Formosa.

5-Cent Cut For Butter Likely As Ottawa Slashes Support Price

New Rate To Be Effective For 12 Months Will Commence May 1, Ottawa Resumes Cheese Requisitioning

OTTAWA, April 27—(CP)—A slash in the government's support price of butter may spark a general decline of five cents a pound in retail prices across the country. Commercial dairy experts predicted the general retail decline as a result of the new support prices announced in the Commons Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. The new support price, which goes into effect for 12 months beginning May 1, will be 53 cents a pound for creamery butter, basis delivery at Toronto, Montreal, Saint John, N.B., and Halifax. The Vancouver price will be 52½ cents.

These new government prices compare with last year's support level of approximately 58 cents a pound, under which the government bought up almost 50,000,000 pounds of surplus butter.

Mr. Gardiner announced in the Commons that the government still had 19,500,00 pounds in storage and these stocks would be sold, along with any new acquisitions, at about 53 cents a pound —the new government selling prices which goes into effect on May 1.

Absorbed By Treasury

Since the government bought the 19,500,000 pounds at 58 cents a pound, to be sold at 60½ cents, and instead now is prepared to sell it at 53, a government official said there would be a loss to the government of about $1,300,000, and this would be absorbed by the Federal Treasury.

Mr. Gardiner also announced that beginning May 1, the government will resume the requisitioning of cheddar cheese.

The government will buy up all available cheese at the support level of 27 cents a pound, basis delivery at factory points, to be sold to the United Kingdom at 25 cents a pound, basis delivery seaboard.

The requisitioning, said Mr. Gardiner, was requested by the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association and the Dairy Farmers of Canada in order to "safeguard" the 1950 Anglo-Canadian cheese contract.

Sharp Increase

Under the contract, Canada agreed to deliver up to 85,000,000 pounds of cheddar cheese, a sharp increase from the 50,000,000 pounds delivered in 1949.

G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) asked how long the requisitioning process would continue.

Mr. Gardiner said the requisitioning would continue as long as it was necessary for the filling of the British contract.

L. E. Cardiff (PC-Huron North) asked how the government arrived at a floor price of 53 cents a pound for butter.

Carefus Study

Mr. Gardiner said the government decided on a 53-cent figure after considering the record of butter handling "very carefully." There have only been four years in the last three or more decades that butter has been as high as 53 cents a pound. The last two years were two of those four years.

The government felt that 53 cents was a "fair price" in the light of the history of butter. It was pretty well established that there was not any market in the world for butter at even 50 cents a pound. J. A. Charlton (PC-Brant-Wentworth) asked how much cheese has been delivered to date for the contract.

Mr. Gardiner said "very little if any right now." As Mr. Charlton knew, cheese did not start coming to market until early May.

Name Lawyer To Deal With CP Dispute

OTTAWA, April 27 — (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell today announced appointment of J. H. Stitt, Ottawa lawyer and former member of parliament, as a commissioner to deal with "certain matters involving the American Newspaper Guild and the Canadian Press."

The announcement referred to the recent certification of the union as bargaining agent for the editorial employees of the CP and its subsequent application to the minister for his consent to prosecute "The Canadian Press and its general manager, Gillis Purcell, for a number of alleged offences" under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

The only alleged offence mentioned in the announcement was "failure to commence to bargain collectively with the union as required by the act."

Acts As Commission

Mr. Stitt, Conservative member of the House of Commons from 1930 to 1935 and later a member of the Civil Service Commission, now practises law in Ottawa. His appointment is as "an industrial inquiry commission" under the act.

Mr. Mitchell's announcement said that the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act empowers him to "take such steps as seem calculated to maintain or secure industrial peace and to promote conditions favorable to settlement of disputes."

After consideration of the application for his consent to prosecute he decided upon the appointment of an industrial inquiry commission.

The minister said Mr. Stitt's first duty will be "to endeavour to assist the parties to bargain collectively with one another, as required by the act. Failing this, Mr. Stitt will investigate and report to the minister on the matters referred to in the application for consent to prosecute."

Pope Defends Free Trading

VATICAN CITY, April 27. — (AP).—Pope Pius today defended individual enterprise in business and free trade.

Clearly referring to Communism, he said that concentration of commerce in public hands "opposes the Christian conception of social economy."

The Pontiff—addressing delegates to the World Congress of Chambers of Commerce—in effect defended rugged individuals in business.

But he raised at the same time a warning finger against "the ambition only to always take in more money, become richer and betraying one's vocation."

"The man of affairs,' said the Pontiff, "must also and in equal measure consider himself a servant of the community.'

It was the second time in a week that the 74-year-old Pontiff took time from his arduous Holy-Year duties to speak on commerce and business.

Police Capture Girl Escapee

FORT ERIE, April 27 (CP). — Police today captured one of three 15-year-old gorls who escaped on Wednesday night from the Juvenile Detention Home in Toronto, 75 miles north-west of here.

Morality officers said the girl was found at noon in a downtown rooming house. They added that they hope to find her two companions later today.

The girl told police they had not fled in their pyjamas, as reported by authorities at the Jarvis Street home in Toronto where they were confined as incorrigibles.

The three girls had hidden their clothing in their bedrooms and were fully clothed when they escaped, police quoted her as saying

Frost Hints 1952 Election

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP) — Premier Frost hinted Wednesday night that an Ontario general election may be held next year or early in 1952.

"By the end of 1951 we want every riding organized in good trim and able to meet the enemy in good shape," he told the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Toronto. "We need a provincial organization and we need it badly."

He named John R. MacNicol, former Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Toronto Davenport, as an unofficial provincial organizer.

"I am going to put John R. on the warpath to brighten our party organization in the province," he said.

The last general election was June 7, 1948, when the Progressive Conservatives under George Drew were returned to power with 53 of the 90 seats in the legislature.

$245 Car Damage Awarded After Accident

Fred Revoy of Revoy Motors has been awarded $245.35 damages resulting from damage to one of his cars March 11, 1949.

Judge S. L. Smoke gave reserved judgment after hearing the case in county court last week. Frank Scott and his wife Annie, RR 9, Peterborough, were co-defendants.

The action followed a collision between Revoy's car, driven by an employee, John Tinney of Cavan, and the Scott car. It occurred about 7 a.m. at Hunter and Rogers Sts. when it was dark and the intersection was considered slippery.

Judge Smoke found Mr. Scott negligent in starting to make a left turn after driving east along Hunter St. In his judgment he noted that Scott had admitted giving no signal before beginning his turn and his "negligence" was the sole cause of the accident.

Moreover, observed Judge Smoke, the defendant was in no condition to remember details of the accident.

"His condition was such that the investigating constable placed him under arrest and charged him with 'drunk driving.' While it is true that he was not convicted upon this charge I am quite satisfied that he had had enough liquor so that his mind would not have been particularly clear."

Censures Witnesses

But Judge Smoke also had words of censure for the two chief witnesses for the plaintiff—Tinney, driver of the Revoy car, and the passenger to whom he was demonstrating it, Frank Visee.

"In all my experience upon the Bench I have never heard more unsatisfactory evidence than that given by Tinney and Visee," he declared.

Only where their evidence coincided with that of Police Constable D. Traynor could he rely upon it, he added.

Alex A. Elliott, KC, represented the plaintiff and W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, appeared for the defendant.

Second Senator Dies In East

SUSSEX, N.B., April 27 (CP)—Senator George B. Jones, 84, veteran Progressive Conservative political figure who once served briefly in the federal cabinet, died in hospital here early today.

Senator Jones was the second New Brunswick Senator to die within three weeks. Senator Antoine J. Leger, 69, a Progressive Conservative, died at Moncton April 7.

A member of the Senate since July 20, 1935, Senator Jones served as labor minister in the Conservative government of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from July to September, 1926. He resigned his portfolio with the defeat of the government.

Senator Jones had been ill for three months with a lung condition.

His death cuts representation of his party in the Senate to 13. The standing: Liberals, 75; Progressive Conservatives, 13; vacant, 14; total, 102.

Senator Jones' political career started in 1908 when he was elected to the New Brunswick legislature and he was re-elected in 1912, 1917 and 1921. Entering the Federal House of Commons in 1921 as Conservative member for Royal, he was re-elected at the 1925, 1926 and 1930 general elections and in a 1932 by-election.

Five In Family Killed By Gas Fumes

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP)—Thirteen-year-old Gerard Bernier died in hospital early this morning to become the fifth victim in one family of a gas tragedy Wednesday.

Also dead are three of Gerard's brothers and one sister—Guy, 14; Mariette, 7; Bernard, 5; and Norman, 3.

Mrs. Yvette Bernier, 42, mother of the five, is in hospital with her last remaining child, Jacques, 16. Both were reported in satisfactory, although still serious condition this morning.

Little Norman and Bernard were found dead in their beds Wednesday morning. Guy and Mariette died in hospital late Wednesday and Gerard succumbed about 4 a.m. today.

Found By Father

The fatal mishap was discovered by the father of the family, Arthur Bernier, a night ambulance driver, when he returned home from work about 11 a.m. after forcing open the locked door to their second-storey flat, he found his wife and children lying in their beds.

Bernier, who said he was almost "knocked over" by the fumes, opened all the windows and then summoned aid. But the two younger boys were already dead.

The mother was taken to hospital with the four other children after four Hydro-Quebec trucks, police cars and ambulances were sent to the Cuvillier Street home.

Police said their investigation indicated illuminating gas had seeped through a defective pipe in the bathroom and spread throughout the flat.

CCL Asks Curb On Injunctions

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP). — Means of curbing "indiscriminate and irresponsible" use of injunctions in labor disputes should be provided in the Canadian constitution, the Canadian Congress of Labor said today.

"In a brief presented to the Senate Committee on Human Rights, the 350,000-member CCL also called for the incorporation of a bill of rights in the constitution to put an end to deprivation of rights and freedoms suffered by Canadian labor.

"Labor," said the Congress, "individually and collectively has suffered more from the deprivation of human rights and fundamental freedoms than has any other section of the community."

Unions were brought into existence to gain these rights and freedoms for workers, said the CCL.

"They remain in existence to protect what they have won and to gain more. Their burden will be considerably lightened if some of the most important rights and freedoms can be protected by a fundemental law against violation both by private persons and corporations and by public authorities—Dominion, Provincial, and municipal."

Send 4-Man Mission To Settle Revolt

JAKARTA, Indonesia, April 27 —(AP)—The Central Indonesian Government today sent a four-man mission to try to settle peacefully Wednesday's revolt in the South Molucca Islands.

The mission flew today to Makassar to discuss with East Indonesia state officials the rebellion centred on the island of Amboina, where separatists proclaimed the South Moluccas as independent state. The islands have been part of the East Indonesia state.

The South Moluccas are a chain of islands stretching for 500 miles between the Celebes and New Guinea, with a population of about 150,000. Amboina, on the island of Amboina, is the district's only city and has about 20,000 people.

St. Lawrence Seaway Tug-of-War

For the past fifteen years the American Government has been in favour of developing the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes jointly with Canada, as a source of new power and an inland seaway. The latest powerful American voice to be raised in support of the seaway is that of the Secretary of State. Mr. Dean Acheson said on Tuesday that the building of it was "long overdue" and that the power project is essential to the economy and defence of the two countries. Canada has already given full government approval to the treaty but has not ratified the agreement, pending United States' acceptance of it.

* * *

Why then is there the delay? The reason is that the American Administration and Congress are two entities. The Administration does not need to have the support of Congress to stay in power, and Congress has the power to over-ride the Administration.

* * *

It is an anomaly of world statesmanship that the most powerful nation on earth, the United States—and the nation on which the entire democratic world is dependent—is so clumsily constituted that decisive governmental action in many important matters is either hindered or prevented. In countries like Canada, whose constitutional framework follows the British parliamentary pattern, the Administration (that is, the Government) is responsible to Parliament. If the Government approves any measure which Parliament refuses to sanction, then the Government resigns. A result is that seldom does a Canadian government undertake a policy, agree to a treaty, or negotiate an international agreement that Parliament rejects. The Administration always has the support of Parliament, otherwise it resigns.

* * *

The tussle, or lack of co-ordination between the American Government and Congress has hampered other matters than the seaway. The situation is so perplexing to other countries that ministers of trade, of foreign affairs and of finance who go to the U.S.A. fully empowered to act for their respective countries, hardly know who they should deal with. Should they cater to a power-bloc in Congress, or negotiate with their counterparts in the American administration whose acceptance of terms may later be disallowed by Congress? The divided authority and responsibility in the United States governmental fabric may be a safeguard against oligarchy, but it is also an impediment to positive statesmanship and direct action.

Alex Edmison At Queen's

The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. J. Alex Edmison will rejoice at his appointment to the post of Assistant to the Principal of Queen's University. He is a distinguished graduate of that university. He has also ties with the Peterborough district which make us look upon him as one of our own.

Mr. Edmison is a lawyer by profession. He has interested himself in many phases of public service, and particularly in prison reform and the rehabilitation of convicts; in this work his unusual knowledge of criminology and penology have been useful to him. He is the moving force in the John Howard Society, which works to put ex-prisoners on the path to an honest and decent life. During his four years of war service he distinguished himself, and his work in U.N.R.R.A. won commendation from General de Gaulle and also from General Eisenhower. As an administrator Mr. Edmison is a man whose native talent has been polished by wide experience.

Queen's has made a valuable acquisition in its new Assistant Principal, and the good wishes of thousands of those who know him, and know about him, go with Mr. Edmison to his new post.

Soviet Difficulties In The West Ukraine

The popularity of the phrase "The Iron Curtain" has spread the idea that virtually no information from Russia is available to the Western world. This is not the case. Russia would like to keep all news of Russian affairs from the Western world, but it is not possible to do so. There are largish chinks in the Iron Curtain; the Russian provincial press lets slip some information, because the provincial newspapers circulate in a smaller area, and are therefore less able to distort the truth, than the Moscow press; it is useless to tell a farmer that he is growing a lot of grain when he knows that he is not. The Russian provincial radio also provides information which, if not entirely accurate, can be sifted until something like the truth appears. The radio from Lvov, in the Western Ukraine, and some newspapers from that district, suggest that Russia is having a hard time imposing the collective farm plan upon the peasants there.

The Western Ukraine used to be under the domination of Poland. It is a good farming district, and the farmers there were a progressive and prosperous group of people. They do not like collective farming and will not help to make it work; therefore large numbers of them have either been put to death or have become political prisoners. Those that remain are not such good farmers, nor such intelligent people; therefore the press and radio have let slip hints that it is very hard to farm properly when the farm managers do not know what they are doing and that farm production is not what it should be. The struggle with the peasants of the Western Ukraine is apparently a savage one.

Russia is tasting the bitterness of imperial sway. It is one thing to conquer territory, and quite another to turn it into a productive acquisition to the state. And Russia invariably relies on force. Force is the most laborious, costly and dilatory way of achieving any sort of imperial result. The Western Ukraine is rich only if farmers can be persuaded to exploit its riches.

No Criticism Permitted

The following brief news item tells an interesting story:

PITTSBURGH, April 23 — (AP) — Joe Dickmon, the coal miner who called John L. Lewis a dictator, has apologized. His criticism of the United Mine Workers leader resulted in the Library, Pa., miner's suspension from the union last January. He hasn't worked since.

That will teach him not to get ideas above his station.

Well-Dressed Bodies

Bond Street and Saville Row connote male sartorial elegance—or did. Men's clothes made in the U.S.A. were considered smart, fresh; Italian clothes a trifle sharp and not soundly constructed; Canadian suits were—well, articles to be worn. But English worsteds and tailoring were the exemplars for the world. What Paris was to women's fashions, London was to men's. The situation has changed, chiefly, we believe, due to the soft pound and the high British taxes.

One of London's foremost tailors, Colonel H. J. Chappell bewailed the 25 per cent. tax on tailor-made clothes in speaking to the Merchant Tailors of Britain the other day. Even the reports of suicides and drownings would change, he predicted: "We shall not longer read in our papers that the body of a well-dressed man was recovered from the Serpentine, and instead we shall read that the bodies of 47 badly-dressed tailors were recovered from the Serpentine". Is the well-dressed Englishman as dead as the Dodo of Edward VII's era?

In this country the American influence on men's attire is now stronger than the English. No longer are many Canadian gentlemen sending to London for their suits, to Bond Street shops where the tailor has their measurements. They are scanning the American magazines for the latest fashion trends. Is the plunging neckline on the jacket on the way out? Is there any truth in the rumour that the three-button single-breasted is returning to favour? Did we not see General Eisenhower pictured on the cover of a popular American weekly, decked out in a high neckline three-buttoner? And what accounts for the current lack of a waistcoat with double-breasted suits? There's hardly a merchant in town who can offer an ordinary vest with a double-breasted jacket. Wherefore, too, the new pastel shades in men's suiting? California, Broadway and Wall street are the dictators of Canadian men's styles. Bond Street, look to your cloths, colours, scissors and taxes.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A French village has passed a local law forbidding the use of atom bombs. The idea is too sensible to catch on among the really big lawmakers.

Saucery And Science

By CHARLES DAY

AN ingenious fantasy, by Mr. Clark, appeared on this page last week. He argued that the flying saucer stories can be explained by analogy with former beliefs in witchcraft, visible devils, etc.—as a folk-myth appropriate to the age of science, with its magazine tales of space-ships and its comic strips of Superman. In short, "people see what they expect to see."

◇ ◇ ◇

I AM surprised that my friend Mr. Clark, with his encyclopaedic knowledge, is not better up in the literature of witchcraft. Modern researches, notably those of Dr. Margaret Murray, have shown that witchcraft was much more than a popular fiction. It was a sort of pagan underground: a survival from older fertility cults, and at certain periods it was quite highly organized. There is even some evidence to suggest (see Mr. Hugh Ross Williamson's recent book, "The Arrow and the Sword") that the deaths of William Rufus and Thomas a Becket were ritual murders connected with the witchcraft cult.

◇ ◇ ◇

HENCE, if Mr. Clark's analogy were at all correct, it would be distinctly ominous, to say the least. One might imagine covens of scientists engaged in secret and sinister researches, and travelling by saucer to their sabbaths, where they hold austere orgies round a gravitic hyper-drive. (In case anyone needs to know, this enables space-ships to travel faster than light by taking a course through hyper-space.)

◇ ◇ ◇

HOWEVER, I think we can restrain our alarm, for on any level Mr. Clark's analogy goes astray. No one, so far as I know, ever claimed to have seen a witch flying on a broomstick, and in the annals of witchcraft there is certainly no parallel to some of the reports by persons who claim to have seen strange aerial objects over the United States. Many of these reports can be put down to glimpses of weather balloons or meteorites, or to optical illusions of some kind. But a few are less amenable; a great deal depends on the reliability of a small number of leading witnesses.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE was the United States Air Force pilot, Captain Thomas Martell, who, while flying near Fort Knox, was instructed by his control tower to chase an object that had been sighted from the ground. He radioed that he was chasing a "thing" which looked like an ice-cream cone topped with red; later he said that it "looks metallic and is tremendous." He was last seen climbing into broken cloud at 28,000 feet; that evening his body was found near the Fort, with the debris of his plane scattered over a wide area.

THEN there were two Eastern Air Line pilots, sober family men, who reported seeing a wingless, tubular aircraft, about 100 feet long, which zoomed over them, jetting orange flame, and rocking their machine with its air wash.

I could quote several other circumstantial reports by airmen and ground crews; if they are reliable we must reckon with some aerial objects quite distinct from "saucers," and much less likely than small shining discs to be due to optical illusions. We might perhaps also note—though here we enter much more debatable territory—that stories of this kind are not quite new; the late Charles Fort, in his curious book, "Do," collected several earlier ones from American newspaper files over the past century. Hence, no doubt, the view boldly advanced last month in the American magazine "True" by Mr. Donald Keyhoe, formerly chief of the U.S. Commerce Department's information branch, that "for the past 175 years the planet earth has been under systematic close-range observation by living, intelligent observers from another planet."

◇ ◇ ◇

AT present I am not inclined to take this possibility quite seriously, but it cannot be entirely ruled out on ordinary scientific grounds. Rocket propulsion, since it works even better in a vacuum than in air, offers a theoretically feasible way of moving through inter-planetary space. We are still a long way from making rocket-craft capable of rising out of the earth's gravitational field, and atomic energy, in any form yet envisaged, is not likely to help. However, if there are intelligent beings on some other planet, they may be far ahead of us in science.

◇ ◇ ◇

I RATHER like the theory that these beings, having observed through their instruments that earthmen have learnt how to split the atom, are sending space-ships to study at close range what use we are likely to make of this dangerous discovery. If they conclude—as they well might—that we are not fit to be trusted with it, what then? Presumably, the arrival of planetary police, armed with irresistible weapons, who would proceed to enforce law and order on our troubled globe.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS might not be a bad way of reaching world government; but before preparing to welcome the planetary police I should like to know more about them. If we imagine them coming from within our own system, they would probably be strange creatures, perhaps not recognizably human, for no solar planet seems capable of sustaining life in any form at all familiar to us. And to imagine them coming from another system is a very tall order, for the nearest star which might have planets is said to be eight light-years away.

◇ ◇ ◇

MOREOVER, in spite of rocket propulsion, I am not at all sure that space travel will be possible for living beings. An open mind on the whole question is advisable. I would guess that most of the flying saucer stories can be attributed to mistaken or unreliable reports and that the rest are connected with secret defence experiments. The latest news suggests rather strongly that various new types of guided missiles and pilotless planes—mostly, but perhaps not only, American—are under test. Before we scan the heavens for space-craft, we should perhaps look first towards the White Sands proving-ground in New Mexico.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

STILL A LONG WAY TO GO . . .

Peanuts and Poultry

(MONTREAL STAR)

POULTRY farming in Gambia and peanut raising in Tanganyika have apparently this in common: there is a good deal to know about both Gambia and Tanganyika before the first peanut is harvested or the first egg laid. Because little of this preliminary information was on hand large sums of the British taxpayers' money have gone glimmering and there are red faces in London.

The extremely costly peanut fiasco need not be recalled. But while the British taxpayer has been lamenting the loss of a lot of money in Tanganyika in the peanut business the fairly substantial sum of £810,000 has gone down the drain in an effort to get 10 million eggs and one million pounds of dressed poultry a year off the semi-barren acres of Gambia, a small British possession on the west African coast.

There was nothing lacking in preparation except some experimenting with a small flock and some investigation into the problem of feed raising. Not bothering about these matters, a flock of 10,000 hatching eggs of one breed alone were imported from the United States, 16 European bungalows were built, 20 dwellings for Bahamian workers, a school, an administrative building and a recreation hall, all went up.

The only thing lacking seems to be eggs, although the rather bleak report makes a point of it that the hens are "doing their best." The "unhatchability" of the eggs has been due to "malnutrition trouble" in turn accounted for by the "food deficiencies" inherent in the only feed yet produced from Gambia's lean soil.

"Developing the resources of the Empire" is a fine and resounding phrase and undoubtedly much of it remains to be done. However, the vast deal that has been accomplished in such development in past years has been done by people who made it their business in advance to know not only where they were going but—what is equally important—how they proposed to get there. Peanuts and poultry in bulk can be attained only by trial and error. The mistake they have made in London has been to eliminate the trial period and—so far—harvest only the errors.

County Museums

(St. Catharines Standard)

A timely topic was brought before the Massey Commission on Art at Ottawa recently, the suggestion for the establishment of County Museums to provide a permanent site for relics and records of Canada's pioneer days.

Mrs. J. R. Futcher of St. Thomas, president of the Ontario Women's Institutes, showed the commission two copies of the "Tweedsmuir Histories" and told them the story of the "Buggy-whip" in outlining steps taken by Ontario women's groups to preserve records of early days in this country.

First begun at the suggestion of Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of a former Governor-General, the histories have been compiled by the O.W.I. for the last eight years.

Mrs. Futcher estimated 95 per cent. of Ontario communities — however small — have some sort of recording of early days in their area.

County museums would provide a permanent place not only for the histories but for all pioneer relics.

Mrs. Futcher recalled two 10-year-old children seeing a buggy-whip for the first time and not knowing for what it had once been used.

Knowledge of such things as buggy-whips —relics of a bygone era—must be preserved.

Study Penalties

Federal and Provincial Governments are studying the advisability of increasing penalties against drunken drivers of motor cars. There is no question as to the advisability; the study should be devoted only to the penalties.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. (Matt. 4: 23.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw . . . But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils.

And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand . . . O generation of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things. But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgement.

Then certain of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying, Master, we would see a sign from thee. But he answered and said unto them, An evil and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas: for as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

The men of Nineveh shall rise in judgement with this generation, and shall condemn it: because they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here. (Matt. 12: 22, 24, 25, 34-36, 38-41.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A thrifty old uncle in the big city took his visiting nephew to see a play that had had a long run. As they settled themselves in the gallery, the uncle said: "Well, lad, have you ever seen anything like this?"

Looking far down at the actors on the stage, the young man replied: "No, I haven't. But I've always wanted to fly over Africa and look down on the Pygmies."

◇ ◇ ◇

He was incredibly drunk, and the constable was finding it hard work to get him to the police station. It was actually only a few hundred yards, but to the arm of the law it seemed miles.

Several times the inebriate fell flat, dragging his captor down with him. At last, breathless and covered with mud, the constable managed to drag his captive up the steps of the station.

As they lurched through the door, the drunk muttered: "Thanksh, old chap! Get me inshide quick—before the copsh shee me!"

Special Clinic Organized On Arthritis

TORONTO, April 27 — (AP)— A special clinic on arthritis at the Toronto General Hospital Wednesday night did not have any technical discussions on the nature and treatment of the disease —it had the presence of a number of patients, many of them doomed to lives of crippling pain resulting from deformed limbs and stiffened joints.

The clinic was arranged for laymen by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, and was conducted bp Dr. Wallace Graham and Dr. John Keith, members of the Advisory Board of the Society which now is conducting a National Campaign to raise $850,000 The audience was composed of key workers in the campaign.

Sufferers were wheeled into the lecture theatre or entered slowly on crutches as Dr. Graham and Dr. Keith emphasized that early diagnosis and treatment, with physio-therapists and orthopedic surgeons working as a team, could avoid many of the serious developments of the illness.

Among the patients at the clinic were two children from the hospital for Sick Children, both of whom have shown some improvement. Another was a 38-year-old woman who said she felt amazingly better after being treated with the new drug cortisone.

After a 35-year-old male patient, victim of the disease since he was 18, had been wheeled away, Dr. Graham said "he exemplifies what shouldn't happen. If treated early, given proper splints it wouldn't happen. Now it's too late."

Civic Holiday Plans Starting At Cobourg

COBOURG, April 27 (ENS)— Plans for Cobourg's civic holiday celebration, which in the past few years has been conducted on a very ambitious scale, are being discussed at meetings of service clubs and other interested organizations.

At a meeting of representatives from the service clubs and the Chamber of Commerce, plans for this year's celebration had been outlined and would be developed in a few weeks' time.

FamilyCottageHoliday Jaycee Draw Prize

Some family—two adults and a child—are going to get a two-weeks vacation at a Stony Lake summer cottage this year.

Through sale of draw tickets for this prize the Junior Chamber of Commerce hope to finance their 1950 tourist program. The winning ticket provides living accommodation in a private cottage for the two adults and a child with all meals supplied. In addition there will be a cash award of $100.

The location will be Irwin Inn, Crowe's Landing. Ross Irwin, the proprietor, donated the prize.

The long-term view of the Jaycees is to familiarize tourists with the Kawartha Lakes district and at the same time aid the local resort operators.

Tells Of Rapid Propogation Of Animal World

CAMPBELLFORD, April 27— (ENS)—Campbellford Fish and Game Protective Association heard an address on The Animal and Insect World delivered Tuesday night by T. J. Wilson, of, Campbellford. President Douglas Maybee was in the chair.

Mr. Wilson stated that every animal served some purpose in the scheme of things. He described how insects and birds were responsible for the pollination of fruit blossoms and how fishworms fertilized the soil.

It had been estimated that the cultivated land of England passes through the digestive tract of the fishworms every three years. Animals and birds, he said, are friends of the farmer.

Mr. Wilson spoke of the magnitude the propagation of some species would reach if allowed to multiply unchecked. The earth was a sphere with a diameter of some 8,000 miles, and had a surface measuring some 196,000 square miles.

As an example he told of the codfish. "The female produces more than two million eggs every year," he said. "If the adult codfish were to continue to breed for the rather short space of five years, their numbers would be unbelievable." Allowing six fish to be crowded into one cubic foot of space, there would be a mass of fish greater than the mass of 500,000 earths.

As another example, he told of the field mouse. The field, or meadow mouse breeds about 12 times a year, with an average of five offspring. The offspring begin to mate within 45 days, and assuming that half of these are females, within five years there would be 625. Eventually, if all the mice were placed head-to-tail and side by side, taking about 40 to over one square foot, they would cover the surface of the whole earth, land and water, layer upon layer, until they extended upwards for some four million miles, or 16 times the distance from the earth to the moon.

Living organisms, said Mr. Wilson, possessed a never ending desire to keep on increasing without end, and this constitutes an ever present problem which must be faced by nature, and solved continually. Nature must maintain a proper balance.

"We have seen the amazing and unbelievable numbers that could be produced by the lesser animal life, and the same thing holds true with human beings," Mr. Wilson continued. "Humans are in precisely the same category as mice, although they are not quite so prolific. Anyone who has ever studied the mathematics of population increase will be surprised to learn how quickly the human race would increase if there were no restrictive factors. The human race doubles itself every 20 years."

W. S. Wiggins moved a vote of thanks, on behalf of the club.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the club on May 11 to select committees and arrange details for the regatta which has been an annual event the past few years. The club is also going to sponsor the usual fish contest, and the job of procuring prizes for this once again fell to Forrest Dennis.

VISION IN THE DEEP

When the Jap air force sank five American battleships and wrecked drydocks and wharves at Pearl Harbor, our Navy had a gigantic salvage job to do in a hurry. Divers sent down into the muddy waters of the harbor could not see to work fast, even with the most brilliant lights. Then came a powerful new aid to vision—a camera sealed inside a water-tight bomb, that could be lowered to the wrecks to take flash-light pictures of every detail. With its aid all but two of the ships were raised.

Think for a moment what this new underwater camera can do! It can be lowered hundreds, even thousands, of feet beneath the sea to bring up beautiful pictures—stills or movies—of the strange and unknown submarine world.

Or, think of the hundreds of treasure-laden vessels that lie on the bottom, sent there during the war. This camera can reveal them and show how to recanture the treasure. Think, too, of the hidden obstructions in harbors and rivers. These can be discovered and eliminated with the help of the new device. Or river bottoms can be photographed to speed up the building of bridges and tunnels.

Most fascinating use of the under-water camera, which takes men's eyes to unheard-of depths, will be to study the conditions far down on the sea bottom. The mysterious behaviour of the ocean currents will at last be understood.

Vision is our best answer to these questions, and this new kind of submarine vision means new knowledge of our world.

Smelt Run Peters Out

COBOURG, April 27 (ENS) —The smelt run in this district is just about over. During the last few nights they have been running spasmodically, with a fair number alternating by nights at various stream outlets along the shore between Cobourg and Grafton. Average catches were reported at the Overhead Bridge, a few miles east of Cobourg, but at the Factory Creek and Grafton, the smelt run has petered out.

All in all, except for some very chilly nights, the smelt fishermen have done well this season. The commercial fishermen working off Brighton and Colborne have reaped a heavy harvest of the now valuable fish. Private anglers with lockers have them well filled with smelt.

BUT ACT NOW . . .

Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.

Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.

All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.

HAMILTON WANTS B.E. GAMES—Hamilton, locale of the 1930 British Empire Games, is making a strong bid for the 1954 games which will be held in Canada. This photo is a general view of Civic Stadium crowd watching an event during the 1930 games. Backers of the Ontario city's bid hope to see a similar scene in 1954.

Hamilton Making Strong Bid For Empire Games

By TOMMY MOORE

HAMILTON, April 27 —(CP)— Twenty years ago 500 nattily-attired athletes from 10 Commonwealth countries paraded around Hamilton's civic stadium cinder track to the accompaniment of blaring bands and cheers of 20,000 spectators. It marked the opening of the first British Empire Games.

The city, then with a population of only 165,000 (it's now nearly 200,000) put on a terrific seven-day show to set the pattern for the Commonwealth gathering of athletes. With this record behind them, sportsmen of Hamilton have banded to plead Hamilton's case for the 1954 games, already awarded Canada.

Besides experience gained in staging the week-long games—their only appearance in Canada—Hamilton sports officials justifiably claim the cinder track built in 1930 is the best in Canada. This point alone would be a big factor in final decision of BE Games Association officials who will choose the venue next month from among Hamilton, Toronto and Vancouver invitations. A bid is also expected from Montreal.

Everything Handy

If this city gets the nod, contestants from far-away places—10 to 15 countries are expected to be represented—would be within a hop, step and jump from all sports except the rowing and sculling. The oarsmen would show their stuff at Port Dalhousie on Lake Ontario, a short boat or automobile jaunt from here.

The 20,000-seat Civic Stadium, built at a cost of $100,000 for the 1930 Games, is situated in the northeast end of the city, and would be venue for the crowd-drawing track and field events if Hamilton is awarded the Games. Officials say plans already are made for additional seats.

Athletes would be housed in Prince of Wales School, just 50 yards from the track, thus eliminating a tough transportation problem. The weight - lifting, wrestling and fencing could be held at the baseball park, 100 yards away and the swimming and diving at the Municipal Pool, another 100 yards distant.

The $100,000 pool, also built in 1930, has a seating capacity of 1,400 and the baseball park accommodates between 6,000 and 7,000 persons. Seating capacity would be increased if the Games are staged here.

Lawn bowlers would perform at Gage Park, within five minutes walk of the athletes' living quarters.

Officials have a strong talking point in the fact venues are so tightly centred. In addition, Hamilton track and field meets are recognized across Canada as probably the smoothest-run in the Dominion and this reputation could add prestige to its official bid.

Crippled youngsters and a white-haired swimming coach are hoping to see a dream come true soon.

Gus Ryder, coach of the Lakeshore Swimming Club in Toronto's suburban New Toronto has raised $61,421 towards a $100,000 Olympic-sized swimming pool. Ryder, who has taught 145 handicapped children to swim, dive and save lives in the water, has had this goal for 25 years.

"This pool," he said, in an interview, "will give far more crippled kids a sort of home in which they can utilize their good limbs and get that wonderful feeling of accomplishment, like those I've already worked with are realizing."

Manchester United, one of the ace teams of big-time soccer, leaves next Tuesday for a tour of Canada and the United States. The team will play 11 games, one of them against an English all-star team at Toronto June 14.

E. Lee Keyser, whose colorful career stretched from peanut vendor to recognition as the "father of night baseball," died Wednesday at St. Louis, Mo. The 64-year-old Keyser had been in a coma most of the time since he suffered a brain haemorrhage April 12. He will be buried Saturday in Des Moines, where 20 years ago he launched the first successful season of regular night play in organized baseball.

Detective Donald E. Pape, who took Gerry Priddy, Detroit Tigers' second-baseman, on a round of night spots following the opening American League baseball game at Detroit, was reduced on Wednesday to patrolman and suspended for 30 days without pay. Priddy was fined an unannounced sum by manager Red Rolfe for breaking a midnight curfew. Pape pleaded guilty to drinking liquor, allowing a civilian to ride in a police car, and taking a car from headquarters without permission.

Billy Foret, 11-year-old schoolboy, died playing sandlot baseball Wednesday after a line drive struck him in the chest, police reported at Baton Rouge, La.

Montreal Alouettes, Canadian football champions, will meet Calgary Stampeders in an exhibition tilt at Calgary next Aug. 19, Lew Hayman, Al's director-coach, announced Wednesday night. Alouettes won their first Grey Cup in 18 years by defeating Stampeders in Toronto last November.

Frank Filchock, whose good right arm helped Montreal Alouettes win the Canadian football championship last fall, is helping coach Clyde Smith of Indiana University with spring practice at Bloomington, Ind. Smith coached the forward-passing ace in high school.

Pitcher Bill Dietrich's 15-year-old son is really a chip off the old block. Bill, Jr., pitched a no-hit, no-run game Tuesday for Frankford High, beating Bok Tech 3-0 at Philadelphia. Bill, Sr., hurled a no-hitter in 1937 while pitching for Chicago White Sox against St. Louis Browns.

Two Peterborough teams are at present leading the Canadian Bowling Association Tournament being held at Toronto. Right behind in second slot is another Peterborough entry, McGillis Hotel with 3464. Third spot goes to About Town Cab of London with 3,442 and fourth place to Bowaldrome of Timmins with 3,322.

In the individual events local bowlers failed to place in the first five.

Shockey's were winners of the local City Five-Pin League, showing their lead in the CBA is no fluke. The team is composed of Bud Goodson, Bill Harris, Gene Reynolds, Phil Pryde and Doug Abraham.

The McGillis squad, who placed third in the City League and who are in second spot in the Toronto tourney include Holly Mowry, Bill Boon, Mel Anthony, Roy Suddards and Jack Wade.

Those 4.30 a.m. touches from Brantford in the late lamented puck playoffs were as nothing to our introduction to that city in sports. 'Twas back in the early 30s when we travelled there with the Petes in boxla provincial playoffs, the Six Nations Indians of that area beating the locals in a close series. Box lacrosse was pretty new then, but we had a good team drawing well in the old Brock St. arena in the playoffs. If we recall rightly, some of our players then were Doug Miller, Pete King, Ira Dundas, Bud Fisher, Red Creighton, Mick Magee, Fred Goodfellow, Shine Bovin, etc. Ran into a snowstorm early in November coming from Brantford on that haul and didn't arrive in town till 7.30 a.m. Worked right through, of course, and didn't hit the hay till out in the afternoon. Ho, hum.

Speaking of the gutted-stick game—the seniors aren't saying much till players are signed up—there'll be a meeting of the Minor Lacrosse Association at eight tomorrow eve in Ken Kingston's house at 21 Manning Ave. Open to officials, coaches, etc. The annual meeting to elect officers, take entries, make reports and figure on plans for the season. Jerry Fitzgerald, the St. Catharines star, will be head coach of the PMLA this year, as well as playing for the senior "A" Petes in OLA competition. It is likely there'll be a four-team junior section operating this summer with a playdown bye.

Softball Schools, Huh?

OASA bulletin No. 7 arrives to tell us that the community programs branch of the Ontario government is ready to aid in operation of district softball schools to instruct umpires, coaches and managers. Local leagues must arrange for location of such schools and handle reservations and entries. All instructional expenses for approved schools will be paid for by the programs branch. If anyone here or in the district is interested, he should advise the OASA secretary shortly. The bulletin also advises closer co-operation with recreation directors and commissions, which is a good idea.

Al Watkins informs us that the annual re-organization meeting of the City Baseball League will be held a week from tonight at 7.30 in the YMCA. It is open to everyone interested. Election of officers, reports and plans for the season will be on the agenda. Also plans for that exhibition game arranged by Tip Top Tailors of Toronto—the world's softball champs—which had to be postponed last fall because Tip Tops were in the big tourney in the States. Such a show should take the minor ballsters here out of the hole and start 'em off right. The lights, too, in Riverside ought to be a real boost for the diamond game among the younger chaps.

Shockey's Take Title

Basketball concluded for the season here last night when Shockey's yanked out a 59-54 decision over Clapper's to take the City Cage Loop title at the "Y" in two straight. Once again, the Clapper crew got off to a slow start and their drive toward the end didn't quite make it. The playoff was marred by a raft of 55 personal fouls, and the game finished with but three aside on the floor. These guys really play for keeps, but that's far too many fouls for one fray. Doug McPherson, Barney Dundas and Jim Thorburn turned in a bangup performance for the champs while they were on the floor, as Ted Payne, Al Stewart and Bill Dadson stood out for the losers in a fine performance. And thus endeth the local hoop season.

* * * * * *

Jim Ellis is doubtful if he'll take the job again as puck coach of Legionnaires, as it takes up so much of his time. But he made an excellent job of it the past season, piloting a club which wasn't as strong as the previous year into provincial finals and making a good show there. He knows his hockey and he gets the most out of players. He also knows that there will be changes necessary in the Legion lineup another year if the team hopes to stay up around the top. Not long ago Jim remarked to us that some of the forward lines would have to be changed around and a few of the wingers replaced. Nor can Legion be sure next winter of some of those good Lindsay players.

Down Sports' Rialto

In the big CBA tourney in Toronto, Shockey's are leading the way for teams in the men's open section with a total of 3511, and McGillis bowlers are second.... Not too many contentious points to come up at the annual OHA session this week-end in Toronto.... Legion puckists are to meet at 7.30 tomorrow night at the hall to turn in equipment.... First open practice for the local senior "A" lacrossers will be at 2.30 Saturday aft in Miller Bowl, Pete King advises.... Industrial Softball League entries close at a meeting—place not announced yet—next Monday eve.... Umps wanted in this loop at an increased fee.... City Softball Loop umpires should apply shortly to Secretary Bert Bailey; one more team required in this circuit.... Girls' Softball League has five teams in now: Westclox, CGE, Marines, Woollens and Ashby's; they'll open May 26.... Umpires for the lasses' loop should apply now to Bill Flint at 47 Park St. south... Viaduct Baseball League begins play May 13; Petes will have 24 home games.... That about does it for today.

GOOD OMEN FOR CALGARY?—Four years ago a cat gave birth to kittens in Calgary Stampeders' dressing room. A week or so later the team won the Allan Cup. No other tabby used the room for a maternity ward until a couple of weeks ago when Fluffy, shown above, gave birth to kittens in Defenceman Hugh Coflin's locker. The Stampeders' meet Toronto Marlboros soon in a best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior hockey title.

Canadiens And Pats Face Off In Finals

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP)—Two junior hockey "cousin" clubs met Wednesday night across a dinner table and all was in perfect harmony.

But the preliminaries over, Montreal Canadiens and Regina Pats face off tonight as foes in the Memorial Cup finals. Both farm clubs of Montreal's National Hockey League Canadiens, Habs and Pats were guests at a dinner given by forum general-manager Frank Selke and the Canadian Arena Company.

Tonight, the plucky Pats, who surprised everyone by capturing Western honors, and Canadiens, who won in the East, open hostilities in the first game of a best-of-seven series for the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the Junior Hockey title of Canada.

Calvert Seems To Be Man Detroit Needs For Pennant

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Paul Calvert of Montreal, a $10,000 hand-me-down, seems to be the relief help Rolfe needs to make Detroit a sure-fire pennant threat.

Calvert's sale to Detroit by Washington last winter was an obscure waiver deal. But it was a key move to manager Rolfe's 1950 plans.

The manager's neat little book of past performances told a Calvert story that belied his 6-17 record and his 14 straight defeats in 1949.

Red knew he had the starting pitchers to match anything in the league. But then what?

"That's my problem," said Rolfe during spring training days at Lakeland, Fla. "If I can come up with a dependable relief man we'll be in pretty good shape. I hope Calvert will do it."

Calvert, a 31-year-old veteran with a history of arm trouble, may not be the ideal fireman But he is determined.

Gets Decision.

Against St. Louis Browns on Wednesday, Calvert slipped through two hitless innings to earn an 8-6 decision in the 10th. It was the first time he'd won since last June 3 when he beat the same club with a nine-inning effort.

Ken Wood's third homer of the season touched off a three-run Tiger uprising that routed Saul Rogovin in the fourth. It was tied at 6-6 in the 10th when a walk to Eddie Lipon, followed by singles by George Kell and Pat Mullin accounted for the winning runs off rookie Ed Albrecht.

For the second straight day, a New York Yankee pitcher went the route as Eddie Lopat stopped Boston Red Sox with eight hits, 10-2. The Yanks unloaded an 11-hit barrage including homers by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra.

Still In There

Sid Hudson, the Washington veteran who was reported "finished" in spring training, boosted the Senators into third place with a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia in a night game. The Senators ripped into Bobby Shantz and Carl Scheib for nine hits including homers by Al Evans and Eddie Yost.

At Brooklyn, where the Dodgers won 5-4 over the Phillies in 10 innings, manager Eddie Sawyer finished the game under protest because of a dispute over a ground rules double by Roy Campanella.

With one out and Duke Snider on first in the 10th, Campanella drove a long fly to left. Umpire Bab Pinelli ruled a ground rules double when a fan touched the ball. The Phils claimed the spectator prevented leftfielder Dick Sisler from making the catch.

Howie Pollet hit his 20-game winning form of 1949 with a five-hitter against the winless Cincinnati Reds. Enos Slaughter assured the St. Louis Cards of a 3-2 edge with a fifth-inning single following Stan Musial's triple.

Giants Humble Buffalo 9-7

By The Associated Press

Jersey City Giants are serving notice that they will be a power to be reckoned with in the International League this season.

Manager Joe Becker's Giants have pounded out nine homers in their first four games and if the pitching gets any better they will make the opposition say "uncle" more often.

Catcher Sal Yvars' and Monte Irvin pounded out homers Wednesday night with Yvars' clout arriving in the ninth inning with two on to give the Giants a 9-7 triumph over Buffalo Bisons.

Johnny Yuhas turned in his second complete game and victory of the season as he pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 2-1 decision over Syracuse Chiefs.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Baltimore Orioles battled to a 9-9 tie in Baltimore. The game was called after the ninth because of a local curfew.

Anse Moore, with a homer and two singles and four runs batted in, led Baltimore's 14-hit attack while Johnny Mayo and Skippy Roberge paced Toronto's 14-hit offensive with three blows each.

Shockey's Take Cage Title Over Clapper's

Shockey's Cleaners won the City Basketball League championship Wednesday night by edging Clapper Sports cagers 59-54 in a bitterly-fought contest in the YMCA. The Cleaners took the first game Monday night, thus taking the series two straight.

Wednesday night's game was a steady parade from one foul line to the other as the referees called 27 personal fouls against Clappers and 28 against Shockeys. Clappers also had five technical fouls called against them. Clappers made 20 foul attempts good as compared with the champions' 17.

Both teams started with seven players but Shockeys lost three men on fouls halfway through the second half. Shortly after Clappers lost their third man and the teams battled four to four. The Sports quintet lost another player with fouls to have to play three men to four. Shockeys fourth player left the floor seconds later ending the game with each team three men on the floor.

Took The Lead

Joe Stewart, Doug MacPherson and Barney Dundas rattled in points in a low-scoring first half for the Cleaners as they took the better side of a 26-15 score. Clappers came back with a rush in the second and were but two points behind after 10 minutes of play. With five minutes to go Clappers tied the score at 47-all.

The last few minutes were frantic wtih Bill Moorehead of the Cleaners making interceptions and driving under the hoop to give the champions a comfortable lead to win the city honors.

A slow start in both games by the Clapper quintet caused its downfall in both games. Clappers outscored Shockeys 39-33 in the second half Wednesday night but could not make up for the slow start. This was similar to the first game Monday when Shockeys drove to a 9-0 lead in the early minutes of the game before Clappers began to move.

Barey Dundas with seven field goals and steady playing throughout the game was a standout for the Cleaners while Captain Doug MacPherson drifted home 18 points to lead the scorers. Clappers gave Jimmy Thorburn, who slipped in 27 points in the first game, special attention but he still scored 13 points. Even then Thorburn left the game with 10 minutes to go for five personals.

Ted Payne of the Clapper quintet was the centre attack scoring 15 points. Captain Al Stewart followed close with 14. Bill Dadson kept Clappers in the game at the end of the contest with a run of nine points. Line-ups:

Shockey's Cleaners — Jim Thorburn 13, Doug MacPherson 18, Barney Dundas 14, Bill Moorehead 7, Errol Hanbidge, Doug Plunkett 1, Joe Stewart 6.

Clappers—Al Stewart 14, Vic Griffin 3, Bill Dadson 9, Tom Taylor 2, Al Menzies, Ted Evans 11, Ted Payne 15.

NZ Hermit Scorns Atomic Bombs "The Last Man"?

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUNEDIN, N. Z., — (CP) — Atomic-age-hermit Jules Berg could some day be the last man left on earth.

If in some future war atomic or hydrogen bombs were to send death-dealing radio-active waves around the world wiping out all life, Berg would stand a good chance of being the lone survivor.

For 25 years he has lived alone on Preservation Inlet, probably the least susceptible area on earth to radioactivity.

For one thing, Berg's inlet is about as far from likely centres of conflict as any place on earth. In addition, its climate and topography provide natural protection against radio-active air.

Preservation Inlet is a fiord in the extreme southwest corner of New Zealand. A deep, narrow arm of the sea, it runs inland for about 20 miles between steep mountain walls which would tend to block radio-active clouds. And its dense rainfall would clear death-dealing matter out of the atmosphere.

Fiord County, in which Preservation Inlet falls, covers more than 3,000 square miles and has a population of eight. It is mostly dense forest and jagged mountain and is still largely unexplored. The only feasible access to the inlet is by sea.

Berg lived in the remote spot like a comfortable Robinson Crusoe. He has a cottage and extensive vegetable garden and gets fresh meat from an ingenious deer trap in the adjacent forest. Occasional visitors swear to the potency of his parsnip wine.

What's more he has a gold mine right on the premises which he works when he feels like it, but as civilization provides little he needs, he usually lets the gold stay where it is.

LOBA Turns Down Stratford Protest

Official word has been received here from the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association has thrown out a protest by the Stratford YWCA on the final intermediate "B" playoff game staged here, which Towne Togs won for the provincial title. Stratford protested the refereeing chiefly. The following copy of a letter by the protest committee to the LOBA president has been forwarded to the Togs' sponsor, Isadore Black:

The protest committee, after reviewing thoroughly the letter of protest submitted by the manager of the Stratford YWCA intermediate "B" basketball team on the game played in Peterborough on Saturday, April 15, against Peterborough Towne Togs in the LOBA intermediate "B" final, interviewed Mr. Neilson of the Stratford club, Mr. Cipin, the official in charge of the game, and Mr. Black of the Peterborough Towne Togs team.

Due to insufficient evidence being submitted, we recommend that the games remain as played. We would, however, recommend the following be considered for future playoff games: 1. That games only be played in gymnasia that are properly equipped. 2. That oficials for these games be appointed from leagues other than those of the competing teams or from an approved board of basketball officials. (Signed) H. E. McBrien, Roy E. Pethick, B. A. Blackburn.

Use Libraries For Vacation Data

LONDON, —(CP)—A scheme to use public libraries for distribution of vacation information has been launched by the Home Holidays Division of the British Tourist and Holidays Board.

More than 350 libraries, all in industrial areas, are backing the scheme, which is part of a national campaign to develop the "holiday habit."

One of the functions of the Home Holidays Division is to encourage more people to take vacations away from home in accordance with the generally accepted theory that the beneficial effect on health and morale which comes from a complete break from day-to-day environment is reflected in a stepping-up of industrial efficiency.

The scheme aims at providing workers in industrial areas with on-the-spot information about vacation resorts. Instead of writing to individual resorts for guide books and tariffs, workers will be able to walk into the local library and secure information they need to plan their vacation program.

Red Offensive In Iran Worrying U.S.

By STANLEY SWINTON

TEHERAN, Iran, April 27 (AP) —A pepped up Soviet propaganda offensive has once more made Iran a hot front in the cold war.

The "Free Azerbaijan Radio," operating from inside the Soviet Union, is spearheading the campaign against the neighboring Iranian government. The new broadcast line started about 10 weeks ago and has been mounting steadily in violence, even inciting Iranians to revolt.

A recent Washington dispatch said State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States was deeply concerned over alarming reports reaching him from the American ambassador to Iran, John C. Wiley.

Good Build-Up

Reports of radio monitors here show these four consistent propaganda themes in Soviet broadcasts beamed this way:

1. An attempt to blame United States "intervention" for Iran's economic depression.
2. Persistent charges that the U.S. is turning the Iranian army into an "American stooge."
3. An attempt to picture the Shah—hitherto usually exempt from Soviet attack — as under American influence.
4. An effort to picture the Iranian government as so corrupt it should be overthrown.

Accompanying these attacks are paens of praise for the outlawed Tuden (Communist) party, whose growth since economic depression began here has Western diplomats openly worried.

It was in Azerbaijan, the Northern Iran province which borders the Soviet Union, that Persian Communists set up a "people's republic" in 1945-46, only to have it collapse despite Soviet political backing.

Confirmation Service In St. Paul's, Marmora

MARMORA, April 27 (ENS)—His Grace Archbishop J. Lyons of Kingston, officiated at the service of confirmation in St. Paul's Church on Tuesday, when five young people received the apostolic rite at his hands. The candidates were presented by the rector, Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie.

The rector of Madoc, the Rev. T. H. Good, was also in attendance and read the scriptural passages. The quartet "God So Loved the World" from Stainer's Crucifixion, was repeated by the same choir members who rendered it on Easter day—Rural Dean Brownlie, H. R. Pearce, Mesdames L. R. Rundle and R. Frost. The choir also sang the anthem "Still, Still With Thee," by W. E. Fletcher.

The archbishop spoke to the candidates on the importance of the step in their church life which they were taking and addressed the congregation in general on the stiff task confronting the church today alluding in particular to the needs of those dioceses which make up the northland.

He had recently attended provincial synods of Ontario and Ruperts Land. He urged support of the missionary effort in the Canadian north. At the close of the service the archbishop met each member of the congregation.

Tierney Gets New Chance At Film Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (AP) — Lawrence Tierney, onetime stormy figure of Hollywood night life, appears headed for another chance at a film career.

The actor, who had a knack for making headlines a couple of years back, is making a film return in "Shakedown." He says Universal International has an option for a term contract after the picture and "it looks as though they will pick it up."

Tierney, who starred in "Dillinger" and a number of night club pictures, left RKO two years ago. Since then he has made a picture in Portugal and done some theatre work in the east. He is portraying a gangster in the new film, but he doesn't appear concerned about being typed. "Many stars have made a mint by being typed," he said.

Around The Set

Shelley Winters reports a fan objected to stories that she was dieting. "Men like to dream about pretty girls," she said. "Do you think they dream about skinny ones?"

Lucille Ball has been helping along the TB X-ray drive. When she had her chest X-rayed for a publicity photo in La Jolla, pneumonia spots were discovered on her lung. She went right across the street and stayed in a hospital for a week.

Allan Ladd is holding to his edict against beefcake (male cheesecake). Part of the plot of "Branded" concerns an identifying mark on his shoulder. He insists that only one shoulder be bared in the film, not his whole chest.

Capsule Review

"A Ticket to Tomahawk" has a delightful time spoofing the horse opera. Everything is there—the gun-toting gal, the travelling salesman, the outlaws, the Indian attacks and the train that must get through. All of this is played with tongue in cheek and it adds up to a lot of fun. Dan Bailey and Ann Baxter star in the amiable western.

Satellite People Afraid To Mix With Westerners

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP) — The government reported Wednesday Russia is succeeding in an organized campaign to seal off European satellites from the west in the same way she seals off her own people.

"Contacts of every kind have been drastically reduced and citizens of the satellite countries are becoming increasingly afraid to associate with westerners, who are depicted as exclusively engaged in spying activities," said the monthly bulletin of the External Affairs Department.

An article gave numerous sample incidents to back up its statement that " the progressive deterioration since the war of relations between western countries and the Communist-dominated countries of Eastern Europe has been accelerated during the past year. . . in particular through interference of all kinds with westerners."

The "most flagrant type of interference" was that of "unwarranted attacks" on western diplomatic personnel. There had been at least a dozen of these in the last 12 months, the most notable being Bulgaria's demand for withdrawal of U. S. Minister Donald Heath.

Czechoslovakia had expelled American, French, Notherlands and Canadian representatives in a "particularly blatant" campaign. Its government still had produced no evidence to substantiate its charges of spying and abusing hospitality against the n.c.o.'s of the RCAF.

Many Arrested

A Czech clerk at Canada's legation was one of numerous satellite citizens working for western legations to be arrested on vague charges.

The small number of western newspapermen in Poland and Czechoslovakia "has been forcibly reduced by roughly half."

Even the activities of international relief organizations, among them United Nations bodies and the Red Cross, "have been almost terminated." Private individuals, particularly businessmen, "are now subject to arbitrary arrest and trial for espionage or similar charges."

American citizens had disappeared without sign. American and British citizens had been sentenced to prison and access to them by officials "was at all times denied in flat contradiction to the most elementary international usage."

Interpreting the interference, the bulletin said:

"Perhaps its most alarming aspect for a westerner is the fundamental difference in concept it reveals concerning the worth of the individual and his relationship with the state.. . . . It is obviously carefully organized within each country. . . . The methods are so similar as to create the impression that they receive outside direction.

"The purpose appears to be to insulate the satellites from the West to the same extent as the USSR. It must be admitted that efforts to do this have so far had considerable success. . . . The Soviet pattern is slowly being imposed on the smaller states of Eastern Europe, not only in their economies, politics, security, and ideology but even in their treatment of westerners as individuals.

Seaway Plans Said Vital To U.S. Midwest

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) —Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said today failure to construct the St. Lawrence Seaway might force the midwestern United States steel industry to migrate to the east coast.

Such a possibility is likely, Wiley said, because of the "imminent" exhaustion of the Lake Superior iron ores upon which the steel industry—largely centred in the Great Lakes area—has drawn for decades.

He testified before the House of Representatives Public Works Committee which is considering legislation to authorize the Seaway and its accompanying power project.

The future ore supply must come from foreign sources, Labrador and South America, Wiley said. And, unless an economical transportation medium like the proposed Seaway is constructed the ores will not be available to the midwest, he added.

Life of Midwest

"The while life and death of the midwest and its industry depend on a continuation of the present plants in their present position," he said in a statement for the committee.

He said for Congress to continue to reject the Seaway proposal is an "affront" to all Presidents of the United States since Warren G. Harding as they have "unanimously" endorsed the project.

"I respect the convictions of (Seaway) opponents," Wiley said, "but I must respectfully submit that the opponents are as unfortunately blind as those who opposed the Panama Canal because they thought it would be a waste of money . . . and a danger to the nation's railroads and ports."

Wiley said it was essential that both the Seaway and power works be undertaken together. He said he opposed a proposal by New York state and the Province of Ontario to undertake construction of the power works alone.

Czechs Closing Consulates In 3 Countries

PRAGUE, April 2 (Reuters) — Czechoslovakia is to close her consulates in London, Paris and Budapest, it was announced here Wednesday. The functions of the consulates will be taken over in London and Paris by the Czechoslovak embassies and in Budapest by the Czechoslovak legation.

In Washington State Secretary Acheson disclosed a new counter-blow against Romania. That country was requested Tuesday to close down within two weeks an unauthorized consulate branch in New York City, the secretary announced.

The action apparently was in retaliation for Romania's closing of the United States information service office in Bucharest, ordered March 2 amid a flurry of charges that American employees were involved in anti-Communist plotting.

Stay In Berlin

Acheson took advantage of his weekly press conference to state the firm determination of the United States and other western powers to keep their hold in Berlin under any pressure. Communists in the Russian sector of Berlin have announced their intention of staging a monster demonstration in the western sectors the last weekend of May.

A reporter asked whether there would be a formal warning to Russia in advance along with a notice to the United Nations Security Council. Acheson replied that it has been made clear in Britain, the United States and France that the western powers intended to remain firm indeed.

All possible steps to deal with the demonstration had been given the most thorough consideration, he said, adding: "when the commotion clears away we will still be in Berlin."

Woodstock Funeral For Francis N. Hipson

MARMORA, April 27 (ENS)— A funeral service was held Monday at Woodstock for Francis Norman Hipson, 16, who died on Friday in hospital at Woodstock. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. McNeely of Central United Church, Woodstock, and burial took place in Woodstock cemetery.

Born in Marmora, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hipson and brother of Mrs. John Van Volkenburg of Marmora township and William of Toronto.

Students Storm City Hall On Teacher Pay

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)— Three thousand students, many of them girls, besieged the city hall for five hours Wednesday in an angry protest against teachers' wages and cancelled out-of-class activities.

Demanding pay increases for their high school teachers, the screaming teen-agers smashed a 30-foot section of city hall park railing in trying to storm the hall and lay their grievances before Mayor William O'Dwyer. The mayor was not at his office at the time.

More than 100 patrolmen, augmented by mounted police, blocked their march on the mayor's office. Barricades of benches were thrown up at exits to confine the demonstration to the park.

Several students, thrown to the ground by the surge of their milling schoolmates, suffered cuts and bruises. There were no arrests.

March Prearranged

One police official termed the march prearranged. He said signs urging the students to go to city hall and demand pay increases for their teachers were posted in washrooms at many high schools.

Police estimated that at least 10,000 students took part in other demonstrations in front of schools in scattered sections of the city. In Brooklyn, a 15-year-old youth was arrested on an assault charge after he shoved a policeman.

The yelling youngsters waved placards demanding more pay for teachers and restoration of their curtailed after-school amusements.

The new city budget provides $250 yearly pay increases for teachers instead of a requested $650. In protest the teachers refused to supervise after-hours activities, forcing cancellation of spring proms and athletic events.

Before the city hall police guard was strengthened, a vanguard of the students brushed aside three patrolmen and stormed into the building. Police reinforcements ejected the youths without incident.

Has Housing Scheme

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP) — Rev. J. Emile Vezina, parish priest of Our Lady of the Presentation Church, Wednesday announced a new scheme for the construction of 140 housing units in the Overbrook district of Ottawa. Sponsored by the church, the homes are aimed at alleviating housing problems of members of the parish. No estimate of the total cost was given.

Assef Loses Appeal

WINDSOR, April 27 (CP) — An appeal by Joseph Assef against a maximum six-month sentence for boot-legging was dismissed Wednesday by Judge Ian MacRae of London. The judgment of Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan in sentencing Assef on March 8 was a chief factor in touching off the recent Windsor police commission inquiry into activities in the force.

Diets Not Enough

KITCHENER, April 27 (CP)— Low-calorie diets alone will seldom lead to success for overweight patients, Dr. F. N. Allan, of Boston, said Wednesday night. Addressing 150 doctors at the first annual clinic day of the North Waterloo Medical Society, he said a doctor must first "obtain the motive for which the patient desires to lose weight and use that motive in his treatment."

Slips On Lettuce Leaf Shopper Gets $1,100

TORONTO, April 27 — Mrs. Leona L. Parker, Maitland Apts., was awarded $1,100 damages Tuesday for injuries she received when she slipped on a lettuce leaf and fell in the rotunda of the Loblaw groceteria at 18 St. Clair Ave. E. here. She fractured a bone in her foot and sprained her thumb.

The assize court jury which heard the case set the damages at $2,200 but ruled that Mrs. Parker was just as much to blame for the mishap as the store was. Mr. Justice Kelly therefore entered judgment for half the amount, $1,100.

The jury said the lettuce leaf was "an unusual danger" because it was in the rotunda, a long way from the vegetable counter. It felt, however, that Mrs. Parker should have seen it "because the store was well lighted."

Kinsey's Report On Women Previewed By Two Writers In Magazine

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP) — A preview Wednesday of Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's next report says women reach the peak of their sexual drive at about 29. In men it occurs in the teenages.

Dr. Kinsey, it says, also finds more homosexuals among women than men. And that the frequency of sexual outlet varies more greatly among women than men.

Dr. Kinsey's new book, to be published next year, is Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." The preview is given in a magazine by Morris Ernst and David Loth.

They said they have worked closely with Dr. Kinsey and his associates, and through study of his work "we now are able to indicate the most significant of their findings." Ernst is a lawyer and Loth a writer on planned parenthood and fertility.

The first Kinsey report found that males attain their maximum sexual drive in their teens.

Later Peak

Women, said Ernst and Loth, "reach their peak of sexual drive several years after the average age of marriage. Based on what Dr. Kinsey has said, we expect his figures to show that this peak is reached at about the age of 29.

"Unlike that of men, it does not decline at once, but rather remains at an average high level a sort of plateau, for five or six years."

"This peak never is as high as that of men, taking the average of both sexes. But the frequency of sexual outlet is about the same for men and women from the age of 25 on."

As to the amount of frequency of sexual gratification in women, Ernst and Loth tell this story:

Dr. Kinsey, in a lecture, "pointed out that the 'normal' frequency of sexual outlets for males ranges from once a month or less to four times a day averaged over many years.

"He represented this graphically on a blackboard by a line two or three feet long, the dot at the left of the line representing the least, and the dot at the right the greatest frequency.

"The range for women, he said, would start at the same point at the left for least frequency, but would extend for women representing the greatest frequency 'to here,' and he walked to the other side of the stage."

Slower Development

The sexual development of women is slower, they said. The Kinsey report on males showed that 92 per cent of males have experienced orgasm—sexual climax—by the time they are 15. Dr. Kinsey has said that only about 25 per cent of females have done so at this age. It is anticipated that his figures will show that not until the age of nearly 30 can it be said that 90 per cent of women have experienced orgasm.

Homosexual contacts accounted for as much as 22.6 per cent of the total sexual outlet of bachelor men from 31 to 35 years old, the first Kinsey report said.

"The Kinsey figures on women, it can be anticipated, will show an even greater incidence of homosexuality among women. However, they probably will not bear out the statements of such earlier authorities as Havelock Ellis that there is twice as much homosexuality among women as among men."

Other findings, they said, are:

As among males, inhibitions about sex increase with education. But certain inhibitions, such as those barring nudity or variations in sex play, are more common among the less educated.

Confirmation can be expected of earlier studies showing that one-third of college women who marry never attain orgasm.

Women Frank

Women were just as frank as men in talking about sex to the Kinsey interviewers.

"The percentage of extra-marital experience among women probably will be a good deal lower than it is for men, although still high enough to indicate a very wide gap between principle and practice."

Ernst and Loth said Dr. Kinsey was asked whether sex behavior of the modern young woman had been altered by new freedoms and styles.

"He said he was not sure there had been as much of a change as was popularly supposed. He pointed out that many women who talk very differently about sex than did an older generation, really may not be acting so differently.

"The experience of marriage counselors shows that in the days of strictest sex taboos few 'nice' women would have admitted sexual satisfaction, while nowadays it is sought for. Therefore, women are willing to talk more freely to others, while their behavior remains very much the same as those who lived in a day when they could confide only in a doctor, if then."

Unsupported By Husband Asks Father-In-Law Pay

MONTREAL, April 27—(CP)— A New York woman Wednesday took action under a Quebec law which states if a husband will not support his wife her father-in-law must.

The wife, Alexandra Nichola Marcoglu, asked Mr. Justice George Challies in superior court to order her millionaire father-in-law, a resident of suburban Westmount, to pay her $2,000 a month. She claims her husband will not support her.

The father-in-law is Apostolos K. Pezas. The husband is Igor Pezas, 30, whom the plaintiff married Dec. 28, 1947.

Mrs. Pezas' counsel contended that the husband is domiciled in Montreal, against Pezas' contention he is a resident of New York City.

Mrs. Pezas claims that from the time of her marriage until November, 1949, when she says her husband deserted her, the elder Pezas had made available to his son and daughter-in-law $3,000 monthly in United States funds for their current living expenses. Since the desertion, she says, the husband has contributed nothing to her support.

She maintains her father-in-law is worth more than $15,000,000 and has an income of $300,000 per year.

The husband testified he considers the Windsor Hotel in New York his permanent residence. He admitted that since January, 1949, he had not lived there.

For six months after that time, he said, he lived at the Chalet Cochand, St. Marguerite, Que. He also lived for a time with his mother-in-law on Park Avenue, New York, where, he said, he paid the rent, and also with his father in Westmount.

Questioned by Mrs. Pezas' counsel, the husband said he doesn't work and never worked. He said he came to this continent from Greece in 1946 and lived in Canada about a year before going to New York.

Mr. Justice Challies took under deliberation the question of domicile.

Resort Operators Set Up Boundaries

RAINY RIVER, Ont., — (CP)— Resort owners in surrounding districts have set up boundaries in line with an amendment to the constitution of the Northern Ontario Outfitters Association.

At the association's recent convention at Kenora an amendment was passed calling for the chartering of local organizations and setting up of boundaries for the groups.

The boundaries were set by the Northwestern Ontario Camp Owners Association at a Fort Frances meeting. They are subject to approval by the N.O.O.A.

There are about 60 camp operators and outfitters in the Rainy River District.

British Evacuee Now 21 Returns Home

LONDON.—(CP)—Ernest Scott, one of the first British children evacuated to Canada in 1940, has arrived back in London after hitch-hicking across the Rockies, stooking wheat and digging holes for telephone poles. He is now 21.

Ernest previously came home in 1946, got a job, didn't like it and went back to Vancouver. He persuaded his parents to make the same trip. His father gave up his watchmaking job and sold the house and car to pay the fares.

After six months in Vancouver, father and mother returned, but Ernest stayed behind.

"I got danger money riding tugs loaded with nitro-glycerine from Vancouver Island," Ernest said. "I worked in a steel rope factory. Then I went hungry because jobs were hard to get.

"But I managed to save $25, packed my bag and started trekking east. I hitch-hiked most of the way to Montreal, got a job on a ship and came home via Capetown, Fremantle, Russia and Holland."

Now Ernest works as porter at a block of West End apartments and once more lives with his parents in southeast London.

Red Dean Gets Storm Of Jeers

BRISBANE, Australia, April 27 (Reuters). — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, "Red" Dean of Canterbury, England, raised a storm of jeers and whistles here Wednesday when he told 500 university students that "religion in Russia is free."

And when he said that the dropping of an atom bomb on the Japanese city of Hiroshima had been "the most ruthless, brutal act ever perpetrated," the saudents shouted: "What about the Burma-Siam Road?" (This was a wartime Japanese project on which many Australian prisoners of war were worked to death.)

The students asked him whethere he was representing the Church of England on his visit to Australia, and if not, did he not think he should resign. The Dean answered, "Think of me not as the representative of anybody, but as a common man."

Beaten To Punch

TORONTO, April 27 (CP) — Board of Control, which just five days ago authorized negotiations to purchase Oakwood stadium as a civic recreational centre, was astonished Wednesday to learn that the civic board of education has already made a verbal agreement to purchase the site for a new $950,000 school for crippled children.

Would Honor Novelist Balzac

QUEBEC, April 27 — (CP). — Jean Bruchesi, assistant provincial secretary and general president of the Canadian Authors Society, Quebec section, Wednesday released for publication a statement from three French literary associations deploring lack of centenary ceremonies in Canada to mark the death of Honore de Balzac, famous French novelist.

The three associations said they read an exchange of correspondence between Mr. Bruchesi and the Montreal Diocesan Catholic Action Committee.

In the exchange Mr. Bruchesi announced the authors' intention of honoring the French writer's memory this year with ceremonis and an exhibition. Msgr. Albert Valois, director of the Montreal Diocese Committee opposed the ceremonies on the grounds that Balzac's writings were on the Roman Catholic Church's index.

(The index is a list of books whose reading is forbidden to Catholics.)

The Canadian society then decided to abandon its project which had been planned in conjunction with the French Cultural Affairs Service.

DOUKHOBOR PROTEST — Half-naked Sons of Freedom Doukhobors chant hymns as the home of Paul Tarasoff burns, the 100th home in three days to be destroyed in the latest outbreak by the radical branch of Doukhobors at Krestova in the Kootenay area of southeastern British Columbia. They said the fires were "their protest against a developing war." Many of the women also disrobed and even little tots were stripped by their mothers.

Rooney Shaking His Fists Again

NEW YORK, April 27 — (CP). —A row backstage at the Broadway musical show "'Texas Li'l Darlin'" came to light Tuesday with screen star Mickey Rooney and stage actor Fred Wayne in fist-shaking roles and pretty singer Mary Hatcher, 21, in between.

Some of the details were not too clear, but eye-witnesses agreed on this much:

Rooney, on a visit from Hollywood, went to see the show. Miss Hatcher, a friend, tossed him a greeting across the footlights. Wayne later objected, and said ad libbing interfered with his singing "affable, baldin' me."

Miss Hatcher told Rooney of Wayne's displeasure. Rooney went to see Wayne, accompanied by his friend—sometimes called his bodyguard—Charles Bianco. There was an argument. Some said there were fisticuffs. Others denied it.

Rooney's only comment: "'Me? I don't need a bodyguard."

Superintendent Dies

BROCKVILLE, April 27 (CP) Mrs. Wilfrid M. Livingston, 72, superintendent of prison work in Ontario for the Women's Christian Temperance Union for 17 years, died here Wednesday. Born in Carleton county she was a Dominion and Provincial life member of the organization. Surviving are her husband and two daughters.

Judge Herbert Barton Defies Toronto Council On Parking Problem

TORONTO, April 27 (CP) — Council faced up to its own parking problem a while back and ruled that judges, among others, may not—repeat not—park in the city hall courtyard.

But that didn't stop county judge T. Herbert Barton.

"They can't put me out," he said, quoting from a city-county agreement about facilities for county officials.

Board of Control squirmed uncomfortably Wednesday at the prospect of whipping the judge into line.

"Let's not tangle with that one" said Controller John Innes.

His colleagues concurred. The city's legal department got the job—and this advice:

"Be diplomatic."

UN Renews Battle To Get Information

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 27 (CP)—The United Nations Human Rights Commission Wednesday renewed demands for a special world treaty on freedom of information.

The commission voted 9 to 2 urging the UN General Assembly to start work again on a proposed convention of freedom of information.

The United States and Greece opposed the move, claiming it pre-judges an assembly decision on whether or not to go ahead with the convention. Last fall the assembly postponed action on a proposed convention because of serious differences among delegates.

U.S. Keeps Hands Off Partition Of Ireland

DUBLIN, April 27 (Reuters)—Sean MacBride, external affairs minister for the Republic of Ireland, Wednesday released the text of notes passed between the United States and the Republic last year, in which the United States said the question of the partition of Ireland is "entirely the concern" of the British and Republican governments.

MacBride told parliament last July that Washington had "let it be known that American policy would not allow President Truman to intervene between Ireland and Britain in order to secure the ending of partition."

Says Visit On

TORONTO, April 27 (CP). — Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the Canadian Peace Conference, said Wednesday that Dr. Hewlett Johnson, "Red" Dean of Canterbury, definitely plans to visit Canada early in May. Earlier it was reported Dr. Johnson had cancelled his Canadian visit.

White House Habitue Convicted Of Lying

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) —John Margon, once a hanger-on around the White House, was convicted Wednesday of criminally lying to Senators.

He was found guilty of perjuring himself about his bank accounts and employment and sent to jail until time for sentencing — perhaps a week from Friday.

But he was cleared of one of the government's main charges, that he lied about business deals with Federal departments. He was accused of doing the lying when he testified last year to Senators investigating influence peddlers and "five per centers."

Five per centers are persons who charge a fee, usually five per cent, for representing others in business matters with the government.

Newspaperman Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP) — John Gladstone Grace, 90, veteran Ottawa newspaperman, died Wednesday.

A member of an old Ottawa family, Mr. Grace knew every outstanding political figure from Sir John A. Macdonald to Prime Minister St. Laurent. He was a colorful figure, wearing clothing of the vogue of the '80s and '90s, but he belied his advanced years by taking an active interest in public affairs.

Once connected with the old Ottawa Free Press, the fore-runner of the Ottawa Journal, Mr. Grace founded a weekly newspaper "United Canada" in Ottawa before the turn of the century. The weekly had not been published for a number of years.

He contributed many articles on Canada to United States newspapers and magazines and was regarded as an authority on Irish affairs.

Hospital Takes Girl With Polio

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP) — Maureen O'Reilly, five-year-old polio victim who disappeared with her father March 28, was admitted to hospital here Wednesday and officials said her condition is not serious.

The blond-haired child and her father, Richard O'Reilly, 36, came to Montreal from their home in Bourlamaque in Quebec's northwest mining district to seek hospital space for the sick girl. O'Reilly told his wife he would return home April 14, but both disappeared when no hospital space could be found here.

The father and daughter were found last week in Cornwall, staying with friends after Quebec police launched a widespread search.

O'Reilly's sister, Mrs. G. W. Fougere of Montreal, managed to find space Alexandra Hospital here through the aid of the Veterans' Affairs Department.

The father disappeared again early this week and has not been located since.

Adler Admits Aiding Subversive Groups

HARTFORD, Conn., April 27—(AP). — Harmonica player Larry Adler on Wednesday denied a housewife's charge that he is pro-Communist, but admitted aiding half a dozen organizations tagged subversive.

He testified before a Federal Court jury in a libel suit against Mrs. Hester McCullough, Greenwich, Conn., housewife.

Taking the stand in the $200,000 suit which he and dancer Paul Draper have brought against Mrs. McCullough, the Baltimore-born Adler denied being a Communist, Communist sympathizer, or traitor.

Adler told the jury that as a result of Mrs. McCullough's charges, he and Draper "are as of this moment unable to obtain work in the United States."

Calls Liquor Act Insane

BRAMPTON, April 27—(CP)—Magistrate T. H. Moorehead yesterday called the Canada Temperance Act "an insane law." The law governs the sale of beer and liquor in Peel County. The magistrate made the comment when he fined F. S. Clarke, of nearby Bolton $50 and costs or 30 days for transporting liquor into the county. It was the first case of its kind in Peel. Judgment was reserved for one week on a charge of keeping liquor for sale.

Experts See No Relief For Three More Weeks

OTTAWA, April 27—(CP)—A sharp climb in beef prices has been recorded across Canada in the last few weeks and government and industry experts say no relief is expected until the middle of next month. Advances of between five and 12 cents a pound for various beef cuts have been reported in almost every major Canadian centre.

Officials say the jump has been caused by off-season scarcity and by a continuing high demand for Canadian steaks in the United States. As a result there has been a marked boost in consumption of lower-priced pork.

Pork now is the No. 1 item on the Canadian dinner table. Consumption is estimated at 59.3 pounds a year on a per-capita basis, compared with 58.5 pounds of beef. Veal is 9.1 pounds, mutton and lamb, 3.0; offals, 5.6 and canned meats 5.7.

Question of Supply

With demand for beef ranging high in Canada and in the United States, the question to supply is growing more important daily and the immediate outlook appears to be for a smalled output this year than a year ago.

Last year Canada produced 1,047,000,000 pounds of beef, a drop of about 50,000,000 pounds from the previous year. Officials estimate that another 50,000,000-pound drop may occur this year.

This decrease will continue, say officials, until Canadian ranchers can replenish their herds, depleted by the drive of live Canadian animals into the American market since the export embargo was lifted in August, 1948.

Lifting the embargo has resulted in the American market consuming about one-third of Canadian beef production. While this was one factor in higher Canadian prices, it also was a factor in an increase of Canada's U. S. dollar reserves. However, the price situation may be eased after Canadian ranchers start moving gross-fed fed cattle to market, expected about mid-May. From then on, through summer months, Canadian beef prices may be a few cents a pound lower.

Meanwhile, Canadian hog producers are making hay. Pork prices have been dropping a few cents a pound in some cities, but the demand has been sufficient to keep prices higher than those Canada can get from her top foreign pork market—the United Kingdom.

As a result, Canada may not be able to fulfill the 1950 Anglo-Canadian bacon contract which calls for shipment of 60,000,000 pounds at 29 cents a pound. About 10,000,000 pounds have been shipped so far.

Canadian are expected to consume most of the almost 1,000,000,000 pounds of pork likely to be produced this year.

Up Seven 7 Cents

Toronto's beef prices have climbed about seven cents a pound, but pork prices have dropped from two to four cents. Porterhouse is selling at 82 cents; sirloin, wing and round steak at 79. Shoulder pork is going at 37, compared with 41 two weeks ago and butts are moving at 49, down two cents. Other pork prices; Lion cuts at 43, down six cents a pound and ham at 53—the same as a fortnight ago.

In Ottawa, some beef prices have gone up 10 cents a pound, with porterhouse and sirloin now selling at 79 and wing steaks or roasts at 75. Shoulder pork is going at 69 and butts at 42.

In Montreal, prices have advanced three and four cents, with porter house selling at 75; sirloin at 85 and round steak at 75. Shoulder pork is going at 49 and butts at 46.

Government Finds Most Farmers Good Risks On Farm Loan Deals

OTTAWA, April 27 — (CP)— When it comes to borrowing money, Canadian farmers are proving to the government that they are top-notch security risks.

Taking advantage of government-guaranteed bank loans, about 115,000 farmers during the last five years borrowed more than $100,000,000 — and in that time the government has had to meet only 13 bank-loss claims. The total amount involved in the claims was $10,200.

In that time, too, the farmers repaid more than half of the total amount borrowed. This was disclosed Wednesday in the 1949 annual statement of the Farm Improvement Loans Act, tabled in the Comomns by James Sinclair, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

Loans for Improvements

The loans were mainly to build new farm buildings, buy new equipment, and otherwise improve farm lands.

The report said this showed up particularly in 1949 when loans for farm implements and trucks comprised $87.6 per cent of all loans. Last year there was a trend toward greater use of the loans plan in Eastern Canada.

"While the greatest number of these loans—86.6 per cent—was in Western Canada," the report said, "the increase for the year in Eastern Canada was 125.1 per cent, compared with 45.4 per cent in the West."

This indicated "a greater use of the Act in Eastern Canada than had been the case in the past."

Spending for farm buildings last year amounted to more than $2,000,000, an increase of 50 per cent over building loans in 1948. The report said this was due in part to "an increasing desire by many farm families to raise the level of living conditions in rural areas."

Generally, the report concluded, the loans plan was serving its purposes.

Sent To Hospital

BRANTFORD, April 27 (CP)— Held by police on a charge of attempted suicide, Leonard Marcella, 21, Wednesday was committed to a mental hospital. Marcella, arrested Sunday after an altercation with Wilfred Chase, later tried to hang himself in jail police said.

Drew Urges Gov't Operate On Business-Like Basis

OTTAWA, April 27 — (CP) — The government was urged in the Commons W nesday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, to put its operations on a business-like basis.

Entering the lagging budget debate, he called for an examination "of the whole business of government" and suggested the strength of democracy depended in large measure on efficient government.

He criticized the Minister of National Defence for what he said was the minister's persistent refusal to allow a House committee to study the estimates of government expenditures, as suggested by Watson Sellar, the auditor-general, in a recent report.

Four other speakers took part in the two-hour Wednesday afternoon debate. They were Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre), Paul Hellyer (L, Toronto Davenport), Jean Francois Pouliot (L, Temiscouata) and A. L. Smith (PC, Calgary West).

Too Much Overlapping

Mr. Drew said the government had produced a $2,400,000,000 budget, but had no ideas how savings could be made. There was not a member who did not know of some instance where overlapping of government services could be eliminated.

The people's business—government—should be brought under the "full control" of the people's representatives—parliament.

All of the details of expenditure should be provided before parliament was asked to vote money. The taxpayer was asked to disclose his affairs and it was only fair that that the taxpayer, through parliament, be given full information on expenditures when he was going to have to foot the bill through taxation.

The methods of ordinary business should be applied to the government.

At the same time, Canadian natural resources should be developed for the employment of Canadians.

Asks Higher Pensions. . . . . . .

Mr. Smith urged the government to consider an increase in pensions and other amenities for retired and incapacitated members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Mr. Pouliot said the government should take steps to encourage private enterprise.

Mr. Knowles exchanged a brief cross-fire with Finance Minister Abbott about Mr. Sellar's recommendations.

The Auditor-General, said Mr. Knowles, did not agree with the practice of "putting items in the estimates" as statutory. He mentioned the $2,000 automobile allowance paid ministers and the leader of the opposition and the $4,000 paid annually to parliamentary assistants and charges money being put through with statutory estimates as a "continuing vote" was a "questionable practice."

Mr. Abbott said the Auditor-General was not a member of the legal profession. His views were his own. But the Auditor-General had never said that the $4,000 paid parliamentary assistants was not passed by statute.

Mennonite Villages Get 'Phone Services

ALTONA, Man., — (CP) — A series of Mennonite villages in southern Manitoba have been connected to the Altona and Plum Coulee telephone exchanges.

After their inception, the villages first refused telephone service and later, due to various circumstances, were unable to get it.

The villages which recently received telephones include: Rosenort, Blumenort, Neuhorst, Neuhoffnung, Kronsthal, Altbergthal, Gnadenthal, Edenburg and others.

Officials say 160 new telephones have been added to the Altona exchange since the farm telephone hook-up commenced. All told there are 40 rural telephone lines in this district, with from seven to nine subscribers on each line.

OTTAWA, April 27 — (CP) — A Canadian National Railways spokesman said Wednesday the CNR's huge capital reorganization plan is "no menace" to the Canadian Pacific Railway. Hugh O'Donnell, CNR senior counsel, made the statement before the Royal Commission on Transportation, which for several days has been hearing CPR objections to the revision scheme on the ground it would threaten the financial position of the privately-owned company.

Hamilton Streetcar Operators Plan To Strike At 4 a.m. Friday

HAMILTON, April 27 (CP)—A majority of Hamilton's streetcar and motorbus operators have voted to go on strike at 4 a.m. Friday in protest against dismissal of a union official.

A walk-out was approved as negotiations between the Hamilton Street Railway Company and the union reached a conciliation board. Such a strike would be illegal, a labor board official said, while the conciliation board is dealing with demands of the union for a 22 per cent wage increase, union security and certain seniority rights.

The strike vote was taken at a meeting attended by 80 per cent of the 300 streetcar and bus drivers, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employees of America, Local 107. The union said that only four members dissented from the strike decision. The other 20 per cent will vote today but the union said their decision could not change the result.

Technical Breach

A senior union official said the union leader over whom the strike was called was dismissed for soliciting members on company property. He admitted this is a technical breach of the law but said the practice had been followed for a long time.

The company operates about 60 streetcars and some 100 buses. There has been no strike of Hamilton Street Railway employees since 1907.

Judge Harold Fuller of Welland has been appointed chairman of the conciliation board, with Norman L. Mathews of Toronto representing the company and Drummond Wren of Toronto representing the workers.

Dramatic Series Curbed By Union

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's French network Wednesday night cancelled "Theatre Des Nouveautes" after an actors' union had called a strike against the dramatic series which forced cancellation of Wednesday night's performance.

Marcel Ouimet, director of the French network, termed the union's action an "embargo on culture." He said at a press conference that members of L'Union Des Artistes Lyriques Et Dramatiques refused to go on the air in support of demands made by La Societe Des Auteurs Dramatiques, an independent union of French-language script writers.

Mr. Ouimet said the script writers are demanding that the French network refuse to broadcast any scripts not adapted or written by members of the union.

De Laval Cuts To 43-Hr. Week, Same Home Pay

The work week at the De Laval plant has been cut to 43 hours. And there is no reduction in take-home pay.

Company officials say the new work schedule will begin May 1.

At the same time the United Electrical Workers have announced they have a majority of the workers signed in the plant. The application for certification as the legal bargaining agent will be made soon, union spokesmen indicate.

A leaflet printed by the organizing committee at the plant—apart from claiming a majority of the eligible workers —states that the two-hour reduction is an attempt by the company to "head off" the union.

For the employees at De Laval the schedule will remain the same for four of the five work days. That is from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. But two hours will be clipped off on Friday afternoon, thus leaving the employees free from 3 p.m. Friday to Monday morning.

The organizing committee claims that Jack Mackness, a machine operator, was recently fired for union activity. And the UE says it has instructed its solicitor, C. L. Dubin, to apply for a commissioner under the Ontario Labor Relations Act.

The company's actions were illegal, the union contends.

House Sold Out For Traviata

Grand opera on the screen packed the Centre Theatre Wednesday night. Even standing room only space was taken, and Harry Yudin telephoned the Examiner from Toronto this morning a message in two parts. One was appreciation of the support of so many music lovers of Peterborough who confirmed his faith in their good taste and also in their reaction to quality of the filming of Verdi's Traviata.

Mr. Yudin said he was abundantly rewarded by the many expressions of appreciation from people after the show. The other was an apology that for the line-up which resulted from the reserving of seats. He said he was not sure of the response of the public, and had not anticipated such a large crowd.

"I have never received so many favorable comments on a film since I have been in Peterborough as I did last night, and it makes you feel good to know that there are so many here who want to see that kind of production and really enjoy it. Traviata is away outside the ordinary run of pictures, and I felt after seeing previews myself that it would have a strong appeal to men and women who like good music presented by top ranking singers."

The SRO sign for Traviata was to Mr. Yudin an accomplishment on the cultural side of community interests, extending the purpose and place of the theatre in the city.

Standard Assessment Plan Commended To Fifty Reeves

The Department of Municipal Affairs is a firm believer in the value of a county assessor. "We think the county assessment system is the only method of standardization among municipalities," Max R. Sloan, superintendent of assessment, told about 50 reeves, councillors and other municipal officials today.

Today the Department is holding its annual one-day school to acquaint county and other municipal officials with new legislation affecting them.

Accompanying Mr. Sloan is T. R. Hunter, assessment supervisor.

Already 18 counties have appointed an assessor (including Peterborough), Mr. Sloan pointed out. And there will likely be three or four other appointments later this year.

Counties doing so will receive $1,500 as a grant from the Department. Already $50,000 has been earmarked in provincial estimates for this purpose.

With the present trend toward high school districts, public school areas and county equalization, the need for a county assessor becomes more apparent, he said.

County Assessor's Job

The alternative was a variety of valuations within the one county, he said, so some conscientious municipalities bear an unfair load of the taxation.

"Every job demands a boss," he said, "and that's the county assessor's job."

Mr. Hunter explained that assessment rolls are no longer being compiled alphabetically but by individual lots and concessions. The assessor starts at one corner of a school section or area and completes it before going on to the next.

Under the previous method a number of properties were overlooked. The concession-by-concession evaluation allows the auditors to check more accurately for acreage of the property. And it also helps a new assessor who does not know the municipality.

A review of the new legislation is being given later today.

Picked Up Pair On $390 Swindle

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson is travelling today to Toronto to pick up two men on charges of stealing $390 from a local farmer.

Fred Terry and Steve Popelink are suspected of being the pair who worked a swindle on a local farmer cheating him of $390.

The pair were picked up by Toronto police on a similar charge, but were never brought to trial because the Toronto victim died just before time for the trial.

The local farmer told police a few months ago that he had been inveigled into a game of poker by two men although he had never played poker before. After they cleaned him out, they escaped on a pretext of one of them going to get more money to help the farmer win his money back.

Wet Supporters Prepare For Lakefield Vote

LAKEFIELD, April 27 (ENS)—Residents supporting the introduction of alcoholic drinks in the village met Wednesday evening to launch a campaign in readiness for the June 21 vote on the proposal to have a brewers' warehouse, liquor store and dining room licence for sale of beer and wines with meals.

The previous evening a campaign to keep the village "dry" was launched at a public meeting at the United Church.

Harold Hamblin, who was chairman of the meeting Wednesday, emphasized that there was to be no vote on a beverage room for the village. The three separate votes were being taken on a brewer's warehouse, a liquor store and a licence to serve beer and wines with meals. No proposal for a beverage room was being made and this question would not appear on the ballot.

Service For Tourists

Walter Killoran explained that the businessmen were trying to provide all the services that the tourists expected to find in a community.

"We are not endeavouring to increase the sale of any alcoholic beverages to residents of the village," he declared.

Bill O'Brien said they wanted to cut down on the numerous enquiries at the information booth from tourists asking where the brewer's warehouse was located.

Advertising was also discussed and D. J. House said those in favor of alcoholic beverages being sold in the village could do more advertising in their businesses than those opposing it could do in their churches.

Bus For Voters?

H. V. Hopkins asked if there would be any advance poll. Mr. Hamblin replied there would not be, whereupon Mr. Hopkins said there would be some people working at the Nephaline Mines who should come into the village for the votes. It was suggested that a bus be chartered to bring the men into Lakefield but the matter passed before any definite decision was made.

C. J. Davis was chosen manager of the campaign and Barrie Johnston, Jack Ryan and Wesley Graham were named a committee. W. O'Brien is treasurer, Harold Hamblin secretary, and D. J. House and W. Killoran were named in charge of publicity.

Union Asks Howe For Local Slice Of India Project

Local 524, United Electrical Workers, are prodding the Minister of Trade and Commerce to ensure that Peterborough gets its share of Indian electrical contracts.

Last week the International Bank for reconstruction and development granted a $18,500,000 loan to develop the Damodar River valley, the country's most important industrial area.

Purchase of equipment from the United States and Canada will be facilitated by the "dollar" loan. The Bokaro-Konar project, expected to cost $53,000,000, will include the largest steam electric plant in India.

The telegram, bearing the signature of president T. P. Davies, asked the Hon. C. D. Howe, "to guarantee a fair share for Canadian industry including Peterborough where there are 3,000 workers in electrical manufacturing."

"We consider the foreign trade orders such as this vital to our economy," concluded the telegram, "and we ask that the government make every effort to expand our world trade to give employment to all Canadians."

The union telegram was also sent to G. K. Kraser, MP.

"Actively Negotiating"

Mr. Howe replied by telegram Wednesday saying that Canada was "actively negotiating" with the Indian Government through its Washington representative and through this country's trade commissioner in India for a share in the electrification scheme.

"You may be assured that we are doing everything possible to ensure that Canadian firms will be given an opportunity of quoting on this business," said the minister.

Peterborough Girl Meets With Kindness in Normandy

By JEAN E. STENTON

CAEN, April—The Dangeards of Caen, all eight of them, are a typical French family who have contrived to laugh at their terrible war experiences and post war hardships and pick up the threads of their lives where they left off in 1940.

Jean Stenton

In order that I should come to know and understand French people a little better, it was arranged that I be guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dangeard during my stay in Caen. Their six children were all home for the Easter holidays and we had an interesting time together.

Let me introduce them to you. First their is Mr. Dangeard, head of the geology department of the University of Caen, and his charming wife. The oldest boy, Henri, is an engineering student studying in Paris; Yves, an officer in the French Army Air Forces stationed in the south of France; Alain, in third year at law school, University of Caen; Anne and Armelle, at high school in Caen; and Gilles about 8.

A more delightful and natural family would be difficult to find. Alain and Yves spoke English, and with their aid, we carried on some interesting conversations. As mentioned earlier, Mr. Dangeard had remained in the city during the battle for Caen as head of a first aid unit. His stories of the events which occurred were interesting enough to keep us up well into the night.

Mrs. Dangeard had planned her meals so that I might enjoy typically Norman food and they were a great success. Their house, with its unexpected staircases and passages was fascinating and the gas-heated fireplaces extremely comfortable.

Had Hard Time

Although the whole family makes light of it, they along with everyone else after the war suffered great hardships. Theirs was an "undamaged" house, which meant that it was still standing and could be made habitable.

Nine shells landed within 50 yards of the building and there were 70 panes of glass broken. One shell fell in the yard and fragments pierced the walls and some of their furniture still bears the marks where the splinters entered. There was no glass available for months, and the first winter they used German maps of heavy oiled paper to cover the gaping holes. It was little protection against the biting cold of Normandy winters.

For one year after the fighting in this part of France the people were without electricity, gas and water. All water had to be brought in pails from the distribution centre set up by the Allied Army in one of the squares. Because there were so many people homeless, those with only damaged houses took in as many as they could. For many months, the Dangeards had 22 people living in their home.

The country around the city supplied food, but it was necessary to queue up to get the necessities of life. There was an organization set up after the war to care for young children so the mothers could go out and work, to help in the re-establishment of the city.

The first big job was clearing away the debris. After bulldozers were imported for the job, the plans for rebuilding were organized. Mr. Dangeard said it was a terrible job to cross town to the temporary quarters of the university. It was necessary to leave early and come late. There were no street lights and the roads were full of rubble and stone. He used to stumble over the stones in the darkness and had many nasty falls in shell holes.

The wonderful hospitality which the Dangeards dispensed, and their kindness in opening their home to me, will always remain one of the highlights of my visit to Normandy.

Six New Houses Bring Taxes, Oust Youngsters

By HARRY THEOBALD

That continuous and composite personality which is embodied in the city council should be elated by a little report that the six new houses in Braund Place are all occupied and are now on the assessment and tax list.

Braund Place is that former neighborhood playground which Mr. R. C. Braund offered to the city as a gift. It is a stub street on the south side of Chamberlain St., and beside the Mendel Braund store.

Children of the neighborhood had played there for years, and Mr. Braund wished to make it a permanent play-lot.

But, presumably the attitude of the council that was if the city accepted this piece of land, the treasury would be deprived of the Braund tax. It did not matter at all that the tax on the land was just peanuts, nor that the youngsters of the neighborhood might eventually be deprived of the only playground within blocks,—the Braund gift was rejected.

Now, there are six houses paying taxes. They were built by Garth Braund who apparently decided that if the city was not in favor of setting up a neighborhood playground, as it appeared, he might as well put it to the productive use the city wanted.

Before Mr. Braund left on that Canadian curling tour early this year, he had planned the houses and actually sold them in blueprint form. News of his project had got around, and the houses were sold before a builder had put foot on the property.

Those owners moved into occupation within the last few weeks. So far there is no permanent road or sidewalk laid, and entry into the little neighborhood square that has been formed there was a struggle through deep mud.

Apparently everybody affected by this enterprise in housing is happy, the new occupants and owners, the previous owner of the lot, the city council that guided the investment, but hardly the youngsters for whom the park spot should have been preserved. However, they can play on the road.

No Butter Drop Immediately

The government's announcement of a five cents drop in the floor price of butter will not bring cheaper butter to Peterborough housewives for probably a week. Present stocks must be disposed of first and Canada Packers does not expect the wholesale price to be dropped until Monday at the earliest.

A spokesman for Canada Packers in Peterborough said today the full five cents drop would probably reach the wholesale sale stage by Monday.

Grocery stores in the city are expecting the full reduction to be passed on to the consumer, in spite of the fact that retailers make at the most, two cents profit on every pound and some make no profit at all.

Toronto Prediction

Retailers in Toronto said Wednesday no immediate change in the price of butter to consumers is contemplated, following the Ottawa announcement of a five-cent reduction in the minimum price.

Spokesmen for two large chain stores said that it is possible the price on May 1, next Monday, will come down from the present 62-63 cents to 57 cents a pound or even less. A dairy official said any saving from the creameries naturally would be passed along to the consumer, while a spokesman for Canada Packers Ltd., said that if the floor price is dropped five cents then the wholesale price in Toronto likely would fall by that amount.

New Sewers Approved Other Work Planned

New sewers for which sufficiently signed petitions have been received by City Clerk Outram were approved by the council Tuesday:

Cameron St., from Monaghan Road to Erskine Ave.

Extension of Engleburn Place—Homewood Ave. from Albertus St. westerly 150 ft.

Wellington St. from existing manhole to Fairbairn St.

Wolsley St. from existing manhole to Fairbairn St.

High St. from St. Mary's St. westerly to C.P.R.

Also storm drain, curb, gutter and boulevard along the east side of Bethune St. from O'Carroll Ave. to Aberdeen Ave.

As agreed with Lions Club when they proposed the building of the swimming pool at Riverside Park, now nearing completion, council directed in a motion by Ald. H. Dodds and Ald. Doug Miller that the club lay the walk from the street line to the entrance to the pool, and bill the city for the cost. This work is to be under the supervision of City Engineer Chalmers.

Common Betting House Repeater Gets Three Months Aftermath of Police Raid

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, had no doubt the "accused was placing bets," and sentenced Charles Griffin, 576 McKellar Street, to three months on a charge of keeping a common betting house. It was Griffin's third offence under the same section of the Criminal Code. He had been convicted previously of keeping a common betting house and a common gambling house.

The evidence in Griffin's trial was heard previously, but Magistrate Philp reserved judgment until today. He said he drew a reasonable inference from slips of paper presented as evidence on which were written messages in short forms.

He said the words were decipherable and indicated that Griffin had been placing bets.

The charge was laid as a result of a city-wide raid April 1 by a Provincial Police anti-gambling squad in which 13 others were charged.

Most of the other charges were concerned with keeping punchboards.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw mentioned that as a third offender was liable for a minimum of three months in jail and a maximum of three years.

Griffin was charged with running his betting house at Glen Lunch on King St.

Eleven Suburbs Ask Merger Vote

TORONTO, April 27 (CP) — Eleven of 12 Toronto suburbs joined today in a demand that a vote on the question of the suburbs' amalgamation with Toronto be taken in all the municipalities affected.

The 12th suburb, Mimico, took no part in the demand, which was placed before the Ontario Municipal Board by York county council.

A notice of motion of the protest application claimed that Toronto's application for amalgamation is "improperly constituted."

It said the Toronto application provides for amalgamation of municipalities without the concurrent consent of such municipalities; provides for amalgamation of parts only of two municipalities; and leaves boundaries of the area to be annexed "uncertain and insufficiently designated."

New Propaganda

BERLIN, April 27—(AP)—German Communists today branded Irving Berlin's musical "Annie Get Your Gun" as a "warmongering play." They called filmdom's Annie, blonde Betty Hutton, a "grinning monster." Tacking on those labels, Neues Deutschland, organ of the German Socialist Unity (Communist) Party, captioned Miss Hutton's picture "war-mongering with sex appeal." The paper urged Germans to boycott the film if it appears here.

LEAD DISCUSSION

Thomas Allen, assistant editor of the Examiner, will lead a discussion on the "Importance of the Newspaper in the Community," following the showing of the film "Home Town Paper," at the April meeting of the Peterborough Film Council in the Public Library Friday night.

Snow Removal Cost $19,146.94 In Past Winter

In its current expeditures, Board of Works has been keeping within its appropriations. Total outlay for the first quarter ending March 31 was $60,341.50 reduced by credits to $48,117.25. Total appropriation for the year in that branch of department's work was $250,600.

The allowance for maintenance of roads for the year is $109,000; expenditure to the end of March was $24,743.74. The major item was $13,290.18 for clearing roads of snow.

Only $89.42 was spent on bridge repair; concrete walks $11,727.80, and the appropriation is $20,500. Most of the expenditure has been caused by winter conditions. Clearing snow from walks $5,856.76; sanding walks, $5,841.86 account for more than half the total appropriation.

Sewer maintenance has been $7,026.34 of the $40,000 appropriation; and general work has cost $10,040. There are some other items in this progress statement but they are of minor account.

Periodic Reports

City council in January arranged to have periodic financial reports from departments, as a means of vigilance in spending within the amounts provided in the budget. They hope to avoid the somewhat emergent position late last fall when considerable spending, including some employment, had to be suspended as the only way of avoiding a deficit on the year.

In response to the resolution, the board of works has been relaying from City Engineer Chalmers a monthly statement of the departments' financial position.

On capital expenditure two items are mentioned for the first quarter: McKellar storm drain, $4,053.69, and Welsh St. fill, $1,343.79.

There has also been a lot of work done on the local improvement plan by which only part of the cost is levied against the treasury. That item is $15,121.19. Total net cost for the quarter, $68,635,92.

Eight Couples Celebrate Anniversaries

LAKEFIELD, April 27—Eight couples celebrating their wedding anniversaries were the centre of attraction at a party attended by the Hall's Glen community Saturday in Hall's Glen Orange Hall.

The couples were Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, married 42 years: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little, 40 years; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crowe, 37 years; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Oliver, 25 years; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, 15 years; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison, five years and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sharpe, four years.

Having been married the longest, Mrs. Parsons cut the first piece of the wedding cake and Mrs. Garf. Crowe, who made the cake, cut the remainder. Two tiers were sold for $5 which is to be sent to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

Howard Hamilton and William Edwards acted as chairmen and brief speeches were given by S. Clysdale, Garf Crowe and Chester Hamilton.

Wedding pictures of the couples were displayed and before the charivari party arrived, cards were played. The charivari party, arriving with cowbell and rotary boat horn, danced to music supplied by Mrs. Garf Crowe, Jack Crowe and Mr. Thompson.

While the table was being prepared for a lunch the party sang old time songs and was entertained by step dancing and singing.

The Grand March was played as the couples took their seats for lunch.

Ex-Commissioner Hot Spot In Commons Malay Debate

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 27 — (CP) — The rising temperature of Malaya's "hot war" is worrying Whitehall.

A series of disquieting debates —babies are cutting their teeth on revolvers out there," one speaker said—aroused criticism of Britain's strategic design in southeast Asia.

Government spokesmen admit questions have been asked about the role of Malcolm MacDonald United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada from 1941 to 1946.

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, said MacDonald had left himself open to criticism by his optimistic report on Malaya nearly a year ago.

As Commissioner-general for southeast Asia, with a beat stretching from Hong Kong to New Delhi, the 48-year-old son of the late Ramsay MacDonald holds one of the commonwealth's most responsible jobs. From hillside headquarters overlooking Singapore, he flies thousands of miles a month in a tiny plane, coordinating British administration in Malaya, Sarawak, Borneo and Singapore.

With his Canadian wife, the former Mrs. Audrey Fellowes Rowley of Ottawa, MacDonald lives in a converted palace originally built by the Sultan of Hohore for a favorite wife. It is called Bukit Serene—"Hill of Serenity."

Criticism of British leadership came first from Lord Killearn. He told the House of Lords that the situation in Malaya is worse now than it has ever been.

L. D. Canmans, Conservative member for Hornsey, told the House of Commons that the cold war has become hot; quoted a letter from a rubber planter's wife about babies attempting to cut teeth on revolvers; and argued that 4,000 bandits are making life miserable for nearly a division of British troops, plus some 50,000 police.

Government quarters, while acknowledging that criticism of MacDonald has not all appeared in the press, regard it as unjustified. He is felt to be doing a good job under trying circumstances.

Good Mixer

MacDonald's personal popularity still is high—as high as it was during his five-year term in Ottawa. During his stay in the Canadian capital, he wrote a book entitled "Down North" about a trip to the Arctic, and another called "The Birds of Brewery Creek," about birds in the Ottawa district.

Always affable and without affectation, he is said to have been one of the first Englishmen to take off his coat in talking business with a Chinese or Malay.

Old Boys Discuss Ways To Save Winnipeg School

WINNIPEG,—(CP)—St. John's College School old boys are seeking a way for the school to continue in operation. Unless they uncover a solution, the 130-year-old institution will close its doors permanently June 30.

The college council—a 30-member governing body made up equally of clergy and laymen—voted at a meeting in March to close the school. The council also turned down a motion that St. John's, one of the oldest schools in Canada, amalgamate with the Ravenscourt school for boys here.

Some council members said the anti-merger decision was based primarily on financial considerations. They doubted that they held the authority to transfer St. John's funds to a joint school not controlled by the council. The council is headed by Archbishop L. Ralph Sherman, Anglican head of the diocese of Rupert's Land.

In seeking an alternative to closing, some old boys have advanced the belief that the council might allow a merger with Ravenscourt if no school funds went with it. The old boys put such a clause into a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Association of St. John's College School Old Boys in Mid-April.

The resolution, moved by Andrew Currie, contained this section: "The only (St. John's) assets available for transfer would be such funds as donors of memorial building fund monies are willing to transfer for this (amalgamation) purpose."

Collect $36,000

These funds consist of about $36,000 collected by old boys during a drive for funds with which to build a new St. John's on a $14,000 site in suburban Tuxedo. Subscribers to the fund may be asked to allow their donations to be used instead for amalgamation.

Philip C. Locke, elected president of the Old Boys Association for a one-year term, pledged himself to "any action" that would save the school from extinction.

He mentioned that the council, at a meeting held the day before the old boys' meeting, had reaffirmed the decision to close the school. The council also was asked to reconsider its decision by the St. John's College School Ladies' Guild.

"Very Reluctant"

Canon R. J. Pierce, vice-chancellor of St. John's College and secretary of the council, said the original decision to close the school was arrived at "very reluctantly." He knew, that the school's many old boys, scattered through the world, would be "unhappy" about the closing.

Canon Pierce mentioned that plans to transfer the school from its present site on Main Street to a Tuxedo location had fallen through. Although Canon Pierce did not mention the reason, it is belived this resulted from lack of money.

Had the move taken place, it would have been the school's third site in its more-than-a-century existence. St. John's originally was founded in wooden buildings on the banks of the Red River in 1820 by an Anglican clergyman. The present school building, located at Main Street and Anderson Avenue in the north end since 1885, was sold some time ago to a Ukrainian cultural organization.

"Ardent Beer Drinkers" Design "Tomorrow's Pubs"

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, April 27 — (CP) — Two refugees from central Europe have collaborated with three Britons to win first prize in a contest to design what is possibly the most British of all buildings— a public house.

They are Ernest Pollak, 36, from Prague and Victor Prus, 33, who prefers not to say where his relatives live behind the Iron Curtain.

The quintet—all "ardent beer drinkers" — won £500 ($1,550) with an entry in the Brewers' Society's contest to design "The Pub of Tomorrow."

Most critics liked the winning design because it incorporates features traditional to the old-style pub, modernizing only such amenities as ventilation and heating.

The Time's architectural correspondent wrote: "Their four bars are remarkably successful in reinterpreting the English public-house tradition in a modern way, cleverly using familiar ingredients such as glass screens, mirrors, ornamental lettering but with imagination and not in a spirit of pastiche.

Clear Distinction

"They also bring out clear distinction of character— which is part of the public-house tradition —between the saloon bar and the public bar, the one descended from the wine tavern and the coffee house, with a richness of decoration influenced by the 19th-century gin palace; the other showing a simpler, more robust character appropiate to its descent from the ale-house kitchen."

The Europeans' three colleagues, bearded Dick Negus, 22, Phil Sharkland, 26, and Charles Hasler, 41 all are employed in designing for the 1951 Festival of Britain.

"A hint of consternation," said the Daily Telegraph, "must color our congratulations to the two young men from central Europe who shared in the prize-winning design for an ideal English pub.

"For what has happened to the English character, whose inwardness it has always been our pride to conceal from the foreigners, if strangers can thus grasp the spirit of its immemorial shrine?"

67.6 of District Income Tax Returns In; Last Rush On

Income tax offices across Canada have been experiencing the biggest rush of early tax returns in their history and more than a week before the deadline, 55 per cent of the total returns expected were filed. The rush does not usually come until the last day or two, some of the more canny taxpayers reserving their right to keep what is theirs until the last day.

All returns post marked before midnight May 1 will be on time and to give taxpayers every opportunity to conform to the regulations, tax offices across the country will stay open Saturday until 6 p.m.

Belleville Office Report

At the Belleville office, which takes in the Peterborough area, 67.6 per cent of the 43,000 returns expected had been filed by April 17. St. John's, Nfld., is at the bottom of the list, having filed only 33.3 per cent of the expected total and Quebec is the highest, with 72.7 per cent already in.

In Ottawa 280,000 are expected of which 64.3 per cent are in and in Toronto, 54.3 per cent of the 600,000 total have been filed. Kingston office reports 42.9 per cent of its 35,000 in.

From the time of income tax forms became available early in February up to and including April 17, no less than 1,864,657 returns have been filed, as compared with a total of more than 3,300,000 expected to be filed by April 30. In other words, 55 per cent of the 1949 returns have already been filed and thousands more are daily pouring into the district offices as the deadline approaches.

550,000 Sought Help

During the month of March and early in April, close to 550,000 taxpayers have visited the district income tax offices across Canada, for the chief purpose of obtaining assistance in completing their returns. In other years, most taxpayers waited until the last two or three weeks in April.

One of the reasons for the early rush to file returns is the fact that a large number of persons are entitled to income tax refunds. As a result of the 1949 budget, it was estimated that 80 per cent of individual taxpayers would be entitled to refunds when they filed their 1949 returns. At the close of business on April 7, 662,000 refunds had been approved.

Hundred Relatives Meet To Honor Sisters

HAVELOCK, April 27 (ENS)—A double birthday celebration was held in the Orange Hall on Monday for two sisters, Mrs. Martha Whitney, 70, of Havelock and Mrs. Archie Patterson, 72, of R.R. 5, Peterborough, Monaghan township, whose birthday fell on that day.

Pink and white decorations made a beautiful setting for a banquet which was attended by more than a hundred relatives and was arranged by Mrs. Whitney's family as a surprise for their mother and aunt.

The head table was centred with two large birthday cakes iced in pink and white and topped with candles. Grace was said by Mrs. Whitney's small granddaughter, Darlene Whitney, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whitney.

Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Patterson wore double corsages of pink and yellow 'mums respectively, a gift from the latter's family. The presentation of a necklace and locket to Mrs. Whitney from her grandchildren was made by Billy and Kenneth Whitney.

Mrs. Whitney has two daughters and two sons, all of whom were present with their families. They are:

Mrs. Bruce Post (Laura) and Mrs. Herbert Hoard (Edna) of Havelock, Norris and Arnold Whitney of Oak Lake. A daughter Eva, died during childhood.

Mrs. Patterson has three daughters, Mrs. Cecil Bannon (Hazel) of Oshawa, Mrs. Frank Buchanan (Margaret) of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Walter Hargrave (Elsie) of Peterborough. A son Wellie was killed in a car accident in Cobourg in 1941. Mr. Patterson was present at the celebration but none of the immediate family was able to attend.

Brothers And Sisters

Two sisters and five brothers of Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Patterson also attended the event, which brought together 9 of the 10 members of their family. The absent one being a sister, Mrs. Thomas Peppard of Olympia, Wash., U.S.A.

Those present were: Mrs. Thomas Cummings, Mrs. Cecil Anderson, James Seabrook and John Seabrook of Havelock; David Seabrook of Belmont township; Samuel Seabrook of Campbellford and Robert Seabrook of Trenton. A brother William of Havelock and a sister, Mrs. J. Melville of Toronto, died some time ago.

Before their marriage Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Patterson were Martha and Fanny Seabrook respectively, daughters of the late William Seabrook and Elizabeth Adams.

Mrs. Whitney was born on the old Seabrook homestead in Belmont township, where her brother David now lives and has been a life-long resident of this district. She is the widow of the late Morris Whitney of Oak Lake, where she went as a bride in 1901. Two years after Mr. Whitney's death in 1941, she came to Havelock.

Monaghan Twp. 40 Years

Mrs. Patterson was married in 1902 and lived in Monmouth township and at Paudash Lake before moving to Monaghan township where they have lived for about 40 years.

Their parents came to Canada from Ireland, settling in the vicinity of Montreal and later becoming pioneer settlers in this district, where their father was one of the outstanding Orangemen of his lodge having played the fife at the July 12th celebration for 65 consecutive years.

The banquet was followed by round and square dancing.

18 YEARS WITH ESKIMOS—Rev. Peter Henri, 46-year-old Roman Catholic missionary, is on his way to his native France on a year's holiday after 18 years among Eskimos in the Arctic. The Eskimos called him Kai-I-O which means "The Red" because of his ginger-hued beard. Father Henri became so accustomed to the Eskimo diet that he now finds it difficult to eat white man's food. This photo was taken in Winnipeg.

Newfoundland Budget

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 27—(CP)—Newfoundland completed her first year as a Canadian province some $2,800,000 in the red on current accounts but when payments into and amount of the island's pre-union surplus were included the province had an overall surplus of $2,400,000. The amounts were given in the budget, brought down by Premier Smallwood.

Say Labor Gov't Likely Last Until Autumn

LONDON, April 27 (AP)—The Labor Government now is expected to cling to its shaky seat at least until fall.

But Wednesday's five-vote victory in a test vote in the House of Commons proved the going will not be easy. Continued heckling by Winston Churchill's Conservatives and the Liberals, will keep Labor under constant pressure.

Labor squeaked through votes on two major issues in the Commons Wednesday with a majority of only five in each case. These two votes—on doubling the tax on gasoline and imposing a 33 1/3 per cent purchase tax on trucks—constituted the most serious challenge Labor has faced since it came to power in 1945. Its once overwhelming majority in Commons has been sliced to a scant eight seats.

Defeat would most certainly have meant that Prime Minister Attlee would resign and Britons would have been asked to elect a new parliament.

The Liberals, with only nine members in the present House—all joined the Tories Wednesday in voting against the government.

Coalition Talk

Despite traditional Labor opposition to coalition government, except in wartime, talk persists of some form of a national coalition cabinet if the political deadlock continues.

Cautiouslp, Churchill said in parliament Monday: "I do not believe in coalitions that are formed only as the result of party bargaining. It is vain to suppose that anything but a blinding emergency, external or internal, would revive the comradeship of the wartime years or that an artificial arrangement between party leaders would meet our needs."

This was interpreted by the Conservative and Liberal press as a hint that he would consider a coalition agreeable if Britain's critical economic situation, for instance, took a turn for the worse.

U. N. RUSSIAN-BORN

The foundations of the Charter of the United Nations were laid at the Conference of Foreign Ministers at Moscow in 1943.

THREE-YEAR-OLD FREDDIE WEBER, a patient at Bellevue Hospital, New York, reaches gingerly to touch the nose of a teddy bear outfit worn by a clown as the circus took over at the hospital for their annual performance. Some 6,000 men, women and children, many of them in wheel chairs and on stretchers, saw 13 circus acts while clowns ran all over the place to entertain the patients and the uncounted neighborhood children who played hookey from from school for the annual show.

Ottawa Receives Protest On Small UK Car Imports

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP)—Protest against the import of small British cars has been received by the government.

Revenue Minister McCann, replying to Ross Thatcher (CCF, Moose Jaw), disclosed representations have been made to the government proposing that Canada's anti-dumping duties be imposed against the British road buggies.

He said, however, that the matter still was under consideration and no final decision has been made.

It was learned outside the House that the Canadian automotive industry had made the representations.

British cars will be manufacured in Canada when Canadians buy enough "so that we can build them here," Sir William Rootes, chairman of the 15-company Rootes group automobile manufactures in Great Britain, said in a press conference here Tuesday.

"The dollar-sterling gap is insoluble unless Britain gets a freer flow of trade," he said. "Canada must realize that if she does not buy from Britain she cannot sell to Britain."

One of the main reasons why Sir William and his two sons—Geoffrey and Brian, both company directors—are in Canada is to consult with dealers on problems of engineering and sales. They plan an automobile show in Canada in 1951.

Engineers are now studying travel conditions in Manitoba and Alberta, Sir William said, this particular prairie problem being called "Operation Iceland" because of climatic conditions.

"British" Music In Preparation

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP)—A 30-volume encyclopedia of "British" music is under way, the first three volumes of which are scheduled to appear next year in conjunction with the 1951 Festival of Britain.

Announcement of the project was made jointly by the Royal Musical Association and the Arts Council, which is supporting it.

The work, which will be the first comprehensive reference authority of music in the British Isles, is to be called "Musica Britannica" and The Times demurs.

"There is no such thing as British music," says its music critic in a special article, "any more than there is a British language. The main tradition of professional music, as of letters, in these islands, is English, while the folk music of Scotland, Wales and Ireland is rightly described as Scottish, Welsh and Irish music.

" 'Musica Britannica,' however, covers with the decency of its Latin these internal stresses."

Little-Known Music

Much music composed in England during the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries is either unknown or inaccessible to the ordinary musician and much of it was never published. The ballad operas and broadside ballads of the 18th century are said to need consolidation into one convenient reference.

The idea is to launch a systematic survey into the whole field of English music divide it among the specialists of the Royal Musical Association, and publish their researches.

The editorial committee embraces Prof. E. J. Dent, translator into English of many operas, Prof. Anthony Lewis, Prof. J. A. Westrup and Dr. E. H. Fellowes, whose "English Madrigal School" and "English School of Lutenist Song Writers" represent the foundation of English musicology.

The first three volumes will be a collection of early Tudor keyboard music, edited by Denis Stevens; Shirley's masque "Cupid and Death" with music by Matthew Locke and Christopher Gibbons, edited by Prof. Dent, and Arne's music to milton's "Comus," edited by Julian Herbage.

The Musical Association says the encyclopedia will cover the wide fields of English music as yet untouched, leaving aside the scope of already-published works like Dr. Fellowes'.

BELLEVILLE, April 27 (CP) —Darting across the street while on her way home from school Wednesday, seven-year-old Colleen Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryson Reid, was killed when she ran into a passing car. An inquest has been ordered.

B.C. Keeps Ban On Red Lawyer Gordon Martin

VICTORIA, B.C., April 27 (CP) —The right to practice law in British Columbia Wednesday was denied again to 32-year-old Gordon Martin, a self-admitted Communist.

Appeal court dismissed the graduate law student's appeal against refusal of the Provincial Bar Association to admit him to the bar. The unanimous decision bars Martin from appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran upheld the Society of Benchers' claim that Martin, as a Communist, is not a fit person to take an oath of allegiance as required by the Legal Professions Act.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, in the legislature last month, granted Martin the right to appeal to the court. During the debate on the floor, Harold Winch, CCF Leader, said he did not think any profession should have the right to keep out a person because he is a Communist.

"Theirs (the Communists') is still a legal party, and if by chance one of them ever got elected he would have to take an oath," Mr. Winch said. "It is ridiculous to allow some one to run for office and then challenge him on this point. It's the same with the law society."

Lovely Decorations, Music At St. Paul's Evening Tea

Auxiliary of St. Paul's WMS meets in the evening, since the members are either business women or mothers of young children, so each year when they entertain at an Easter tea the event is also held in the evening. On Wednesday they opened the parlours of the church and invited friends to be on hand by eight o'clock to hear a pleasing musical program.

Larger-than-life-size cardboard bunnies and ducks with happy-go-lucky expressions set the gay tempo of enjoyment that pervaded. Groups of four were seated together at small tables where each was supplied with samples of the woodsy spring harbingers—mayflowers and pussywillows. Lacy centres of mauve were in keeping with the Easter decorations.

Set on a raised platform where all could see it nicely, the tea table became an object of admirative remarks. The popular spring flowers, daffodils, pale yellow snapdragon and mauve stocks were charmingly arranged in a beautiful silver bowl with pussywillows and deep green leaves making the elongated bouquet most effective. Tapers at each end were in the flower colors, and the tablecloth was a handsome gold damask.

Mrs. J. A. McNeill was presented as soloist and sang three delightful numbers. Young sisters Jean and Sheila Smith sang together and solo as they have done on other occasions at St. Paul's Mrs. D. Flett and Mrs. R. Aman teamed their skill at the piano in several arrangements. When refreshments were served after the program, Mrs. Vernon Read was playing soft music.

Booths offered for sale a miscellany of articles including jewelry, dishcloths and towels, knitting bags, aprons and socks and a fine assortment of home cooking and fudge candy.

Mrs. S. Finnie and Mrs. S. Hall attended the bazaar table, Mrs. D. Dickson, Mrs. R. Pearse, Mrs. P. Hawthorne and Mrs. E. Watson made bake sales and Miss Isobel Sutherland was in charge of the candy table.

On being welcomed at the door by president Mrs. J. McLeod and Mrs. C. G. Boyd, guests were shown to tables by Miss Mary Greer and Miss Marjorie Nesbitt who later assisted the servers.

The tea pourers were Mrs. W. Steinkrauss and Mrs. F. Rowan and those attending the guests were Miss Margaret Reid, Miss Verna Johnston, Miss Mary Ross, Mrs. Wm. Saunders, Mrs. G. Lancaster, Mrs. L. Reid, Mrs. A. E. Barrie, Mrs. H. Barrett, Mrs. G. Brown, Mrs. L. Wood, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. E. Dunford, Miss M. Craig, Mrs. W. McNeill, Mrs. W. Loughman, Mrs. F. Dyer, Miss M. Duthie, Miss A. Bell, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. C. Blewett, Miss M. Best, Mrs. R. McIlmoyle and Miss N. Duncan.

Replenishing plates and tea pots was in charge of Mrs. J. Smith, assisted by Mrs. V. Constable, Mrs. R. Barrie, Mrs. G. Jarvis, Mrs. H. Fredericks.

Tea convener was Mrs. C. R. Hagerman and the program was arranged by Miss Margaret Reid. Miss Verna Johnston had charge of table decorations and Miss Marjorie Best assisted with the small tables and Mrs. C. Blewett arranged the Easter setting on the platform.

Treasurer Miss Eva Roberts reports the proceeds are most satisfactory.

George St. WMS Entertains Host of Friends

Lovely flowers enhanced the tea room in George St. Church parlors where the Women's Missionary Society entertained a host of friends during the tea hours of Wednesday afternoon. There were small bouquets of different kinds and pussywillows all around, and on the tea table was a charming arrangement of snapdragon, narcissus and tulips in a silver bowl, effectively surrounded with sky blue tulle.

Gold damask covered the table and it was highlighted with gold tapers in silver candelabra, Mrs. F. Horton, Mrs. J. R. R. Cooper, Mrs. H. Girven and Mrs. H. Powers presided over silver tea services at each end.

Tea-room convener, Mrs. F. Barrett, had chosen as assistants Mrs. W. Young, Mrs. E. Rosborough, Mrs. G. Leonard, Mrs. G. Benton, Mrs. A. Edmison, Mrs. J. Beatty, Mrs. C. Allen, Mrs. G. Miller, Mrs. E. L. Sackville, Mrs. S. Wildman, Miss M. Elliott, Miss E. Taylor, Mrs. A. Olmstead and Mrs. C. Hurl.

In charge of replenishing the plates and teapots was Mrs. H. Shepherd, assisted by Mrs. J. Tinney, Miss J. Schaeffer, Mrs. W. Allison, Mrs. E. Dormer and Mrs. A. Rosborough.

Mrs. W. Purdy and Mrs. J. Weames were at the piano in turn to provide a soft musical background.

Larder supplies of the home-baked variety were offered by members of group eight, with Mrs. Max Bebee, Mrs. Gordon Marshall and Mrs. J. McMann handling the sales.

President Mrs. E. H. Brown was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Chas. Elliott, president of the WA. Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. J. Bickell were acting as treasurers.

Tea Guests Queue At King George Association Event

A crowd of women, who had left bazaar tables nearly bare, lined up in the hall of King George School Wednesday afternoon awaiting admittance to the tea room, to be served some delicious refreshments. Such was the picture of success for the annual spring event of the Home and School Association.

Departing from the usual, the tea table centrepiece, arranged by convener Mrs. J. A. Nornabell, was of flowering almond, pussywillows and English ivy spreading from the crystal bowl. A green damask cloth and six green tapers in silver holders completed the setting.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. E. Druery, Mrs. C. English and Mrs. C. Bullock filled the tea cups and they were served by Mrs. J. A. C. Rogers, Mrs. W. J. Woodward, Mrs. D. Worboy, Mrs. C. McInroy, Mrs. Ross Greenley, Mrs. James Southgate, Mrs. W. J. Hepburn, Mrs. H. Guppy, Mrs. F. C. Darwin and Miss Leslie.

Assisting with replenishing and removing cups were Mrs. E. MacDonald, Mrs. Romeyn Stevenson, Mrs. M. A. Mesley, Mrs. K. Ferguson, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Albert Roberts and Mrs. Edward Bradshaw.

Featured by the Association are the "Gingham and Georgette" cook books of which Volume 2 was introduced at the tea, and four dishes prepared from the new recipes were on display. Mrs. Max Clarke was selling copies of each volume.

President Mrs. J. B. Bell and bazaar convener Mrs. C. Ferguson were receiving the guests.

Goods for sale was displayed in publicity committee, Betty Szammers and Marie Maloney.

Prefect Elizabeth Begley presided over the meeting. Following reading the the secretary's and treasurer's reports, the chairman of each committee read reports and introduced the committees' guest speakers, Barbara Moher, Marie McFarlane and Roma Houlihan.

A gift was presented by the prefect to Spiritual Director the Rev. F. K. Malone.

Campaign Success Reported at "Progress Tea"

Splendid progress in the membership campaign now being conducted by St. Joseph's Hospital Women's Auxiliary was recorded Wednesday when captains and canvassers were entertained at afternoon tea. Membership convener Mrs. F. J. Lynch was given reports as they arrived at the residence parlour from four to six o'clock and though new members are still being accepted, the effect is already described "very successful."

Auxiliary president Mrs. J. V. Gallivan welcomed the guests from all parishes of the city.

Mrs. N. McConkey presided at the tea table, tastefully laid with lace cloth and bouquet of lovely mixed flowers and lighted with pale yellow tapers. Mrs. F. Hickey, Mrs. P. J. Burke, Mrs. M. E. Crough, Mrs. H. Butcher and Mrs. J. P. Gagnon were tea hostesses.

Simulate "Fair" Atmosphere At Murray St. Bazaar - Tea

Patriotically, the Murray St. Young Married Couples Group chose red, white and blue as the color scheme when decorating for the tea and bazaar held Wednesday afternoon. Having extended the invitation "come to the fair," they proceeded to simulate these traditionally Canadian affairs.

Streamers hung tent-fashion in the church parlor tea rooms. There were clusters of gay balloons everywhere, and a special table for the children where all sorts of novelties from fancy rings to climbing monkeys could be purchased with a precious nickel.

No fair is complete without a merry-go-round. At this one it made a unique table centre, made of blue with a tall candle as the pole and red carnations in place of horses. Triple holders in flanking silver candelabra held red, white and blue tapers and the table was covered with white damask. Red and white checked cloths covered the quartette tables for guests, each with a blue centrepiece.

Music to cover the over-tea-cup chatter was played by Mrs. Percy Johnston and Mrs. Don McKenzie.

Tea pourers were Mrs. H. H. Graham, Mrs. S. Gillespie, Mrs. W. Hardwicke and Mrs. W. Fitzgerald, and the servers were Mrs. T. Naish, Mrs. G. Duncan, Mrs. A. Smedmor, Mrs. G. Whatley and Mrs. J. Arnott. Tea assistants were Mrs. H. Tranter, Mrs. O. Rome, Mrs. C. Boorman, Mrs. R. Allchin and Mrs. K. Jones.

An African violet in full bloom was the draw prize offered and the winner was Mrs. S. J. Rowe, 252 London St. Mrs. H. Doughty had charge of the plant table and the draw tickets.

In the bazaar room there was a display of sewing done for the Children's Aid Society by ladies of the group.

Fancy knick-knacks for the household, also made by members, were offered for sale by Mrs. R. Keeler and Mrs. T. Trotter. Mrs. J. McCullough was in charge of the children's notions.

Salesladies at the home cooking table were Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. G. Pammett, Mrs. C. Ruth and Mrs. J. Hayward. Home-made candy was sold in attractively covered containers by Mrs. R. Baer and Mrs. W. Loomis.

White skirtings on the booths were decorated with blue and red, adding effectively to the setting. Mrs. J. Arnott had arranged the decorations, assisted by tea convener, Mrs. E. L. Horning.

Mrs. Ivan Morgan assisted the president and vice-president, Mrs. Max Middleton and Mrs. Jack Buchanan to receive at the door and Mrs. Tom Smoothy was taking tickets in the hall.

Financial success of this event was assured by the sale of more than 250 tickets and about 40 more paid admissions were taken at the door. This active group will use the proceeds for local welfare and mission work.

Roll call showed Mrs. Samson's class winner for lower school and Miss Hunter's class for upper school.

Two delightful piano solo were rendered by Bramwell Everitt, who played with a skill far beyond his years. Two vocal solos followed, sung by Mabel McLarnon, a talented little miss with a bright future.

Mrs. Gray introduced guest speaker, Mrs. Paige Rowell, who addressed the grade eight pupils. She chatted informally on what lay ahead when they go to Collegiate in September. The privileges and responsibilities, extra curricular activities and social problems were all touched upon, and while the speaker addressed her remarks to the teen-agers in particular, it was evident that parents, too, were enjoying the subjects discussed.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Paige Rowell and the two soloists was moved by Mrs. J. King.

During the social half-hour which followed the grade eight pupils were served with refreshments in the music-room. Mrs. A. Kearns, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. A. Smith, assisted by room mothers, took charge.

a basement classroom to which direction was given by the treasurers Mrs. H. Morrison and Mrs. W. Parnell.

The sewing included children's wear, bathing suit bags, cushion tops and a variety of handy items for the kitchen. Mrs. K. Armstrong was in charge with Mrs. D. A. Smith and Mrs. E. Bentley.

The baking table, convened by Mrs. D. Walker, was cleared early with Mrs. R. Sanderson, Mrs. A. Townsend and Mrs. R. Tuck making the sales. Home-made candy was being sold by Mrs. J. Thornton, Mrs. F. Ford, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. R. Simmons and Mrs. H. Choate. Mrs. G. Lathangue was in charge of a table of small house plants.

Splendid Meeting Of Circle At Wagar Home

Miss Gladys Langton, president, was in the chair, Wednesday evening for the meeting of "Jean Wagar" Mission Circle held at the home of Misses Marion and Connie Wagar, Lock St.

As a variation from the usual order of service, the program opened with the study book presented in an interesting and informative manner by Miss Zetta Wood. "In Christianizing the Social Order" was the chapter title outlining the work in social reform carried on by the United Church of Canada.

"Temperance" was dealt with by Mrs. R. Booth, who stressed the evils of the cock-tail bar as evidenced on Toronto's Yonge Street.

In the brief business session, missionary books read during the past month were recorded, and a happy visit with Mark St. Mission Circle was reported. Plans were made for May meeting, which will be held at the home of the president. An encouraging report of the first quarter's givings was given by the treasurer and it was decided to accept an increase of $20 in the allocation.

Closing service of worship was effectively arranged on the beautiful picture Sallman's "Head of Christ", which was thrown on the screen throughout the devotions. "Advance in the cause of Missions" was the theme developed in poem, meditation, solo and hymn by Misses Jean Hammond, Connie Wagar and Gladys Langton. Lovely coloured slides depicting "Easter in the Holy Land" were shown by Miss Hammond.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Of Interest to Women

True Love Survives Time; Gains Strength With Years

DEAR MISS DIX: How can love survive the changes of time? What strengthens and fosters love?

EDNA

ANSWER: Infatuation cannot survive the changes of time because it depends on so many fleeting things that alter almost with the day and hour and because it is mostly founded on illusion.

Dorothy Dix

But true love is of another quality. It is made of sterner stuff, and when a heart really and truly sets its affections upon another it is proof against all the vicissitudes of time and change. Even disillusion and disappointment do not kill it, for we have seen time and again the miracle of love that withstands ill-treatment, ingratitude, even treachery, and still lives on.

Strengthens With Years

In happier circumstances, where love really has something to feed upon, it grows and strengthens with the years and sends its roots deeper down and the winds of chance and change beat upon it in vain.

Love changes, of course. The old husband and wife do not love each other for the same things they did when they married as girl and boy. Then they loved each other for their youth and good looks or their high spirits and gayety. They loved each other for the physical attraction that drew them together. But when they are old they love each other for their characters, for the fineness they have found in each other, for the sacrifice and tenderness that each has given the other.

The things that strengthen and foster love are unselfishness, faith and loyalty. Time has no power to weaken these.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My daughter is 23, smart, attractive and ambitious, but she says she does not want to marry. She has had men friends, but when they find out her ideas they seem to disappear. She says she can be happy as she is. Maybe she can, but wouldn't any parent worry about her future? It is all very well to preach waiting for the right man, but a girl who develops such ideas of independence may even pass up the right one and regret it too late. A well-educated, good business man has transferred his affections from her elsewhere. He was about 15 years older than she, but I think she regrets her decision and tries to hide it by telling me of the girls she knows who never married and how content they are. We are the kind of parents who do not interfere with our children's happiness or plans, but I wonder if we are right in not interfering a little more for their own good.

FATHER

ANSWER: I think it is a wicked thing for parents to try to persuade a girl into marrying a man merely because he can provide her with a comfortable home. There is so much more to marriage than being just fed and clothed and having a roof over your head.

In former days when marriage was the only respectable occupation open to women by which they could support themselves a girl had to marry for a living, and her parents were within their rights when they used every endeavour to get thheir daughters married safely off as soon as they could. But now any intelligent, industrious girl can make her own living and make a useful and interesting life for herself outside of marriage.

Of course, no one will deny that a happy marriage is the happiest estate on earth for a woman, but unless she can find the man she loves and the one who is congenial to her she is a thousand times better off single than married.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it advisable for a young couple to get married on a salary that will allow them the necessities of life but not the luxuries? We are both old enough to know our own minds and that we really and truly love each other.

TROUBLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I say go on and get married while you are still young and ardent. Marriage is a business as well as a sentimental partnership and to be successful it has to have an adequate working capital, but this does not need to be much. Money does not insure success in marriage.

BABY'S

UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "Tummy" is often easily upset. It is easily righted again, too, if you know just how to do it. Let Mrs. M. S. Alway, of London, Ont., tell you: "Baby's Own Tablets are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach, during teething time or when a cold is coming on. They work quickly yet gently to carry away poisons and promote restful comfort."

And Mrs. W. R. Sharp says: "I nursed my baby shortly after being alarmed over a motor accident and her stomach became quite upset. I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she soon stopped crying — and quieted down."

Equally effective for teething troubles, constipation, simple fever. Sweet-tasting, easily crushed to a powder, if desired — prompt in action. No "sleepy" stuff — no dulling effect. Buy a box today for sickness so often strikes in the night. 29 cents.

London's Famous Girls' Collegiate Marks Centennial

By DON GILBERT

LONDON — (CP) — Until Frances Mary Buss came along, English girls' education was largely a matter of "pudding making and pickling." Miss Buss changed all that.

The school she founded set a pattern for the higher education of women. This month Miss Buss's school is celebrating its centenary.

British newspapers have given the occasion a lot of attention, both serious and light-hearted. The Archbishop of Canterbury preached a commemorative sermon in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Miss Buss was a dark, curly-haired "elegant young lady" of 23 when she started her North London Collegiate School with a handful of pupils in the family home. Her aim was to give girls the same educational opportunities as boys.

Her methods were revolutionary for 1850, an age when girls were taught that "horses sweat, gentlemen perspire, but ladies merely glow." She organized courses in chemistry, biology and mathematics, then considered "too difficult" for girls.

Between classes, Miss Buss gave the girls "gentle callisthenics." She had an eye to the girls' health, too, watching for damp feet and clothing, and later inaugurated regular physical inspections by a woman doctor.

Great Headmistress

"The nation was fortunate in its first great head mistress," said the Times. It commended the "rigor of her academic studies" and said that without Miss Buss's early initiative the growth in later years of the first women's colleges at the universities would not have been possible.

Miss Buss aimed at the middle classes. Daughters of wealthy parents already had schools where they learned the "elegancies of the drawing room." It was still too early to do much for the poor, whose girls were lucky if they learned the three Rs at poorly equipped primary schools.

Numbers Increase

In less than 30 years, Miss Buss had two schools and 894 pupils. Three years before her death in 1894, she spoke with pride of the quality of her teachers: "Our staff tends to become more and more marked by the presence of women with university attainments equal to those of men."

In lighter vein, many reminisciences connected with the centenary recalled "a good-looking drawing master, who set the girls athrob." This "heart-throb" was identified as Septimus Buss, brother of the headmistress. He taught art and divinity, and had a Leslie Howard profile. Present-day pupils still repeat the quartain:

"Miss Buss and Miss Beale
"Cupid's darts do not feel;
"How different from us,
"Miss Beale and Miss Buss!"

Pretty camouflages ease the styling problem of hair that is growing out from a short bob. The girl at right twists up wispy ends to make anchor points for false curls shown bottom right. The wreath which circles the model's head below has flowers massed at the back to mask uneven length of locks.

Lack of Hair Styling When Hair Growing Out

By ALICIA HART

Hair that has been bobbed off not wisely but too well poses an awkward problem for the girl who wants to let it grow to a more flattering length. For several weeks, she's apt to find her hairline feathered with scraggly, uneven ends which are too long to look neat and too short to curl.

If that's your problem, here are tips from Victor Vito, New York hair stylist, which will make these "growing out pains" less vexing. He advises covering your hair at the back where straggling ends ar most noticeable as often as you can. Best disguise of all, he says, is a false hair-piece.

There are new featherweight hair-pieces made expressly for short hair. Such lightweight pinon curls can be anchored firmly to wisps of hair and will screen unslightly ends.

Arrangements of bows or flowers also make pretty camouflage for growing-out locks, says Vito. One easy-to-copy style he suggests for party occasions is to make a flower wreath for your hair. For this, you need three strips of flowers, either artificial or real ones wired together, 12 inches long. Bend two strips to make a circular wreath for your head. Double the third strip, pin to hair in back to mass flowers over ends that are likely to show.

If you hair has been shingled or thinned a good deal, let the top layers grow out fast, he advises. While top layers of hair are growing, keep the under layers trimmed at the neckline. Vito points out that attempts to curl hair are apt to be unsuccessful because some strands will be too short. Instead, he advises waving or swirling hair across the back and around the face. To keep flyaway locks in line, you can spray lacquer on the tips or apply a bit of hair dressing lotion or brilliantine with your fingertips.

A final tip from Vito is that the lustrous sheen which comes from frequent shampoos and the polishing strokes of a brush can make up for any lack of styling in hair of an awkward length. Wash hair before it begins to look lank or dull: Double your daily brushing quota of 100 strokes to make sure strands will shine.

Farmers Lose 40 Million In Butter Deal

TORONTO, April 27 (CP) — Erle Kitchener, secretary of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, said today that Canadian farmers will lose $40,000,000 a year as a result of latest Federal government moves concerning butter and cheese.

He said in a statement that the reduction of five cents a pound in the support price for butter, effective Monday, combined with the government's decision to requisition all cheddar cheese produced in Ontario and Quebec during the season of lowest price, will be equivalent to an 11-percent cut in pay for the farmer.

V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said in a statement:

"The farmers of Canada will have to insist that labor and industry cease demanding pay and profit increases. Farmers are the only people in the nation whose income is being reduced. Labor is demanding and getting higher and higher wages, which results in higher production costs for the farmer at the very time his income is reduced.

"We can't understand this new policy of requisitioning cheese. Actually it puts a ceiling on the price of cheese, because it compels the cheese producers to sell their product during the summer, when the price is lowest. They cannot hold it for the winter increase in price."

Talk All Night But Chrysler Strike Goes On

DETROIT, April 27 — (AP).— A record night-long bargaining session failed today to bring a settlement in the Chrysler strike now entering its 93rd day.

Both Chrysler Corporation and the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) agreed, however, some progress had been made.

Negotiators stayed in a marathon session until 6:30 a.m., EST, and then took a recess until 2 p.m. today.

Walter Reuther, UAW president, and Norman Matthews, the union's Chrysler director, issued thi sstatement:

"Some progress has been made on some contract issues. However, a number of important issues still are unresolved. The union is prepared to apply itself in extended negotiating sessions in an effort to resolve all the issues remaining in dispute."

Similar Statement.

A spokesman for Chrysler said the union statement substantially reflected the status of the negotiations.

Rumors of an impending break in the strike arose Wednesday night. They still persisted today. It was still anybody's guess, however, as to what might happen.

Both sides indicated they were making a determined effort to effect a settlement that would return 89,000 Chrysler workers to the job.

PCVS Students Stage Annual Variety Show

Music by Bobby Kinsman's orchestra and by PCVS students was featured Wednesday in the PCVS Boys' Athletic Association's annual Spring Variety Show. Four years ago the show was started as an annual affair to help raise funds to sponsor boys' sports in the school.

During January, February and March student talent performed in the senior assemblies to improve the assemblies and to reveal hidden talent among the students. Six of the eight weekly contest winners entered the finals at the variety show Wednesday. They were: Lorna Stewart, contralto; Janet Estlick, Myrna Swartz, Joseph Mills and Faye Swartz at the piano; Robert Hutchinson, violinist. The contest winner will be selected by the judges and announced Friday.

Between the skits and talent numbers Bobbie Kinsman's orchestra rocked the assembly with lively Dixieland music. Musicians who performed for the B.A.A. were: Bob Kinsman, saxophone; Bruce Mills, trombone; Sheldon Richardson, trumpet; Bob Robey, saxophone; Bob Reinhart, drums; Lloyd Boddison, guitar; Dick Crowe, piano; Paul Konkle, bass violin.

A wrestling match between Pulverizer Pete (Al Bennett) and Ivan Von Bendover (Blayne Northey) climaxed the show. Bendover "who took Latin for five years just to reduce for the championship match" outwitted Pete in two out of three falls. Referee Harold Graftstein handled the bout.

Del Crary, announcer with CHEX, was master of ceremonies. Throughout the show he presented the students with theatre and dancing passes.

The pair were charged with stealing two tool boxes valued at $500 from the premises of an auto service shop last Feb. 3. A term of six months for each additional charge will run concurrently.

Depatie and Patenaude were also convicted of breaking into a small confectionery store, a garage, an oil supply firm and a parked car.

Saunders Says Cheap Power To Aid Ontario

MERRITTON, April 27—(CP)— A great abundance of cheap electric power to keep prosperity and the high living standard of Ontario flowing was forecast by Ontario Hydro Commission chairman Robert Saunders in an address here Wednesday night. He was speaking in connection with the official opening of the new $43,000 Merritton Hydro Electric Commission building.

He cautioned that it might be touch-and-go about 1954 if the present rapid increase of hydro usage continues. "But we are pushing for new projects," he emphasized as he spoke of proposed extensions on the Niagara River and St. Lawrence River. New development in these areas would begin immediately once they are approved, but they would not be ready until at least 1958 or 1959.

On a per capita basis, Canada uses more electricity than the United States, said Mr. Saunders. Ontario uses 3,600 kilowatt hours per person, and Canada as a whole uses 3,300. The United States uses but 1,600 kilowatt hours per person.

Mr. Saunders unveiled a plaque listing the members of the Hydro Commission in 1949 when the new building was started, and erected in memory of the late James Rennie, chairman of the Merritton Hydro Electric Commission who died before the project was completed.

Find Painter's Battered Body Near Moose Jaw

MOOSE JAW, Sask., April 27. (CP).—Police Wednesday found two bullet holes in the battered, blood-soaked neck of a Moose Jaw painter, 36 year old Wenzel Wilhelm (Vince) Hartel.

Hartel's body was found late Monday on a lonely road six miles south of here. Police said his slayer must been crazed or intoxicated.

Postmortem examination by a Regina doctor revealed the bullet holes, which were covered by a blood clot. The doctor said a 22-calibre gun was used.

Police said the killer, in an apparent attempt to conceal identity of the victim, tried to cremate the body. Gasoline was poured over the body and ignited. The can was found 30 feet away.

But only the right side of Hartel's face was badly charred before the fire went out. Some of his clothes were burned off.

Police said Hartel bought the gasoline early Sunday night. He was seen later sitting in an automobile near the place where the body was found.

A $100 reward has been offered for information leading to arrest and conviction of the slayer.

"Better than ever?"
"Yes, Mrs. Smith,
CANADA BREAD
is better than ever!"

"Goodness, how could it be? Canada Bread's always been the very best bread we could buy!"

"That's right, Mrs. Smith, but some new machinery's been invented, and the minute something new comes out, if it makes better bread, we get it. We've got a whole bakery full of new equipment that helps us to make bread finer in texture, more uniform in shape and always a lovely golden brown colour . . .

"You should see our new mixer! It's terrific . . . handles 1,600 lbs. of dough every ten minutes . . . and our new oven is something! . . . It's all white enamel and stainless steel and about 100 times bigger than an ordinary stove. Why, it bakes 3,600 loaves an hour!

"But, oh! . . . I almost forgot the most important part of all . . .

Canada Bread Is More Nourishing

"We're putting in MORE milk, MORE shortening and MORE sugar, and this makes Canada Bread, more than ever, the very best bread you can buy . . . It stays fresh days longer, too.

"Another loaf?

"Thank you, Mrs. Smith. You'll enjoy it!"

There's a Canada Bread salesman on your street sometime during the day . . . He'll be glad to call at your house . . . or you can get Canada Bread from your grocer. Try it right away.

Floods Delay Construction Of Oil Pipeline

WINNIPEG, April 27—(CP)—Soft and washed-out roads are delaying construction of the Manitoba section of the $100,000,000, 1,150-mile pipeline that will carry crude oil from Alberta fields to Ontario refineries.

It had been hoped that construction would get under way about mid-April. Today, however, along the surveyed route out of Gretna in Southern Manitoba—southeast toward Wisconsin, Wis., and northwest towards Saskatchewan — much of the prairies are under water. Heavy trucks have been barred from some roads.

Contractors had hoped to have steel piping distributed by this time. The piping will lie on flat cars until topsoil dries off. That may not be until May 10.

Will Meet Deadline

The Interprovincial Pipeline Company, common carrier for oil producers in Alberta, had scheduled completion of the Canadian section by next Nov. 1, and the United States section by April 1, 1951. Gretna is to supply crude oil for Manitoba refineries next winter and for a new 1,000-barrel Winnipeg refinery in 1951.

However, contractors on the Manitoba section are confident work will be completed on time. The five Canadian pumping stations will operate next winter. The stations are at Gretna and Cromer, Man.; Regina and near Kerrobert, Sask.; and Edmonton.

Secondary pumping stations, ultimate 95,000-barrel-a-day objective, will be built later.

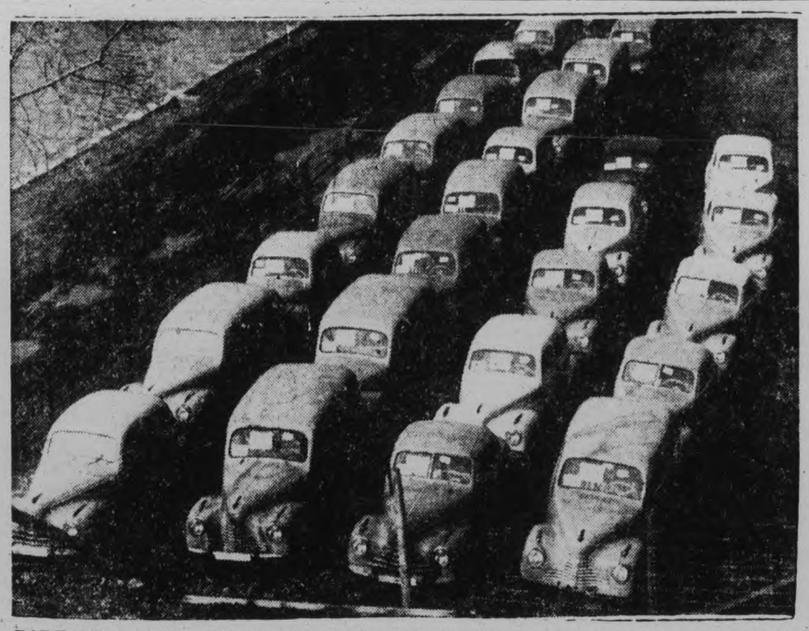
The Edmonton station must be completed by Sept. 15, the others at staggered dates up to Oct. 31.

Boomerang Cheques Get Man 18 Months

LONDON, Ont., April 27 (CP)—A trail of worthless cheques through six Ontario cities ended in court today when Harry Ernest Heustis, 48, of Quebec, was sentenced to 18 monthst by Magistrate Donald Menzies.

"If you were given consecutive sentence you would be in jail the rest of your life," the magistrate said.

Heustis pleaded guilty to passing worthless cheques totalling $400 in Fort William, Sudbury, North Bay, Toronto, Windsor and London.



PART OF A BATCH of some 50 newly-imported cars which were "sabotaged" en route to Canada according to Randall Cotton, president of Etablissement Cotton Inc., who imported the cars. The cars, nine of them total wrecks and the remainder badly damaged are shown in a parking lot alongside the Lachine Canal in Montreal. Cotton claims incident is part of an attempt to keep Czech-made cars out of Canada.

It's Beluga Hunting Time On Lower St. Lawrence

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC, April 27 —(CP)—A few fishermen and farmers along a 200-mile stretch of the lower St. Lawrence River are oiling guns and sharpening harpoons for beluga fishing—a sport that packs all the punch of big-game hunting.

The sport is all that's left in hunting horse-sized beluga—better known as the white porpoise—since the bottom fell out of the market for fish oils a few years ago. When the oil was valuable as many as 800 beluga were killed each year on the river but last year less than 50 were caught.

Big schools of beluga are found in various cold-water spots between Rivere Ouelle, 65 miles east of here and Trinity Bay, about 250 miles down river.

Fishing for them is a sort of sea-going game hunt.

Dr. Vadim D. Vladikov, fisheries department biologist who put 10 years of study into two books about the white porpoise, describes the way the lower St. Lawrence dwellers go after the big fish which run from 62 inches to 23 feet in length and may weigh anywhere from 65 to 3,000 pounds.

One way is with a motor boat. The hunter goes out at high tide when the beluga comes in shore to feed. When the tide ebbs, the hunter frightens them into shallow water with the noise of his boat.

After a 15-minute chase the porpoises usually come up for air. And that's when the marksman fires his rifle at the vulnerable spot on the animal's back just behind its water spout. The dead beluga is harpooned and towed ashore.

Another way is with a sail boat. The idea is to sail up close and use a harpoon attached to a buoy. The hunter keeps track of his prey by following the buoy as the wounded fish tows it.

British Rails For Canada

MIDDLESBROUGH, Eng., —(CP) — Middlesbrough firm is working on Canadian orders worth $1,000,000.

One is for a substantial proportion of an order for 15,000 tons of steel rails for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, owned by the British Columbia government.

The other is for 2,500 broad flango beams for Toronto.

The successful firm is Cargo Fleet Iron Company. The contracts resulted from a visit to Canada last fall by a deputation representing all interests of the steel industry.

The first shipment of rails for British Columbia already has left the rolling mills.

Careless Driver Judged Guilty

Found guilty of careless driving when he smashed into the rear of another car, Kenneth McConnell, 27 Lansdowne St., was fined $10 and $9.75 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC. in police court Wednesday.

Constable Donald Mackay testified he had seen McConnell driving south on George St. 12.20 a.m April 7 about 30 to 35 miles an hour. He heard the car tires squeal when McConnell put on the brakes and saw the car bang into the rear of a car driven by Douglas Britnell stopped with other cars at the Hunter St. stop light.

Constable Mackay added that one skid mark had been left by the McConnel car back about 40 feet. He said McConnell had been a borderline drunk.

McConnel told the court he had had nothing to drink after a beer bought about 5 p.m. He thought his car skidded only about three or four feet before the collision. He added that he saw two skid marks on the road after the accident about four feet long.

McConnel told the court the day after the accident Constable Victor McConnell had tested his brakes and found them satisfactory.

Damage to the Britnell car amounted to about $7.50 and McConnell had paid for that.

Floods From Dam Form Huge Lake On Historic Site

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., —(CP)—When southern Alberta's giant St. Mary River dam is completed, a man-made lake 17 by six miles will cover land which once accommodated two Hutterite colonies, several private farms, about 10 Indian homesteads and some 29 graves.

It was not an easy task to prepare more than 11,600 acres of land so that water could be stored against the dam for irrigation purposes.

The biggest headache, construction crews said, was moving the colony of the Hutterite Brethren of West Raley. The job took nine months and "was a headache from the first day until it was completed."

About 125 buildings of various sizes had to be moved from the colony which had a population of about 100. Included were a tannery, flour mill, school and three or four large dwellings.

When the buildings were constructed by the Hutterites they were built, according to custom, with the floors disconnected from the rest of the buildings. Hutterites first build the sides and roof of a building, then go inside to build a floor. After the colony was moved, water had to be piped for one mile to the new site. Four attempts to drill wells produced dry holes.

The 11,600 acres were purchased for $460,000, an average of $40 per acre. But the Hutterites received $45 an acre because that is the price they paid for the land in 1918.

Crews now are working on a $1,000,000 spillway for the dam, which eventually will rise to a height of 202½ feet. The first water will be stored against the dam next fall, but it will be some time before the lake is completed. If runoff is normal, experts say the reservoir can be filled in a year.

Official opening ceremonies will likely be held in 1951 on the day irrigation water is turned into ditches leading to farmlands.

Says Dancer Wants A True Democracy

HARTFORD, Conn., April 27 (AP)—The gray-haired president of the now inactive Russian War Relief, Incorporated, testified today that Paul Draper, the dancer, had "a yearning for something that was genuinely democratic."

Edward C. Carter, 71, made the statement at a federal court trial of a libel suit brought by Draper and harmonica player Larry Adler. The entertainers seek $100,000 damages each from Mrs. Hester R. McCullough, 31-year-old Greenwich, Conn., housewife.

They charged she hurt their reputations by branding them pro-communist.

Frederick H. Wiggin, counsel for Draper and Adler, told the Jury Tuesday that each had lost at least $10,000 in bookings because of Mrs. McCullough's published and spoken statements protesting their appearance at a concert in Greenwich Jan. 21, 1949.

Ribbons Compulsory

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Wearing of service ribbons and decorations will be compulsory for city policemen in future. About 400 policemen are entitled to wear ribbons. One constable commented that "old sweats on skid row have made things miserable" for young officers wearing ribbons by "pulling the old soldier stuff."

Pay "Abnormally Low"

MOOSE JAW, Sask.,—(CP) — Public library employees have asked that their salaries come under the same wage scale as other civic employees. Aldermen agreed the salaries were "abnormally low" at the end of the year.

London Dockers Strike Broken By Gov't After 10-Day Walkout

Attlee Ultimatum To Work Or Lose Jobs Brings Quick Results, Troops To Be Withdrawn Saturday

LONDON, April 28—(CP)—The government has apparently broken a paralyzing 10-day wildcat strike of 14,000 London dock workers. Troops which had been sent in to unload precious food cargoes will be called away from the docks tomorrow to permit an orderly resumption of work, the government announced today. The solid front of the strikers—some port officials said their walkout had been Communist-inspired—was broken this morning. Faced with a government ultimatum to get back to work by Monday or lose their jobs, 2,000 of the strikers voted to go back tomorrow. Other meetings of strikers were called.

Later the government agreed to a request of the Transport Workers eneral Union to keep troops away from the dock tomorrow.

Labor Minister George Isaacs told the House of Commons that a TWGU Committee representing all dock workers had called for "an immediate and orderly resumption of work."

Grew Daily

The walkout grew daily since the original stoppage 10 days ago of a section of the dock workers who were protesting the expulsion of three men from the TWGU.

They had been kicked out on charges they were ringleaders in the Communist-supported strike last year.

Prime Minister Attlee's government had called out troops to unload food cargoes and load the ships engaged in the country's important export drive.

The Dock Labor Board said 14,393 men were on strike on Thursday, with 11,084 still at work on 26 ships. There were nearly 6,000 troops working 38 ships and 80 ships were idle, the report said.

Throws Body Under Wheels Saves Wife's Life

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn., April 28 (AP)—A 75-year-old man Thursday threw his body beneath the wheels of his rolling car to stop it at the top of a mountain—probably saving the life of his wife.

The wife, Mrs. Alonzo A. Fassett, of Detroit, said her husband, run over by one wheel, acted as a human brake for about five minutes while she scrambled from the vehicle in terror and sought aid from a passing motorist.

Standing by the hospital bed of her husband, who suffered shock and severe bruises, she related the near-tragedy occurred at dawn at Newfound Gap, an observation point in the Great Smoky Mountains national park.

She was in the car, she said, while her husband stood outside watching the sun rise.

"I couldn't stand to look off from the dizzy height," Mrs. Fassett added.

The car began to roll and she screamed. Being rattled, and not knowing how to drive, she fumbled for the brake instead of leaping out.

Fassett did not hear her. Then, when the vehicle was almost upon him at the edge of a plunging mountain slope, he noticed the movement and tried to stop the car by shoving on it with his hands.

Failing to check its progress, he threw himself prone.

Canadian Navy To Pay Visit

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — Royal Canadian Navy officials said Thursday that a five-ship Canadian Navy squadron, headed by the aircraft carrier Magnificent, may visit North Atlantic Pact nations next fall.

If tentative plans mature the squadron will visit Scandinavian countries as well as Britain and Belgium.

At Victoria, Vice-Admiral Harold T. W. Grant, Chief of Naval Staff, said the visits were under consideration, and if approved, would follow exercises by the five-ship squadron with units of the British home fleet near Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

The destroyers Sioux and Cayuga, now on active duty on the Pacific coast, and the destroyers Micmac and Huron, based at Halifax, would make the trip with the Magnificent.

Broke Gambling Deal Democrat Murdered

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP).—Mayor William E. Kemp of Kansas City, told senators today that Charles Binaggio may have been slain because he was unable to deliver on a promise that the city would be thrown wide open to gambling.

Kemp said "some lawless elements," including Binaggio, had entertained "high hopes" they would be able to influence the police department to let gambling run wide open because of some appointments made by the Governor to the City Police Board.

"Their hopes did not materialize," Kemp said.

Binaggio, a Democratic leader, and Charles Gargotta, one of his henchmen, were killed recently in their Kansas City northside political headquarters.

Indians Bite Dust—Off Barroom Floors

ELKO, Nev., April 28 (AP)—Ten drunken Indians on the barroom floors of Mountain City proved too many today for the county liquor board.

The board revoked all liquor licences and permits of the six saloons that serve the tiny mining and ranching community, 86 miles north of Elko near the Idaho border.

The action came after a grand jury reported that on week-ends it "found as many as 10 Indians lying on the floor of any saloon at any one time."

The Indians live at the West Shoshone Agency, eight miles from Mountain City, on the Owyhee Reservation.

Get Money For Wheat

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—Britain today was granted $35,000,000 to pay for Canadian wheat under the Marshal Plan. The Economic Co-operation Administration announced the spending approval. The Agency said the grain-buying will begin immediately and continue until June 30. Delivery must be made by Aug. 31.

Westinghouse Doubles Vote For IUE Union

PITTSBURGH, April 28 (AP).—The new CIO Electrical Workers Union has won the right to represent nearly twice as many Westinghouse Electric Corporation workers as the Independent United Electrical Workers which was thrown out of the CIO for being Communist dominated.

The actual number of workers won so far by each union in Thursday's National Labor Relations Board is:

CIO-IUE—28,187 in 20 units.
UE (Ind.)—14582 in 20 units.

The voting was on a plant by plant basis in 51 units at 40 Westinghouse plants.

Actually, the country-wide vote was close — 27,281 for the CIO-IUE to 22,187 for the UE. But the CIO union won the majorities in the big units and they are the ones that counted most in the final count.

Close Votes

At least three big locals are not included in the tabulations because of the close votes and the fact that challenged ballots can throw the pendulum either way.

Westinghouse will bargain with the individual unions which polled the majority votes in their respective voting units.

Some AFL and Independent unions appeared on the ballots in a few of the plant elections.

And enough of these unions won to keep either major union from getting a clean-cut majority of the plants.

Thursday's election was the second between the bitter Electrical Unions. UE lost the first round of the NLRB voting. General Motors Electric Division workers endorsed the CIO-IUE 21,167 to 2,528.

Tito Sees No Danger Of War With Soviet

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 28 (AP)—Premier Tito said today that he sees no immediate danger of war with the Soviet Union.

"I do not see any immediate danger of war," Tito told a press conference for foreign correspondents, the first he has held in recent years.

"In no case," he said, "do I think the Soviet Union would risk becoming the aggressor."

Tito's declaration came after he was asked if he would welcome arms aid from the United States.

The marshal replied that he did not consider the U.S. would offer him arms, and added that his country had the means of making its own arms.

Frost Plans To Hit Windsor First

2 Governments Want To Eliminate Gambling Syndicates

TORONTO, April 28—(CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario says the province will co-operate wholeheartedly with United States law enforcement officials in seeking to eliminate international operations of gambling and bookmaking syndicates.

The Premier said that because his government does not believe the recent Windsor Police Commission inquiry brought any "finality" to the situation there, the full power of the Provincial Police will be directed toward eliminating crime in Windsor.

Premier Frost made the statement Thursday night in comment on a report that Senator Homer Ferguson, Michigan Republican, said in Washington he would ask the newly-formed Senate crime investigating committee to study the Detroit-Windsor situation and the operations of a racetrack wire set-up in Windsor.

Senator Ferguson 10 years ago was chosen to conduct a one-man grand jury probe of the Detroit police force and district attorney's office, which resulted in penitentiary sentences for some officials and dismissal of others. Since the Detroit clean-up police officials of Detroit and Michigan have claimed that bookmaking syndicates there have been unable to establish a race-wire network but that one was operating in Windsor, only 10 minutes from downtown Detroit.

No Direct Connection

The race-wire angle was not directly connected with the recent inquiry by Windsor's city police commission. That inquiry into "allegations of corruption" followed charges made by Magistrate R. A. Hanrahan in a judgment sentencing Joseph Assef for bootlegging.

The Windsor inquiry ended with announcement that no evidence of corruption had been uncovered, but the full official report has yet to be made. Premier Frost previously had stated that if Windsor's city police could not clean up the allegations the Provincial Police would be called in.

Regarding Senator Ferguson's demand for investigation of the Detroit-Windsor situation Premier Frost said he welcomed any investigation on either side of the border that could wipe out bookmaking, gambling and their attendant evils of prostitution, dope peddling and, especially in border areas, smuggling high-grading of gold.

"We do not intend to permit Ontario to become the base of operations of lawless U.S. elements," he said. "Neither do we intend to let them operate in Ontario."

Says Security Can Beat Reds

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP). — Communism will never take root in communities in which people have found economic security, a Canadian educationist today told the Senate Committee on Human Rights.

In a 2,500-word brief prepared for delivery before the committee, Dr. E. A. Corbett of Toronto said one reason Communism was making no headway in places such as Great Britain and in the Scandinavian countries was because the level of public education for adults was higher than anywhere else in the world.

He felt Communism "will never find a place in those communities in which, through a well-directed program of public education, people have found a way to secure for themselves that measure of economic security and freedom from exploitation which all men desire."

Dr. Corbett, director for the Canadian Association for Adult Education, did not appear before the committee in his official capacity.

He said there were several reasons why he believed Canada should have a bill of rights in her constitution. In the last few years there had been "plenty of evidence" that basic rights and freedoms had been threatened.

MERRY SPRING!—Workmen in Duluth, Minn., begin shovelling snow from sidewalks, after a full-scale, 70-mile-an-hour blizzard buried the city under eight inches of snow. The heavy snows in Minnesota and North Dakota brought fresh hardships to an area already hard hit by floods.

France Ousts Atom Chief For Red Views

PARIS, April 28 — (AP). — The French Government today fired Communist scientist Frederic Joliot-Curie as chief of France's Atomic Energy Commission and ousted him from the government's Institute of Scientific Research.

He was dismissed on the basis of his recent statements to the Gennevilliers Congress of the French Communist Party, where he pledged that Communist scientists would never contribute their genius to "a war against the Soviet Union."

The Cabinet decision, following much public clamor, was announced by Pierre Henri Tietgen Minister of State.

Action Demanded

Centre and right-wing leaders and newspapers have been demanding such action ever since Joliot-Curie told the 12th National Congress of the French Communist party early this month that "Communist scientists will never contribute a particle of their science to a war against the Soviet Union."

This was assailed by the non-Leftist press as a sentiment which should disqualify Joljot-Curie from holding such a vital position. Socialist newspapers also attacked the scientist's statements at the time, although they did not specifically demand his ouster.

Nobel Prize Winner

The 50-year-old scientist, Nobel Prize winner in chemistry in 1935, was appointed in 1946 by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, then President, to head the French Atomic Energy Commission.

Since that time Joliot-Curie's name frequently has been associated with Communist activities. Late last year he attended the Rome meeting of the pro-Soviet Peace Partisans, which spearheaded a Communist-blessed World Peace Congress. Shortly thereafter he visited Moscow.

Chef Crosses To Shop Charged With Bigamy

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — Robert Pratt, 31, a chef from Buffalo, NY, was held here today on a charge of bigamy after being arrested when his reported second wife talked him into crossing the border to do a little shopping.

Toronto morality officers said they have had a warrant out for Pratt's arrest for a month but could not get him out of the United States. They asked immigration officials to keep a watch for him if he attempted to cross the border.

Thursday Pratt and a woman who police believe is his second wife crossed the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls to do some shopping. He was arrested and turned over to Toronto police. The woman returned to Buffalo.

Police charge that Pratt married Mildred Ryndress of Windsor, in 1943, and that he was still married to her when he went through a ceremony with Jean Powell of Buffalo in Toronto last December.

Reporter, Yale Professor Murdered By Indonesians

JAKARTA, Indonesia, April 28—(AP)—A Yale Professor and an American correspondent were slain Thursday in West Java—the apparent victims of a murderous gang whose motives could not be determined.

The two were Professor Raymond Kennedy, 43, of Yale University, a noted sociologist known to his students as "Jungle Jim" because of his urge to explore remote places, and Robert Doyle, 30, a native of Chicago who worked for Time and Life magazines out of Hong Kong.

A spokesman for the American Embassy said the two were killed on a paved highway near Tomo. This is in a beautiful montainous area where fanatical guerilla bands were active during the Dutch-Indonesian warfare. There was an indication the bodies may have been mutilated.

The two left Jakarta Thursday morning by jeep for Jogjakarta, capital of the Republic of Indonesia in central Java.

Hisgen said his report came by telephone from the British United Nations military observer stationed at Bandoeng, Lt.-Col. F. Day.

He said the Indonesian Army Command had indentified positively the body of Doyle but, according to a first report, had difficulty in identifying Kennedy This appeared to indicate that the bodies had been mutilated.

Found Near Town

They were found near the town of Tomo, in a mountainous area. Fanatic Moslem bands of Darul Islam movement have operated in that area in the past but it was not known if they were involved in the murder.

Kennedy, a professor of sociology at Yale who had written several reports and books on Indonesia, recently had been doing research work in the field.

Doyle had been working on a story on how the Indonesian peasants felt about the current situation in the islands. He caught a ride with Kennedy and said he expected to interview villagers along the route to Jogjakarta.

Pilot Reports Flying Saucer

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—A Trans-World Airlines pilot Thursday night reported seeing a "round mass" which "glowed a dull red like hot steel" as it cruised about a half-mile from his Chicago-bound plane.

"I used to laugh at all those flying saucer reports but it's no laughing matter now," said Capt Robert Adickes. "I saw one."

Adickes said the object, "20 to 50 feet" in diameter, overtook his plane bound from Washington to Chicago near South Bend, Ind. It cruised along a parallel course for eight minutes, Adickes said. The plane was at 2,000 feet.

Adickes said he turned north in an attempt to get closer.

"It picked up speed—300 to 400 miles an hour—and ran out of sight over South Bend," the pilot related.

First Oficer Robert Manning confirmed Adickes' account.

Adickes said about half of the 19 passengers aboard also saw the object.

FBI Aids Police Smashing Student Riot Strategy

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation aided police today in breaking up reported secret student strategy as a fourth day of city-wide rioting and demonstrating for teacher pay increases threatened.

The FBI passed on to police an anonymous tip that students planned to decoy authorities away from city hall today while a separate group "took the hall."

The unidentified informant said Thursday night that he overheard 'teen-agers discussing the "coup" plans in a restaurant.

Police prepared to throw 100 patrolmen and 25 mounted men around city hall. A major detail will be posted at Gracie Mansion, home of Mayor William O'Dwyer. Police throughout the city were put on a special alert to watch schools.

Riots have broken out as a peak of 30,000 students cut classes and swarmed through streets, subways and buildings. Large groups have tried—noisily but in vain—to reach O'Dwyer and press their demands that teachers get higher pay.

The worst outbreak of student rioting Thursday was around city hall, and in nearby Foley Square.

Police, on foot and horseback, drove the students first from the city hall, and then from the square.

Police, ordered to take it easy on the youngsters, nevertheless had to handle some students roughly. Some demonstrators were grabbed firmly and hustled out of the rioting. Others had to be carried away kicking and screaming.

Royal Couple Heir-Minded Large Family Predicted

LONDON, April 28 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth may re-establish the Royal tradition of large families, Buckingham Palace sources hinted today.

The heiress-presumptive to the throne and her young husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh are expecting their second child in August. The people around the palace think the baby won't be the last by any means.

"There's no question but that both are very child-minded," one informant said.

Queen Victoria set a big-family tradition for the British Royal house. She had nine children, and at the time of her death had 37 grandchildren on her Christmas list.

Edward Had Five

King Edward VII had five children—three Princesses and two Princes. King George V, Elizabeth's grandfather, had six, five of them boys.

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, married in a blaze of old world pomp Nov. 20, 1947, had their first child, bonnie Prince Charlie, Nov. 14, 1948.

When Prince Charles was born the palace sources said, "they badly wanted a boy—and got their wish."

As far as is known, the informant said, neither the Princess nor her naval officer husband has expressed any preference for a boy or a girl this time.

Princess In Malta

Princess Elizabeth now is in Malta visiting her husband. A Lieutenant on the Royal Navy Destroyer Chequers. She is expected to fly back to Britain next Wednesday.

The Princess already is on a strict medical regimen and diet in preparation for the birth, and is "having all the normal prenatal care," the palace informant said. The birth is to be supervised by Sir William Gilliatt, the doctor who attended her when Prince Charles was born.

Ask Ottawa Call Flood Emergency

Winnipeg Latest Spot Menaced By River Nearing Peak of 1948

MORRIS, Man., April 28 — (CP)—Mayor Harry Shewman today asked the Federal government to declare Manitoba's flood situation a national emergency. The Mayor, an independent member of the Manitoba Legislature, said the swollen Red river has made 1,500 persons homeless in his constituency.

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP)—Works Minister Errick F. Willis said today the Red River flood this year is "far worse" than that of 1948 when damage amounted to millions of dollars. Mr. Willis, acting premier in the absence of Hon. Douglas L. Campbell, said the deluge is "in every sense a national emergency and should receive the immediate attention of the Federal Government."

A copy of this telegram to the Federal cabinet was sent to Premier Campbell of Manitoba.

Mayor Shewman asked from Ottawa:

1. Prompt financial aid for flood victims;

2. Investigation of the cause of the floods, with a view to preventing a recurrence;

3. Income-tax reductions for persons who must pay for flood damage done to private property.

Wait For Province

At Ottawa, government sources said it was unlikely federal authorities would act in the flood situation unless asked to do so by the provincial government. This was the case in the Fraser Valley floods in British Columbia in 1948, when, at the request of the British Columbia government troops and other assistance were called in to meet the emergency.

It is unusual for the Federal government to act on the request of a municipality.

U.S. Appoints Envoy To Canada

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP) —Stanley Woodward, chief of protocol at the State Department has been named United States Ambassador to Canada to succeed the late Laurence Steinhardt, President Truman announced on Thursday.

The appointment came a month after the popular Steinhardt met his death in the crash of a United States plane near Ottawa, while en route to Washington.

Truman announced the appointment at the start of his first press conference to be held across the street from the White House in the former State, War and Navy Department building.

At Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Pearson said the Canadian people and the government will give Mr. Woodward a warm welcome.

Report Minor Issues Blocking Settlement

DETROIT, April 28 — (AP) — After a night's rest negotiators in the Chrysler strike resumed their task today.

It was the 19th consecutive day of talks and the 54th day of the strike of 89,000 CIO Automobile Workers.

Thursday's session, which followed upon a previous 20½-hour meeting, was recessed after nine hours.

Reports from the private bargaining room indicate that relatively minor issues stand in the way of a settlement.

But as a group they add up to a major stumbling block.

According to informal advices, the scrap over $100 monthly pensions (including social security) was long since ironed out in principle.

Seven Men Stage Ruckus In Commons Believed Red-Inspired

Delegates To Unemployed Convention Start To Read Brief; First House Demonstration In Years

OTTAWA, April 28—(CP)—Seven men staged an organized but short-lived demonstration from the public gallery of the House of Commons Thursday. All were forcibly seized and ejected. The men, delegates of the "Canadian Convention of Unemployed Workers" now meeting in the capital, rose one by one and started to read from a brief prepared by the convention. As each man started to speak uniformed police grabbed him and hustled him out of the Chamber. The incident, first of its kind in year's followed unsuccessful efforts to present the brief to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Labor Minister Mitchell.

Later Ray Collette of Toronto, provisional president of the National Committee of Unemployed Workers who started off Thursday's demonstration, and two companions walked into the parliament buildings as the evening sitting was starting. They asked to see Health Minister Martin, but left quietly when informed that he was not in the building. Collette's companions claimed to be unemployed workers from Mr. Martin's constituency.

Supporters Parade

While a group of supporters paraded outside the parliament buildings, astonished members saw Mr. Collette rise to his feet in the first row of gallery seats and shout:

"Mr. Speaker, I represent the unemployed...."

A policeman grabbed him from his position just behind reporters in the press gallery and led him away.

Strategically dispersed throughout the gallery, the remainder rose one by one and uttered a few words before being hauled away.

The most shabbily dressed one of the seven houted: "I'm ex-service and I represent the unemployed and I'd like to have a hearing...." Another was thrown to the floor. One bit the finger of a policeman but none of them struggled greatly. Two others walked out without speaking.

House Police

House police, who had anticipated trouble, were on hand in strength and none of the demonstrators were able to utter more than a few words. Police said the men had every right to go into the gallery but once they started to shout they were subject to removal. No charges will be laid.

Members of the Commons, looking up in astonishment and then occasionally tittering, took no official cognizance of the scene.

Ejected from the House were Collette, Harry Gulkin of Montreal, Fred Collins of Vancouver, Gerard Begin of Quebec City, George Steiger of Hamilton, Frank Haslam of Welland and Charles Fine of Toronto.

No Connection

The organization the men represents claims country - wide membership but has no connection with either of Canada's two major labor congresses. A labor department spokesman said the group has been writing Mr. Mitchell for some time and that a number of names showing up in correspondence are those of Communists.

At the organization's convention session Thursday, Solon Low, Social Credit Leader, bluntly told the convention that the main purpose of its brief appeared to be "to inflame rather than to convince." He was the only one of four national party leaders invited to speak who showed up.

Who Stole Truck Who Hit Car? Court's Puzzle

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, reserved judgment in the trial of Maxwell Meharrie, Cameron St., charged with leaving the scene of an accident, March 4.

The magistrate said he wanted to review the confusing evidence to decide whether Meharrie had recovered his truck he reported stolen earlier before or after the accident took place.

John Webster, RR 8, Peterborough, testified his car had been struck in the rear by a truck which didn't stop, but drove away. Webster said he followed the truck several blocks and stopped it in a laneway extension of Water St. south of Dalhousie St.

He identifned Meharrie as the man behind the wheel of the truck and said there was a man and woman in the cab of the truck with Meharrie.

Gave Other Name

He took the license number of the truck. He said the driver gave his name as Jack Thompson. The driver told Webster to take his car to a local garage and he would pay for it.

Webster said he went to the police and gave them the license number he had taken down. The license number was registered in Meharrie's name.

About three weeks later, he went down to see Meharrie to try to get him to pay for the damage to the car, but Meharrie denied knowing Webster or anything about any accident. He told Webster his truck had been stolen that night.

Constable William G. Scott testified about six p.m. March 4, Meharrie came to him and said his car was stolen. Constable Scott said he didn't take the matter too seriously because Meharrie appeared to have been drinking quite a bit and he thought Meharrie had simply misplaced the truck.

He said he told Meharrie to look around for the truck and if he didn't find it in half an hour to report it into the police station.

Truck And No Truck

About 9.30 the same evening, Webster came in and reported his accident. Constable Scott then drove down to Meharrie's house, but saw no truck parked outside.

The next morning he drove to Meharrie's house again and saw the truck parked there.

He asked Meharrie when he had found the truck and reported that Meharrie had said to him "about a half hour" after he had reported it to Constable Scott.

Constable Scott said he also asked Meharrie whether he was driving the truck about 9.20 p.m. and Meharrie said he was.

Meharrie testified in the witness box that he had not seen his truck until about 11 p.m. after reporting it stolen between five and six.

Testifies To Damage

He said the racks had been taken off the truck and laid down on the platform and about a quarter of a tank of gas was missing. He added two new towels wrapped in a bundle had been left in the cab of the truck.

Meharrie said he first learned of the accident the next morning from Constable Scott.

George Blakely, Cameron St., testified he had ordered a load of wood from Meharrie, but Meharrie had told him his truck was stolen and he would be unable to deliver it.

He said he saw Meharrie in a hotel beverage room several times during the evening and gathered that Meharrie was looking for his truck. Blakely said he thought Meharrie had recovered his truck about 9.30 p.m.

Situation Worse

Southern Manitoba's flood crisis worsened today as the Red River's spring crest shifted toward Winnipeg.

Thursday a rapid rise in the river poured water over acres upon acres of flat farm lands north from Emerson, at the international boundary.

Today as far north as Winnipeg, the river level was climbing. At 8:00 a.m. the official reading in the capital was 21.7 feet—less than two feet below the peak of the bad floods two years ago.

Milder weather was melting unseasonably-late snow through Minnesota, North Dakota and southern Manitoba areas which the muddy river drains.

A day-long upsurge sent levels at St. Jean Baptiste and Morris, 37 and 30 miles south, over the 1948 mark. The spring run-off from the higher western slopes, despite near-freezing temperatures, sent water roaring over highway bridges to isolate the towns except for rail communications.

Extra work gangs fought to sandbag the rail line against the creeping menace. At some points it was only a foot above the water.

At Morris the rise was 15 inches in 12 hours. Mayor Harry Shewman Thursday estimated damage in Morris would exceed $1,000,000.

The bridge to the east was under water, and water was two feet deep on the Roland road to the west. About 250 persons had been evacuated.

Hoover Asks UN Drop Red Nations

US More Isolated Losing Ground Steadily In Cold War

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP)—Herbert Hoover says "the United Nations should be reorganized without the Communist nations in it."

"If that is impractical," he declares, "then a definite new united front should be organized of those peoples who disavow Communism, who stand for morals and religion, and who love freedom . . ."

The only living former President of the United States, outlined his vision of a new International set-up Thursday night in an address before the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

He said the United States is becoming more and more isolated as the sole contender in this cold war and is "steadily losing ground" to Russia and her allies.

Assails Soviet

Assailing the Soviet regime, Hoover said there is great need for a dynamic "new united front" against "creeping Red Imperialism."

"This is not one world—but two worlds," he said.

"The one world idea seems to be lost in the secret files. One world is militaristic, imperialistic, atheistic and without compassion. The other world still holds to belief in God, free nations' human dignity and peace."

The 1,800 diners cheered the 75-year-old former president's proposals for a new United Nations.

Popular Note

In Washington, Hoover's proposal struck a popular note today among United States Congressmen.

Senator Walter George (Dem., Ga.) appeared to be reflecting widespread democratic sentiment when he said he regards such a move as "inevitable."

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep., Iowa) of the Senate Foreign Relations group, said the present stalemate in the UN should cause Congress to give "profound and immediate" consideration to Hoover's suggestion.

Martin McMahon Buried At Ida

A funeral service for Martin McMahon, Cavan, was held today at the MacPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook, followed by burial in St. John's cemetery, Ida.

A storm that is over Colorado this morning is headed toward Chicago and cloudiness will show up over the Windsor area Saturday morning, followed by rain towards evening. This storm offers one pleasant prospect. It may bring southern regions into much warmer air Sunday.

House Rejects Two Votes Non-Confidence

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — The Commons rejected two opposition motions of non-confidence in the government Thursday night—both were hinged to the March 28 budget—and then quickly knuckled down to the concrete task of passing budget resolutions.

The motions, traditional opposition slabs at the government in the budget debate, were snowed under by these counts:

1. By a vote of 129 to 43, the chamber defeated a Progressive Conservative motion expressing regret that government policies made higher taxes inevitable, included no adequate attempt to reduce costs and contained no program for national development.

2. By a vote of 167 to 12, the chamber defeated a CCF amendment expressing regret that government policies indicated the government was prepared to accept the present level or production as adequate for Canadians.

The house then adopted "on division"—indicating disapproval without a formal vote—the main government motion asking the chamber to open active study of the tax changes outlined in the budget.

Skimpy On Tax Relief

The budget was skimpy on tax relief. It dropped the excise tax on toilet soaps and removed the sales tax on ice cream, dairy drinks and prepared whipping cream and on purchases by orphanages and institutions for the aged and infirm.

These were adopted in committee stage after the divisions.

An expected Social Credit nonconfidence motion, generally moved after the major-party thrusts are disposed of, did not materialize. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, contented himself with lecturing the chamber on the benefits of Social-Credit money.

Participating in the debate as it slowed to a close were Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton), John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-MacLeod) C. A. D. Cannon (L-Isles De La Madeleine), R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon) and F. G. Robertson (L-Northumberland.)

The house opening was disrupted by a demonstration by representatives of the so-called "National Convention of Unemployed Organizations." Seven men sought to address complaints to the Chamber and were forcibly ejected by members of the House protective staff.

No Occasion

In the question period, Justice Minister Garson said there has

Early Price Weakness OvercomeOnExchange

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — Early price weakness was overcome as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials opened on a downward trend but slowly recovered and pushed into higher ground as leaders chalked up fractional gains. Volume was 1,428,000 shares for the first three hours.

Interlisted issues were especially strong in industrials. International Paper rose a full point at 46½ and Consolidated Paper, Ford Motor, Imperial Oil and Fanny Farmer were strongly ahead.

In the stronger base metal list, Anacon Lead featured on a gain of 11 cents at $1.13. Steep Rock was active and ahead 10 cents at $3.20 and Eureka Corp., jumped into the limelight for a 13-cent advance at 73 cents.

Newlund Mines, a feature performer in golds, Thursday, was again active but under pressure of profit-taking sales. Leading junior gold producers showed losses ranging up to 15 cents.

Western oils advanced over an almost solid front.

Doukhobors Quit Lumber Camps To Guard Homes

NELSON, B.C., April 28 (CP)—Both the government and the Doukhobors made moves Thursday in the strife-ridden Kootenays.

A report from provincial police said law-abiding orthodox Doukhobors are leaving jobs in the Slocan Valley lumber operations to guard their homes against further incendiarism.

While 10 Sons of Freedom women were convicted in Nelson police court on charges of nude parading, other "Freedomites" fired three more gasoline-soaked dwellings as a protest against man-made laws.

The 10, a small segment of the nearly 100 Doukhobors arrested in recent demonstrations, were sentenced to 2½ years in penitentiary.

Since the Sons of Freedom went on the rampage a little more than a week ago, 18 dwellings have been destroyed.

In all cases Thursday, disrobing and hymn-chanting accompanied the burnings. Names were taken, but police made no arrests.

The Doukhobor women on trial, who told Magistrate Parker Williams they could give evidence "only to God," pleaded innocent to charges of parading in the nude April 23.

"It is Christ's will," they said through an interpreter. "What He places in our hearts we must fulfil."

Provincial police reported another 30 of the "Sons," men and women, will appear in Nelson police court today on charges of nude parading at Krestova.

Pupils Compete Against Parents

MARMORA, April 28 (ENS)—Marmora Home and School Association monthly meeting was held in the Public School on Wednesday with the president, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler, occupying the chair.

The Rev. G. D. Young conducted a quiz contest, five pupils competing against five parents. The parents won by 12½ points to 10½. This was followed by a sing-song led by Mrs. A. F. Fraser.

The president announced that the next meeting would be the annual meeting, with an auction sale as one of the features.

Entertainment was provided by E. C. Prentice's class. Franz Russell sang, Lois Jennings and Jack Cunningham rendered a duet and a playlet was presented by senior pupils.

An advertisement contest staged by Mrs. E. C. Prentice was won by Bob Walker. Lunch was served.

Advertise Our Hall

Visitors coming to the city by car from Highway 28 have their attention called to the new Civic Hospital, now nearing completion, by a sign and arrow. It is a sensible device, for the pile is so big that strangers could not help but see it and ask themselves: "What's that?" In a month's time, and for the next year or two the city's jaw is going to look curiously gappy, in the block where the City Hall will rise. Work will be in progress, the tens of thousands of visitors will wonder what is a-foot. Why not tell them as they pass by—a sign: Our New City Hall Is Rising; Peterborough's Pride, or some such. More: the large sketch of the architects' view of the exterior could be mounted in an unbreakable glass case and posted on the site. It would show our visitors what manner of building will rise, and also give the citizenry the opportunity to follow the creation stone by stone.

Scrambled Arithmetic

A columnist in the Windsor Star recently attacked the textbook called Junior Arithmetic Grade 3 with considerable force. He was disgusted by the manner in which certain facts are presented, as in these examples:

1. in There quarts three are pints six.
2. same as Sixteen the pound are ounces one.
3. foot twelve the same inches is A as.
4. less hundred is thousand Eight than one.
5. dollars One-half is ten five of dollars.
6. pounds than 79 more are 85 pounds.
7. eggs are in There twelve dozen eggs a.

"That's a fine mess to throw before eight and nine-year-olds, isn't it?" our contemporary demands. We do not completely share his wrath, for most arithmetic, however presented, appears to us as a fine mess. But we see what he means, and we think it might be better to present the facts of liquid measure, dry measure and linear measure in a less confusing form.

Arithmetic is now taught by a subtle method, the intricacies of which are dark to us. It seems to work pretty well, but it leaves us—and most other adults—in the dark because the modern child knows no tables of multiplication. Those tables, laboriously acquired, are a very present help in time of trouble.

There is one respect, however, in which arithmetic teaching remains unchanged, and that is in the matter of homework. The bulk of homework is still arithmetic, for it is the least trouble for the teacher to correct.

We wish, sometimes, that there would be some homework in English grammar—that starved and execrated stepchild of modern education. There may be some method of hornswoggling a child into learning arithmetic by a painless method, but grammar must be learned by blood, sweat and tears. Those who "pick it up"—and this includes a few teachers—never really know it. And nothing keeps our English language off the Gold Standard like the shameful neglect of grammar in our schools.

Onward To Overalls

The Royal Navy, we see, has abolished all wearing of ceremonial uniforms; in future the Blue Day Uniform will be worn upon all occasions. Gone are the glories of an earlier day — the Full Dress, the Ball Dress, the frock coats, epaulettes, and the magnificent cocked hats. They used to be among the minor glories of the Navy; they were also a formidable item of expense for the young man entering that service. He need worry no more; so long as he has a Blue Day Uniform he will be all right. But Nelson, who wore full dress and all his orders at Trafalgar, would not have thought much of it.

Individual dress, and ceremonial dress, is gradually succumbing to the modern passion for a dull and tasteless uniformity. The Church of Rome has magnificent accoutrements, but they are not seen in the street; the Church of England retains a certain handsome picturesqueness among its upper clergy. Indeed, Bernard Shaw wrote recently that "the full dress of a Dean is more becoming than any other now in vogue, except its one rival, the evening dress of a Scottish chieftain." The Army now dresses in khaki on all occasions; the Air Force has never known the glory of fi clothes.

This trend toward drabness continues while tailors urge men to wear tartan dinner jackets, fancy lounging suits and garments more suitable to the harem than to polite society. Men are discarding their ancient glories as fast as they can, and they have no appetite for the fancy-dress which the garment trade seeks to foist upon them. We do not pretend to know why this should be. But we foresee that in another fifty years all men will be wearing dung-coloured overalls. That is the direction in which they are now headed.

A Golfer's Example To Other Veterans

A soldier is judged by what he does and how he behaves in war, and also by how he acts as a veteran. From both points of view Canadian servicemen have shown up well. The way the tens of thousands of our men and women have adapted themselves to civilian life, and gone out into the world primarily as Canadian citizens, only secondarily as veterans and ex-heroes, warrants the highest praise; it is a tribute to the Canadian character and the country which bred them. Veterans' organizations have not formed themselves into political pressure groups; they have not foisted the veteran on society as a person apart and automatically deserving of special treatment. Our war veterans do not in truth want to be considered as a special class. Their memories and experiences are private to themselves as individuals and in their own societies. The few veterans who are trading on their war-time service are not the kind other veterans respect. Those who seek pity or continue to live in the past glory of the war and refuse to adapt themselves to the ordinary ways and groups of society were not always the best soldiers or the men who did the ablest and bravest jobs overseas. Most of our veterans are good citizens because they were good soldiers because, before that period, they were good citizens.

An example of a fine veteran is the English flier who commanded the so-called All-Canadian Squadron of the R.A.F. during the Battle of Britain. He is Douglas R. Bader, D.S.O., D.F.C., who was taken prisoner of war as early as 1941, and knows the horrors of incarceration. The legless air ace is now a senior traveller for a British oil company. The other day this air ace won the Golf Illustrated Challenge Cup at Camberley Heath, playing with a handicap of four and two artificial legs. His score was 75 and 78 for the 36 holes.

Peterborough Pimples

Peterborough has lately had a touch of spring housecleaning. The police have raided various and odd spots, seized punchboards and other minor gambling diversions, and the offenders against the laws have appeared in court, been fined, or confined behind locked doors. This civic purge does not mean that Peterborough is a gambler's hell, or its citizens outlaws; as everyone knows, this city and district is notoriously placid, clean, honest and well-ordered. But there are pimples which periodically have to be scrutinized and treated.

There are laws against keeping betting establishments, punch boards and holding lotteries. We do not believe that these laws need changing, but if others do, the way to change the law is not to break it. Incidentally, every user of alcoholic beverages knows very well what the closing hours are at the liquor store, the brewery warehouses and the beer parlours.

Why then should there be any need to seek the vending services of persons not entitled by law to sell beer or spirits? There is no need, nor should there be any room in Peterborough or the county, for bootleggers. The provincial and city police are as fully aware of their superfluity, as are other good citizens.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A naturalist points out that in the mating season salmon take astounding risks. But marriage is still for humans only.

"Deceives With Padded Figures" reads a headline. Embezzlement, or just the old wrangle about falsies in a beauty contest?

A newscaster recently announced that President Truman had been given a kilt in the McLeod tartan in these words: "President Truman gets kilt". The radio station was at once besieged by calls from people who wanted more news of the assassination. That's something for the Ontario Educational Association to gnaw on.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR SIR: If I go to a bank with what I suspect to be one of the false ten dollar bills which have been appearing in Peterborough and other places, and if the bank finds it to be false, will it give me a good one instead—provided, of course, I am favourably known to the bank and not suspected to be a forger or a passer of forged bills. If it will not give me a sound $10 bill in exchange then I certainly will not be encouraged to turn in the phoney one; on the contrary, I would naturally want to pass the false bill on to someone else, so that I would not be $10 out of pocket. You might say: if I did that, I would be guilty of passing forged money. No, I would not; I would not be certain that the bill was false; I had received it in good faith, and I would pass it on in the same good faith—tinged a little, perhaps, with doubts about its authenticity.

ANSWER: If you should be unfortunate enough to have a forged $10 bill, the bank will take it, but of course will not give you a proper note in exchange. A forged $10 bill is not legal tender; it has no value other than the paper on which it is printed. You would be out your $10, therefore. But I think (a) you would be pleased to be numbered among the few who have been duped—you could get your name in the paper! and (b) you should be eager to help track down the forger by giving to the bank not only the false bill, but all the information you have about it.

The bank sends the forged note to the Bank of Canada, who alert the R.C.M.P.

ALPHA: Does the Speaker of the Canadian House of Commons wear a wig?

ANSWER: No. I am sorry that my information on wig-wearing in Canadian parliaments and courts of justice is nil. If wigs were worn there, I do not know when the practice was abandoned. The Speaker of the British House of Commons of course wears a wig.

I can tell you an interesting little story, amusing at a time when so many Canadian people are touring Britain. Some years ago when the British Speaker's parade was proceeding from the Speaker's chamber, wigged and robed, to the House of Commons, a curious incident took place. (By the way, Ottawa has daily such a parade, when the House is sitting, though the pomp is less.) Major Milner (Deputy-Speaker at the time) and his procession were passing through the Members' Lobby on the way to the Chamber. The Inspector of Police had just called out "HATS OFF, STRANGERS", when a Member of Parliament, seeing Mr. Neil Maclean on the other side of the Lobby called to him a loud stage whisper "Neil". Immediately several members of the public knelt down on the tiled floor, to the astonishment of the Speaker.

It was at least an impressive involuntary tribute to the dignity of the office. The Speaker is titulary the Member of the House of Commons chosen by the House itself to act as its representative and to preside over its debates—hence the name 'Speaker'.

SIR: The Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan wrote a letter to the editor of the esteemed Examiner on Wednesday, in which he said that there was no Anglican bishop in Quebec province until 1793, two years after the union of Upper and Lower Canada. I do not question the reverend gentleman's veracity, but surely there was some Church of England prelate in this country sooner than twenty years after the capture of Canada by the English

ANSWER: The first Protestant Bishop of Quebec, the Rev. Jacob Mountain, arrived in Canada in 1793. At that time in the whole of Upper and Lower Canada there were only nine Protestant clergymen.

It is interesting to note that Mountain Street in Montreal is named after Bishop Mountain; but that in the Montreal city authorities' zeal for ensuring that French street names are not lost or anglicized, the signs on that street read "Rue de la Montagne", as if the name had derived from Mount Royal. Bus drivers yell out "Mountain—Rue de la Montagne".

ALPHA: While we're about this subject of lights for the hard-ball players at Riverside, which the city is underwriting to the tune of $15,000, can you tell me who authorized and paid for the lights at the Exhibition Ground, so that footballers could play at night?

ANSWER: The lights to illuminate football games were authorized, installed and paid for by the Utilities Commission, and did not come up before the Council for approval or disapproval. The Utilities Commission is an elected body representing the rate-payers, and is independent of the Council. The cost of the lights was some $3,000.

DEAR ALPHA: There was rather a wonderful display of Northern Lights last Sunday evening before midnight. You have been writing about weather-signs; is there any weather-prophetic voice in Northern Lights?

ANSWER: A question I shall throw open to my readers. I do know that in some Indian lore, Northern Lights indicate that the rain is over and that the weather will be dry and cold. This proved to be only partly true on Monday and Tuesday.

❖ ❖ ❖

HAIL SEER! Here is the Number One question: Who is Alpha?

ANSWER: I can tell you what alpha is: the first letter of the Greek alphabet. (The second is 'beta'—hence the word alphabet.) Who Alpha is, modesty tinged with fright forbids me to say.

❖ ❖ ❖

FOR THE RECORD: My readers, who are also meat and grocery buyers, might be interested in the prices of staples 200 years ago in this country. Peterborough and all of Ontario were still in the hands of the Indians (although a few French fire-water peddlers were about), so I shall turn to Halifax for the statistics. In 1750 beef, mutton and pork sold there at from three to eight cents a pound; coffee, 12 cents a pound, tea $1.75, and brown sugar 16c a pound. (I have translated pence to cents.)

THE CRY OF THE WILD GOOSESTEP

Letter To The Editor

MORE ON CARLETON AND TOLERANCE

Sir: May an outsider be permitted to inject himself into a local discussion? From time to time I have the opportunity to read your excellent paper—to my mind one of the best provincial dailies in Canada and an example in reportorial quality and editorial comment to some of our biggest metropolitan papers.

This evening I read with interest an excellent letter signed by the Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan on the subject of tolerance in Canada. Unfortunately I have not seen your editorial to which he referred.

The writer of the letter says that between Bishop Laval's appointment and Wolfe's victory there was no other church in Quebec save the Catholic church "and it certainly was not there through an act of tolerance". Just so: during the French regime, no other church was tolerated; Catholicism was the state religion of France, hence, of New France.

It has been my observation that when Roman Catholicism is the dominant religion of a country, other religions are not tolerated readily.

After 1763 Sir Guy Carleton was British Governor of Canada and Canada was a British colony. Catholicism in Britain existed then, but Catholics were not allowed to vote or to hold office. How did it happen, then, that Catholicism was tolerated in the newly-conquered Canada?

The Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan cites some of the reasons. In political fact, toleration had been extended as a necessary expediency. Carleton was definitely instructed by the British Government to Anglicize the new colony of Canada—to replace the French language with English, to wipe out the influence of the Roman church, and to make the colony Protestant. Carleton disregarded his instructions. As a result of that disobedience, Canada is today bilingual and Roman Catholicism has prestige and power.

Carleton disobeyed his instructions for several reasons. Your well-informed clerical writer gives some of them. The American colonists to the south were restive. They soon revolted and established the U.S.A. Carleton wanted to court the favour of the French-Canadians, and their loyalty. And so the Quebec Act of 1774 was passed at his behest. By this act the French Catholics in Canada were assured freedom of language and religion. This was an act of toleration, but imposed by military and political expediency.

But there is more to the story than this.

Carleton was a military aristocrat. He did not like the American traders flocking into Montreal and Quebec, expecting the spoils and privileges of war-time victory. They were tradesmen. They contrasted unfavourably in his eyes with the courtly seigniors and church dignitaries of French-Canada. The haut-monde of Quebec had manners and taste, the American tradesmen had not. Thus Carleton was disposed to be tolerant of the Catholic French-Canadians, and the wise British Colonial Office trusted to their man on the spot.

The reverend writer of the letter says that the "Act of Tolerance referred to by the Editor" cannot be called so because "first of all it was passed chiefly out of fear of what was happening across the border. A second motive was one of gratitude to the Bishop and Clergy who Carleton publicly declared had saved Canada to the Empire". That is one perspective of the situation. There is another, and an important one.

Why were the Bishop and Clergy so zealous to support the new conquerors against an enemy (the revolting American colonists)? Why did the officials of a conquered people not rush to the aid of others who were trying to conquer their conquerors? The reason is this: The new English masters were disposed to be tolerant, and the revolting colonists south of the border were, as the Bishop and his clergy well knew, highly intolerant or Roman Catholicism and the French language.

At the core of the revolting American colonists were the people and soldiers of Massachusetts. They were fanatically Puritan. A Catholic seemed to them like a devil. The bishop and clergy of Quebec well knew that if British Canada were taken over by the Americans, both their language and their religion would be suppressed violently. If French and Catholicism were to survive in Quebec, it would only be through the easy tolerance of the English governors and laws.

A similar situation obtained in 1812, when Bishop Plessis, as the Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan recalls, asked his 'subjects' to rally to the defence of the Crown. If Quebec has been engulfed by New England States in 1812-1815, would the French language and the Roman Catholic religion have the ascendancy they now enjoy in that entire territory? The Bishops of French-Canada between 1763 and 1867 were loyal to the Crown of Britain in order to protect their Church. Under the Crown there was given a tolerance which could never have been secured if Quebec had become an American state.

I have run on too long already — but I should mention another factor affecting the situation. The Quebec Act of 1774 established the boundaries of Quebec far into present American territory. (This was one of the reasons that the American colonies revolted.) The bishops and clergy of the province of Quebec could see in the Quebec Act an opportunity to extend their influence, the language and the faith, right to the Mississippi. Is it any wonder that they supported the English?

Yours etc.,
HAROLD K. HEENAN.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you....

I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing.

If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned....

If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. (John 15: 1-3, 5, 6, 10.)

And he caused it to be proclaimed and published through Nineveh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water: but let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands....

Synod Approves Dropping Test

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP) — A motion to abolish the means test at present necessary to obtain old age pensions in Canada, was adopted Thursday as the Anglican Synod of Montreal began study of the report of the Social Service Council.

The report said that "in comparison with other democratic countries, Canada is considerably behind in many aspects of social legislation."

The Synod gave lengthy consideration to a report on adult education, a section of which stressed need for a new approach to church-school work, and also discussed religious education in schools.

Charges Freedom Of Thought Not Protected In Canada Now

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP) — Freedom of thought, conscience and religion are "not protected at present in Canada," the League For Democratic Rights asserted today in a brief placed before the Senate Committee on Human Rights.

Urging the need for a Canadian bill of rights, the league referred to "innumerable instances of kidnapping, persecution and attacks" on members of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Padlock Act of Quebec was described as "a glaring example" of the infringement of the human rights and fundamental freedoms.

"It contradicts the right of security of person . . . the right of equality before the law and the right to protection of the law without discrimination . . . . the right to a fair and public hearing by an independent and impartial tribunal . . . . the right to protection of the law against arbitrary interference with privacy, family, home or correspondence, and against attacks upon honor and reputation . . . ."

Refer To Strike

As an instance of "failure to protect the rights of labor," the league referred to a strike of textile workers at St. Lambert, Que., in August, 1949.

"Fifty provincial police were brought to the scene while the picket line consisted of six strikers—all girls. Within a few days the entire picket line of six girls had been arrested and five of them charged with illegal assembly."

The league also claimed that hidden microphones had been discovered recently in a hall used by trade unions at Trenton, and the wires attached to them "were traced to the nearby police station."

Whimpering Doll Baby's Reveille

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Dolls can do practically everything now except grow up to be adults.

Morley Freeman of Toronto, vice-president of a toy company, said here one new doll may eventually replace the alarm clock. It can be set for a certain hour to cry loud enough to wake up the baby. Another sucks its thumb.

Another doll item coming up is one which changes facial expressions and cries at the same time. This idea Mr. Freeman, 28, picked up on a European jaunt this year.

About $400,000,000 was spent on toys in Canada and the United States last year, Mr. Freeman said. Most of it went on dolls.

U.S. Senate Blackballs Spain For ERP Aid

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) —The United States Senate on Thursday blackballed Franco Spain for membership in the Marshall Plan, and refused to endorse a proposed $50,000,000 loan to that country.

It took this action in rejecting, 42 to 35, a move by Senators Pat McCarran (Dem.-Nev.) and Owen Brewster (Rep.-Maine) to amend the $3,272,500,000 foreign aid bill to include Spain officially in the anti-Communist ranks.

"If we are really serious in fighting Communism," McCarran said, "let us take into our alliance the people who have put Communism out of business in their own country."

Change Ship's Name

PORT COLBORNE, April 28 (CP)—Sarnia Steamships Ltd., Thursday announced the name of the freighter Scott Misener has been changed to the George M. Carl, in honor of the line's assistant treasurer. The ship's original name was in honor of Capt. R. Scott Misener, president and manager of the Sarnia and Colonial Steamship Lines. The vessel now is fitting out at Port Weller for the new season.

Council Protests Raid On Office

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP) — The Montreal Peace Council on Thursday night protested a police raid on its downtown Bleury street offices as a "flagrant violation of democratic rights and an evil-intentioned attack on the growing peace forces in Quebec."

Thousands of allegedly Communistic pamphlets and posters were seized Thursday by city and provincial police who entered the offices armed with a search warrant for stolen goods. Three persons were in the two small offices at the time but no arrests were made.

Council officials said Thursday night in a press statement that they had wired Senator Arthur Roebuck, chairman of the Senate committee on human rights, protesting the raid.

Build Stadium If Montreal Gets BE Games

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP)—Financial prospects and flat assurance that a gigantic stadium will be provided bulk large in the Montreal British Empire Games committee's bid for the 1954 spectacle.

There is the added allurement of the sports-mindedness of Canada's bilingual metropolis, a mecca as well for hundreds of thousands of tourists annually.

So far neither the city nor the Quebec provincial government is on official record as to what either or both will definitely do if the 1954 games come to Montreal, where preparations for the 1942 games were wrecked by the war.

But committee members report their work has been productive of warm support. In 1942 the committee recalls, the municipal and provincial governments had spent more than $1,000,000 in getting under way a sports centre that was to be the finest and most elaborate of its kind in Canada.

Complete Stadium

The committee adds bluntly: "the stadium, started when the 1942 games were awarded to Montreal, at Pie Ix Boulevard and Sherbrooke Street East, will be completed to accomodate approximately 50,000 spectators and to provide a standard 440-yard cinder running track, complete facilities for all field events and standard cycling track — outside the running track—of 3½ laps to the mile."

The vast site in the northeastern section of the city now is used largely as a playground.

The committee has given assurance of an initial guarantee of $50,000 six months before the games. A total of $200,000 is envisaged as necessary to cover all pre-games expenses.

Smythe Plans Many Changes In Leaf Set-up

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — Conn Smythe, whose Toronto Maple Leafs were shunted from the Stanley Cup picture more than two weeks ago, officially rang down the curtain on professional hockey in these parts on Thursday.

But the Leaf managing director, in his last press conference of the season, left reporters with an outline of some of the changes he has planned for the club that met defeat in the National Hockey League playoffs for the first time in four years.

The changes, some effective immediately and others planned for the indefinite future, affect almost every club in the Leaf system of professional and amateur clubs.

When the proposed reorganization is complete, almost every Leaf club will have a new coach, and there will be lots of newcomers in every roster.

Two-Year Contract

Smythe plans to leave Hap Day in charge of the Leafs—temporarily. Day, "the best coach in the business" in Smythe's book, has been recommended for a two-year contract, with the possibility of promotion to the job of assisting the ailing Smythe as maanging director before the contract expires.

As top candidate for Day's coaching job when Hap moves up, Smythe named Joe Primeau, the one-time centre of Leafs' kid line who is currently coaching Toronto Marlboro Seniors in their bid to win the Allan Cup at Calgary.

Primeau will have plenty of familiar players to work with when he takes over. Of his present Marlboro club, Smythe ticketed defenceman Hugh Bolton and forwards Danny Lewicki and George Armstrong for try-outs with the big team. Others who played under Joe with Marlboros or Toronto St. Michael's College juniors already are with the club.

Others Get Chance

Two more players whom Smythe gives a good chance of moving up are right-winger Tod Sloan, a former Leaf who has been repurchased from Cleveland Barons of the American League, and defenceman Tim Horton of Leafs' Pittsburgh farm in the AHL.

Smythe said he would offer the Pittsburgh coaching job to Tommy Anderson, an all-star defenceman with New York Americans a few years ago, who coached Oshawa Generals in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop last winter.

Baz Bastien, the former Pittsburgh goalie who took over from Bob Davidson in mid-season, won't be back as coach. Smythe said Bastien lacked the experience for the job.

Davidson, assistant coach of the Leafs, may take over from Primeau with Marlboro Seniors next year, or handle Marlboro Juniors in place of Syl Apps, who is retiring.

Outlines Plans

Smythe outlined the following plans for next year's Leafs:

Turk Broda, oldest man in point of service in the NHL, will be back in goal, but will be spelled off by Al Rollins, whom Leafs bought from Cleveland during the winter.

Bolton, a University of Toronto engineering student, is "one man sure of a job" on next year's Leaf defence.

Bill Juzda, the stocky Winnipeg defenceman, won himself a bonus and a new contract for his aggressive play last season.

One unnamed defenceman won't be back. Presumably Smythe wasn't referring to Gus Mortson, an automatic bonus-winner on being named to the NHL's all-star team.

Civic Softball Loop Starts Play May 22

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Wouldn't surprise us too much to see quite a few of the impatient lacrosse fans out Saturday aft at 2.30 in Miller Bow the first open senior "A" workout. Several newcomers will be on deck for this drill, including Jim Kinna (who stands a mere six foot four) and Russ Buchanan from out Vancouver way. Also Don Ashbee, who hails from Owen Sound, in case you forgot. Some more likely, too, as well as the pick of last year's team. These are the only names we can use yet as there's quite a scramble down the signing stretch for outstanding senior "A" gutted-stick stars. But there'll be more lacrosse chatter right shortly.

* * * * * *

As John Fisher, CBC commentator, points out, lacrosse is the truly Canadian game, played away back by the Indians. He thinks it should be to Canada what bagpipes are to Scotland and wooden shoes to Holland. Yet 'tis played to any extent in but three provinces, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. It's quite popular in this province, especially the senior "A" brand, and highly popular in Peterborough. Average crowds with a so-so senior club here last year were close to 2,000, and better of course in playoffs. With the Petes expected to come up with a contender this year, it looks like a fine season for the sport in this borough.

Concerning The Girls

Next meeting of the Girls' Softball League will be next Thursday at 7.30 p.m. in the home of the secretary, Mrs. Wm. Bennett, 237 Princess St. Representatives of all five teams—Westclox, CGE, Marines, Woollens and Ashby's—should be on deck as they will deal with the matter of a PWSU affiliation. Some talk of affiliating but one local team, instead of the whole loop. The PWSU has its annual conclave a week from Sunday, so this matter must be dealt with first. The lasses will play Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights again at the Bowl under the lights. Umpires are asked to contact Prexy Bill Flint right away at 47 Park St., south. Play opens on May 26.

* * * * * *

Annual meeting of the City Baseball League will be at 7.30 p.m. next Thursday in the "Y", open to everyone interested. Election of officers, reports read, and plans made for the season. The matter of that exhibition tilt by Tip Top Tailors of Toronto will be discussed as a means of raising some ready cash. And there has been talk of a full-time senior ball coach for the minors, similar to the setup in minor lacrosse here. Lights at Riverside will help plenty, also, and it ought to be a big summer for the minor baseball diamondeers in Peterborough. No doubt, they'll affiliate again with the OBA.

Football Fellows Set

Some good soccer should be seen here this year in the Eastern Ontario Football League. The local U.E. team is in with Kingston United, Kingston Vimy, Belleville United, Belleville Navy, Ottawa Combined Services and Brockville F.C. We're told that the U.E. team will be made up of the best of last year's classy CGE outfit and other top Peterborough players. They've been conditioning themselves lately and nucleus of the squad will be picked this Saturday. First match here will be a week from Saturday at King Edward Park. Such a soccer—or football, if you insist—circuit should prove right popular with local fans.

* * * * * *

As the ice goes out of Civic Arena, it might be an appropriate time to point out that this was a record season for the fairly new arena. Artificial ice, of course, saved the day for the puckists, skaters and figure skaters. A competent committee will shortly make a financial report to the city council, and it'll be a darned good one. Manager Walt Smillie did a fine job in his first year at the helm, and he had a real good staff on the job. Some of those stubborn taxpayers who knocked the arena project from the start—the type who criticize every such project in advance—may well feel their necks when they learn that the rink is making money for the city.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A former $90-a-week ticket office manager from New York Yankees was arrested Thursday for the theft of $43,687 from the baseball club.

Walter Sherwin, 40, surrendered to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. He was named in a four-count forgery and grand-larceny indictment.

Last June, Hogan said, Sherwin walked into the Yankees' office, found a surprise audit in progress and disappeared.

The District Attorney said Sherwin first sought to cover up shortages by persuading ticket brokers to pay him in advance for 1948 world series tickets in exchange for preferential treatment.

The team lost the pennant, Hogan said, and then Sherwin fended the brokers off by promising them breaks on ground-plan tickets. When these were not handled through his office, he promised them preferred blocks for important games.

One minor change in harness racing operations for 1950 was made Thursday by the Ontario Racing Commission.

The commission ruled out night-racing in a meeting with the Western Ontario Harness Horse Association. The association has delayed plans for this season pending settlement of the sport's status under the newly-formed commission.

Pari-mutuel betting will be in force at racing meetings longer than three days, the commission ruled. For meetings of shorter duration, the handbook system, generally used in the past, was approved.

Association representatives who met with the commission included George Parry, MLA; Zebe Janes, MLA; Fred Edwards, MLA; O. M. Quick, C. J. Crazen, Ray Stevenson, all of Dresden; J. M. Climie, Tillsonburg; Dave Pinkey, Stratford; Jack Morrisey, Crediton; Ron Todgham, Chatham; C. R. Bradley, Toronto.

At Toronto, Chief Justice J. C. McRuer Thursday awarded damages of $500 to Jack Walden, operator of Oakwood Stadium, against the Dominion of Canada Football Association which switched the third game of the Dominion soccer finals at Toronto in 1948 from Oakwood Stadium to another local field. Vancouver St. Andrews had complained after the first game that the Oakwood field was not up to championship standards.

At Chicoutimi, Que., Bagotville Allies Thursday night scored seven goals in the third period to overpower Halifax Armer Serives 11-1 and take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five semi-final series for the Eastern Canada Intermediate Hockey championship.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams, of Trenton, N.J., Thursday was suspended indefinitely by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, in co-operation with the Michigan Commission, for what it termed "acts detrimental to the best interests of boxing."

The commission did not elaborate on the charges.

37 Egyptians Planning Channel Swim

By EDWARD POLLAK

CAIRO —(CP)— Thirty-seven Egyptians yearn to swim the English Channel this summer.

But only four, perhaps six, will qualify for a go, said Col. Mohammed Sabri, chairman of the Egyptian long distance swimming committee.

Col. Sabri, a doctor in the Egyptian Army Medical Corps, coached two Channel winners in 1949—Hassan Abdel Rehim and Marei Hassan. He also supervised the six-man relay team which swam the distance in 11 hours 11 minutes last year.

"Our efforts this year," Col. Sabri said in an interview, "aim at two specific events—the competition organized by the London Daily Mail and an inter-nations relay race."

The Daily Mail offers a £1,000 ($3,100) prize to each of the winners of a men's and women's France-to-England race. Col. Sabri plans to enter four men in the event.

"The relay," Col. Sabri said, "may develop into a four-nation race. Great Britain last year agreed in principle to enter a team. Fernand Dumoulin, the Belgian who swam the Channel in 1949, has promised to try to enlist a Belgian team. We have asked France to participate."

This year, Col Sabri said, will mark a new trend in channel swimming. "So far it has been made up of individual attempts against the clock." Now it is becoming a competitive event."

Col. Sabri expects around 40 entries from several nations in the Daily Mail competition.

Train In The Nile

"Training of 37 Egyptians started last November with weekly swims in pools. Their duration averaged from one to three hours. On March 3 the boys had a first swim in the Nile whose water in winter is at about the same temperature as the Channel in August. They swam a distance of six and one half miles around the island of Gezira.

"On April 14, the trial in the Nile was repeated, on 13 miles this time, twice around Gezira. The final qualifying round will take place in the sea, at Alexandria on June 5. The distance will be about 18.7 miles.

(The usual route of the Channel swimmers from Cape Gris Nez, France, to Dover, England is 19 miles).

The 14 swimmers who turn in the best times, Col. Sabri said, will go to a training camp. In June the long distance swimming committee will designate the four or six men finally selected for the team.

Col. Sabri listed these as likely selections:

Hassan Abdel Rehim, 40, who swam the channel twice—in 1948 and 1949; Marei Hassan Hamad, an army NCO, also a 1949 Channel swimmer; Omar Sabri, 24, a university student; Mahmoud Hemmat, 29, a civil employee of the Egyptian army; El Arabi, 31, a police officer, and Ibrahim Aboul Fadl; 37, a gymnastic instructor in the Egyptian army.

There is one man however who will try the channel swim for sure, said Col. Sabri. He is Fahmi Atalla, 40, a civil servant.

"Atalla failed in 1946. Last year the tide stopped him when he was a few hundred yards from the English coast. He cried when forced to quit. I cried too," said Col. Sabri.

Canadiens Take 8-7 Victory In Close Tilt With Pats

By VIC MORRIS, JR.

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP) — Montreal Canadiens had to practically race neck-and-neck to the wire Thursday night to eke out an 8-7 victory over Regina Pats in the opening game of the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final series.

There wasn't much to choose between the two clubs as they dished up a wild, free scoring period that saw 10 goals scored in the space of 16 minutes.

Regina, 6 to 5 pre-game underdogs, provided the free-wheeling play when they battled from behind a two-goal deficit in the final session to force the Quebec champions also to adopt the all-out brand of hockey.

The 10,414 fans were continuously kept on the edge of their seats in the torrid stretch drive that kept the outcome in doubt until the final whistle and had both coaches spilling players over the boards as fast as tired ones could crawl onto the benches.

Montreal's top snipers were flashy Dickie Moore, Don Marshall and Art Rose with two goals each while Kevin Rocheford and Bill Goold connected for singles

Keeps Game In Doubt

However, defenceman Morley McNeil stole the show as he sank three markers for the western champs and throughout kept the game in doubt. He was aided by Eddie Litzenberger with two goals and Brian McDonald and Paul Masnick, with one apiece.

Over the route Canadiens held a considerable margin in the shooting department with a 34-23 edge. But this was no indication of the play.

The game itself started out at a steady pace with Litzenberger moving Pats ahead 1-0 after eight minutes of play in the first period. The session ended tied 1-1 when Moore drove a tricky backhander past goaler Bob Tyler with 37 seconds remaining.

In the middle session Moore moved the Montrealers ahead 2-1 on a neat passing play with Goold but McNeil got this one back late in the session while Canadiens were playing short-handed. Marshall moved the Quebecers ahead 3-2 with 20 seconds remaining.

On Scoring Spree

And then it happened. Viscount Alexander, Canada's Governor General, had delayed the game five minutes while he entered the rink and his presence seemed to lift the players to new heights as they threw caution to the wind and went on a wild scoring spree. Rose, Marshall and Rocheford each scored before the period was four minutes old to move the Montrealers into a commanding 6-2 lead. But then Pats roared back with four goals in eight minutes to knot the count.

At the 14:05 minute mark Goold put the home team ahead and Rose scored 50 seconds later on a smart stickhandling play. But Regina were not out of it yet and Masnick fired their last shot as he beat goalie Roger Morrissette with five minutes remaining.

The second game is Saturday night.

Royals Crush Cubs 13-3, Connors Clicks

By The Associated Press

Chuck Connors, happy-go-lucky first baseman of Montreal Royals, is starting to hit.

Connors, who drove home 108 runs for the Royals last year, was extremely disappointed when Brooklyn shipped him back to Montreal after a brief spring training tryout.

In his first three games Connors managed to get only two hits in 11 tries but Thursday night he went to town against Springfield Cubs.

The talkative Connors pounded out three hits and drove home five runs to lead the Royals to a 13-3 victory. Al Gionfriddo and rookie Walt Fiala shared the spotlight with Connors.

Rookie lefthander Tom Lasorda tamed the Cubs on six hits, walked four and fanned six in besting three Springfield pitchers.

Blank Leafs

Joe Payne, promising Baltimore righthander, pitched the Orioles to a brilliant 5-0, one-hit victory over Toronto Maple Leafs. The game was called after Toronto batted in the eighth because of rain.

The Orioles hopped on Buzz Bowers and Ralph Brickner for eight hits with Russ Kerns showing the way with three.

Red Hardy also came up with a neat pitching performance as Jersey City downed Buffalo 8-2. Hardy allowed the Bisons only five hits including homers by Hank Biasatti and Fred Hancock.

The Giants whacked a trio of Buffalo pitchers for 10 blows including four-baggers by Joe Bracchitta and Martin Blaylock.

Marlboros Stay Smythe Decides

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — Conn Smythe, unabashed by a storm of criticism over an alleged threat to pull his Toronto Marlboros out of the Allan Cup race, says it all was a mistake.

The head of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey empire told a press conference Thursday that his top amateur club lost money this season, but added that he never had any intention of refusing to send the club to Calgary for a try at the Dominion senior hockey title.

"Where that story came from I don't know," said Smythe. "But it never started from me."

Thursday the Leaf managing director chalked up the losses of his amateur clubs and they came to $69,000 for the season. The Marlboro Seniors had dropped $62,000 behind their returns of the previous year.

Smythe's Junior Marlboros finished $49,000 ahead of their 1948-49 pace but several minor clubs in the Toronto Hockey League had added to the deficit.

Jones Loves That Pitching As Phils Trip Dodgers 9-2

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Willie (Puddin' Head) Jones, Philadelphia Phillies' larruping third baseman, just loves Brooklyn pitching.

Puddin' Head is on cosy terms with pitchers of all varieties this spring. So far he is hitting a rousing .417 with three homers and a league-leading total of 11 RBIS. He has a nine-game hitting streak including one tie game.

Brooklyn is his happy hunting ground. Thursday against the Dodgers at Ebbets Field Jones ripped into Preacher Roe for a grand-slam homer in the first inning. The Preacher never got the side out as the Phils scored five runs and went on to an easy 9-2 victory.

Has Company

Jones had company in Thursday's batting spree. Dick Sisler chipped in four hits, including a two-run homer.

Robin Roberts checked the onrushing Dodgers with eight hits. It was Brooklyn's second loss, both to Roberts, smashing a six-game winning streak.

After losing six of nine starts to their old teammate Murry Dickson, St. Louis Cardinals turned on him Thursday night to trim Pittsburgh 5-2. The Cards downed Dickson with a four-run blast in the fifth before 34,995 fans attending the Pirates' first home night game.

Red Munger, beaten by Pittsburgh in his first appearance, lasted the route, allowing six hits.

Loses Control

Dave Koslo, a low earned-run pitcher in the National League last season, lost his control in the 10th inning and walked Willard Marshall, a former New York Giants teammate, with the bases loaded. That pass gave Boston Braves a 2-1 decision.

Warren Spahn became the first major leaguer to win three games with a six-hit effort. Spahn and Monte Kenney hooked up in a 0-0 duel until the eighth when each scored once. Koslo, who replaced Kennedy in the ninth, loaded the bases in the 10th on a Giant error, a walk and a hit batsman. Then he threw four straight balls to Marshall.

Tommy Byrne was his old wild self in the Yankee Stadium walking eight men in five innings as Boston thumped the Yankees 7-2.

Bob Hooper, a Buffalo grad, turned in a fine relief job, following starter Hank Wyse, in Philadelphia's 4-3 night victory over Washington. Wyse was lifted with two runs in and the bases loaded in the second. Hooper yielded only one run—a fifth inning homer by Gil Coan—the rest of the way.

Rain and cold weather knocked out a good share of the schedule. Cleveland at Detroit and Chicago at St. Louis in the American were postponed. So was Cincinnati at Chicago in the National.

Kinsey Refutes Magazine Piece On Sexual Behavior Of Female

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 28 —(AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey said Thursday that an article in a magazine has been presented incorrectly as a preview of his forthcoming volume "sexual behavior in the human female."

The Indiana University professor previously published the best-seller "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male." His study of the female is to be published next year.

The article was written by Morris Ernst and David Loth. Dr. Kinsey said neither had any special access to his material, although he described Ernst as "a good friend of the project."

Without Foundation

"The announcement today that an article by Ernst and Loth represents a preview of our forthcoming volume is quite without foundation," Dr. Kinsey said in a statement.

"Many of the predictions will certainly not be substantiated by our final calculations ...

"It would be unfortunate if anyone were led to believe that we were in any way responsible for the statement that the range of variation in sexual activity in the female starts at the same low point as the range of variation in the male; or that only 25 per cent of the females have experienced sexual activity before 16 years of age.

No Final Calculations

"We have no final calculations to substantiate the statement that the frequency of sexual outlet is about the same for males and females from the age of 25 on; that the rate of decline of sexual activity with advancing age is the same in females and males; that homosexual experience occurs most often at upper educational levels; or that there are more areas on the female body that are responsive to sexual stimulation than on the male body.

"Our preliminary calculations certainly do not show that there is a higher incidence of homosexual activity among women than among men; that mothers are less disturbed about the sexual activity of their children than are fathers; or that half of the girls who engage in pre-adolescent sex play make an attempt at genital union....

Dr. Kinsey said further calculations will be necessary before he will be able to make any final statement on these and other predictions.

Kinsey Correct

In New York, Loth said "Dr. Kinsey is quite correct."

"I think the article will show that we didn't claim to preview any of Dr. Kinsey's material or that we had any material except as given out by him before," he added.

"Our ideas were based on our interpretation of previous studies on the subject plus Dr. Kinsey's published material.

"Any predictions were our own, arrived at without consultation with Dr. Kinsey."

CONFEDERATION YEAR

The first Dominion parliament assembled at Ottawa on Nov. 6, 1867.

Says Church Strong In East Weaker In West

Individual sections of Canada each have their own qualities which, if combined into a national character would make Canada a great nation, the Rev. Minto Swan, of Portsmouth, told members of the Kinsmen's Club Thursday night.

Starting with the easternmost province, Mr. Swan said loyalty was the oustanding characteristic of Newfoundland. Newfoundlanders demonstrated this quality in their loyalty to God, the King and to their friends.

Mr. Swan, who has lived in five provinces and crossed Canada 19 times, lumped the Maritimes together and picked as their outstanding quality a sense of tradition.

It was the Maritimers, he said who still followed the custom of sons of the families picking as their professions, education, law or the army. As a result, six of the country's nine universities had Maritimer presidents; a high per centage of men high in the government were born in the Maritimes; and a large proportion of the army's top brass came from Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia or New Brunswick.

Through their almost complete control of industry and Canada's finances, Quebec and Ontario together, tended to put more emphasis on research and education and thence developed the quality of culture.

Something in their way of life or in the people themselves had produced in the peoples of the Prairie Provinces an unequalled combination of hospitality and enthusiasm which was their outstanding quality.

Laissez Faire

On the west coast, for some reason, people of British Columbia had developed the quality of laissez faire, or of taking life easy. They lived each day as it came and were untroubled by the complications of tomorrow.

In the frontier-like Peace River valley of the Yukon, virility stood out as the chief characteristic. "There, every man's a worker," Mr. Swan declared.

An interesting factor about these sections of Canada, said Mr. Swan was that, starting in Newfoundland, 90 per cent. of the people had some connection with a church, but the farther west he travelled, he found the per centage became lower, with the exception of Quebec.

In the Maritimes, 70 per cent. were connected with a church. In Ontario the per centage dropped to 60 per cent. and slid down another two per cent. in the prairies, while in British Columbia the per centage slithered down to an alarming 22 per cent.

Divorce Follow Suit

Just as church connections decreased from east to west, so divorces increased in number.

Canada had all the makings of a great nation. "We have something the world needs, but first we must value it ourselves," Mr. Swan said.

Mr. Swan was thanked by Emmett Sheehy and introduced by Wilf Langan. Club president Harley Weir was chairman and reminded members that May 11 was ladies' night for the club.

Bewilders UK For Years Manipulator's Trial Ends

LONDON, April 28.—(CP). — Judgment is expected late in May in a £500,000 ($1,550,000) suit against a Canadian business man whose financial manipulations have bewildered Britons for 15 years.

Hearing of an action against Charles William Neville of Rottingdean, Sussex, and Vancouver ended April 5 when Hubert Hull, London barrister, sitting as special commissioner, reserved judgment.

Compilation and presentation of the evidence together with lawyer fees have been reported to have cost £100'000 and court sessions, which began Jan. 12, among the longest recorded in British justice.

Neville and five co-defendants were the last remaining of 26 originally charged with conspiracy to defraud the Royal Mutual Benefit Building Society. Of the other 20, one dropped out after making a contribution to the society's legal costs, 12 did not defend, two made partial restitution, one died before the hearing began and proceedings against four others were dropped, one being Mrs. Neville.

The society claims that Neville, after acquiring control of it in 1935, caused a prospectus to be issued which resulted in £1,000,000 being subscribed by the British public. Neville and his associates are alleged to have loaned this money "in circumstances in which no honestly-run building society would have dreamed of lending money."

Spent In Enterprises

Gilbert Paull, lawyer for the building society, alleged the money went to enterprises promoted by Neville.

Neville, in his defence, said that the land development companies he formed in Sussex and Surrey were separate from the building society. "I cannot see anything improper in that. It is the usual course of business in property development."

He said he had never afforded any advance of the society's money without consent of the directors.

Neville, who is about 60 years old, visited Canada in 1939. He allegedly promoted before the war a series of "garden cities," an English-style public school and poultry farms all of which ended in disaster for shareholders and tenants.

Goalie Scores

By The Canadian Press.

Goaltender Bert Larking now feels he knows how the other half lives.

Bert scored a goal Wednesday night—an unassisted one, too. But it took a combination of unusual circumstances for him to do it.

Play roughened up in a game at Toronto between Bert's Toronto Islanders and Riverdale Roughriders. With no deferred penalty rule in the Toronto Hockey League, the teams found themselves with two men aside.

Riverdale, down 2-1, gambled by lifting its netminder for a second forward. At this point, Larking stopped a shot and cleared the puck to the other end of the ice into the empty net. His team added two more to win 5-1.

Clapper Hails Boston Line Hockey's Best

LINDSAY, April 28 (CP). — The Boston Bruins line of Schmidt, Dumart and Bauer was hockey's greatest, Dit Clapper, former coach of that National Hockey League club, said during a banquet here Thursday night.

"I've seen and played against a lot of outstanding lines, but when it comes down to hockey, the Schmidt-Dumart-Bauer trio is the best," Clapper said. "They did not play for themselves, but for the team."

"If the team was behind, they really worried."

Clapper called Milt Schmidt the greatest plaeyr he had ever seen. "But Bobby Bauer, although very light, was a great fighting hockey player, and Woody Dumart was a fin positional left-winger."

Clapper picked Eddie Shore as the greatest defence man and Canadiens' Bill Durnan as the best goalkeeper in the past 15 years, and Howie Morenz as the fastest. "We were lucky to touch that Morenz. In those days there was no forechecking in the corners, and Howie used to come pounding down centre at a terrific clip."

Open House Daily In Manse Basement

RICHMOND HILL, Ont. (CP) A basement recreation room for youth groups and an expandable living room for meetings of adult groups are housed in the manse opened this week by Richmond Hill United Church.

The recreation room has a separate entrance and Rev. C. B. Brethen, minister of the church, says he considers it "hardly part of the manse."

On the main floor, sliding partitions enable the extra-large living room, the dining room and the large entrance hall to be made into one room capable of accommodating a large group. Mr. Brethen said he does not feel that holding meetings of women's groups and other organizations in the manse is an invasion of minister's privacy.

"They will, of course, be held in the manse only on invitation," he added.

Lie Believes UN To Survive

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 28 (AP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, said on Thursday that the international situation "is not satisfactory" but he thinks the United Nations will survive.

Lie, who arrived aboard the liner Queen Mary, refused comment on Herbert Hoover's proposal that the U. N. be reorganized without Communist countries.

"I'm afraid I cannot say that the general world position is healthier than when I was in England a year ago," he said.

He said he still hopes to go to Moscow next month, but a decision will not be made until he arrives in Paris next week.

(In Toronto Thursday, George Drew, leader of Canada's Progressive Conservatives, urged the people to join in warning Lie of the folly of going to see Stalin in an attempt to bridge the east-west gap. Drew compared such a trip with Chamberlain's visits to Hitler before the Second World War.)

Lie will meet Prime Minister Attlee in London today.

Curb Billboards On Highways Millar Promise

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 28—(CP)—Ontario will not allow its tourist trade to be harmed by indiscriminate erection of commercial establishments and billboards along main highways, Deputy Highways Minister J. D. Millar Thursday told the closing session of the second annual Ontario Tourist conference.

He said the Provincial Highways Department has contributed around $200,000,000 to the tourist industry and has spent a large additional amount on road maps, roadside parks, ferries and on marking spots of historical interest.

Delegates passed a resolution that will enable small tourist establishments to obtain financial loans to improve service and appearance.

The resolution, based on recommendations by speakers during the three-day convention, was one of several approved Thursday.

Another resolution said:

"This group makes strong representations to the federal government for the withdrawal of the form E-60 and return to the usual customs export permit or some such simple form . . ."

Delegates said complicated forms caused serious delays and "irritation to American visitors who are delayed."

CSL Awarded $22,709 For Ship Boarding

WELLAND, April 28 (CP) — Judgment for $22,709 was awarded Canada Steamship Lines on Thursday for damages suffered by the steamship Glenelg at Thorold, April 22, 1948. The ship was boarded there by about 30 seamen during the Canadian Seamen's Union strike.

The judgment, delivered by Mr. Justice Treleaven, was against 17 seamen. The suit had originally been brought against 29 seamen, but was dropped against the remainder due to difficulties in serving papers.

Justice Treleaven assessed actual damages at $18,709, and allowed $4,000 for exemplary damages for conduct on the part of the defendants which he termed "outrageous."

Economic Problems Topic At Conference

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — Economic problems confronting universities came in for discussion Thursday at the opening session of the Canadian Association of University Business Officers' meeting. R. B. Willis, of the University of Western Ontario presided.

Delegates stressed the hardships suffered by students whose incomes are derived from sterling countries, and possible solutions to the difficulties.

Further discussion was left over for today's meeting.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Charles E. Moore Receives Government's Diploma For Service To Agriculture — Frank C. Paterson Explains Function of Nitrogen Nodules On Legume Roots — Don Milburn Elected Zone Representative On Junior Farmers' Executive.

"The agency of the legume in transferring nitrogen from the air to the soil is one of the many mysteries of agriculture," Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, remarked this week. "It is a function which most farmers know and apply in their care of the soil.

Legumes enrich the land with nitrogen, providing their roots have growing on them certain types of bacteria known as legume bacteria which forms in nodules. That is a brief way of explaining it.

Four-fifths of the air we breathe is nitrogen. The rest is oxygen and hydrogen. The legume has the power to take the nitrogen out of the air and put it into the plant. So, when a farmer plows down a field of legumes such as alfalfa, clovers of any kind, or soy beans, he is adding nitrogen to the soil.

However, sometimes the soil does not have in it any of the necessary bacteria to give the plant the power to fix nitrogen. That word fix has a specific meaning, signifying the transfer of nitrogen from the air to the land.

So, the agricultural bacteria laboratory makes up cultures of various bacteria required by different kinds of legumes. For instance, there is a bacteria for alfalfa, another for red clover and so on. If a farmer has not sufficient development of nodules on the roots of his legume crop, he can buy the necessary bacteria to be applied to the seed, and the legume will perform as described.

Otherwise, the plant draws only on the nitrogen in the soil, and is not likely to do well.

Therefore, it is good insurance to inoculate legume seeds with the required bacteria to make sure that the plants as they grow will form nodules necessary for nitrogen fixation. It is very simple.

In many cases the supply of bacteria in the soil is ample, and inoculation would be of no benefit. It would be only adding to what is already there. But, there are also many instances in which inoculation would be an advantage. The cost is only 25 cents a bushel and a little time."

Mr. Paterson mentioned one experience of examining three fields in Smith. "One of them had plenty of nodules on the legume roots. On a second there were few, and in the third field there were none at all, and that crop was poor."

He mentioned soils that are well supplied with plant food, phosphorus and potash, and a good balance of fertility in which alfalfa was bound to thrive, but that is another story apart from the nodules on the roots of legumes.

This is a little sequel to the recent reference of micro-organisms.

CLAIRE BURT'S MISSION

Claire Burt of Toronto, one of the promoting officials of Farm Forums, was here this week talking to the student teachers at the Normal School, and also calling on Wellington Sutton of Otonabee who is now second vice-president of the Provincial Farm Forum Council representing Zone 4.

"We were able to give some attention to Northumberland county during this last season, and the number of Forums there has grown from six or seven to around 14 or 15," Mr. Burt said. "The results were most encouraging. Northumberland lived up to expectations. Our first county Forum rally at Warkworth was a test of the spirit of the members. It was a rough night, snowing and blowing, but 150 turned out.

Jim Bird of Codrington is chairman of the county committee, and Mrs. M. W. Woods of Warkworth is secretary.

Northumberland folks are happy about this development. We thought that Peterborough made considerable progress this last winter, largely by their own effort. We are glad to see those new Forums in the east part of the county, and we are planning to spend some time in Peterborough next fall or winter."

Mr. Burt said the support of the Peterborough Federation was a real help, and the success of the Folk School which was held last winter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart, Otonabee, was a gratifying accomplishment.

He spoke appreciatively of the splendid co-operation of the Stewarts, Mr. Sutton and others, and expressed confidence that the value of the Folk School was exemplified here and elsewhere this last winter, especially in its stimulation of social and community life.

Mr. Burt spoke to 130 student teachers at the Normal School, and intends to visit five other such schools in the province, suggesting methods by which rural Public School teachers can assist in setting up Forums in sections where as yet there are none, and also helping those which are established.

ELECTED ZONE REPRESENTATIVE

Don Milburn of Smith township was elected zone representative on the provincial executive committee at the annual meeting of the Junuior Farmers Association of Ontario at their convention last Monday. Previously director from the Peterborough branch, Mr. Milburn has now been advanced to the provincial executive representing the group of counties from Ontario to Hastings inclusive, and also the northern Ontario district.

His junior associates and also his senior friends will wish to congratulate Mr. Milburn on his progress in the council of the younger farmers of Ontario.

Nearly 650 official delegates registered for the convention. From Peterborough were Miss Dorothy Chambers, Miss Mary Morrison, Miss Rosemary McConkey, Don Chambers, Jack Matchett, Glen Stark and Mr. Milburn.

Jack Cockburn of Oxford county was elected president. Addresses by Dr. W. R. Reek, president of OAC, W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner and John Fisher, CBC commentator, were program high lights.

Mr. Fisher said farmers were a privileged people who should not envy city people and their 'dog-eat-dog' existence. Nor should they get wrong ideas about the 'razzle-dazzle' of big city life. On his subject of "Facing the Future," he urged a fearless, ambitious approach, characterized by faith in God and democracy, sympathy, tolerance and unselfishness toward one's fellowman.

"Democracy, like religion, starts with self, but it is self thinking in terms of others," he said.

C. E. MOORE HONORED

Mr. Charles E. Moore of Smith is receiving the diploma of long service to agriculture, an annual award of the Ontario government through its Department of Agriculture, for which he was recently recommended by the directors of the Peterborough Exhibition. G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager of the exhibition, informed the Examiner today, that the diploma has been framed on the order of the board and will be delivered to Mr. Moore.

The host of friends of Charlie Moore in the county and city will heartily endorse his selection by the exhibition directors for this honor. Their nomination last year was accorded to Mr. Tom Brown.

Mr. Moore has literally given long service to rural affairs since his youth. He has been a director of the exhibition 40 years. He was one of the two young farmers from east of Yonge St., Toronto, who attended the first agricultural short course at O.A.C., 44 years ago. He was the first secretary of the Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Club, and has been an active member ever since then.

Mr. Moore was president of the Farmers' Institute years ago, at the time the late William Collins was secretary. It was an organization which was virtually the forerunner of the present Federation of Agriculture. Another of his activities in which he was prominent was the development of a farm co-operative in Peterborough.

He has been a director of Peterborough Co-operative Services for ten years, and was secretary of a former club, one of the first organized in this district. Mr. Moore has also been a director of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, and he has been one of the leading promoters of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture.

It was said of Mr. Moore at the exhibition directors' meeting that there was hardly any farm enterprise in this county which did not receive his support. His interests have not only been broadly directed to the improvement of agriculture, but also in the development of a vital community spirit.

Mr. Moore's host of friends will be delighted to know that the minister of agriculture accepted the recommendation of the exhibition board in this tribute to a Peterborough farmer who has made a great contribution to the practical progress of his industry and to the amenity of social life in his community and county.

PORTRAIT OF TWO QUEENS—Probably the Radio Queen of Quebec, Miss Muriel Millard is not really going to milk "Triumph," newly crowned Queen of the Dairy World. The latter, owned by H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., is a purebred Holstein, that has just completed an Official World Record for yearly production of butterfat over all ages and breeds by giving 1,365 lbs. fat from 31,878 lbs. milk, average test 4.28 per cent butterfat. She thus beats a record that has stood for 12 years. Triumph is a beauty, too, having twice been grand Champion at Quebec Provincial Exhibition. She was bred by S. J. Hammond, St. Paul's Station, Ontario.

Canadian Holstein Sets World Butterfat Record

All eyes in the dairying world were on Vercheres, Que. on April 25 when announcement was made that a purebred Holstein cow had established an official World Record for 365-day production of butter fat over all ages and breeds on three time-a-day milking. The cow was appropriately named Triumph (her registered name is Sprucehaven Farm Triumph) and her production is given as 1,365 pounds butterfat from 31,878 pounds milk average butterfat test 4.28 per cent. An official record is one where the milk is weighed at each milking.

Sharing in her reflected glory were three men, her owner, H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., her breeder, S. J. Hammond, St. Paul's Station, Ont. and herdsman Claude Archambeault.

Supervision of this record was in the hands of the Record of Performance Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. In the course of the year, a total of 15 official butterfat tests were taken, ranging from a low of 3.1 to a high of 5.8. Only four of her tests were below four per cent and six of them reached or surpassed five per cent. The average of all 15 tests was 4.28 per cent.

Triumph has been officially classified for conformation as *Excellent, the highest obtainable rating which is carried by only a few of the top Holsteins in the Dominion.

Triumph started her record easily, averaging only 61 pounds a day for the 12 days of her test in April then raising this to 92 pounds a day for May, following which she averaged 110 pounds for June and July. For five consecutive months she averaged exactly 100 pounds a day while

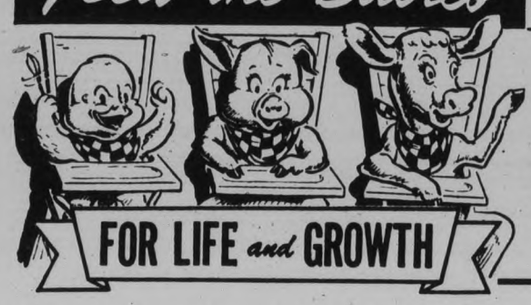
Feed the Babies



FOR LIFE and GROWTH

No matter how busy you are, this Spring, don't lose sight of the importance of giving your "young stuff" an extra-good start. Those first few weeks are the time when they set their course in life, for life; and the time too when they make best use of their feed.

Did you start your chicks on Chick Startena Checker-Etts last year? If you did, we don't need to tell you what a "flying start" these Checker-Etts give chicks — high vigor, high livability, fast growth. If you didn't, ask someone who did — he will tell you! Start your chicks right — feed . .

Chick Startena

The pigs that make you money are the growthy fellows who get away to a good start and keep on going. That calls for good feed for both the sow (she has to have it to milk well) and the litter. Balance your chop with the additional protein, minerals and vitamins they need...

Sow & Pig Chow

Once field work opens up, you haven't much time to spend on feeding calves. Here's a way that will save you time — save you milk and money, too, and raise real dairylike youngsters, growthy and thrifty. Many of our best dairymen follow this Purina Plan, and report first-rate results.

Calf Startena

and Turkeys too!

So many turkey raisers start their poults on Turkey Startena Checker-Etts that if you raise turkeys you are almost sure to have heard about their results, first-hand. Now, while you're laying your plans, bear in mind what you've heard, and decide that this year you are going to have results like that! Ask for . . .

Bigger Acreage Flax, Barley

BRANDON, Man., — (CP) — With prospects for marketing Canadian wheat less encouraging than for a decade, there probably will be a smaller acreage sown to wheat in 1950 and more attention focussed on other crops, experimental farm officials report.

There is room for increased acreage in barley and also for a moderate increase in the production of linseed flax, the Brandon officials say.

Flax variety recommendations for Manitoba now list only four: Dakota, Rocket, Sheyenne and Redwing.

Dakota has been found suitable for all crop zones of the province, whereas Rocket, because of late maturity, is best adapted to southern regions. Sheyenne and Redwing are early maturing types suited primarily to northern agricultural zones.

In the Standard Rod Row flax test at Brandon in 1949, Rocket was the highest yielding of the recommended varieties, with 29.7 bushels an acre. Dakota was only slightly less with 29.1 bushels. Redwing and Sheyenne gave identical yields of 21.8 bushels.

Royal, which was the standard variety grown for many years, yielded 24 bushels an acre.

On the basis of five-year average results (1945-49), there was less than a bushel difference between Rocket and Dakota —27.8 bushels compared to 27.2 bushels respectively. In the same period, Redwing yielded 22.6 bushels and Sheyenne 21.2.

Rhodesia Experiences Boom Needs Better Port Facilities

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, April 28 — (CP) — Business bottled up in southern Rhodesia needs better port facilities to get it out, says the country's Prime Minister, Sir Godfrey Huggins.

His country has experienced an impressive boom since the end of the war, the prime minister told a press conference during a London visit. But the shortage of harborage is throttling the new economy.

He has been visiting Portugal and Britain in efforts to raise money and negotiate approval for plans to increase railway and port installations.

In the last two years alone, he said, the European population of southern Rhodesia, a 150,000-square-mile territory in central Africa, has increased 40 per cent. In 1948 the white population was estimated at 110,000, natives numbered 1,630,000 and 8,000 were listed as Asiatics and "colored," by which the government means "of mixed blood."

Income Jumps

During the same two years the national income had increased by 33 per cent, imports by 30 per cent in volume and 60 per cent in value, while exports had gone up 50 per cent in value.

Beiro, port of Mozamique, Portuguese East Africa, is the colony's Indian Ocean outlet. Long-term plans are for an Atlantic Ocean port, probably in southwest Africa, but development of the Beira facilities has priority.

"We must fulfil our short-term requirements first,' said Sir Godfrey, "or the whole of central Africa will be sunk."

The Portuguese own the port and railway in Mozamique — across approximately 400 miles of which southern Rhodesian traffic must pass to and from the sea— and the premier has initialed an agreement reached during the Lison negotiations.

Southern Rhodesia is autonomous in all matters except "differential legislation affecting the native population," which must obtain the consent of Britain's Secretary of State for commonwealth relations.

Canadian Holstein

for the full year her average was 87 pounds a day. Amazingly enough she was still milking 80 pounds a day at the close of her record, actually giving more than at the beginning of the test. For the first three months of her test she averaged 129 pounds of butterfat and in only one month did she slip below the 100-pound mark. This was in August when she caught cold following the use of a fan to keep her cool during the hot weather.

The former official world champion for butterfat production over all breeds on three times-a-day milking was the Canadian Ayrshire Ardgowan Valda who completed her record of 1,356 pounds fat from 31,157 pounds milk in 1937. Montvig Rag Apple Colantha Abbekerk established herself as the World Champion Holstein on three times-a-day milking in 1941 when she produced 1263 pounds fat from 29,208 pounds milk. However, she lost her world honors retaining only the Canadian Championship when her record of 1,263 pounds was moved up to 1,265 pounds in August of 1949 by the U.S. Holstein Mendocino Mollie Mate.

Speaking of the new champion's feeding, Mr. Guilbert said: "She was fed a 16 per cent commercial concentrate which we mixed with damped beet pulp. We gave her all she could eat in about half an hour and if she had some feed left over it was taken away from her. At all times she had second cut alfalfa in front of her and separately a mixture of timothy haly, red clover and alsike clover, 70 per cent timothy hay damped with molasses, a procedure we follow on all milking cows when we have no alfalfa to give them. As we had very little of second cut alfalfa it was reserved for Triumph. Mineral was added to the concentrate as is the case with all animals in the barn. All Triumph got more than the other cows, was a closer watch, second cut alfalfa and an electric fan during the hot period in August. From the latter she caught a cold."

Triumph is no flash-in-the-pan producer as she has three previous ROP records, all of them large ones. As a senior three-year-old she produced 21,571 pounds milk containing 809 pounds fat average test 3.75 per cent butterfat, as a senior four-year-old 22,290 pounds milk containing 904 pounds fat average test 4.06 per cent butterfat and as a six-year-old, 25,905 pounds milk, 1,105 pounds fat average test 4.26 per cent butterfat. She thus has a four lactation total of 101,644 pounds milk and 4,183 pounds fat, average test 4.11 per cent on 3x. She has a daughter in the Guilbert herd sired by the XXX bull Montvic Emperor Ajax who as a junior two-year-old on three times-a-day milking produced 628 pounds fat from 17,402 pounds milk and now as a four-year-old has milked in the first six months of her present lactation 16,450 pounds milk.

Manvers Couple Given Presents At Silver Wedding

BETHANY, April 28—(ENS)—Friends and neighbors gathered Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Staples, R. R. 2 Bethany to join in the celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. During the evening, Mrs. Lawrence Staples read an address and Percy Preston and Lawrence Staples presented Mr. and Mrs. Staples with a cabinet of silver flatware in community plate and a sum of money, on behalf of the community. There were also many lovely individual gifts of silverware.

A program of local talent was enjoyed, with Laverne McKinley as the genial chairman. There were piano numbers by Mrs. Horace Heaslip, Miss Ruth McKinley and the Rev. Clare Kellog; readings by Mrs. George Timms and Miss Nancy Wilkinson; vocal solos by Ralph Preston. A mock wedding ceremony was performed with George Timms as the bride; Mrs. Percy Preston, the groom; Horace Heaslip, the bridesmaid; Miss Nancy Wilkinson as groomsman; Lawrence Staples, the minister; Ralph Preston, soloist and Mrs. Horace Heaslip played the wedding music. L. H. Staples, former Reeve of Manvers township and Mr. Orville Shea of Markham spoke briefly of the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Staples are held in the community and wished them many more happy anniversaries.

Lunch was served and included a three story wedding cake baked by the Bride's Mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Staples farm on Lot 15, Concession 10 of Manvers township. Mr. Staples is the son of Lewis H. Staples, Bethany and his wife is the former Beatrice Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Shea, also of Bethany. They have one daughter Mrs. Everett Saltern (Audrey) of Peterborough.

Mr. Staples thanked everyone for their kindness, especially the committee who had arranged the celebration and Mrs. Staples also added her appreciation for the lovely gifts.

As well as those who live in the immediate neighborhood, there were friends present from Peterborough, Bridgenorth, Markham, Niagara Falls and Omemee.

Drunk Convictions Reported Doubled

TORONTO, April 27 (CP)—A United Church Board reported today that convictions for drunkenness in Ontario nearly doubled over a 10-year span.

The annual report of the Church's Board of Evangelism and Social services says that in 1948 there were 220 convictions per 10,000 population. In 1937, it adds, the rate was 119.

The report says the increase can be attributed to legislation introduced early in 1948 permitting freer sale of liquor in the province. It notes that alcoholic beverage consumption rose from 2,196,000 gallons in 1940 to 5,117,000 in 1948.

The report says drunkenness convictions in Ontario in 1948 were five times the per capita rate of Saskatchewan. There were 33,446 convictions in Ontario, with a population of 4,297,000, against 1,392 in Saskatchewan, with a population of 854,000.

Not So Particular

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—It's okay to wager money by telegram in Canada—as long as you don't use the word "bet" in the message. Canadian National and Canadian Pacific telegraph officials said Thursday they will accept thinly disguised messages placing wagers on horses for two reasons. One is that there's no law against it, and another is that as common carriers the telegraph companies must be absolutely certain of their grounds before refusing to transmit a message.

Frost To Confer On Municipal Problems

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP) — After spending most of their first day in conference discussing financial problems, Ontario's mayors and reeves got a promise from Premier Frost that the provincial government will sit with the municipalities in critical examination of their problems.

However, he told the Mayors and Reeves Association Thursday night that municipal problems can not be settled at one sitting.

"We must meet constantly to discuss the problems of the day," he said. "We should be and will be meeting often."

If the municipalities could show the government it had erred, the government would examine its decisions and right any wrongs. He said his government had much to learn from municipal governments.

His announcement came after Reeve Ann Shipley, of Kirkland Lake, association president, told the conference that municipalities should not have to beg from the province to fulfil there responsibilities.

Later, following a meeting with Premier Frost and Mayor Hiram McCallum, of Toronto, Mrs. Shipley announced the premier had agreed to met with an association committee to discuss municipalitie's problems.

Mayor McCallum told the conference the only way to bridge the gap between revenue and responsibilities was to assure that for the most part people receiving the benefit of services pay for them.

Recalling that past recommendations had obtained little lasting relief, he presented, without optimism, a report containing four main recommendations:

1. Relieve municipalities of all costs of social services; costs would be borne by the provincial and federal government from a source of taxation equitably levied at their levels.

2. A further re-adjustment of the basis of provincial grants to permit sound fiscal planning by local governments.

Eliminate Exemptions

3. Eliminate municipal tax exemptions, including federal and provincial properties not contributing to the costs of service.

4. Have federal and provincial governments assume the cost of administration justice.

Premier Frost said in his night address that if the government was to meet any considerable portion of suggestions made, it could easily double its budget and that municipalities would be in a chaotic position now but for assistance already rendered by his government. He estimated Ontario municipal grants at $90,143,000 for 1950.

No Honey Floor Price

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the commons Thursday the Canadian Beekeepers Council had not asked for a floor price on honey this year. Replying to H. O. White (PC-Middlesex East), he said the government has discussed with the council "the possibility of an advertising campaign but, beyond that, we have not had discussions with them."

been no occasion for the Dominion to form an opinion as to whether the Doukhobor outbursts in British Clumbia constitute a state of civil insurrection. The Dominion is co-operating with the province.

In the Senate, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, introduced a resolution to establish a special committee to explore means of streamlining the Chamber's business.

Mr. Low, snapping a rubber dollar bill sent over to him by Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata), said that was what the government was using under its present monetary system—rubber money. It would stretch, "but it may snap back and snap your head off." Social Credit money wouldn't do that.

Considers Production

Mr. Blackmore denied claims that the Social Credit party based its theories on money, not production. The party always had thought in terms of production.

Mr. Fleming repeated a Progressive Conservative demand for elimination of over-lapping government services and asked the House not to accept the "confession of helplessness" in the government's claim that expenditures would continue at about $2,400,000,000 a year.

Finance Minister Abbott had rejected repeated suggestions for a standing committee on estimates. The House could not discharge its responsibility as long as it was left to "founder around under an antiquated, clumsy, awkward procedure" of estimate study.

Mr. Fleming charged that "political expediency" was the guiding principle of Liberal administration budgets.

Cupboard Bare

Last year, he said was an "election year and the Minister was prepared to shoot the works" in tax reduction. But this year the cupboard was bare and the Minister of Finance had made it clear those expecting tax reductions in any year possibly as far ahead as 1954 were "doomed to disappointment."

He said that Watson Sellar, the Auditor-General, had testified before the Public Accounts Committee last year that in every estimate of expenditure tendered by a government department to the Finance Minister prior to the budget, a "cushion"—an extra five or ten per cent of the actual amount needed—was put in. He had recommended showing in the estimates the actual expenditure of the previous year in each department.

Mr. Fleming said it was high time there was a revamping of the methods of submitting estimates to the House. Under the present method the surface was barely scratched.

BACK TO SCHOOL—At 53, Mrs. Ellen MacDonald is going back to school. For years she managed a 200-acre farm in the Cape Breton area of Nova Scotia and brought up four children after her husband died. After her family was grown up, she moved to Toronto and began taking sewing lessons at Toronto Central Technical School. At first it was difficult to fall into step with a group of teenagers. She says: "Now I realize I should have done it years ago."

Predicts Expansion Of Peace River Area

VANCOUVER—(CP)— A wide increase in the farming population of northern British Columbia's Lower Liard River is forecast by Dr. Griffith Taylor, professor of geography at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Taylor says the rapid expansion of the Peace River area will be repeated "in the next generation."

He says he bases his prediction on the belief that nature has largely decided a country's future before man occupies it, and man should not depart from the directions indicated by natural environment.

And it follows that since Canada's agriculture is the major factor in producing a stable, close settlement, the country will be settled as far north as agriculture is practicable.

The northern boundary is where the average July temperature is 57 degrees. In Canada, this line runs through the northern tip of Newfoundland, the extreme north of the Prairie provinces and down the Mackenzie River basin to the Arctic Circle.

Deny Sioui Chief

HURON VILLAGE, April 28 (CP)—The Loretteville reservation council announced Thursday it has passed a resolution to give notice that "Jules Sioui is not and has never been chief of his tribe though he has represented himself to be on several occasions." The council's action came while Sioui, 43-year-old Huron, continues a hunger strike that began Feb. 22 after sending to Prime Minister St. Laurent an "ultimatum" asking for independence for Canadian Indians.

Wheat Contract Filled For UK

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP) — George McIvor, chairman of the Wheat Board, confirmed Thursday that Canada's wheat assignments to Britin under the 1949-50 Anglo-Cnadian agreement now are complete.

The tip-off came in a routine Wheat Board report listing total sales and purchases under the international wheat agreement between last Aug. 1, start of the crop year, and April 14.

Thee report showed Britain bought 3,639,158 metric tons of Canadian wheat—equivalent to 133,715,984 bushels for flour offal retained in the Dominion.

But purchases of 12,500,000 bushels for Canadian wheat assignments. That figure has been passed.

In addition to completing the British commitments, the report showed, Canada has almost filled her full quota of sales under the international agreement.

Arena Ice Gone Bingo Enters For 4 Months

All the artificial ice is expected to be out of the Civic Arena by this weekend, Walter Smillie, arena manager said today. The refrigeration unit was turned off Tuesday and steam with hot water applied Wednesday. About one-quarter of the ice surface was cleared Thursday at 5 p.m.

The summer series of events will start May 15 when the IOOF will hold their first bi-monthly bingo. The bingos will be carried on Monday nights alternately with the Lions Club bingos until September. The next event will be a dance on May 19 by George Wade.

On June 2-3 a Sportsmen's Show sponsored by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association will be held.

"It won't be long until the ice will be in again," said Mr. Smillie, "possibly late September or early October."

Special Grants Given Hospitals

Special maintenance grants by the Ontario government to Ontario hospitals approved Thursday will amount to $6,227 for the Peterborough Civic Hospital and $9,006 for St. Joseph's Hospital. The government approved these in an expenditure of $2,604,542 in the special grants to the hospitals.

The grants were made under recent legislation which authorizes the province to contribute a bonus of 25 percent on percent on their 1949 grant. Expenditures are part of the government's program to increase hospital accommodation throughout the province.

Some of the other hospital grants are: Kingston General, $43,924; Kitchener and Waterloo, $10,314; Oshawa General, $12,-759; St. Catharines General, $9,-319; Lindsay, $986; [illegible]burg, $1,-154; Port Hope, $1

Kinsmen Vote $400 For Lights

Over strong opposition from some of the members, the Kinsmen's Club Thursday night voted to contribute $400 to the $15,000 public fund being raised to provide night-playing lights at Riverside Park.

One objection voiced was that the lights for a public park were the concern of the city council which should not be constantly "spoon-fed" year after year by the city's service clubs.

Another member voiced the same sentiment, saying that service clubs were always filling in the gap with money between the city's needs and the council's provisions.

Most of the club's members seemed to be in favor of having the lights, but one or two members said they thought contributing to lights was merely subsidizing professionals in senior baseball. They added that daylight baseball had produced great baseball and players in the past and wanted to know why it couldn't continue to do so.

This was answered by two members saying, first, that night baseball had been the key to successful baseball in other cities. Second, by helping the senior club now, interest would be stimulated among the city's youngsters so that it would soon no longer be necessary to go outside to get players for the local team.

The club also voted $250 to be donated to the national Kinsmen cancer scholarship fund which in the past has enabled doctors to do post-graduate research and study in cancer, thus aiding the country's fight against cancer.

It was also decided a percentage to be decided later, of the profits of the club's carnival would be added to the cancer scholarship donation.

Lindsay Industry Cuts Staff 100 To 35

British textiles on the Canadian market resulted in a two-thirds employment layoff at the National Textiles plant in Lindsay. Manager G. Bradshaw said recently that working staffs will be reduced from 100 to about 35. He anticipates the reduction will last from three weeks to a month although he has received no definite word from the parent company in Toronto.

Some of the women employees have found other employment, according to Lindsay manager of the NES, H. Brown. There are no other industrial openings available for the rest. He states however, that 800 district people as far west as Sutton, have found employment during the past week.

Tightening Up On Exemptions Given Property

A trend against exemptions from assessment is apparent, according to Max R. Sloan, superintendent of assessment, Department of Municipal Affairs.

"Those getting municipal services should pay for them," he told a one-day school of municipal officials Thursday.

The department is holding similar schools in other counties. Mr. Sloan was accompanied by T. R. Hunter, assessment adviser.

At present exemptions in Ontario amount to between 18 per cent and 24 per cent of the total assessment. And that, he commented, was "pretty high."

The Assessment Amendment Act, 1950, was reviewed by Mr. Sloan. One place the act was tightened was on exemptions for scouting property.

New legislation made clear that exemptions to the property of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides associations applied to Canadian organizations only. The property must be owned, occupied and used solely by these groups.

The difficulty arose when United States Scouts purchased a large parcel of land and when they applied for exemption it meant a loss of revenue for the municipality.

No Longer Exempt

Telephone and telegraph properties are no longer exempt. Townships may assess any buildings and land of telephone and telegraph companies.

"Upon reasonable request and at reasonable times" the assessor has the right of access to all land, buildings or machinery for assessing these or the business.

The assessor may not send out questionnaires until he has visited a property at least twice, and then his questioning is limited. Anyone interfering with him while doing his duty is liable to a fine of $200.

Liable To Seizure

Tenants of Crown property who occupy a domestic establishment (sleeping and eating facilities) are no longer exempt from taxation, an amendment now states Terms of their occupancy have no bearing on the matter.

It also assures that the "interests" of a tenant on Crown property is liable to seizure for non-payment of taxes.

A court of revision in any municipality shall have until November 30 to complete their work instead of November 15 as formerly. County courts of revision have until January 15 of the year following the assessing.

Lock Works Union Ask 42½-Hour Week

Basic disagreement between Local 527 United Electrical Workers and the Peterborough Lock Co. is now on wages, hours and retroactive pay, union sources say.

Their latest proposals to bring the contract dispute to an end is a 42½ hour week with the same take-home pay as 45 hours. Rates of pay retroactive to October 1.

Previously the union had asked for 40 hours and a general wage boost.

The union asks for an upward revision of minimum rates as follows: men—from 93 cents an hour to $1, and women 82 cents an hour to 87 cents. Both of the revised rates would be obtained within 60 days of starting work.

Wanted as well is some revision in the time schedule and seniority protection.

The union membership has already voted nine-to-one for strike action and on Monday there will be another meeting to decide on the next move.

Rev. M. J. Aiken Heads Presbytery

Chairman of Presbytery for the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church for the coming year is the Rev. Milton J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church. He was elected on Tuesday at a meeting held in Hastings United Church. The Rev. Bernard Hayward of Bailieboro United Church was elected secretary.

Plans were made at the Tuesday meeting for district celebration of the 25th anniversary of the church union in Canada. Their Bay of Quinte conference will be held at George Street United Church from May 30 to June 2nd. More than 200 delegates are expected to attend.

Only Six Largish Resorts In Kawarthas, Muskoka 43

The Kawartha resort area should have more resorts accommodating more than 100 tourists, James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, said today. Comparing the Muskoka area with the Kawartha area Mr. Fraser said that the Muskoka area has 43 resorts accommodating more than 100 people while the Kawartha area has only six.

Mr. Fraser pointed out that the local area has 472 resorts while the Muskoka area has 527. Total accommodation of the Kawartha area is 11,430 and the Muskoka district 17,189. Thirty-one per cent of the Kawartha resorts have dining rooms while 47 per cent. of the Muskoka resorts have dining-rooms.

Other types of recreation besides fishing should be stressed by the local resorts, said Mr. Fraser. At present about 90 per cent of the Kawartha resorts provide only fishing as their recreational drawing card. He suggested that perhaps college and collegiate students could be hired by local resorts as recreation directors to arrange hikes, pingpong games, and other activities to round out the tourists' time in the area.

Mr. Fraser said that the Muskoka area attracts the 17,189 vacationers without practically no fishing recreation. As an example he listed the recreational activities offered by one Muskoka resort; free dancing to an orchestra, weiner roasts, picture shows, masquerades, water events such as canoe tilting, water bike races and swimming, tennis tournaments, horseshoe pitching, softball games, hikes, card tournaments and volleyball.

Ottawa Civic Has Large Deficit

Operating deficit of Ottawa Civic Hospital last year amounted to $230,575.85 as recently reported by its trustees. Loss on indigent patients with mounting salaries and costs throughout the institution caused this adverse summary. Total expenditure was $2,588,368.14 and revenue $2,357,-792.29.

More than half the total expenditures in the main hospital, apart from veterans pavilion and isolation unit, went to salaries and wages, an increase of 20 per cent over 1948.

Public ward cost of indigents was $8.56 a day. To meet that there was a statutory rate of $2.50 a day plus government grant of $1.76 a day, leaving a loss of $4.30 for each indigent patient.

The interesting fact is that the cost of each indigent is $8.56 Other hospitals report corresponding expense, indicating a high level of treatment for people who go there without money to pay their bills. Of all patients admitted, 44.6 per cent were covered by some form of insurance

Two Men Held, Farmer Lost $390 At Poker

Two Toronto men were remanded on $1,000 property bail or $500 cash bail to Wednesday on charges of stealing $390 from Herbert Lindsay, who lives near Ida, Jan. 6.

Steve Popelink, 36, of 306 Adelaide St., and Fred Terry, 40, of 44 Lynd Ave., were released on bail on condition that they remain in custody until an identification parade could be held, probably today.

Lindsay's Story

Last January Lindsay told Detective Sergeant John Stevenson that he had been cheated of $390 in a poker game by two men in a downtown hotel.

Popelink and Terry were suspected of working a swindle on an elderly Toronto man recently and taking $3,500, but the alleged victim died before the case could be brought to trial.

Lindsay said he had been approached by a man at Charlotte and George Sts., and asked if he knew where there was a "playhouse" where he could have some fun. Lindsay said he knew of no such place. The man immediately turned to another man on the street and asked him the same question.

The second man, shorter than the other chap, who was quite tall, said he didn't know any house, but he knew of a couple of girls he might be able to reach.

Went To Hotel

He said he had a hotel room and he could phone the girls from there. The tall man said there was $10 in it for both of them if either could get some girls.

The three went to the hotel room and the shorter man made a pretence of phoning the girls. "They'll be over in half an hour," he said.

One of them suggested they play a game of poker while they waited. Lindsay said he didn't know how to play poker, but the two men said they would show him as they went along.

The stakes started at 25 cents, and Lindsay won at first, but in 40 minutes he had been fleeced of his whole roll of $390.

One of the swindlers also said he was cleaned out, but he showed Lindsay that he had been dealt four aces. He suggested that Lindsay drive him to an aunt's home in town where he had some bonds. He said they could win all their money back. They left the hotel, but on walking a short distance away, the man told Lindsay he had better go back and make sure the other fellow did not disappear with their money.

Lindsay went back, and the hotel room was empty. That was the last he saw of them.

"I'll know them in five years if I see them," Lindsay told the police.

Six Dog Owners Pay Fines Of $2.00

Allowing their dogs to run loose about the streets cost six Peterborough dog owners $2 in fines and $1 court costs each when they entered written pleas of guilty in police court Thrusday.

The six were: C. Rook-Green, 1040 Western Ave.; Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, 335 Stewart St.; D. G. Lane, 413 Bethune St., Frank Whitehouse, 124 Hunter St. W.; B. H. Myers, 310 Elias Ave.; and L. R. Marshall, 684 Stormont St.

Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford warned dog owners who have not yet bought their licences they are liable to fines if their dogs are found without dog tags. He said there were still quite a large number who had failed to buy their licences.

Cold Prospects, Ice To North But Streams Well Stocked For Trout Season Opening

By NICK NICKELS, Outdoor Editor

Wherever you go to-day trout fishermen come to their doorways to scan the sky and sniff the cool wind that blows ill for a bang-up opening day, Saturday. "Said a tea merchant, "you can't wear a coon coat with waders. It's too cold. I'll stay at home." That seems to be the general opinion of a great many fishermen. You never can tell about trouters, though. They are a hardy breed and after months of preparation and anticipation they are bound to blow off steam by going out to their favourite streams, regardless, come heck or high water.

A lot of people are planning on going north into Hastings County, Bancroft way. Listen to what Corp. Stanley Palmateer, OPP, says before you take off.

"L'Amable, Trout, Bay, Baptiste, Papineau, Lake St. Peter and Paudash Lakes are still ice-filled. Creeks and streams are open but the water is so high, you couldn't get near them. Several fishing parties have cancelled out planned trips to the above spots and from the looks of things fishing will not be anything to brag about for the next two weeks." There, that is pretty definite dope. It rules out North Hastings.

District Streams

Cavan and Millbrook streams will have their usual crowds due to their proximity to the city and it is expected that they will be well ptaronized. "There will be wide and well-beaten trails to find your way around," said one skeptic.

Headwaters of the Ganaraska River, Campbellford Creek and Percer's and Bannister's Ponds will lure a lot of hopefuls further south-west. To the north, Noggies' Creek, the Mississauga and Eel's Brook will be tried by others. These are not good streams in the opinion of the department biologist Charles Weir of Lindsay. "They are not 'springfed and only connect large easily warmed lakes. Some trout will be taken in them at the start."

East of Peterborough is the Big and Little Ouse, Springbrook and Plateau Creeks but the Belaporine is leased and should not be trespassed on.

36 In Northumberland

Northumberland county contains 36 well-stocked streams and ponds, all have speckles, 12 have browns and two harbour rainbows in addition.

As much as the lowly fishworm is despised as trout bait, many fishermen will use them since wet flies will be of little attraction; experts say. Sporting goods stores are well stocked with artificial trout lures that will no doubt be used as an alternate to worms.

There is scant hope of the weather warming up in a hurry enough to do the fishing situation much good. Cloudy weather prevails throughout Ontario with light snow in northern regions and flurries as far south as Lake Huron. Clearing skies late today will ease the mercury up a few notches and Saturday promises to be bright, at least.

Award Presented City Playwright

The Canadian Drama Award for the Province of Ontario, announced some time ago, was presented to Robertson Davies, playwright and editor of the Peterborough Examiner Wednesday night by Colonel R J. Bolton on behalf of the British Columbia Drama League which instituted these annual awards in 1934. The award was to have been presented at the recent Central Ontario Regional Drama Festival held in Toronto, but this was impossible at the time. Colonel Bolton, president of the Peterborough Little Theatre therefore made the presentation at a special meeting of the Little Theatre. Mr. Davies replied suitably.

Awards are limited to one to each province each year and are based on recommendations by interested citizens. They are given for "consistently praiseworthy contributions to Drama" and to those "who have, within a comparatively short space of time, distinguished themselves in one way or another."

Mr. Davies is the 27th Ontario person to have received the award since its institution.

C. D. A. holders include Lord Bessborough, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, playwright Herman Voaden, T. H. Wolton, principal of Galt Collegiate and Vocational School, and Professor Wm. Angus of Queen's University.

Bus Co. Claims Service Improves

The Provincial Transport Company, largest inter-urban bus firm in Quebec province, tells in its 1949 report of purchasing Callacutt and Kawartha Coach Lines.

Properties of these two bus lines were integrated into the Colonial system on June 16, 1949. The upshot of the transaction is that the public in the area now have better facilities and service than before, the annual report contends.

Principal routes of the two former companies were between Gananoque and Toronto and Peterborough and Toronto. In addition, the Oshawa companies operated between Toronto and Lindsay (via Whitby); Trenton and Picton; Newcastle and Pontypool; and Gananoque and the Thousand Islands International Bridge.

Other assets included land in Toronto, land and buildings in Port Hope and Belleville, tools, repair shop equipment and 27 buses.

During 1949 the company claims the passenger total was increased by 2,632,738 to a new all-time peak of 31,212,531, and passenger revenue made a new record of $10,252,107. Net profits showed an increase from $84,484 to $411,640.

Japan's Need Described To WA

HASTINGS, April 28 (ENS)—Miss Tucker, returned missionary from Japan, was guest speaker at St. George's Anglican Church WA meeting.

The president, Mrs. C. M. Baker presided for the opening.

Miss Tucker worked with the Japanese in Canada and went to Japan to learn the language and customs. She told of the poverty she found in Japan and said Hiroshima is being rebuilt as a city of peace.

The Canadian church has a part to play there, Miss Tucker said. It was already open and was planning a radio broadcast.

A beautiful kimona of sand brocade, decorated with gold thread and hand painted flowers, and lined with pure red silk, was modelled by Mrs. McKibbon of Campbellford. Miss Tucker also displayed miniature tea services, pagodas and Bhuddas.

Canon Spencer closed the meeting.

Tea was poured by Mrs. C. R. Spencer at a table decorated in yellow with yellow tapers and pussywillows.

Woman Wields Shoe In Battle As Two Men Fight In Hotel Yard

Four different stories of how Mrs. Alice Moore received a bloody nose Saturday night, led Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, to dismiss a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm against Joseph Wright, 15 Argyle St., in police court Thursday.

Mrs. Moore herself told the court the affair started when she was hit and knocked over a chair in a hotel Saturday night about midnight. She said she had been in one of the second-floor rooms when she heard a commotion out in the hall.

She went out to the hall to see what was going on and saw Wright there.

"I asked him what was going on and he hit me and knocked me over a chair," Mrs. Moore said.

"A short time later her husband came along and they decided to go home. When they went down into the lobby to get their coats, Wright was there. She said he took off his coat and challenged Moore to fight. Moore told Wright he had no business hitting Moore's wife, but said he didn't want to fight.

"I told him to go ahead," Mrs. Moore said. The two men went outside and started to fight. Mrs. Moore charged that during the fight, Wright hit her on the nose, making her nose bleed and spattering her dress with blood.

She also said that she took her right shoe off and hit Wright with it. No one in the court room seemed to be sure whether Mrs. Moore wielded her shoe before or after she was hit on the street.

But in any case, she was carried into the hotel and was then taken home in a taxi.

When defence counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, suggested she must have been pretty drunk to be attacking some one with her shoe on a public street, Mrs. Moore denied that she was drunk.

"If someone hit me, I'd hit him with my shoe right now," the slight, dark woman told Mr. Fair.

Constable Claire McGillen, who had been on duty at the hotel, testified that at about midnight Moore had come to him and asked him to persaude his wife to go home. Constable McGillen said Mrs. Moore was "in a very drunken condition," and refused to go home. An hour later Moore again asked him to try to talk his wife into going home, but this time Constable McGillen could not see Mrs. Moore about and suggested Moore get his wife home himself.

A short time later Constable McGillen was told of a fracas outside the hotel and went out to find Mrs. Moore standing with her nose bleeding.

Also standing about were Moore, Wright and Wright's wife. Mrs. Moore, said the officer, "kept insisting that I arrest her husband," but she didn't want the accused, Wright, arrested. He said Mrs. Moore was still drunk.

Moore took the witness box and testified Wright had tried to pick a fight in the lobby of the hotel. Outside, he said, Wright "dared me to hit him and I refused. Immediately, he turned around and hit my wife full in the face."

Moore denied asking Constable McGillen to help him get his wife home, denied that his wife was drunk and said he didn't see his wife hit Wright with her shoe.

"She got right in on the fight, didn't she" Mr. Fair asked Moore.

"That doesn't give him any right to hit her," Moore replied.

He said that he was related to Wright and added that the only differences between them in the past were concerned with their conflicting union affiliations.

Wright saida he had pushed Mrs. Moore upstairs in the hotel when she "made a wild rush" at him. He had pushed her to keep her away from him.

In the hotel lobby, he said, the Moores tried to pick a fight with him, but he walked outside. The two followed him and there Mrs. Moore, according to Wright, urged her husband on to fight even to the extent of calling him names to get her husband to fight. When the fight started "she was right in there scratching and hitting at me."

He said he did not know how Mrs. Moore got hurt, but denied he had aimed any blow at her. He said she might have been hit accidentally either by himself or her own husband.

"You were all rather high that night, weren't you?" Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested.

"Yes, you're right," was Wright's answer.

Foresters' Jewel Given Blind Member

MILLBROOK, April 28 (ENS)—The Rev. T. Garnett Husser, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church and Dominion High Chaplain to the Canadian Order of Foresters, was in Brantford the early part of the week, where he atended a banquet of the COF on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Husser.

The gathering was called "Bill Foster Night" in honor of Mr. Foster, who became blind at the age of 60. Mr. Husser presented the first jewel for a chaplain to be presented in Canada, to Mr. Foster.

In many years Mr. Foster has missed only one meeting of the COF. He was over 60 when he became blind, but has mastered Braille and has learned the lecture of the order by its use. He is noted for his courage and optimism, and has never been heard to complain of his handicap.

More than 200 guests sat down to the banquet. High officials of the order from as widely separated points as Montreal and Vancouver were present.

The board's executive meeting approved Dr. Mutchmor's suggestion that Christian churches campaign for big business to stop demands for higher profits, big unions to go easy on wage demand; politically-strong farmers' organizations to let up the pressure for higher prices, and "our near-totalitarian governments" to quit levying higher taxes.

Streetcar Strike Been Postponed

HAMILTON, April 28—(CP)—The threat of a streetcar and bus strike here was deferred today by agreement of the company and union to continue negotiations Monday in the office of Ontario Labor Minister Daley.

After long conferences Thursday in which Lowes Fine, chief conciliator of the Labor Department, took part, it was announced early today that the discussions would continue at Toronto.

The union, the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employees (AFL), had called a strike effective at 4 a.m. in protest against dismissal of a union official. The union said the official, driver Arthur Elwood, had been dismissed for soliciting new members on company property while they were at work. It admitted this was a technical violation of the act but contended it was a common practice.

Union members had voted overwhelmingly to strike today and Chief Constable Joseph Chamberlain had said the police were prepared for any eventuality in a tie-up that would have deprived between 50,000 and 60,000 citizens of their regular means of transport. Taxi companies had reported heavy advance bookings.

Mr. Harris said he was asking for a report.

Visits French Community Rebuilding Flattened Homes

By JEAN E. STENTON

BAYEUX, April—After changing hands between the German and British troops 20 times, Tilly-sur-Seulles vanished off the map. It was 100 per cent destroyed. Today, a short distance from the original site, the inhabitants are working busily erecting a new village with modern buildings.

When the fighting had swept past the village, Mr. M. P. Duquesne, secretaire administratif du Syndicate d' Initiative, Caen, decided to pay the area a visit. He kept looking for the village, whose church spire had always been a landmark. Mr. Duquesne said he couldn't understand why the map was wrong. Then he finally realized that he was standing exactly in the centre of the village, which had vanished completely. There was scarcely even any rubble left to indicate the thriving little community which had once been there.

Battle of Hedges

Right after Tilly-sur-Seulles, you sweep around "Death Valley" which saw some of the hardest fighting in the war between British and German troops, It was the Battle of the Hedges.

Near Fontenay-le-Pesel, the British had a gun every five miles, while the Nazis had them every ¾ of a mile. The village was almost completely flattened and walls were knocked over like sticks. After 24-36 hours, there was very little left. Even behind the front it was the same thing, with only one or two walls left standing. The Germans had forces behind the front and the Allies were shelling them heavily.

The two forces were deadlocked here for some time, a short distance from Caen. The Germans had a company with a strong armored division and commanded the plains. The British had no heavy equipment because a storm delayed landing it. But they commanded the seas and the skies and were entrenched behind miles of hedge rows. The enemy advanced as far as the hedges and were stopped by bazookas. The British were unable to advance, but they were strong enough to hold the Germans and some very hard fighting took place there.

Old Cathedral

Then there is Capriquet, a name familiar to many Canadians. From July 4-7 this airdrome outside Caen, the nearest to the landing area, was disputed between the 3rd Canadian Division and the 12th SS Panzers. A large airdrome, today its rusty skeletons of buildings stretch over a long field.

Bayeux, the first city to be liberated in France after the invasion, is an attractive French town with comparatively little damage. This centre is famous chiefly for two things — the Cathedral of Notre Dame, which is a masterpiece of Gothic-Norman art and in the museum across the road, the famous tapestry said to be done by Queen Mathilde, wife of Wiliam the Conqueror, following the capture of England by the Normans. The cathedral has some lovely old stained glass windows dating back many centuries and the tapestry is more than 70 metres long. It winds around four walls of the room in whiih it is displayed It tells the story of the invasion of England from the time the Norman fleet sails until Harold dies, weapons in his hands. It is a most interesting piece of work.

Operation Mulberry

Arromanches, is the scene of one of the greatest Allied achievements in the war. It was here that the artificial port of the Mulberry type was created June 6. It withstood a violent tempest June 19, 1944 and permitted a daily landing of 12,000 tons of supplies and 2,500 vehicles. This was comparable with Le Havre before the war. These prefabricated ports were brought from Britain. They were made up of 60 ships destined to be sunk, 146 caissons, 7 kilometres of breakwater and jetties. At this port and Vierville (later abandoned) 1,000,000 soldiers set foot on the continent between June 11 and June 30, 1944.

The village of Arromanches today works peacefully around the corner of a cliff at one end of the harbor and shows only slight damage. But once around the cliff, there is much to remind one of the busy times there in the earlier part of the invasion. The sunken ships still form the breakwater and the rusted tank landing strips are standing in many places near the shore. It is a magnificent piece of work to see, even today as it slips into history.

Around this harbor, and overlooking the sea, are the remains of several German blockhouses, only a short distance apart. Some of the thick walls and gun emplacements still stand firmly, despite the attacks, while others have been razed on top, but have strong underground rooms and passages which sheltered German troops for a long time. It is a place that every visitor to Normandy should see to realize what an awe-inspiring accomplishment it was.

It was with regret I said goodbye to Normandy and headed back to Paris. The people were so kind that it almost seemed like leaving home. I hope some day to return and see the new Caen and its surrounding villages.

THIS PRICELESS SOLID SILVER SOUP TOUREEN with cover and stand, which is one of two now in existence of the 22 ordered by Catherine the Great of Russia, caught the attention of Their Excellencies Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander recently following the formal opening of the 18th century exhibition of English and French art in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. The picture also shows, in the background Robert P. Jellett, vice-president of the museum council. The exhibition, which remains open until May 31, offers Montrealers a unique opportunity to view treasures many of which have never been publicly shown before.

Dropping Demands

The CWA Tuesday called off a country-wide phone strike set for the next day. It said at the time that substantial progress was being made toward agreemens with Bell companies.

Lighthouse Folk Back At Posts

PORT ARTHUR, April 28. — A gay, almost festive air prevailed at the CNR dock early Thursday morning.

Twenty-two men, women and children, some with domestic pets boarded the tug James Whalen and chatted with and waved to friends and relatives who came to see them off.

The men were the district lighthouse keepers and their assistants who will spend the next eight months at island posts. The women and children were families of some of the keepers, who will also remain at the lights until the last ship of the season.

The Whalen pulled away from the dock on a two-day trip that will include stops at the Welcomes, Angus, Trowbridge, Point Porphyry, Shaganash, Lamb, Battle and Slate Islands.

Tucked below and above deck were provisions for the keepers. There were cases and cases of canned goods, enough to do the average keeper for the season, plus flour and packaged goods and some perishable foods.

Doctor Jailed Drunk Driver

TORONTO, April 28. — Dr. Douglas B. MacLaren of Eglinton Ave. W., physician and surgeon, Wednesday lost an appeal before Judge Forsyth against a conviction for drunk driving. In the same court, Thomas Dodds of Alexander St., won a similar appeal on his plea that he had blacked out.

Judge Forsyth rejected Dr. MacLaren's plea that he had taken about nine of 10 tablets, one seconal, a depressive tablet and one drink to counter an impending attack of migraine, or blind staggers.

Dr. MacLaren had been sentenced Feb. 28 by Magistrate Browne to seven days in jail. He was prohibited from driving a car for three months. He was charged after being stopped by police on Queen's Park Cres. early Dec. 6.

Dodds admitted he drank a fair amount—anywhere from half a dozen bottles of beer as a rule, but claimed he had had only two beers and had then blacked out just before colliding with a taxi driven by Morris Charron at Calton and Jarvis Sts., Nove. 26.

A PEASANT'S PLOUGH hit a solid object buried near the village of Atrib, near Cairo, Egypt, and led to the discovery of the sarcophagus of Queen Thakut, whose husband, King Psametic II, ruled over Egypt 2,500 years ago. In the sarcophagus, archeologists found a wooden coffin, and in the coffin the mummy of the queen. On the face of the queen, on the lid of the coffin, was a solid gold mask. On the head of the mummy was a gold diadem, and around the neck shone a necklace of golden amulets. Photo shows Egyptian laborers pulling the heavy sarcophagus out from the grave where it had been buried for some 25 centuries.

Noted Actress Writes Serious Novel

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK, — (AP) — "To write a novel," says Ruth Chatterton, "I need a theme that makes me angry."

The stage and screen star hit on such a theme, or the theme hit her, a couple of years ago, and she did her first novel, "Homeward Borne," published by Simon and Schuster.

How did she write it? At a typewriter, writing and rewriting. It isn't the only thing which, starting from scratch, she has learned by doing. For instance, she started from less than scratch to study French. As she explains it, her sole equipment was: "I adored France." She also had a good ear. Out of that came, eventually, with the aid of a dictionary, the translations of three plays.

But some things still foil her, among them, spelling. "you should talk to my editor about my spelling," she says with a whoop of laughter.

A friend, overhearing an interviewer ask her about hobbies, jokingly suggested that one of hers was conversation. But she is not a chatter-chatter-Chatterton; she talks about her novel as professionally as if she had been at this kind of work all her life

She is not the sort of person usually interviewed by this arts reporter, whose beat tends to be cluttered with flat-heeled, stringy-haired woman authors who chew pencils. Miss Chatterton has dark wavy hair, a quick smile and an air that belongs to the stage rather than the study.

A Mature Book

Yet her novel is not what might be expected from theatre people. Recent examples of troupers' books have been flighty pieces loaded for laughs. "Homeward Borne" is serious, mature and worthwhile, and the idea of it will anger you as much as it angered the author.

The idea came out of her wartime work for a free Palestine. The story concerns a Vermont woman who adopts an 11-year-old refugee. The child is believed to be a Jew, and the badgered woman runs into difficulties with her family, her friends, and the ill-used, wretched boy himself. Miss Chatterton intended originally to make it a play. When she told the story to a novelist friend, he said there was too much for a play, and that it should be a novel.

"How do you write a novel?" she asked, and he answered: Just the way you told it.

She has appeared in many plays among them "The Rainbow," "Daddy Long Legs," "The Little Minister. The last of her movies done in this country was "Dod's-worth, 'in 1936.

People are dickering to turn the novel into a film, Miss Chatterton declares she will not have any flutter-eyed blonde in the role of Pax Lyttleton, who adopts the child; and instead of some slick Hollywood youngster for the boy, she wants a bewildered, conniving, suspicious refugee, a real one.

Housecleaning Days the Time For Quick Recipes

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, — (CP) —In these busy days of spring-housecleaning the average homemaker hasn't much time to think about whipping up fancy meals for the family.

If she's wise she'll keep a few easy-to-make recipes on hand which she can turn to at a moment's notice.

Here is Lemon Pudding which doesn't require much preparation and always turns out well.

Ingredients: one cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, one lemon, one cup of milk, two eggs.

Cream the butter, sugar and flour. Add the egg yolk, milk and the juice and grated rind of the lemon. Before putting into a buttered baking-dish fold in the two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in a pan of water for one-half hour.

This dessert has a custard bottom and a sponge top. It is delicious whether served hot or cold.

Egg-In-A-Nest—A novel way of serving eggs either as a luncheon or breakfast dish.

Separate the yolks from the whites. Pile the stiffly-beaten whites on slices of thinly buttered toast. In the centre of each put one of the egg yolks. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brown in oven.

Young travellers will be fascinated by the novel children's dishes now being used abroad C.N.R. dining-cars.

Made by Medalta Potteries, Medicine Hat, Alta., the dishes are in jonquil yellow and white with pictures destined to gladden the heart of any child. There is a gay giraffe being fed leave by a small boy and a picture of Mary and her little lamb.

To make it easier for Mother these pictures have been printed on the bottoms of the dishes — thus junior must eat his porridge right through to the last teaspoonful before he can see the whole of the picture.

Hints for Spring Housecleaning —A torn cotton blind may be repaired by dipping a piece of the same material into hot starch. Place the patch neatly on top of the tear and press with a hot iron.

If windows are very dirty wipe them with a damp cloth and then again with a cloth dipped in methylated spirit. No polishing is required.

When putting up curtains on small curtainrods, slip a thimble over the end of the rod. The curtain slips on easily and no threads are pulled.

A carpet which has been soiled with soot or shoe polish may be cleaned by dissolving a little fuller's earth in a mixture of equal parts cold water and ammonia. The mixture is applied with a soft cloth. It should be allowed to dry on the material and then all particles are removed with a fairly stiff brush.

Sheffield Seeks Canadian Nurses

SHEFFIELD, England. —(CP) —The fame of Canadian nurses has reached British ears.

Sheffield Regional Hospital board wants some of them. It has asked the ministry of health to consider arranging for students from Canada to train as nurses in Britian.

In its reply, the ministry explained that the reason why a large number of Canadian girls go to the United States to train as nurses is the higher rewards available there.

The ministry said it thought it doubtful whether such students could be encouraged to train in the United Kingdom. However, the suggestion was being considered by the nursing division of the Ministry of Health and the Sheffield board would be informed of any further developments.

Nurses Seeking Registration From Province

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP) — By unanimous vote the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario in convention Thursday authorized its board of directors to approach the Ontario Government to obtain the best legislation the province is prepared to enact in regard to control of the profession.

Miss Mary Millman of Toronto said "it seems likely that the only type of legislation we can obtain is similar to that of the medical and dental groups who have registration or licensing boards separate from their professional associations. We will ask for what we really want—that all who nurse must be registered and that registration as nurses and membership in the Registered Nurses Association be synonymous."

Earlie Rahno M. Beamish, president of the Asscition, said that registration should be the responsibility of the profession, not the government.

Speaking at the opening of the Association's silver anniversary convention, Miss Beamish said the Nurse Registration Act in Ontario should be revised to permit the profession to protect the public against improperly trained nurses.

Superintendent of nurses at Sarnia General Hospital, she said the only reason nurses accepted the existing act was because of "government procrastination and side-stepping of the issue." She remarked that the bill, originally introduced in 1906, was not passed until 16 years later.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Courts Woman For 20 Years Hasn't Popped the Question

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman 38 years of age, interested in a man of 40. We have lived in the same city all our lives and although he gives me to understand I am the only one, he has mentioned marriage. He has taken me to places of entertainment since we were young, but we were always accompanied by his mother or sisters.

Dorothy Dix

Now there is a man in my office who likes me and wants to call on me. Would you let him come and leave the other man to his mother and sisters?

D. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By all means accept the attention of the other man. If that doesn't make your silent sweetheart speak, nothing will, and it will give you at least the advantage of knowing where you stand and what you can depend upon.

No Hold On Man

To a woman there is nothing more aggravating than the pepless romance that begins in her high-school days and runs endlessly on through the years without leading to the altar. They are never actually engaged. The woman has no real hold upon the man, nothing definite to look forward to, yet he has absorbed her youth and kept other men away from her and narrowed her matrimonial chances down to him or nothing.

The man doesn't intend to do the girl an injustice. He doesn't realize he is being selfish. In the back of his head is the vague idea that sometime he will marry her, but he feels that there is no hurry about it. It is something he can do when he gets good and ready, and in the meantime the situation is most satisfactory to him.

It doesn't even occur to the man that the girl is wasting her youth and the freshness thereof and eating out her heart longing for the home and the husband and the children that belong to her.

There is only one thing to do in such a case, and that is to jolt the slothful lover awake. The woman has become a habit with the man of which he cannot break himself, and she must break it either by going away and letting him realize how much he misses her and how necessary she is to his happiness, or else by setting up a rival and scaring him to death about losing her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Please tell me how to bring up my children so that they can get along with people. I realize its importance because I don't know how to do it myself.

PRUDENCE.

ANSWER: The art of getting along with people is something that can only be learned by practice, and that is why it is so important that children should be associated with other children at the earliest possible moment. Children reared by themselves are nearly always shy, suppressed, selfish, antisocial, get queer ways and lack the ability to adapt themselves to others.

If schools taught nothing else but human adjustment, they would still be invaluable. For a child learns from its schoolmates what no adult can teach it. It gets its ego deflated. It has the angles in its disposition knocked off. It learns to give and take. It learns to play fair and be a good sport.

A mother can help teach her children how to get along with other people by making them share their toys with other youngsters even while they are in the nursery, and by respecting the rights of other babies. She can teach them not to be little bullies who run over all the other children. She can teach a boy sportsmanship; if the other children play his game he must play theirs, and he must not boast when he wins or whines when he loses. And she can breed in him good manners and graciousness of speech and behavior until they are just as much a part of him as his hair or his eyes.

But the main part in the education of every child in how to get along with others must come with daily contact with his fellow creatures. He must run with the pack instead of being a lone wolf.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 17, and am to be married in June. I feel that I am too young to marry, especially as my health is very poor. My finance refuses to wait any longer. He says that I have put him off too many times already. What shall I do?

BOBBY.

ANSWER: No girl of 17 is old enough to get married. She is unformed in mind and character and doesn't know what sort of husband she is going to want when she is grown up. And of this goes cate as you are. So don't ruin your life to please a silly youth who doesn't himself know the double when the girl is as delicatastrophe to you both he is trying to bring on your heads.

PRIME MINISTER AND GIRL—Prime Minister St. Laurent in a tour of Western Ontario visited Dresden, the scene of a flurry last year when some restaurants refused to serve negroes. Mr. St. Laurent is shown holding on his knee an eight-year-old negro girl, Doris Roper. He chatted with her about school. In an address the prime minister stressed that Dresden's early settlers "recognized the freedom and liberty of the human being." The original Uncle Tom, who inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe to write her famous book, is buried near Dresden.

Gay British Socks Make Hit In Overseas Trade

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON,—(CP)—A new line in British socks is making a hit in export markets.

They are decorated with birds, flowers, coats-of-arms and family crests. There are tartan socks, angler's socks with fish designs, socks with school crests and any other pattern requested. Price is high—£4 10s. ($13.95)—but they are selling like hot-cakes.

The socks are plain at foot and top with intermediate panel of colored striping supporting such patterns as the Scottish thistle.

Forty-two-year-old John Carr Doughty is the man behind this idea. He invented attachments to hand-driven knitting machines to carry any pattern desired.

Girls are taught to operate the machines and then work in their own homes. Mostly they are women with children who can't work in factories. They make around £1 ($3.10) a day.

2,000 Employees

Doughty now is employing more than 2,000 women but says:

"A year ago I employed only a few hands making specialized knitwear such as mittens for R.A.F. rear gunners—nothing for export. Home trade slackened. I decided to try the United States market."

Doughty took a long trip up the Amazon river photographing birds, flowers and butterflies to be incorporated in his sock designs in their exact colors.

His plan was successful. The first sample sock to reach New York met with instant success and orders poured in for a wide variety of patterns.

"One Chicago department store ordered some with the firm's trade mark on and gave them to all their male shop assistants to wear on duty," said Doughty.

Uplift Bustline Out of Favor With Fashion King

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Do American women today really look like a row of acorns?

This question has the clothing industry in a mild tizzy.

The accusation that women, by aping the body lines of movie stars, had become as much alike as so many unborn oak trees in their nutshells was made by Raymond Marinelli, a well known designer.

Marinelli said this sameness resulted because too many women had adopted "the universal, uplift bustline," whether or not it corresponded with their own contours.

But his charge drew an immediate and hated denial from a woman clothing designer—Cynthia.

"The upstanding bustline has already gone out," said Cynthia firmly. "And the acorn look is a thing of the past. It may have been popular a few years ago. But it has been replaced by the natural look.

"The trend now is for each woman to stress her own natural body line—to wear clothing with a natural shoulder, natural hip and natural bustline. And with no exaggeration anywhere."

Cynthia—lady designers, like male hairdressers, tend to regard last names as superfluous — also had nothing but scorn for Marinelli's contention that women would be more beautiful if they threw away their bras and girdles.

Not Well Groomed

"I can't imagine a girl feeling good without a bra and girdle—or looking good either," she said. "She would feel uncomfortable and ill at ease—definitely not well groomed.

"A man wants a woman individually attractive to him. He doesn't want others to stare at her because she's improperly dressed."

But Cynthia, how about Mr. Marinelli's statement that women would be 1,000 times more feminine without these undergown fashion aids?

"Don't you believe it!" said Cynthia. "A girl just doesn't look attractive if she doesn't wear her foundation garments. She looks untidy—definitely. And if she is on the heavy side, she wobbles when she walks."

Cynthia gave a blonde shudder of distaste as she added: "She is like a bowl full of quaking jelly. A girl should wear her girdle and bra everywhere except to the beach or in her own boudoir.

"I'd certainly hate to see a girl wear a fashionable strapless evening gown with nothing underneath. She'd be quite sloppy. And men wouldn't like her. Men are getting more and more and more conscious of feminine styles—there have been such drastic changes. And they want their girls to be well groomed.

Cynthia said it was nonsense, too, to think that foundation garments had compressed all women into a single standard shape.

"Your modern day bras and girdles don't change the figure to that extent," she said sternly. "They just control it. And they come in hundreds of different styles, shapes and sizes."

And then Cynthia gave her clincher: "Statistics show that 80 per cent of girls 15 years of age or over do wear foundation garments. That's four out of five.

What's Right

The husband of a couple you see is often out of town.

WRONG WAY: Even though you would certainly have the husband to dinner if his wife were out of town, feel it isn't necessary to do the same thing for the wife.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that the wife would appreciate an invitation to dinner in her husband's absence, as much as he would if she were out of town.

Careful Planning Required By Style-conscious Women

By DOROTHY WADDINGTON

PARIS, —(Reuters)— Opening of the buds on the horse chestnut trees which line the Champs-Elysees is the signal for every Parisienne to think of her spring wardrobe.

And for the traditionally smart Parisienne, this is indeed a carefully planned venture. In all budget groups, the new spring wardrobe consists of one of possibly two dresses and a suit or a coat depending on the last season's purchase.

Parisian women fall roughly into three shopping groups.

The first is "chateau madame"; next there is the housewife and finally there is the working girl. Here is how each goes about it.

Chateau madame dresses at one of the top (hautecouture) fashion houses. Although a steady client of one house, she will undoubtedly first do the rounds of all the top collections.

Then, in the setting of luxurious grey carpets and crystal chandeliers she makes her choice of the best which Paris dressmakers have to offer. She generally buys her suits in one house and her evening clothes in another.

The housewife: She starts her shopping with visits to as many collections as she can get invitations for.

For her, to get an invitation becomes something of a problem and it is first a matter of calling upon all her friends who might have an acquaintance in the fashion house.

Once inside, each line she sees at the collection has to be applied to her last year's wardrobe —the black dress which can be brought up to date with white organdy cuffs; last year's hems that must be shortened this year.

"Little Dressmaker"

Combining ideas from the collections and a good fashion magazine, she arrives at roughly the style she wants. The next step is a visit to her "little dressmaker."

By taking the sleeve from one dress seen at Faith's, perhaps the corsage of another at Dior's and still another line from a dress seen at Piquet's a new design is made up. The finished product is always a "personal one, and the cost about 4,000 to 12,000 francs (roughly $12 to $36).

These "little dressmakers" who serve the not-so-rich, are a group by themselves. Working in tiny appartments or with dummies set up in the corner of their salons, they turn out beautiful examples of French workmanship.

The working girl: Hers is a completely different problem. The time factor is important and she spends precious time reading her favorite fashion magazines.

The French magazines carefully and thoroughly analyzes all the new lines. These magazines, coupled with the complete reports of the collections in the newspapers, act as her personal fashion service.

Next she starts to look at small stores which carry ready-made dresses. The piece goods department receives considerable attention, too—with a view to a new blouse made to order, or possibly a skirt.

The average salary of a secretary is about 18,000 francs or $22.50 a month. The purchase of the smallest article is tremendously important. A tailor-made blouse, for example, will cost her about 1,200 francs (about $3.50) at a department store.

And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest at last.
—Ever remembered by brother Larry.

HAWKINS—In loving memory of a dear husband, Harold Hawkins, who passed away April 28th, 1948.

In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Sadly missed by wife and children.

HAWKINS—In loving memory of Harold Hawkins, who passed away, April 28, 1948.

Are so pleasant to recall;
He had a loving word for each
And died beloved by all.
—Always remembered by sister Marguerite.

WATKINS—In loving memory of our daddy, Bill Watkins, who died suddenly April 28, 1946.

McLEAN—In loving memory of Mrs. John McLean, who died April 25, 1942.

Please, God, just let him know,
That we down here do not forget,
We love and miss him so.
—Always remembered by Mother, sisters and brothers.

Shorter Trade Route Links Yukon To Vancouver

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—By the fall of 1951, a new and shorter trade route linking Vancouver, the Yukon and Alaska will in all likelihood be functioning.

Already in the Cariboo district of British Columbia's interior there is intense activity as the Pacific Great Eastern, a railway that has run for 38 years from nowhere to nowhere, nears completion.

Chief Engineer J. M. Stewart, of the PGE, reported after an inspection trip that rapid settlement and industrial development is taking place between Quesnel and Prince George, in anticipation of extension of the PGE. Sawmills, planing mills and other small industrial plants are taking up sites along the right of way.

The PGE, owned by the British Columbia government now is pushing the last 80 miles north from Quesnel to Prince George, about 500 miles north of Vancouver. There it will link with the Canadian National Railways main line from Prince Rupert to Edmonton.

Highway Built

Also nearing completion is the new John Hart Highway, 244 miles long, to connect Prince George and Dawson Creek. It is expected to be serviceable by the fall of 1951.

The Alaska Highway now runs through Dawson Creek.

The new rail-truck route may alter the whole Yukon and Alaska supply picture. From Vancouver it will be 924 miles shorter than the only existing land route to Alaska—via Edmonton and the Alaska Highway.

The new route should not only save two or three days' time in transit but, traffic men predict, it will result in lower rates for Vancouver and Seattle shippers supplying the far-north country.

Transport System

Railroad cars will be loaded at Vancouver, Seattle or other Pacific northwest points, moved by scow from Vancouver to Squamish, 50 miles from here where the PGE begins, and travel over the PGE through the Cariboo to Prince George.

Then cargoes will be moved to PGE trucks for shipment to Dawson Creek, the Yukon and Alaska.

From Vancouver to Fairbanks via Prince George is 2,178 miles, via Edmonton, 3,102 miles.

Further in the future is a plan to extend the PGE the remaining 40 miles from Squamish to Vancouver.

Still further ahead is the dream of completing the PGE to Alaska, 1,400 miles of track costing an estimated $600,000,000.

The PGE was begun in 1912. It now carries a debt of $121,000,000.

Euler Plans Fight Cut Oleo Sales Tax

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — The man who initiated action to make margarine legal in Canada Thursday made the first move to lop off the eight per cent sales tax on the butter substitute.

Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) gave notice in the Senate that he will introduce a motion to that effect at a later date.

He said he hoped that the Senate could consider accepting the motion which would express the Chamber's opinion that margarine be classified among those foods on which the sales tax is eliminated.

FBI Agent Complains SS Films 'Horrible'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (AP)—A federal agent of 35 years' experience says most pictures about the Secret Service are "horrible."

The critic is Arthur F. Grube, a short, spare man with penetrating blue eyes. Retired from the United States Secret Service in 1947, he now is acting as technical adviser on "Mr. 880." It will be a different kind of picture about the U.S. government service—one with no bloodshed.

"It's much closer to the actual truth," observed Grube. "Why, in all my years with the service, I only shot a man once, and that was in the foot. After he had torn my coat to shreds and kicked me in the face, I had to resort to my gun.

"Most pictures about the Secret Service are the blood-and-thunder type and most of them are horrible. I think it gives the public a distorted view. They either show us as supermen, which we are not, or brutal killers, which we are not.

No Gun-Play

"The service has a strict policy against being careless with a gun. We prefer to bring them in alive and whole.

"I have found that civil treatment brings the best results. As you can see, I'm a little guy. I have brought in many big fellows peacefully merely by being nice to them. The tough-guy policy only makes them clam up. I can understand that; if someone ordered me to talk, I'd be even more determined not to."

Capsule Review

"The Gunfighter" proves the adage that there's nothing so good as a good Western. This one keeps the audience in suspense without resorting to awning scenery, Indians or the U.S. Cavalry. It's the story of a few hours in the life of a noted outlaw, played with fine talent by Gregory Peck. Rousing drama.

Says Surplus Food Given Away Without Approval

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP). — A suggestion that surplus food commodities obtained through operations of government price support boards are given away without proper parliamentary approval was made Thursday by Watson Sellar, auditor-general.

Appearing before the House Public Accounts Committee, Mr. Sellar, also one of the auditors of United Nations accounts, noted certain Canadian contributions of commodities to foreign relief agencies last year.

For his research, he used two operations by the prices support boards of agricultural and fisheries products in which commodities valued in excess of $1,500,000 were disposed of as gifts.

He suggested the committee consider the advisability of regulating such disposals of commodities bought with funds of the public treasury.

Control Impaired

"Until a formula is enunciated to regulate practices, parliamentary control over the public purse is impaired," he said.

He referred to gifts of beans and canned fish to Palestine relief, canned fish to Canadian institutions, and processed apples to the British Ministry of Food, Canadian hospitals and government departments administering institutions, such as Veterans Affairs and service department hospitals.

Mr. Sellar suggested that this disposition of commodities acquired in price support operations could have an undesirable effect on ordinary marketing and that it was not specifically authorized by parliament, which controls all public expenditures.

He suggested no other substantial contributions should be made without specific parliamentary sanction and particulars of all such transfers of commodities should be reported to parliament.

Disposals of surpluses to government departments should be paid for at value, at said, adding he felt, personally, that unsalable surpluses should be consumed in Canada rather than abroad, if they must be given away. The auditor-general stressed that his office was concerned only with finding the proper parliamentary authority for every expenditure.

11 Dead, 35 Badly Hurt As Tornadoes Hit Oklahoma And Texas

More Twisters Threaten Stricken Area As Citizens Survey Wreckage, Hail And Wind Swell Damage Toll

By The Associated Press

Eleven persons—possibly more—died as savage tornadoes ripped over Oklahoma and West Texas Friday. The threat of more black funnels hung in leaden skies over both states. A weather expert said conditions over the stricken areas are "just right" 'for more twisters. Some 35 persons were injured severely by the wrecking blasts of twisters. In Texas, hail added its bombardment to the wind and swelled the damage toll.

Apparently the town which took the worst battering was Holdenville, in east central Oklahoma. The American Red Cross reported five dead and 100 injured there. But reporters said many persons had been taken to hospitals with only minor injuries.

Every House Damaged

Deputy Sheriff Hughes Martin of Holdenville said "they say nearly every house in the northeast section is damaged or destroyed. Many persons are hurt."

Troopers at Holdenville reported the wind cut a swath of destruction six blocks wide and 18 blocks long in the northeast section. All power lines and some telephone lines were reported down.

Three members of one family died in the wreckage of their crumpled home at Clyde, Tex., 16 miles east of Abilene. At least five other persons were injured.

Eight miles east of Clyde another twister killed an elderly man and his wife at their home at Baird.

Four miles south of Hobart, Okla., another dipped down, smashed into a farm community and killed a farmer and hurt his wife.

At Abilene, lightning hit a Pampa, Tex., baseball player in a West Texas-New Mexico League night baseball game. The park lights suddenly went out and when they came on, Pampa catcher Jim Martin was stretched on the ground. A doctor decided he was hit by the bolt. Martin was revived by artificial respiration.

At Sentinel, Okla., Cy Yates, 63, assistant bank cashier, heard a twister was approaching. He telephoned his wife, warned her to get into a storm cellar, then collapsed and died.

Ironically, the storms by-passed his Oklahoma town.

Body Discovered In Field, Hunt Slayer

MONTREAL, April 29—(CP)—Police today embarked on a hunt for the slayer of an unidentified man whose battered body was found in a narrow 25-foot-deep well in a deserted east-end field.

"There is not much doubt it is murder," Detective Capt. William Fitzpatrick said.

The body was that of a man of about 25 years old, slight of build with reddish hair. He was shabbily dressed in an old green-and-white wind-breaker, brown slacks, white shirt, black shoes and yellow socks.

Police said the man had apparently died of multiple head wounds, inflicted with a knife or metal tool.

Police at first believed the man had committed suicide because a rope was bound tightly around his neck. Medical examination, however, showed other marks of violence.

At least five stab wounds were found on the man's head and the cuts were so deep that the skull was split open.

The man was thought to have been dead for two days when the body was found.

Two boys, Gerald Talbot, 13, and Jean-Marc Dube, 11, made the discovery while playing.

Douks Leaving Prison-Bound

NELSON, B.C., April 29 (CP)—The Doukhobors are leaving British Columbia, but the exodus is not exactly what police would like to see.

Within 30 days 18 female members of the Sons of Freedom sect will be lodged in Kingston Penitentiary. They were part of the 100-odd sect members arrested within the last week for nude parading.

Three-year prison terms Friday were handed out in quick trials marked by strippings in the crowded courtroom. The Hall of Justice, like the tiny Nelson jail, bulged after a week of burnings and mass disrobing at Krestova, a Sons' village 23 miles west of here.

Members of the 5,000-strong orthodox Doukhobor sect joined with citizens of this West Kootenay valley, 250 miles east of Vancouver, to protest the outbreaks. The Nelson Board of Trade urged more prison space and special assizes so that "speedy justice can be rendered."

Trout Fishermen Out At Midnight

Although the dam went out recently at Atwell's mill in Millbrook, a deep hole below the break was ringed with more than 20 trout fishermen after the hands on the post office clock passed midnight.

By 2 a.m. two 16-year-old village lads, Teddy Skitch and Arnold Brackenridge, had taken their legal limit of 15 speckles apiece. They, like everyone else, used worms. Citizens who live on the village's main street say that car traffic around and through Millbrook was very brisk through the night and that there were many trying their luck at 10 a.m. today.

Take Anything Now

HARTFORD, Conn., April 29—(AP)—You no longer have to have teeth to join the United States Navy. "Two good jaws with adequate muscles is all that's required and the Navy will supply the plates," said Chief Petty Officer Clany, Messier of the local Navy recruiting station, in announcing new physical standards for enlistment. Formerly, 18 "serviceable" teeth without a cavity were required.

Drew Suggests Commission To Cut Costs

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)—The Progressive Conservative party has placed before the Commons a proposal for establishment of a royal commission to show the government how to cut costs.

The suggestion, stirring a vigorous debate, came from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, as he capped a 90-minute speech Friday by moving that a commission be set up with power to make recommendations to:

1. Reduce public expenditure to the lowest point consistent with efficiency.
2. Eliminate duplication of over-lapping services.
3. Improve the general efficiency of government and assure the civil service of full recognition of its responsibilities.
4. Consolidate all public services and departmental activities of a similar nature.

Vote Next Week

The motion will come to a vote next week.

The debate drew comment from Prime Minister St. Laurent, Finance Minister Abbott, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), J. M. MacDonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata), Rodney Adamson (PC-York West), L. P. Picard (L-Bellechasse) Ross hTatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) and Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East).

In the early stages, Mr. St. Laurent said the government will investigate the flood situation in Manitoba to decide whether federal aid will be given.

Emphasize Citizenship

He also disclosed that advantages and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship will be emphasized in Canadian school May 23, the date on which school ordinarily mark Empire Day.

Mr. Drew, launching his commission-seeking motion, charged the government with waste, extravagance, duplication of services and general "inefficiency." The type of "big" government which had emerged from the war could be "bad and dangerous" unless there was efficient supervision of government spending.

He suggested his proposed Royal Commission survey might follow the form of the Hoover commission investigation in the United States, where it was estimated $5,000,000,000 might be saved. A similar study might save $500,000,000 a year for Canada.

Change That Clock!

Remember, tonight's the time to put the clock forward an hour onto Daylight Saving Time.

It'll be a little harder to get up at 7 or 8 a.m. Monday before the streets are properly aired, but by that time the enjoyment of an extra hour of daylight Sunday evening and the promise of even longer evenings will surely counteract any reluctance on Monday morning.

UN Without Russia Plan Rejected Throughout World

By The Canadian Press

Former President Herbert Hoover's proposal that the United Nations be revamped without Russia gained little approval throughout the world, a survey showed today.

Most responsible government officials refrained from comment.

At Lake Success, N.Y., Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a United States delegate to the U.N., said she believed "in doing the best we can with the U.N. as it is organized." Hoover's speech, she asserted, advocated "the surest way to war."

Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo said the U.N., with Russia in it, is the "only workable bridge that we have today between the two hostile camps on either side of the chasm."

Vladimir Houdek, permanent delegate from Communist Czechoslovakia, said the Hoover plan was not the best way to obtain world peace. He said the Russian-bloc countries, who have been boycotting the U.N. over the question of Chinese Nationalist representation, are not going to "quit the U.N."

Houdek's statement at a press conference was the first reaction from one of the countries which Hoover's proposal would exclude.

T. F. Tsiang, chief delegate of Nationalist China, said the world "is not quite ready for such a drastic proposal, but the pressure of world events will eventually drive us to accept Mr. Hoover's proposal."

In Washington, President Truman would not comment. Reaction in other Washington quarters was mixed.

Moscow has not commented on Hoover's suggestion.

British diplomatic sources said the idea "would not be looked on favorably" in that country. They said the U.N. still serves a useful purpose as a point of contact among all countries.

The French foreign office decided not to comment.

Empty Words No Use To Canadians

Raps Dr. Endicott For Libelling Homeland To Russia

MONTREAL, April 29—(CP)—The western nations must not be fooled by any "phony peace overtures" from the Russians, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

"We must refuse to be led astray by empty words of those who talk of peace but who make no other proposal for safeguarding it except to recommend that we unilaterally disarm," he said in an address prepared for delivery to the Reform Club. He added:

"We must not be fooled, ever, by any phony peace overtures."

Mr Pearson criticized Dr. James Endicott, head of the Canadian Peace Congress, for statements he made while on a trip to Russia last month.

He read excerpts from Moscow newspapers quoting Dr. Endicott as saying:

1. While Moscow represents peace, in Canada airfields and military bases were being built instead of apartment houses and "dirty booklets praise the future war."
2. If a Canadian refers to Russia "in a positive manner" in his home, the police may drive him into the street and seal off his apartment.

Beneath Contehpt

"A man who, professing motives and high ideals, goes amongst strangers and maligns his country with this kind of falsehood is beneath contempt," said Mr. Pearson. "In a Communist society, he would also be beneath the ground."

Mr. Pearson said the head of Russia's internal security program—Lavrenti Beria—recently had announced a program of action for Communists, which was one of "stirring up trouble in this country and elsewhere in the Western world."

"It is being carried out," he said, "in many ways—by the Communist, Communist parties in all the Western states, and often by secret agents, as we have seen in our own country."

Belgian House Now Dissolved

BRUSSELS, April 29 — (AP)—The Belgian Parliament was dissolved today in an attempt to solve the crisis over the future of exiled King Leopold.

Caretaker Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens told the Belgian House of Representatives the decree dissolving Parliament has been signed by Regent Prince Charles and himself as Prime Minister in charge.

Elections automatically will follow within 40 days. They will be fought on the clear-cut issue of whether or not Leopold should return to the throne from which he has been barred since 1945.

The dissolution followed weeks of weary negotiations by Belgium's three political parties — the Catholic Social Christians seeking Leopold's return, and the Socialists and Liberals, who finally had agreed conditionally to Leopold's return if he assigned his royal powers to his son, Crown Prince Baudouin, and then left the country. The Social Christians wanted the King to remain in the country.

Negotiations over the compromise were reported to have collapsed Friday because of Liberal demands that Premier-designate Paul Van Zeeland be replaced by the Minister of Economic Affairs Jean Duvierusaert.

Not Very Welcome

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday he couldn't imagine that Britain's Dean of Canterbury "would be welcomed by any great number of Canadians other than Communists and their friends" if he visits this country. Mr. Pearson was asked by Frank Lennard (PC-Wentworth) if the dean—"The Red Dean"—is going to visit Canada in May. Mr. Pearson said he had no knowledge of the visit.

THE WESTERN ALLIES HAVE definitely announced that they would stand their ground in West Berlin in the face of a threatened May invasion of 500,000 Communists from the Soviet sector. The two pictures above show recent scenes taken in the western section. MP's, TOP, with fixed bayonets form a "platoon skirmish line" used to clear streets during rioting and West sector police LOWER practice rounding up rioters in a very realistic exercise.

Halt Dumping MacArthur Pledges Pearson

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday he has let Gen. Douglas MacArthur know of an "embarrassment" that arose from something the general told him in Tokyo about Japanese trading practices.

The issue came up in the Commons Committee on External Affairs when G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) said a firm in his riding has had to lay off 60 employees because of dumping of Japanese goods.

He contrasted this with Mr. Pearson's statement on his return from Asia some time ago that the Japanese have promised not to engage in dumping and trading chicanery as they did before the war.

Quoting General

Mr. Pearson said he had said then he was quoting Gen. MacArthur, No. 1 man in Japan, and that he had said he hoped the general was right.

He was a "little embarrassed" that about the same time protests started welling up over the dumping of cheap Japanese shirts in Canada.

The department of external affairs had wired Canada's representative in Tokyo and asked him to remind Gen. MacArthur of his statement. This had been done. The reply said the allied occupation authorities were "disturbed" over the information and that they would "take the necessary action."

Canada, at the same time, invoked anti-dumping laws against the goods.

Watching Ontario For Trio Of Killers

BOSTON, April 29 (AP)—A man who was found apparently beaten to death in a hotel washroom Friday was still unidentified today and police said three men sought for questioning may have fled into Ontario.

Buffalo police reported reported a Massachusetts-registered sedan went through customs Friday night. They said one of three men in the car answered a description of the wanted trio.

The victim was evidently clubbed with a shower stool in the Hotel Essex.

Police said three men, two in navy uniforms and the third in army clothes, were seen leaving the washroom by Richard Zellman, a honeymooner.

LONDON (Rueters)—Arsenal defeated Liverpool 2-0 today in the football cup final at Wembley Stadium.

Seven Badly Burned Men Rescued In Mine Blast

STELLARTON, N.S., April 29—(CP)—The Allan shaft coal mine here was sealed off with sand and timber today in an effort to check a raging fire which Friday threatened the lives of seven trapped miners.

Five of the seven were seriously burned in the blast that set off the fire. The other two—the last to be brought out after the draegermen crews went into the depths—suffered severe shock.

As anxious relatives swarmed around the pit head the survivors came up—their clothes ripped and burned and their flesh seared by the terrific blast of unknown origin at the 1,200-foot level.

Hospital authorities said their condition was too critical to permit them to be interviewed.

First reports of the explosion and the rescue of the miners were confused.

But this appeared to be the story: the seven were part of a 20-man crew working in the explosion area at the time. After the blast, four managed to get to the surface by themselves; another tried to make it alone and collapsed and had to be assisted by rescuers; the other two lay for almost two hours before being helped out by the masked draegermen.

Pit Sealed

After the seven men and four pit horses had been brought to safety, Acadia Coal Company officials ordered the pit sealed — a move to smother the fire. After the pit cools, perhaps in three or maybe eight weeks—the workings will be reopened.

Most seriously injured was James Johnston, Stellarton town councillor. Badly burned were George Porter, Bert Vacheresse, Eugene Davidson and Brenton Yuill. Suffering shock were William Petelka and N. B. Dorrington.

Some of the rescue workers went into the mine bare face — without the masks and oxygen tanks carried by the draegermen —after the masked rescue workers reported flames were not severe in the area of the trapped men.

Farm Rumbles Sinks 65 Feet

ESPANOLA, April 29 (CP) — Leo Guglyk, 68, and his wife said Friday they are in fear of their lives after an unexplained sinking of the soil on the little farm they carved out of the wilderness here 34 years ago. The Ukrainian couple are afraid the earth will swallow them.

During the past five weeks almost all the 20 acres which they cleared from the bush has sunk, the cave-in edging within 25 yards of their house near the Spanish River 30 miles west of Sudbury. The earth sank as much as 65 feet, but the nearby riverbank showed no changes.

"We haven't slept a wink in the last month and we are so worried we can't eat," said Mrs. Guglyk Friday night. "There is still the sound of rumbling and the earth shakes. Every day the cracks are bigger and nearer the house."

Officials of the Lands and Forests Department said they believe the cave-in results from an underground stream joining the Spanish River on the farm property. They have advised the old couple to vacate their home.

Things Started Whirling House Vanishes In Flash

By HOWARD COWAN.

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., April 29 (AP)—"Things started whirling around, and when I came to, the house just wasn't there anymore."

That's the way 17-year-old Bobby Brittain described the black funnel which laid waste a residential area some six blocks wide and 17 blocks long Friday night, killing at least four persons in this town of 7,000.

Brittain and six other members of his family huddled on the floor of their farm home as the black cloud hit.

"It was about ten minutes past seven," Bobby said, "we all laid down as flat as we could, then things started whirling. We were scattered all around. Dad was hurt worse. My mother found him."

Jess Lee, Holdenville barber, stood by the shambles that had been his home. The roof was gone and the plaster was torn from the three walls left standing. A blood-soaked bandage was patched over his eye.

"I don't know how we came out alive," he said. "I threw the wife and my daughter down on the floor, put a mattress on top of them, and I sat on it."

Two of the victims—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dowdy—were not found until well past midnight.

The elderly couples' home was in a four-block area swept absolutely clean of all trees, houses and utility poles.

Their bodies were found under a heap of debris—dead chickens, mattresses, baby shoes, china bric-a-brac and a mud-splattered bedspread.

Manitoba Has Worst Flood In 125 Years

Government Considers Federal Aid As Red Continues Rise

WINNIPEG, April 29—(CP) — Water - logged southern Manitoba today braced itself for what may be the highest flood level in 125 years. Already at Emerson, where the Red river enters Canada on its downstream course towards Lake Winnipeg, the Reading has topped that recorded in the 1897 disaster. Not since the legendary flood of 1826 has there been so much water in the valley.

Fed by the melting of an unseasonable spring snowstorm, the Red rose to 46 feet above datum. The figure is an inch about the 1897 high and nearly two feet above the 1948 peak.

The rise was general as far north as Winnipeg, 60 miles away. The all-out blow was expected Sunday.

As damage mounted in the valley's weeks-long battle with the relentless Red, the federal government promised to investigate the possibility of federal aid.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons an inquiry will decide what action, if any, will be taken.

National Emergency

His statement followed a telegram from Mayor Harry Shewman of Morris, Man., halfway along the river's path from the border to Winnipeg.

The telegram said damage in that area was about $1,000,000 and termed the situation a "national emergency."

Premier Campbell said in an interview it is too early to decide whether a state of national emergency should be declared.

Possibility of a provincial request for federal aid would depend on "extent of the flood damage caused and reports of the various officials handling the situation."

It was on ground of national emergency that the dominion in 1948 moved in to help victims of the Fraser Valley floods in British Columbia. Then federal aid exceeded $9,000,000.

Half-submerged St. Jean Baptiste Friday was surrounded by water. There and at Morris, 37

Keeping Vigil For Lost Ship

MILFORD HAVEN, Pembrokeshire, England, April 29 (Reuters)—Relatives of 13 men missing in the fishing trawler Milford Viscount, once given up for lost, today kept constant vigil by radio sets tuned to the vessel's wavelength.

Hope for the ship's safety rose again when an amateur listener picked up a faint call "here is Milford Viscount."

The trawler has been missing for 13 days.

Three RAF planes took off from Leuchars, Scotland, today to join the destroyer Wizard and five Milford Haven trawlers now searching for the missing vessel in the Atlantic, 360 miles off southwest Ireland.

Have Casey Jones Day For Hotshot Engineer

JACKSON, Tenn., April 29 — (AP)—One million, six hundred thousand pictures of the hero of the famous railroad wreck went on sale here today.

For this is "Casey Jones Day" in Tennessee. And Casey, that fabulous engineer, is on a new three-cent stamp. It honors the country's railroad engineers — with Casey as their symbol.

Casey Jones was the hotshot engineer who died in the wreck of the "Cannonball Express" near Vaughn, Miss., 50 years ago Monday.

Casey was the only victim and died because he stuck to his engine in a vain effort to brake it before the crash.

Business News Better, Bargain Hunting

By FRANK KAPLAN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The 10-month-old bull market on security market was swamped by profit-taking sales this week but later support pulled average price levels close to the previous week's peaks.

Investors became even more selective than in recent weeks in their hunt for bargains. Some observers say that the heavy profit-taking in the face of improved business news is paving the way for a resumption of the upswing that began last June.

Others believe that there are still many investors waiting to take their profits and get out of the market. They maintain this week's comparatively narrow price movements are signs of preparation for a sell-off.

In any case, business news is better. Quarterly earnings reports of many companies show improvement. The many annual meetings in recent weeks have indicated optimism on the part of business.

Caution is the current market watchword.

Watched Carefully

The Wall Street Journal, in its weekly market appraisal, quotes one New York broker as saying: "business conditions are analyzed and re-analyzed every 24 hours. Signs of technical weakness are promptly noted, and any tendency of speculative excesses to soar on flights of imagination is promptly scotched."

The Journal's comment: "This has helped to keep the market on an even keel. . ."

In New York The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the week Friday at 76.1, a drop of .1 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets reflected New York. On the whole, average price changes were slight. Low-priced and the more highly speculative mining stocks came in for considerable attention. Quarterly earnings as announced at annual meetings of some leaders in the mining industry showed improvement and indications of further betterment.

In Toronto, the industrial index showed a loss of .39 from the previous Friday. Late selling pushed golds down 1.20 and base metals .47. Western oils held firm rising 60. Volume for the five days was 10,287,000 shares, compared with 11,552,000 shares the previous week.

Grain markets brightened from the previous Friday. In Chicago, May corn and wheat were strong gainers and oats firmed. In Winnipeg, May oats and barley led the advance while rye held steady.

Rosary Crusade Purpose Cited

Rev. Father Patrick Peyton, C.S.C., director of the Family Rosary Crusade the purpose of which is to give fresh impetus to family prayer, addressed a largely attended general meeting in the auditorium of the nurses residence of St. Joseph's Hospital Friday night.

A family rosary rally is being planned for Sunday May 14. Details of organization are under the direction of Rev. J. P. Collins of Cobourg, Rev. Leo Rishea of Wooler and Dr. F. M. Grant of the Sacred Heart Church, Peterborough. Diocesan director is Monsignor McAuley of Lindsay.

Speaking at the priests' conference in the afternoon, Bishop Berry said family prayer touched the very nerve of family life.

"There is a great need today to respond to Christ's invitation to pray. Prayer reaches around and beyond the world. This particular rosary crusade will prove a blessing of God on the individual, the family, the state and the world," Bishop Berry said.

To Return Fundamentals

Father Peyton told the parents and others Friday night that "the rosary was a treasure from the fireside of our grandparents. This crusade is intended to put Christian fundamentals back into the home."

Father Peyton was accompanied to Peterborough by Rev. Francis Woods of Schenectady, N.Y. In the afternoon he spoke to separate assemblies of priests of the southern deanery of the diocese of Peterborough, and later to Sisters of St. Joseph and lay teachers, and finally the meeting of people from the local parishes at night.

and 30 miles south of here, more families were prepared to evacuate. Water at Letellier, nine miles nort hof Emerson, lapped a few inches from the top of a 200-foot dike which holds the river back from the main part of town.

In Winnipeg the gauge read 22 feet at midnight—1.4 feet below the 1948 level.

Meanwhile Emerson was beginning to total up its losses. Seed-grain losses were estimated at $20,000; livestock losses and damage to flooded stores and homes was expected to amount to many times that figure.

Official estimates said more than 100 women and children from 45 families had fled.

The river at Morris rose another eight inches Friday, bringing water within inches of a red-lined sign marked "1948." Water swelled back from a sunken approach road, covering part of the main street. Buildings nearest the edge of the town were up to their windows in filthy water.

Pipe Line Battle Entering A New Phase

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)—The parliamentary battle on pipe lines will move into a new phase Monday.

The Commons committee on railways Friday completed study of bills incorporating the Alberta Natural Gas Company and Prairie Transmission Lines Limited. If granted dominion incorporation, the companies plan to apply for permission to build oil and natural gas pipe lines from Alberta fields to the west coast.

The bills have been before parliament for two sessions and have run into heavy opposition because there has been no assurance from the companies that they will follow an all-Canadian route with their lines and serve British Columbia before crossing into the United States.

In committee, the two companies again declined to give any undertaking they will follow an all-Canadian route. Both said they are prepared to follow any route they are directed to follow by the board of transport commissioners, the government-appointed body which has been given jurisdiction over such matters.

The bills now return to the Commons and will be subject to clause-by-clause study. If they get by that stage they will then come up for third reading and will be sent to the Senate for three readings there.

Both companies agreed that the Canadian market now is too small to support the cost of a pipe line and that sales in American centres would be necessary to make the project economically feasible.

Mayor Of Toronto Denies Cabinet Job

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Friday night denied rumors that he is slated for a position in the Ontario Cabinet. Published reports Friday were that Mayor McCallum might become either Minister of Municipal Affairs or Minister of Welfare in a provincial cabinet shuffle.

"I would like to make it clear that I hope to retire at the end of the year," the Mayor said. "I am going to finish my term as Mayor. If conditions are all right at that time I intend to step down. If I am still needed I may stay on. . ."

Drew Suggests

Partial Answers

Under present methods of handling financial estimates, parliament and the people got only partial answers as to what the money was used for and what it was to be spent on.

Mr. Abbott met Mr. Drew's charges with this blunt denial: "In my judgment, there is no duplication, waste and extravagance."

He felt it was the primary function of parliament, and particularly of the opposition, to perform the very duties Mr. Drew suggested be performed by a commission. He wouldn't say there wasn't room for improved efficiency, but efforts were being made, with success, to increase efficiency.

Mr. Drew said under present methods of handling financial estimates parliament and the taxpayers only got partial answers as to what the money was used for and what it was spent on. Even the Auditor-General, Watson Sellar, was concerned and had recommended an improvement in accounting methods.

Mr. Drew mentioned the Mainguy investigation into administration of Canada's navy and the investigation of administration of the National Film Board by a private firm of management consultants. These had shown a need for considerable tightening up and they were only two arms of the government service.

Big P. R. Corps

The government employed a corps of 366 public relations employees, most of them spent most of their time "turning out propaganda for their ministers." This cost $1,275,508 in salaries alone and probably "millions more."

Mr. Drew criticized Defence Minister Claxton for refusing to allow his estimates to go before a committee. The United States "which is primarily responsible for the defence of freedom today" had given out all but the most secret defence estimates information and if the United States could do it, so could Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Drew's commission proposal, made to him by letter before the Easter recess, had received "very careful" cabinet consideration. But it had been felt that parliament—not correspondence—was the proper place for such a discussion.

14,500 Strikers To Work Monday

LONDON, April 29—(Reuters)—London's 11-day dock strike virtually ended today when 2,000 key representatives of the 14,500 strikers decided to resume work Monday on 205 ships now idle.

The men warned, however, that there would be an "immediate and extended" resumption of the stoppage should three of their leaders be refused work.

Expulsion of the three from the Transport and General Workers Union for their part in the British dock strike last summer in support of striking Canadian seamen fired off the present strike April 19.

Under union rule British dockers may not work alongside nonticket holders, and today's result anticipated any attempt to layoff the three expelled men.

After the back-to-work decision the unofficial port workers committee leading the strike called on the government to investigate the administration of the National Dock Labor Board (representing employers and unions) when it conducts its promised inquiry into the docks situation.

Resort Owners Must Give Better Value

The Kawartha tourist industry will have to "knuckle down" to business this year. That is the warning to resort operators passed on by Gilbert Watson, of Lindsay, former president of the Tourist Resorts Association of Ontario.

He said the resort owner would have to give the tourist "more for his dollar, and quit gypping him for a a change."

A Kawartha resort owner himself, Mr. Watson predicted 1950 would be a crucial year for Ontario resort owners, and that "the people of Ontario are going to have to bend just a little bit farther over backwards if they are going to hold the trade."

He pointed out that though the provincial government was doing a good job, the final success or failure of the industry rested with individual operators.

Mr. Watson said many tourists thought they were being taken in by Ontario merchants, and the merchants and others will have to be "genuine in their efforts towards 'our Nell', or they're going to lose their market."

Logging Operators Refuse 17-Cent Boost

VANCOUVER, April 29 (CP)—Coast logging operators have rejected unions demands for a 17-cent-an-hour, across-the-board wage boost but are willing to grant some increases, a spokesman said Friday.

Robert Morrison, spokesman for Forest Industrial Relations, Limited, acting as bargaining agent for most of the operators, described the increase to be granted as equitable.

The 35,000 men employed are members of the International Woodworkers of America (CCL.)

Mr. Morrison said that operators are not seeking a return of the 48-hour week at straight time. Their proposal is to work 48 hours at time-and-a-half for eight hours. At present the average logger is making $12.24 a day.

Crucial Year Trade Predicted For Tourist

LINDSAY, April 29—The coming season was described as a crucial year for the tourist industry of Ontario by Gilbert Watson, past president of the Tourist industry of Ontario by Resorts Association of Ontario and a Kawartha resort owner, on his recent return from a tour centres in the U.S.

The Ontario operators were going to have to give the tourist more for his dollar, more courtesy and quit gypping him for a change.

If the American tourist was going to make vacationing in Canada a habit, the treatment he got was going to decide it.

Mr. Watson said the Ontario tourist industry had a tremendous amount of competition from the south and the people of Ontario were going to have to bend just a little bit further over backwards if they were going to hold the trade.

Many tourists coming to the Kawarthas still felt they were being gypped by some merchants, restaurants and lodge owners.

"It behoves the merchants and all others connected or affected by the industry to be quite genuine in their efforts towards 'Our Nell' or they're going to lose their market to other countries." Mr. Watson declared.

Mr. Watson said he found U.S. tourists complained they had to pay more for the identical items in their own home towns. They spoke well of courteous treatment they had received.

Particular reference was made to policemen and in one instance, Lindsay's force was mentioned. Mr. Watson appealed for a continuation of this courtesy on behalf of the tourist trade.

Mr. Watson said he was impressed with the work of the Department of Travel and Publicity, when he attended the annual conference at Niagara Falls.

Nurses' Homes Inadequate ORNA Meet Told

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — More than half the nurses' residences in Ontario are considered inadequate, Dorothy Riddell, inspector of training schools for nurses, told the annual meeting Friday of the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association.

The 63 nursing schools for undergraduate students are not only over crowded but "facilities for recreation are almost totally lacking, and there is little evidence of planned recreational program," she said.

Nettie Fidler, director of the Demonstration School of Nursing in Windsor, said the association will ask the Ontario Government to set up subsidized schools of nursing throughout the province to provide for a health-insurance plan which the association expects the province will introduce.

However, Acting Health Minister Goodfellow said the government has never given any consideration to a health-insurance plan.

Miss Fidler said the Ontario government already has subsidized building of many new hospitals and made possible additions to existing hospitals, they have not yet done enough to make sure nurses will be available to staff them

Disclose Ambiguity In Halifax Report

HALIFAX, April 29 (CP)—An official report of a fire that claimed eight lives here more than a year ago, made available Friday, disclosed an ambiguity in the original report carried on Canadian Press news wires at that time.

The original story reported that five of the dead "occupied" a single room. The official report showed that five of the dead were found in one room. One actually occupied the next room.

The pre-dawn fire, March 3, 1949, flashed through a two-storey double tenement on south-end Smith Street. There is no clue as to what turned over the oil stove believed to have caused the fire.

The dead: Mrs. Mary Keating, 45; her two daughters, Elsie, 16, and Margaret, 15; her son, Kenneth, nine; Peter Pemproke, 43; Albert Shaffelburg, 32; John Johnson, 46, and Dean Hartlin, 56. The bodies of the Keating family and Pembroke were found in one room; Pembroke, however, occupied another room. The bodies of Shaffelburg and Johnson were found in the next house.

Chiang Defeat Costs Canada 51 Millions Dollars

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—The defeat that has engulfed Nationalist China is costing Canada at least $51,000,000, External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated Friday.

He told the Commons committee on external affairs Canada had "better not anticipate much repayment" of that amount of money advanced to the nationalists under a post-war credit.

The credit, totalling $60,000,000, now "is technically in default."

Mr. Pearson said it was divided into two sections. One covered non-military materials and the entire $35,000,000 credited under this heading had been used up within the deadline, the end of 1948.

The other division largely embraced miliary supplies. It allowed the Chinese to take up to $25,000,000 worth of the sort of supplies they had been getting under wartime mutual aid.

The purchases covered war surpluses of ammuition, planes, ships and other products and had gone on until last fall.

Of the $25,000,000, the Chinese had used up $16,000,000 by that time.

WILL THERE BE A STRIKE AT PETERBORO LOCK?

Your friends and fellow workers employeed at Peterborough Lock have recently taken a strike vote. The results were 9 to 1 in favour of a strike.

This strike vote was made necessary because the Company has taken a hard and fast attitude of refusal to our modest proposals for a new contract.

Since 1946 our Union, the UE, has been our collective bargaining agency with the Company. We have established improved wage rates and working conditions through our contract negotiations each year.

Now we need the security against lay offs and unemployment that reduced hours of work and seniority protection can bring us.

Our Contract Proposals

We have, therefore, made the following proposals to the management of Peterborough Lock:

1. A 42½ hour week with the same take home pay as at present on a 45 hour week.
2. That the adjusted wage rates will take effect as of October 1st, 1949.
3. The present seniority clause that exists in our 1948-'49 Agreement with a slight addition to give us additional protection against lay offs.
4. A time limit on unprotected piece work prices to help assure the stability of our earnings.
5. Upward adjustment in the minimum rates for men and women.

As we have stated these are modest proposals. Actually they do not meet the full needs of the workers at Peterborough Lock with the cost of living at its highest point. They are made in an effort to be reasonable and to avoid a strike.

But management ignores our reasonableness and takes what we consider to be a miserly and provoking attitude towards our proposals.

Yet we allege that in 1949 the Company made the highest profits in its history.

If there is a strike at Peterborough Lock, we submit that the blame for it can be laid entirely on the present management.

We do not want a strike, but our patience will be shortly exhausted unless management begins to bargain in good faith with us.

We appeal to you, our fellow citizens, to support our proposals, and in the event of a strike, to give every assistance to our members.

We Can Outwait Russia

Mr. George Drew, speaking to the Toronto Empire Club on Thursday, compared the proposed visit of Mr. Trygve Lie of U.N. to Marshal Stalin with Neville Chamberlain's ill-fated visits to Hitler: "The road to Berchtesgaden now may be covered with grass, but it appears that there is to be a new road of humiliation and appeasement leading to Moscow," said Mr. Drew. He urged that the folly of such a mission should be impressed upon Mr. Lie. "The truly terrible danger is that the men in the Kremlin will misunderstand us," he said: "to them every generous gesture, every effort toward reconciliation, is regarded as a confession of weakness on our part."

• • •

There is much truth in what Mr. Drew says, but there are other factors than those he mentioned which have to be taken into consideration. The first of these is that Mr. Lie is an official of an organization representing many countries, which is pledged to seek world peace by every possible means; it is not the province of U.N. to declare that it is useless to talk to Stalin; it is U.N.'s job to try. Nor, may it be said, is there any great humiliation if Mr. Lie fails; Russia, though great, is not great enough to humiliate half the world by a show of bad manners and bad intentions. If the Western world were weak, it would be humiliating to seek peace with Stalin. But the Western world is not weak; it is, on the contrary, stronger than Russia, and has weapons which Russia does not command. The part of the world which Mr. Lie represents does not want war, but it is not afraid of war, or of the outcome of a war with Russia, horrible and prolonged as such a war would certainly be.

• • •

We must not think that war with Russia is inevitable, for it is not. This week Mr. St. Laurent told an audience in Ottawa that in his opinion the outlook for peace was much better than it was a year ago. And if we of the Western world will hold our tempers and refuse to rise to the bait of Russian provocation, we may see the situation in Russia change sharply in a matter of five years or so. We have published on this page several articles by Sebastian Haffner, one of the best-informed writers on Russia today, in which he has pointed out the great internal problems with which Russia is grappling. We know from equally good sources that Russia is having trouble keeping her satellites in line. Russia is now saddled with China, a country which no conqueror has ever succeeded in bending to his will. Russia has her hands full. Furthermore, there are continual rumours that Marshal Stalin is a very sick man; he is in his seventy-first year. If he lives there is bound to be a deputing of supreme authority, and that will certainly excite jealousy: if he dies the struggle for succession will be even more strenuous. These things all weaken Russia, and engage her energies, and make her disinclined for war.

• • •

We shall not intimidate Russia by threats and bluster; Russia is herself mistress of that kind of international politics. But we may well overcome Russia by waiting; the longer we wait the stronger we shall be, and the weaker Russia, with her weight of problems, will become.

May Day Sacrilege

On Monday we shall be reading about massive parades on the Red Square, tank reviews in Prague, and military planes flying in formation over Budapest, for Monday is May Day, which international communism has wickedly made its own. It is characteristic of communist countries that the celebrations take the form of demonstrations of armed strength, although the day is supposed to be a tribute to labour. That is one perversion of the festival—Labour is ousted by communism's war-lords, and top brass gleams from the reviewing stand.

The First of May is the world's Labour Day—or should be—according to the dictates of the International Socialist Congress of 1899 which selected the day for annual public celebration. It is observed in most industrial countries, other than Canada and the United States, which sensibly have not abrogated an ancient festival; they chose instead the first Monday in September as a Labour Day. Actually, even the observance of May the first as a holiday to emphasize Labour's place in the sun is a desecration, though less blasphemous than using it to vaunt communistic militarism.

The first of May has been since medieval and even ancient times, a festival of spring and flowers, of joy and dancing; it should be a pastoral event. In Tudor times all the people got up at dawn and went "a-maying." Branches of trees and flowers were brought back in triumph to the towns, a maypole was set up, radiant with ribbons and wreaths, and the evening was gay with dancing and laughter, the air fragrant with sweet blossoms. In the old Roman calendar May Day fell in the middle of the Floralia. At dawn in Oxford on Monday, boy choristers will sing from the tower of Magdalen College, and undergraduates with that cherubic singing in their hearts, will punt up the Isis for breakfast.

May Day is the time for the singing of birds and the voice of the turtle, not for straight-legging uniforms on the Red Square, for bloody riots, or even for earnest speeches about the dignity of labour and the fraternity of the workers of the world.

May the first is not a Labour day in Canada but the desecration would really not be so great as in England and Europe where Labour peremptorily uses it. The reason is that there is no tradition in Canada of going a-maying on May Day. More to the point—well-taken in this late, cold spring—May the first comes too early for garlands and woodland nymphs. Dancers around a Maypole in Ontario on the first day of May are likely to wet their feet in slush or slip on the ice, or freeze their ears. We Canadians have to plod along heavily through winter and chill spring until the 24th—when there is annual hope of balmy weather, perfumed flowers, and a ramble through pleasant woodlands. Since we have no May Day, Queen Victoria's birthday continues to be celebrated in Canada even half a century after her death.

No, They Aren't

A few days ago we published an editorial headed "Women Are Not Mysterious"; the Toronto Star, in rebuttal, publishes a reply called "They Aren't, Arent They?" Our rejoinder is contained in the heading above. We really don't think that women possess any qualities of mystery which are not shared by men.

We respect the Star's conviction that women are mysterious. It is a widespread belief, like the notion that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, that it is unlucky to spill salt, that lost dogs are always able to find their way home, and that it is healthier to walk than it is to ride in a car. We would not shake the Star's faith for the world. Innocence is a lovely thing, wherever it is found.

Perhaps our experience is unusual. But we have found that when it comes to caprice, indecisiveness and perversity—the qualities which, when wedded to beauty or sexual allure are thought to comprise "mystery"—men can beat women fifty different ways. And when it comes to clear thinking, courage and honesty—attributes which men like to think of as strongly masculine—women seem to us to be just as well-endowed as men.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A scientific writer suggests that man is becoming obsolete. We have suspected this, but hope to hang around long enough to catch a glimpse of man's successor.

That nasty fellow who tried to blow up an aeroplane bearing his wife and children has been named The Love-Bomb Lothario by an American paper. The A-bomb, the H-bomb, and now the Love-Bomb—a highly destructive trio.

During the past year at least fifteen high-ranking Russian army men, a majority of them in their forties, have died. Natural causes, or a quaint method of saving their pensions?

Another Californian hermit, reported to have no friends, has died leaving $196,000 in securities in a bag under her bed. We would gladly befriend one of these well-heeled hermits, if they would only come into the part of town where we circulate.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Mrs. Kedijah Scissorbill
Respected But Unloved Madam:

Walking along the street today I passed an organ-grinder; I gave him ten cents. I write to you of this because you are a dominating figure in many charities, and I often receive unpleasantly mimeographed, badly worded letters signed with a facsimile of your niggling signature, asking me for money. These letters always stress the deserving nature of the cause, and the care with which the money is administered by a staff of competent, well-paid officials. I usually respond to your letters with a donation, for your causes are genuinely good, and I am sure that you use the money wisely. Nevertheless, my heart does not go with them. My heart was with the organ-grinder's ten cents, even though he was unable to give me a slip entitling me to deduct my gift from taxable income.

Charity is infinitely better conducted nowadays than it was a century ago. It is thorough, economical, informed—everything but charitable. It does incalculable good to the receivers; it does nothing whatever to the givers — the answerers of form letters who never see the objects of their benevolence. For there is no merit in giving money, if one has it: the merit is in the charitable impulse and the cleansing of the spirit which compassion brings.

Modern charity is wonderful for the receivers, but it is useless to the givers. And I remind you that they also have souls to save. Charity is something greater than organized pillaging of the haves on behalf of the havenots.

Yours with qualified approval,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

At breakfast yesterday I watched a small boy sprinkle salt on his grapefruit. When I asked him about it, he said it made the fruit taste sweeter. A lady at the table said, "Mark my words, that child will die of hardening of the arteries". "Oh come, madam, surely that is an old wives' tale", said I. "Who are you calling an old wife", said she, and her wattles wobbled. "You", I rejoined, flicking a gob of marmalade at her and scampering from the room.

Tell me, Doctor, can salt harden the arteries? I have heard this threatened in connection with other household substances. For years I have followed each meal with a strong chaser of baking-soda and water, as an aid to digestion, and various people have told me that this will harden my arteries. Nevertheless my arteries are still capable of balloon-like expansion.

It seems to me that if anything were going to harden the arteries it would be excessive iron in the blood, which would coat the arteries with rust, like old hot-water pipes.

Your perennial patient and amateur adviser,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Honoured Sir:

Unexpected tidings, Mr. Marchbanks, sir. Your case against Richard Dandiprat will not come before the Spring Assizes as we had planned. This is the result of a legal complication of a type incomprehensible to the lay mind, but I will try to explain it.

The papers in the case went, as usual, to Mr. Mouseman Senior for his consideration before they were taken to the court house. Knowing that the case would be tried before Mr. Justice Gripple—an old law-school companion of Mr. Mouseman's—he made a pencilled notation on the document giving notice of the case, which said: "Don't let this come up any day when Old Gripple has lost heavily at bridge the night before. You know that he really needs a murder or a rape case on such days as a relief for his spleen". This was intended as a private direction to the sheriff, but some foolish clerk transcribed it on a document which reached Mr. Justice Gripple himself. He said several things which convinced our firm that it would be better to ask for a delay, and bring the case up again in the autumn, when we are confident that Mr. Justice Gripple will be in another part of the province.

Oh, the law, the law! What a fascinating study it is, Mr. Marchbanks! You laymen cannot comprehend the subtle psychological elements which may sway the judgement of the courts! But patience—patience must be the watchword of the successful litigant.

Yours with infinite patience,
MORDECAI MOUSMAN,
(For Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat).

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Revered Marchbanks:

On behalf of the Royal Commission on the Arts in Canada I have been investigating the thought processes of the Canadian press, as revealed in its editorial pages. This has been a task of the most extreme difficulty, for it is hard to discover any evidence of thought in Canadian editorials, and when thought occurs, it is so fugitive, so transitory in its character that it cannot be said to mark a trend. In all, I have been able to isolate only the following beliefs common to at least 75 per cent. of the papers in the Dominion:

(1) That virtually anything can be put right by a National Day of Prayer, and that if this should be ineffective it is because a few slackers are not praying.

(2) That women's hats are invariably ridiculous, and that all attempts to reform male dress are absurd.

(3) That many of the world's evils are directly traceable to the decline in church-going and discontinuance of the beating of children—referred to as "a good old-fashioned thrashing".

(4) That politicians who have been dead for twenty-five years were all giants of wisdom and probity.

(5) That the deaths of artists, musicians, scientists and men of letters require no comment, but the death of any journalist, even if he is just editor of The Skunk's Misery Weekly Death Rattle, demands at least three inches of regretful prose.

(6) That marriage is a state which all married people resent, that all married people quarrel, that no bride can cook — but that nevertheless divorce is a hideous evil.

Yours in amazement,
CHANDOS FRIBBLE.

Religious Freedom In Eastern Germany

From RICHARD LOWENTHAL
In Berlin

THE struggle for religious freedom has at last come out into the open in Eastern Germany. The pulpit message from Dr. Otto Dibelius, President of the German Evangelical Church, was read on Sunday by thousands of Protestant ministers throughout the Soviet Zone. It has torn away the propaganda fear so skilfully woven by the Communist regime for the benefit of Protestant opinion in Western Germany and abroad.

"Truth will make you free" is its motto and its language is unambiguous. "More than ever, we are surrounded today by troubled consciences", it says. "Ceaselessly members of our congregation call on us: 'Help us—we are forced to say things which for truth's sake we cannot say, to take part in actions we cannot share in with good consciences, to support decisions we cannot approve. If we refuse we are in constant danger of losing liberty, office and bread'".

"Pressure has increased since the campaign for the National Front", Dr. Dibelius's message continues. "Parents send us moving calls for help because their children are getting accustomed under the pressure of school and youth organizations to speak and write differently from what they feel. The Christian faith is exposed to contempt and teachers try to persuade them that there is no God and that Christ never lived".

"The truth of Christ is incompatible with the materialist doctrine. Hence, we protest against the propagating of that doctrine in schools, universities and State-sponsored organizations as if it were the sole truth. We call on members of our congregation to profess their faith in Christ Our Lord with joyous determination wherever it is attacked.

"It is sin to force men to tell lies and to induce the very children to join in it. We implore all in the party political life not to become guilty of such sin.

"The truth called Jesus Christ makes us free so that we may love our neighbour even if he be an enemy. Where hatred is preached against nations, races, classes or individuals, the Christian is called upon to give love. In no circumstances must he be an accomplice to the propaganda of hatred or to acts of violence and where he must fall victim to such acts he must not answer force with force, but must ask God for the strength to resist passively".

◇ ◇ ◇

IT is not surprising that the reading of this message on the eve of the holding of an all-German Protestant Synod in Eastern Berlin has thrown the regime into some confusion. Premier Otto Grotewohl at once spoke, in a circular sent to police chiefs as well as to provincial church leaders, of an "unconstitutional attack" by the church. The Christian Democrat Vice-Premier, Otto Nuschoke, meanwhile assured the Snyod once again that "the Government will continue to recognize the practice of religion as guaranteed by the Constitution".

The Government's idea seems to be that the church should remain free to conduct its services but not to criticize the Government. To this, Dibelius has now replied in an open letter to Herr Grotewohl, charging that the church is not attacking the state but defending itself against state action. The only way to reduce tension would be for the government to instruct school authorities to stop all attacks on the Christian faith, to withdraw anti-religious text-books translated from the Russian, and to rule that nobody should be forced to join political organizations, including the Free German Youth, against his will.

"We must demand as Christians that the state, in all its organs, abstain from doctrinal propaganda. Religious or anti-religious doctrine is not a matter for the state, but for the free decision of its citizens. The church does not wish for a conflict with the state power, but neither is she afraid of it".

The struggle thus joined in the Eastern Zone inevitably dominates the atmosphere of the all-German Protestant Synod meeting in Eastern Berlin. Its theme is how the church can serve the cause of peace, and the East German authorities seem to have hoped that some neutrality propaganda in the spirit of Pastor Martin Niemoeller would issue from it.

◇ ◇ ◇

NIEMOELLER has once again advocated the view that in a war setting the two Germanies against one another the church should call on its believers in both camps to refuse military service. But the majority of the Synod now seems likely to follow the advice of Dibelius that the church should not commit itself to any positive political action, but should merely defend spiritual freedom and oppose the propaganda of hatred. In Dibelius's view, this includes defence of the right to conscientious objection, but no positive advice to exercise it.

Letters To The Editor

SEEKS FAMILY

Sir: I have lost touch with my family and wonder if you could help me to find them.

My father was at one time Baptist minister in Peterborough. My brother (William) worked on your paper several years ago. Two sisters, both now married, still live in your area. Married name of one is Wigg and of the other Fenwick.

Any information you can give me will be gratefully received.

Yours faithfully,
A. EDGAR.

SAYS TIME WASTED IN COURT

Sir: Today, April 27, I answer a summons from the Peterborough police court. To do this I drove a considerable distance arriving in court at 10:00 a.m., staying till 1:00 p.m., then adjourned till 2:15 p.m. My case finally came up around 3:00 p.m. and the constable's name was called but he didn't answer. Instead of the case being dismissed as they do in cities, mine was remanded till next week at the time I expect to be in Kingston and I have no assurance that the constable will be there at that time or any other time, so the charge could be carried on from now until doomsday. I understand the city has bought the parking metres outright and I wonder whether their undue severity is in order to reimburse themselves for this costly purchase.

This city is certainly gaining a poor reputation among the motoring public.

The summons was for over-time parking, 9:31 a.m. on March 30th, 1950, and the usual costs are $3.00, while I have $7.50 on the top of the summons.

You may certainly use my name if you wish.

ROSS BROWNE.
792 Crawford St., Toronto.

AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE CRITICIZED

Sir: One cannot pick up a paper or listen to a farm broadcast without seeing or hearing cracks at the farmer; even our Agricultural Representative has his fling. Canada is a large country, if he or anyone wants to prove his superiority why not expound his theories in practical labour (his own) and we will come and have a looksee.

Then he will find out that a couple of months without rain kills expensive new seedings of grasslands pasture — as many found to their sorrow last summer—and that a winter and spring like the last heaves and kills clovers and alfalfa. And that after such catastrophies, costs of feed, seeds, especially the permanent pastures goes up, some of the later has trebled. Ladino is from 2.50 to 3.00 a pound over a hundred a bushel; Reed Canary grass is $1.80 a lb., not much better; even Timothy seed that used to be around, or between, five or ten cents, is now thirty-nine a lb. And people smile and clap their hands when the price of things that farmers sell go down, like eggs and butter and pork. Well, he who laughs last, laughs best. And what I'd like to say is, that if our Agricultural Representatives cannot pour oil on troubled waters, or find diplomacy, we'd be better off without them.

PLAIN FARMER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest does the same things . . . And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgement of God? . . .

Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal? Thou that sayest a man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege? Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God? (Rom. 2: 1, 3, 21-23.)

Knowest thou not this of old, since man was placed upon earth, that the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment? (Job 20: 4, 5.)

Joyous Season Of The Home-Owner

(Ottawa Journal)

With houses costing what they do today, with taxes what they are and going up, the advantages of owning one's home may seem problematical—but not, at this season, to the man who owns one.

It is something to see the pride and enthusiasm with which home-owner's are surveying their estates these evenings and week-ends, especially in the newer areas where much is to be done. The chap with a new house contemplates his back yard and sees not the mud and rubbish but a place of grass and flowers and shrubs. Here he will put his rose garden, there a perennial bed, and with the eye of faith he sees it as good as done. There he will build a flagstone terrace with tall trees to give it shade; here is the exact spot for a clump of lilacs or a kitchen garden or a bed of annuals. The mind pictures something right out of the seed catalogues.

So the home-owner rakes and shovels, digs and plants, in great contentment because he is doing something for himself and because it is the sort of thing most of us enjoy doing in the Spring. A tidy lawn and well-kept grounds do not just happen—they represent careful planning and much hard work. But it is work that has its rich reward in the satisfaction of accomplishment, in the joy of making something useful or beautiful grow where previously there was nothing, and that it what the owner gets for his money which the tenant never can have.

Progress of Peterborough: XVII

224 Heads of Irish Families Given Lots Cabins of Primitive Log Design Built

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

There is little official information on the methods used in locating the immigrants on their lands. Robinson reported "The location of the emigrants, by far the most troublesome and laborious part of the service, was completed before the winter commenced, and I had a small log house built for the head of each family on their respective lots. . ." after which his reports fade into vague generalities. On October 21 he wrote informing his brother that the settlement of the people on their lots was under way. Officially, all locations dated from November 24, 1925, and it can be assumed that most were placed by that time.

One reason for vagueness of the reports was the considerable irregularity in assigning the immigrants to their lots. Some of the 307 "families" selected by the Irish landlords and brought to Canada were not genuine families, and began to break up most confusingly. Of the 307 heads of families leaving Cork, only 224 were given lots in the Peterborough district, and one was given scrip to pick a lot anywhere in the province.

Sons and brothers 18 years and over were given 132 lots, and two more given scrip; four sons 17 years of age and three even younger were given lots, quite against the rules. Twenty-five men over 45 years of age, whose tickets read "To get no land in Canada," were nevertheless given lots. Five men were given two lots each. Thirty-eight men who did not come with the expedition were given lots these were either Irish who came out at their own expense and joined up at Peterborough, or local men who married Irish girls, or possibly some who changed their names after arriving, for one reason or another.

Some widows married again, and their new spouses took the family name; some daughters married youths who had come out disguised as members of the family, and so on. An example is John Pope, who came out with his brother's family, married Ellen Foley when her husband William died, and took the name Patrick Foley; he and Ellen collected three lots—one as John Pope, one as Patrick Foley, and the third given to Ellen as William's widow. Forty-four heads of families and 44 sons 18 years and older did not get lots, and although no reason is given, it can be assumed that these did not remain in the district over the first winter. Some went away and returned after several years to claim lots from Robinson, who usually granted them. Altogether, of 423 Irish given land (408 in Peterborough district, 12 in Ottawa, three given scrip) only 368 locations can be called regular and sound according to the terms on which the Irish were brought to Canada.

Road Making

Roads had to be cut through the townships and cabins hastily put up on the lots before the Irish families could be moved from Scott's Plains. Under the direction of surveyors Birdsall, Huston and Smith, contracts were given to

He who, for the first time, loves,
Even vainly, is a God.
But the man who loves again,
And still vainly, is a fool.

HEINRICH HEINE
(1797-1856)

former settlers in the townships both south and north of Rice Lake to cut the roads and construct the cabins; these experienced woodsmen hired hundreds of the more industrious and healthy Irish to help them.

Rubidge had already begun the construction of the first road to the settlement from Bannister's Point on Rice Lake, north through Otonabee and then past his own property, with a branch to Keene, and by November this was extended to Scott's Plains in order to bring in supplies when the river became icebound.

He wrote to Robinson on November 10: "As the road is now advancing pretty rapidly toward you and is now ready to be levelled in the neighborhood of the settlers just located, permit me to request that they may be all warned to assemble on Monday next with spades and shovels . . I trust Mr. Stewart will not fail us with his oxen. . ." Roads to the east were cut through Otonabee and Douro; one went directly through northern Otonabee and Asphodel to the present village of Norwood, the other northeast to the present village of Warsaw. Along the west bank of the Otonabee a road was cut down through North Monaghan, whose impassable condition seven years later reduced the Traills to despair.

Through Smith

The Communication Road northwest through Smith township to Chemong Lake was already well established; and emigrants located in Emily, Ops and Ennismore went to Chemong Lake over this road, were taken across the lake to Cottingham's Landing in a second scow similar to the one plying up and down the Otonabee, and thence on a road through Ennismore. Settlers for the northern part of Smith went north on Chemong Lake to their lots.

A road was cut directly west from Scott's Plains along Smith Street, on the line between North Monaghan and Smith townships. Farther south another road went south and west through Monaghan, Cavan and Emily. Thus seven roads and the river stretched out like spokes of a wheel from the hub, which was the thriving village of Scott's Plains. In addition, there were concession roads being cut along the lots by the settlers as part of their settlement duties.

Shanties At $10

Skilled axemen among the former settlers also made a good deal of money (for those days) by building log cabins on the lots Robinson paid $10 for each shanty, and two experienced men could build one every two days. Some of the Irishmen with experience in cutting and trimming lumber put up their own cabins and were given the $10. Robert Harrison, an early settler in Asphodel, described how as a boy he helped William Fortune build some of these houses: "As Fortune cut the logs I with the faithful horse hauled every one of them to their proper places to be used in building, and with long chains and a 'rolling hitch' assisted on skids in placing them on the walls of the shanties under construction. . ."

P. G. Towns in some articles on 'Early Douro' told how it was done there: "The first part of their work was to clear a small space to erect a shanty built of logs and thatched with wild grass and balsam boughs, which served as a shelter until they could get something better. Later they put in a fireplace which consisted of a very large chimney with an arch at the bottom on which was a crane on which they hung a pot to do their cooking. Those who were fortunate to have a shanty large enough erected a bed by boring three holes in the wall, then driving stakes in them and proping them on the outside, then covering them with homemade planks. On top of this they placed grasses and cedar boughs for a mattress, and made pillows from the down of bulrushes gathered from neighboring marshes. This being done, they brought their wives and families. . ."

The late David Conroy said "When my grandfather built his shanty in Douro in 1825, he built it in a hollow, with troughs on the roof. When my father built his own house on the same lot after he married, he built it on a hill and roofed it with shingles . ."

How Cabins Appeared

According to regulations, the minimum cabin was to be 20 by 18 feet, but Captain Hall, visiting the district in 1827, described an Irish shanty which was smaller: The dimensions of this particular dwelling were 20 by 12 by 7 feet high. The roof was formed of logs split into four lengths, then hollowed out and laid with the concave and convex sides alternately upward, so as to overlap like long tiles, sloping from the ridge to the eaves, so that each alternate log formed a gutter to carry off the rain. The openings between the logs forming the walls were closed by mud and moss mixed together, and sometimes these shanties had a window, sometimes not . . ." Many of the Irish made their shanties more like those in Ireland by putting sods around the lower part of the outside walls and on the roof, plastering the outside walls with a thick coating of mud later whitewashed, and putting bark or branches on the roof to hold down the sods.

Mrs. Traill, writing of these cabins a few years later, wrote: "The shanty is a sort of primitive hut in Canadian architecture, and is nothing more than a shed of logs, the chinks between the round edges of the timbers being filled with moss, mud and bits of wood . . . The eaves of this building resemble the scalloped edges of a clamshell; but rude as this covering is, it effectually answers the purpose of keeping the interior dry; far more so than roofs of bark or boards, through which the rain will find entrance. Sometimes the shanty has a window, sometimes only an open doorway which admits the light and lets out the smoke . . . A rude chimney which often is nothing better than an opening cut in one of the top logs above the hearth, a few boards fastened in a square form, serves as vent for the smoke; the only precaution against the fire catching the log walls behind the hearth being a few large stones placed in a half-circular form, or more commonly a bank of clay raised against the wall.

"Nothing can be more comfortless than some of these shanties, reeking with smoke and dirt, the common receptacles of children, pigs and fowls. But I have given you the dark side of the picture; I am happy to say that all the shanties were not like these; on the contrary, by far the larger proportion were inhabited by tidy folks, and had one or even two small windows, and a clay chimney built up through the roof; some were even roughly floored, and possessed similar comforts with the small log houses . . ."

It might be added that some of these first cabins still remain on the Irish homesteads; when with prosperity the people built frame and stone houses, the original cabins became stables, chicken-houses, or storage-barns, and were thus preserved by the descendants of the pioneers.

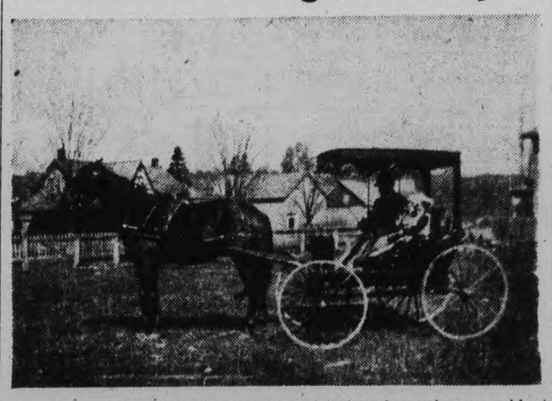
'With The Fringe On Top'



To the youngsters of today who hum the "Oklahoma" lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top", is doubtless the incredible conveyance without more reality than a unicorn. Banish your doubts, dear children, for here is proof that the surrey was a real life affair and that in the earliest years of the century Peterborough was just as up-to-date as Kansas City—perhaps a lap or two ahead. Pictured above is the surrey in which Julia Grover Choate drove from Warsaw for her violin lessons from the late Rupert Gliddon, before becoming a resident student at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music.

"The wheels are yeller, the upholstery's brown,
The dashboard's genuine leather
With isinglass curtains you can roll right down.
In case there's a change in the weather.
Two bright sidelights winkin' and blinkin'
Ain't no finer rig I'm a-thinkin'
You can keep your rig if your thinkin' 'at I'd keer to swap
For that shiny little surrey with the fringe on top."

Men who appear to be quite normal throughout the year, have been going around all this week with a queer look in their eyes. From time to time they suddenly cease to write up an insurance policy or add a bank ledger to gaze out the window for minutes on end. Production slips a bit at the work bench which is not noticed by the foreman. He is dreaming, too. This malady is far worse than spring fever; it's Fontinalis Phobia. They are trout fishermen. Why, my next-desk-neighbour leaves off pounding police court copy on his typewriter to dream over a box of bright trout flies in his top drawer. It is really a terrific situation. If half the males in Peterborough are afflicted this way, a time study expert would have a field day figuring out lost-time curves, if he were not an addict himself. The trout bug bites them all.

• • • •

Most trout fishermen have spent the past few weeks, some of them months, tinkering with their fishing equipment. Fly-tiers have raided their wives' sewing baskets for silk thread, odds and ends of pretty materials. The brute type have even approached the Little Woman's smartest feathery hats with scissors. Dark thoughts, here.

There are bamboo rods to be examined for cracks or checks, spots to touch up with varnish and guides to change. Reels have to be oiled, hip waders patched and creels overhauled.

While all this frenzy goes on, storm windows are still in place, yards are unraked and hundreds of spring chores go by the board. Even that parting shot, "You can clean them this year, yourself," is lost to the louder call of the outdoors. The terse warning will be heeded later, never fear. There is tension in the trouter's home.

What The Best Lure This Odd Spring?

The problem of what trout lures to use at the start of our cold, backward season this year, is a poser. Worms are bound to be used by several novices but they are frowned on generally by the serious sports. Those who wish to rise above this looked-down-upon group, and are not familiar with wet fly techniques, have several artificial lures to choose from. There are small spinners to use with worms, streamer flies ahead of spinners, rubber minnow-like trout and artificial mice, spiders and grasshoppers. A few fishermen will use wet flies, with success, and it is likely that the cowdung, dark Montreal and Parmachene Belle will be the attraction. Later, they will switch to other such flies as the coachman, royal coachman, professor, queen of the waters, blue dun, black gnat, silver doctor, brown hackle and March brown, to name but a few.

And Where Is The Best Spot?

I should tell you where to go? No, sir, I am not so brash as all that. But here is a general list of favourite spots. West of Bewdley there is the Ganaraska River, Campbellcroft Creek, Pole Creek, Percer's and Bannister's Ponds. Of course the Cavan and Millbrook streams, further north of this section, will probably attract the greatest number of sports. In the north section of the county there is Noggies Creek, the Mississauga and Eel's Brook. To the east are the Big and Little Ouse, Springbrook and Plateau Creeks; the Belaporine, Havelock way, is leased, closed. Keep away. Some trouters will say that streams west of Peterborough and those in Northumberland are best at the start of the season. Others pooh-pooh this theory. But veterans in either camp agree that the best fish, at the start, are taken from the feeder streams of the above mentioned spots.

NORTHUMERLAND STREAMS: In Cobourg district—Dollar's, Chidley's, Bull's, Burnley Mill, Plainville, Creighton's, Staples, Baltimore, Bradey's, Precious and Hopward. In Grafton district—Shelter Valley, Grafton, Eagleson's, Hortop and Gillard. In Colborne district—Lakeport, Mackenzie, Black's, Menzies', Blythe's, Purdy's, Tub's, Carr's, Dawson's, Chesterfield, Mutton, Biddy and Piper. In Roseneath district—Sandy Flats and Braithwaite's. In Brighton—Smithfield, in Harwood, Harwood, and in Warkworth, Dartford's Creek. All of these waters contain speckled trout, and 12 have brown trout in addition. Two are listed as having rainbows as well. Further to the names listed above, I also have the data on the length and width of each stream, in case anyone wants to know. Rosemary, Thyme and Winter Savoury

No fisherman needs to be told how to cook his catch but to show you that the sport is as old as the hills, here's what The Compleat Angler had to say, long ago:

"Take your trout . . . and having taken out his guts . . . wipe him very clean within but wash him not; and give him three scotches with a knife . . on one side only . . . Take a clean kettle, and put in . . . hard stale beer (but it must not be dead), vinegar . . white wine, and water . . . (add) salt, the rind of a lemon, a handsome fagot of rosemary, thyme and winter savoury . . . . whilst your fish is boiling, beat up the butter for your sauce with a ladleful or two of liquor . . . and being laid in a dish, pour your butter upon it . . . cover with shaved horseradish and pounded ginger, garnish your dish . . . . with sliced lemon and serve it up."

OVER THE RIFFLES: Carp nets have been set at the mouths of Emily's and McLaren's Creeks, Sturgeon Lake; several tons of these pest pig fish were taken by department men in '49 . . Conservation officers and their deputies will be on 24-hour patrols in the Trent and Quinte districts during 'lunge and pickerel spawning season . . Kiwanis bait casting school got away to a start early in the week; six enthusiasts showed up and many more will be present at the next class . . Half an hour after the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maloney at The Hermitage, their de luxe lodge on Lake Mazinaw, it went up in flames; a $75,000 loss, very little insurance . . Howard Dunford on Bryson's Bay, Stony Lake, found a dead mallard in one of his muskrat traps; its leg band 507-41191 was returned to Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington.

Billy And Me

Where the pools are bright and deep,
Where the grey trout lies asleep,
Up the river and over the lea,
That's the way for Billy and me.

Where the blackbird sings the latest,
Where the hawthorn blooms the sweetest,
Where the nestlings chirp and flee,
That's the way for Billy and me.

Where the mowers mow the cleanest,
Where the hay lies thickest and greenest,
There to trace the homeward bee,
That's the way for Billy and me.

Where the hazel bank is steepest,
Where the shadow falls the deepest,
Where the clustering nuts fall free,
That's the way for Billy and me.

There let us walk, there let us play,
Through the meadow among the hay,
Up the water and over the lea,
That's the way for Billy and me.

James Hogg (1770-1835)

THE ONLY DOCTOR IN THE NEW COMMUNITY of Peterborough threatened to leave to practice in thriving York (Toronto), but the people chipped in and worked together and built him this fine stone house on the Brock street hill, at Bethune. The doctor lived happily in the town ever afterwards.

The House Early Citizens Built For $224 To Keep Dr. Hutchinson In Peterborough

By DAVE WHITE.

The affection of a young and vigorous community went into the building of the neat, two-storey stone house at 270 Brock St.

One of the oldest buildings in Peterborough, being constructed about 1838 it has been inherited by Mrs. James Harvey Connal and there is every intention of keeping it in the family.

An interesting segment of Peterborough history is to be found in the story of its construction. To keep Dr. John Hutchinson from leaving for the wider horizons (and thicker purses) of York, the residents promised to build him a good house on a suitable site so he would stay.

Stay he did, and the house is existing proof of the happy bargain struck between this Dublin physician and the impecunious populace whose main contribution was plenty of volunteer hard work.

The actual cash paid out for work on the house was the incredibly small sum of $224. Along with the building was a well and a shed, also put there through volunteer labor.

Dr. Hutchinson had originally settled in Cavan and later moved to what is now Peterborough. After changing his mind about going to York he lived a happy and useful life in the community, ending his days in that same stone house.

Harvey-Connal Heritage

Later James Harvey bought it and it has remained in his family since. Mr. Harvey is believed to have been the occupant who put a 10-room brick addition on the back of it. (Stone was used originally because there was no brick in the district.)

The site included the Brock and Stewart St. block with the hillside forming the north and east boundaries.

Mr. Harvey handed down the family home to Mrs. Peter Connal, one of four daughters. Her portrait is hanging in the living room, serving as a link with the past. The next member of the Connal family to inherit it was her eldest son, the late James Harvey Connal and his wife Jeanette.

Her two daughters are Mrs. R. W. Little of Lakefield and Mrs. Edward S. Brown of Ottawa.

"I may be sentimental," said Mrs. Brown as she told of the house's history, "but I like the place and hope it remains in the family."

"It's really amazing," she said, "how many people in Peterborough know the history of the building and regard it as a civic landmark."

From a front view the house has changed little in some 112 years. The stone has stood up well. Apart from the extension on the back, the chief exterior alteration is the casement windows which have been taken out—except in the second storey.

Those who know Peterborough architecture will recognize the stone as that mined in Jackson's Park. The County Courthouse (work began on it in the same year), St. John's Church and a number of other local buildings are of the same sturdy construction.

Ibsen's Debt

For fortune such as I've enjoyed I have to thank America. My amply-furnished library I owe to Germany's later schools. From France, again I get my waistcoats, my manners, and my spice of wit, — from England an industrious hand, and keen sense for my own advantage. The Jew has taught me how to wait. Some taste for dolce far niente I have received from Italy, — and one time, in a perilous pass, to eke the measure of my days, I had recourse to Swedish steel.

(From PEER GYNT. Ibsen, 1828-1906, was a Norwegian).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The tale is told of a touring English football club—it is definitely not known as soccer in the Old Country—coming to Canada. Seems this outstand...g club was invited, all expenses paid, to play at some big celebration in Vancouver. A centennial "do" or some such. The jolly footballers decided to travel by train direct to their destination, do their duty out there and then play at various spots on the way back across the country. It was their first trip to our fair country, and they looked forward to a ripping time. After a short visit in Halifax, they took the transcontinental train. The captain, chap by name of Brooks-Astor, was in charge of the party.

* * * * * *

Now it is a well-known fact that Canada is not England. Among the differences is that of area, Canada being considerable larger. In fact, it took quite some time for the flyer to get as far from the east coast as Quebec City and some of the players began asking how much further to go. Brooks-Astor laughed heartily—and he was joined by Conductor Clancy of the transcontinental—as he told his charges that the journey had barely begun. In fact, he doubted if they were out of Quebec as yet. Time passed and they whistled coming into Montreal. But they were somewhat chagrined to learn that it was not Toronto, nor even any part of Ontario.

* * * * * *

Time Gradually Passes

However, time and the miles passed as they ate, slept and saw the northern country unfold. At Fort William, there was much surprise expressed that this was not Winnipeg. Even Brooks-Astor began to look worn. When it was explained some time later that Winnipeg was quite a piece east of Edmonton—this occurred at the Winnipeg depot—the team appeared decidely sulky. Brooks-Astor was no longer a cheerful chap. Even Conductor Clancy looked worn and, at succeeding stops, he tried with some success to avoid the reproachful gaze of those English fellows. After Edmonton, relations between the touring party and the conductor were rather strained.

* * * * * *

But time does pass and even the Rockies can be surmounted, if in somewhat tiresome fashion. The trip eventually came to an end. The flyer finally puffed into the Vancouver station out there in beautiful British Columbia. The bedraggled players looked up dully when Clancy cheerfully shouted: "Everybody out, this is your station." Like wooden men, they got wearily to their feet and began assembling things. Brooks-Astor rather surprised the conductor by asking: "I say, old fellow, didn't Christopher Columbus get credit for discovering this blooming land?" On being assured that such was the case, his nibs retorted tartly: "How the devil could he have missed it!"

But Back To Softball

But so much for football fantasy, and a word instead on men's softball. Pat Calladine and his executive are looking for a fourth team in the City Softball League. Three in now, Mutual Benefit, East City and the U.E.W. They need four to play double-headers two or three times a week at the Bowl d'Ashburnham, under the arcs. A meeting on Tuesday eve at 7.30 in the "Y" should wrap it all up. So, anyone interested in getting into this fast circuit should say his piece that night. Junior clubs might apply, too, for time at the Bowl. And umpires are asked to contact Secretary Bert Bailey in the near future ere the schedule is drawn up.

* * * * * *

Senior "A" lacrosse prospects practise at 2.30 this aft in Miller Bowl, everyone welcome. There'll be a few open drills and then the whittling commences, as some good newcomers are on deck as well as most of last year's club. We note where Coach Joe Cheevers of the St. Catharines Athletics is starting workouts now, too, and expects a stronger squad than last year. Figures on Billy Nelson, Jimmy McMahon and Stu Scott—barred last season—along with referees George Cleverly and Roy Morton, who have been reinstated. Also some good young stuff coming up as well as most of the 1949 team. It is admitted that there is one pretty big gap to fill, that left by Jerry Fitzgerald, who has come to Peterborough to coach minor lacrosse and play for the senior team.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The British government refused to allow a soccer team from Soviet Russia to tour England 24 years ago today. The Home Secretary told the Commons that sports organizations of the Communist internationale had laid a definite propaganda program for Russian sports unions. The Moscow Dynamos visited Britain in 1945 and emerged undefeated in four starts with two victories and two draws.

Argos Split By Dissension 5 Stars, Director Quit Copeland Joins Calgary

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Bob Moran, youthful president of the Toronto Argonauts senior football team, and manager Teddy Morris sat tight today in face of player losses that pointed up reports of widespread dissension in the team that last won the Grey Cup in 1947.

Three, possibly five, stalwarts of the 1949 Argos will be with other clubs next fall. Backfielder Royal Copeland, all-star pass receiver, tosser and runner, has signed with the Calgary Stampeders. Backfielder Doug Pyzer and lineman Don Durno will be with Edmonton Eskimos. Linemen Frank and Jake Dunlap are understood to be leaving Argos to return to Ottawa.

Moran said "we're sorry to see Copeland leave, naturally. But he's over 21 and free to do what he wishes. As for Durno, we didn't figure on him at all. Pyzer has signed a contract with us and we will expect him to live up to it. He can't play for Edmonton."

Moran said also that the resignation of John Stuart as a director of the club will be accepted. Stuart, horse-owner and sportsman, revealed he had submitted his resignation some time ago and said he was definitely through with the Argos. Stuart said he had offered to buy the club for $250,000 but his bid had been rejected. His resignation was placed in writing after he had made various contacts for new Argo officials and players and they had been rejected.

Did Spadework

"I had done all the spadework to get Frank Clair to coach Argos," said Stuart, referring to the fact Clair is the new coach and Morris, coach of three championship teams, has been moved over as manager. "When I went south I sent postcards back to some of my sportswriting friends mentioning 'You'll like this fellow Clair.' Right away I get a letter from club official Cece McFadden bawling me out for talking to the press and asking what right I have to tell Clair he could talk terms with players."

Stuart said that if his offer to purchase Argos had been accepted he had Ossie Solem, head coach at Springfield College, lined up to be the new coach and manager. When the deal fell through, Solem accepted a proposition to go overseas and set up football for the U.S. army.

Moran, saying that Stuart's resignation would be accepted, added: "We wanted to talk to him and find out why he wanted to quit. After all, he was a couple of thousand miles away when he wrote the letter. But now that he's forced the issue we'll have to accept his resignation."

Foresees Bitterness

Moran intimated bitterness would crop up at the east-west final next fall, when it came to east-west financial arrangements. The west, he said, were "always screaming about expenses and claiming they can't compete with the east. Yet Annis Stukus offered Copeland $6,500 to go to Edmonton, so Calgary must have offered him more. Nobody on Argos get nearly that much."

Copeland now is in Calgary and said by telephone to Toronto Friday night that he hasn't any beefs against Argonauts." Manager Teddy Morris merely commented that "I hope he's done what's best for Copeland. Copey was the greatest that ever played in my time."

Morris coached the Argos to dominion championships in 1945, 1946 and 1947. In 1948 Argos were succeeded by Calgary Stampeders, while Montreal Alouettes beat the Stamps last year. Altogether Argos have eight Canadian titles, the others being in 1914, 1921, 1933, 1937 and 1938.

Bon Vivant Colt Said Doubtful Starter

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — E. P. Taylor's colt Bon Vivant is a doubtful starter in the King's Plate here May 27, and if the colt doesn't run trainer Bert Alexandra will retire from racing.

Word from the Toronto industrialist's training camp at Lexington, Ky., Friday was that Bon Vivant has gone wrong in training for the three-year-old classic. The colt was joint javorite at 3-1 with McGill, owned by Vince Sheridan of Toronto. The developments brought about a shift in the odds Friday night with McGill installed as favorite and Carr Hatch's Unionville a lukewarm second choice.

Unionville arrived Friday night at Hamilton to finish training and McGill arrived at Toronto's Woodbine track, where the King's Plate is run.

ROBINSON WINS

At Detroit, welterweight champion Ray Robinson pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Detroit middleweight Ray Barnes Friday night in a one-sided scrap before 8,954 fans.

Would Restrict Reinstated Professionals

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — The executive of the Ontario Hockey Association moved Friday night to recommend restriction on the number of reinstated professionals playing on any amateur team. A resolution passed by the executive will be considered today by the annual meeting of the OHA. It calls for the ex-professionals to be considered as imports.

The executive considered a number of changes in existing Canadian Amateur Hockey Association regulations and rules which will be presented at the annual OHA meeting. Several rules changes were also passed on to the meeting. If approved by the association they will be submitted to the CAHA meeting June 6 at Banff.

George Panter, business manager, reported the highest revenue in the history of the OHA during the last season. Nearly $37,000 was received in playoff money, he said.

"The OHA is growing tremendously," he told the executive. "There now are 52 artificial arenas in the province. Seven more are being built and a number of others are being planned."

The executive appointed a finance committee, comprising the president, two vice-presidents and the business manager to consider establishing a reserve fund. This would be set up now that times are good, to provide for growth within the association, and any difficulties which may arise such as player injuries, court cases, possible protection against the professional leagues and lean times.

Giants Sell Reyes

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — New York Giants today announced the outright sale of first baseman Nap Reyes to their Jersey City farm club in the International League. Reyes, 30, has been out of organized ball since 1946 when he jumped to the Mexican League. He was reinstated last October. The Giants used him during spring training at both first and third base.

Player Trophy Awarded To Jean Vass; Championship Cups Given

The 1949-50 basketball season now history, the Girls' City Basketball League held Friday night its annual dinner and presentation of trophies in the YWCA.

Dr. Harold (Bun) Worton, guest speaker, told the members of the six teams that when the Greeks were holding their Olympic games every four years women were not allowed to take part in competitive sports. In fact, he added, women were not allowed to watch the games.

However the Greek women entered the competitive field of sports through the efforts of one unknown woman and her friends, who organized similar sports events to the men in the alternate years to the Olympic games. Men were not allowed to watch the women's competitions.

Dr. Worton said that women again turned to the competitive sports in the 20th century. A woman from Boston was the first to appear at a sports field in slacks in 1890. She was escorted from the polo field by policemen.

Basketball in the United States, said Dr. Worton, draws more spectators than any other sport. He explained that its growth in Canada is hindered by hockey, its no-body-contact appeal, and the lack of adequate floor space.

Dr. Worton was introduced by Miss Grace Calvert of the Civic Hospital and thanked by Miss Margaret Kennedy of the CGE quintet.

Jean Vass, spark plug of the senior city champions, Neill's, and of the Intermediate "B" champions of Ontario, Towne Togs, was awarded the trophy for the most valuable player to her team. The presentation was made by Miss Marion McKee, president of the league.

Mrs. William Ovens, honorary president of the league, presented the captains or assistant captains with the championship cups. The cups were received by Miss Dorothy Callan of the senior champion Neill's quintet, by Miss Margaret Beggs of the intermediate champion Black's quintet and by Miss Ruth Green of the junior champion Nurses quintet.

Miss C. F. Littlefield, physical director at the YWCA, conducted the presentation of gifts to the coaches, Jean Castle of Neill's, Hi Smith of Black's, Pat Doherty and Roger Hendren of Normals, Miss Grace Calvert and Miss Elsie Crawford of the Nurses seniors and juniors. Hi Smith and Isadore Black received gifts from the Towne lasses.

Miss Amy Curtis, secretary, presented gifts to Miss Littlefield, Miss McKee and Edward Gandy.

Between courses of the dinner served by girls from the Normal School Quirt McKinney and Mrs. Mildred McBride conducted a singsong of popular tunes. Mrs. T. J. Carley, president of the YWCA, said grace.

Giants Smash Buffalo In 10-5 Victory

By The Associated Press.

A couple of rookies up from Trenton (N. J.) of the Inter-State League, pitcher Tony West and first baseman Martin Blaylock, are going great guns for Jersey City Giants.

West, a 21-year-old righthander turned in his second International League victory and his second complete game of the season on Friday night as he pitched the Giants to a 10-5 victory over the defending pennant-winning Buffalo Bisons.

Blaylock, only 20, started West on the road to victory by banging a three-run homer in the first inning. The homer was his third of the young season.

The Giants sewed up the game with six more runs in the second inning to allow West to coast. West scattered 10 hits, walked seven and fanned nine.

Crush Cubs

Montreal Royals snowed under the Springfield Cubs, 14-4, behind a 14-hit bombardment and Omar (Turk) Lown's six-hit pitching. Damons Phillips collected four hits and George Schmees knocked in four runs to share batting honors.

Baltimore also went on a rampage, beating Toronto Maple Leafs 11-1. The Orioles belted out 13 hits including home runs by Babe Barna, Clyde Kluttz and Anse Moore. Irv Medlinger held the Leafs to seven blows and fanned eight.

A scheduled game between Rochester and Syracuse was postponed because of cold weather.

Senator Trip Fireman Joe Down Yankees In 5-4 Win

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

"Here's to Joe Page," remains Bucky Harris' favorite toast. Now the Washington manager celebrates Joe's home run ball, not his relief pitching.

Revenge must be sweet for the former New York Yankee pilot who was fired just after missing the 1948 pennant. For the second time in six days, his maligned Senators whipped Fireman Joe.

Steve Nagy, drafted from the Pacific Coast League for $10,000, turned back the world champions for the second time Friday night, 5-4. On top of that, he won the game with an inside-the-park homer off Page in the eighth inning.

Nagy's success is a feather in Harris' cap. He saw Steve win 15 for San Francisco last year when he was managing San Diego. On his advice, owner Clark Griffith drafted the 29-year-old southpaw

Have Triple Play

Bucky waited until he hit the Yankee Stadium to give Nagy his first chance. He started last Saturday and went all the way to grab a 10-inning decision. Friday night was his second start.

In the third, when the Yankees took a 2-0 lead, Washington pulled a triple play.

Bobby Feller, cut in salary and demoted to No. 2 boy on the Cleveland staff, is taking it out on American League batters.

Bobby Squirmed on the bench while Bob Lemon took the opening day assignment—and lost. He didn't pitch the second game either. Manager Lou Boudreau waited until Cleveland went to St. Louis a week ago. Feller came through with a fine five-hitter, striking out eight.

Bob picked up win No. 2 Friday cutting down the onrushing Detroit Tigers with eight hits, 6-1. Last year Feller didn't win his second game until June 14.

Boston welcomed their "Fenway Park cousins—the Philadelphia A's—with a 4-1 victory behind Mel Parnell. Not since Sept. 12, 1948 have the A's won a game at Boston.

Rained Out

The Chicago-St. Louis game in the American was rained out after 2½ scoreless innings.

Cincinnati finally got in the win column by whipping Chicago 3-1.

Ralph Kiner took matters into his own hands in the seventh inning with a two-run homer that gave Pittsburgh a 4-3 edge over St. Louis Cards.

Curt Simmons pitched like the $65,000 bonus beauty he was supposed to be three years ago, when Philadelphia Phillies downed Boston 6-1 in a night game. Simmons gave only three hits and chipped in with two singles in the 14-hit attack that routed Johnny Sain.

Rookie Dan Bankhead came to the rescue of Don Newcombe in Brooklyn's 5-3 victory over New York Giants before 39,090 night customers at the Polo Grounds.

Mayor Suggests Sweepstakes To Earn Money

TORONTO, April 29 — (CP) — Mayor E. C. Sargent, of Owen Sound, Friday suggested sweepstakes as a means of providing municipalities with additional money and relieve them of some financial worry, but indicated satisfaction if they could be cut in on provincial taxes on horse-racing, which run into millions each year.

His brief, presented to the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves conference, added comment on the problem of insufficient money to finance responsibilities, a problem that has been the centre of discussions at the conference ending today.

He said a provincial-municinal division of horse-racing revenue would be only the second best approach to the problem but sweepstakes, the best method, was illegal.

Another Idea

Mayor Sargent had another suggestion to make. He advocated municipal income taxes to help municipalities bear the costs of education and social services.

The income tax idea would be aimed at getting extra taxes from large income groups living outside the city limits and avoiding heavier property taxes. He thought it fair that persons be taxed on the basis of income earned from a community.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar told the conference he is opposed to a practice followed by some municipalities that grants fixed assessments or tax exemptions to attract new industries.

"Industry should stand on its own feet," he said. "It should not have to receive a subsidy from the taxpayers."

He said also that "it's impossible to equalize assessments all over the province but we will try to see that the assessment system is fair and equitable."

The conference is scheduled to end at noon today. Before it does it will vote on a number of resolutions and receive the report of the nominations committee.

Recapture 3 Girls

Identify Suicide

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — A man who plunged 130 feet to his death from an east-end viaduct over the Don River was identified late Friday as John W. Jones. Identification of the man, between 55 and 60, was made difficult by the fact that all labels and tags had been torn from his suit.

Menjou Misses Glamor Boys In New Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 29 (AP) Adolphe Menjou, whose dapper moustache and fancy garb have been familiar on the screen since 1912, bemoans the lack of glamor boys in films today.

"Women now seem to prefer the rugged he-man type like Burt Lancaster and Paul Douglas," said the movie veteran. "About the only glamor boy left is Errol Flynn.

"But, of course, this kind of thing runs in cycles. In a few years there may be a return to the Valentino type."

While male stars are no longer of the glamor type, he said, the women are. In fact, he believes the young actresses are so overglamorized that they seem to be turned out with factory precision.

All Look Alike

"They all look alike to me," he remarked. "The established stars like Barbara Stanwyck, Claudette Colbert and others are individualistic. But it's hard to recognize the new type."

Menjou is now performing in his 210th picture, "To Please a Lady." He is generally considered the suave man of the world in films, but he doesn't think of himself in that type.

"I have done a lot of other roles, too, he said. "I don't know how that impression of me got started. Now I'm stuck with it."

Carey Confuses Corey

Wendell Corey is mad at Macdonald Carey. Nothing personal, mind you. In fact, they're good friends. But Corey is always getting confused with Carey.

Some time ago a magazine ran a picture of Corey. Under the photo was the caption "Macdonald Carey." Then a local reviewer praised Corey's job in "South Sea Sinner," which happened to star Carey. Just last week a columnist ran an interview with Corey, calling him Macdonald Carey.

Now Corey and Carey are going to star in a Western together and Wendell expects utter chaos.

Hmm, some night I'd like to have Corey and Carey over for shrimp curry. Maybe they could bring along Eve Curie and Harry Carey, Jr.

New Technique Tested Against Cancer

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) —A new and apparently more effective method was announced today of using the "nitrogen mustards"—one-time poison gas materials—against human cancer.

"Remarkable" shrinkage of treated tumors and complete relief of pain in 10 hopelessly advanced cases were described by the American Cancer Society.

Seven of the 10 have died but all responded to some extent to treatment. The shrinkage occurred, however, only in tumors directly treated. Related, but non-treated growths, were not diminished.

The new method enables doctors to concentrate virtually the full wallop of the nitrogen mustards against certain tumors.

Up to now, such chemicals have been injected into the veins of patients. Used that way, they have had only limited usefulness, being spread throughout the whole body, with diluted effect.

New Technique

Under the new method, they are injected not into veins but into arteries directly feeding specific cancer areas. Thus used, they have shown an ability in preliminary trials to affect types of cancer unresponsive to the other technique.

The scientists have launched a search for some other chemical which might make the new technique more effective.

The "encouraging" results in to hopeless malignancies of the brain, mouth, nose, neck and leg were reported by researchers of George Washington University's Department of Surgery.

They warned that severe reactions—including convulsions—can accompany the treatment, adding that injudicious use might produce the death of all normal tissue within a treated area. Small doses are used.

The American Cancer Society, which supported the research and made public the report, said that one patient's brain tumor "had so impaired his vision that he was able to distinguish only light from dark. After treatment he was able to read large newsprint."

Both institutions emphasized the technique is still experimental and for the present will be tried only in cases beyond help by other methods.

They cautioned further that in its present stage of development, at least, the method does not constitute a chemical cure for cancer in the same way that surgery, radium of X-ray can sometimes cure the disease.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A United States table tennis team came within one victory Friday night of winning the championship on the opening day of the world table tennis tournament.

The Americans, Ralph Bast, of Chicago, John Somael, New York, and George Hendry, St. Louis, Mo., won four singles and one doubles match to take the commanding lead.

The event, held in Montreal for the first time in history, will go into finals tonight.

The Canadian team is made up of Lionel Cloutier, Paul Belanger, Henri Rochon and J. J. Desjardins, all of Montreal.

A Province of Quebec team defeated Ontario 6-2 in the interprovincial championships. A singles win by Canadian singles champion, Henri Rochon, gave the Quebec squad the necessary victories.

Washington Senators came up with a triple play the hard way at home Friday night against New York Yankees.

With the Yanks leading 2-0 in the third inning and Fred Sanford on third and Phil Rizzuto on first Gerry Coleman sent a looping fly into short right.

It appeared to be a certain hit but Eddie Stewart raced in from deep right, caught the ball at his shoestrings and whipped it to Eddie Robinson, catching Rizzuto off first. The first baseman then threw to catcher Mickey Grasso who tagged Sanford as he tried to score.

Chicago White Sox Friday announced a deal for outfielder Dick Wakefield of New York Yankees, involving outfielder Johnny Ostrowski of the White Sox and an unannounced sum of cash.

Wakefield was acquired by the Yankees from Detroit Tigers last winter in a swap for first sacker Dick Kryhosski. He will fly here to join the White Sox in Sunday's double-header against the Tigers.

Reserve Judgment

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Friday reserved judgment in the appeal of Hugh H. Sutherland, convicted in Sarnia last October of fraud in connection with sale of stock in Grantland Gold Ltd. He was sentenced to six months and fined $20,000. His business partner, William B. Banford, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years less a day, turned crown witness at Sutherland's trial.

Chrysler Talks Fail Again, Still Trying

DETROIT, April 29 (AP) — Negotiators striving to settle the Chrysler strike failed again today after all-night talks.

Weary and red-eyed, the company and CIO United Auto Workers representatives quit shortly before 6 a.m. EST but set up another meeting for 1 p.m.

For a second time within 72 hours, the talks had gone virtually around the clock.

As the strike entered its 95th day, at least a slim hope remained for a week-end agreement to send 89,000 strikers back to work.

This had been the evident hope of the latest marathon negotiation session of nearly 20 hours.

At the same time neither the company nor the union would make any comment on such a possibility.

Chrysler and the UAW were reported still deadlocked over non-economic issues.

However, Federal mediator E. Marvin Sconyers and State mediator Noel P. Fox said "we have made progress."

"We're going to keep on pounding until we reach a settlement," the mediators said.

The financing of $100 a month pensions, original cause of the strike, already has been settled substantially.

Issues of union security and the company-union grievance setup are said to remain in dispute along with certain pension particulars.

Heavy Jail Terms

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — A federal judge Friday staggered two counterfeiters with prison terms of 25 years each—heaviest ever imposed in the United States in such a case. Two other convicted bad money passers drew lesser terms. Judge Patrick Stone levelled a stern gaze at 33-year-old Anthony Chiarella of New York, and John J. Stancin, also 33, of Los Angeles. Then he handed them the record sentences of 25 years each.

Oil Industry Has 300 Million Program

SARNIA, April 29 (CP) — A $300,000,000 program for development of Canada's oil industry will be undertaken this year, G. L. Stewart, president of Imperial Oil Limited, told the company's annual meeting Friday.

In 1949, expenditures of the industry for oil finding and attendant developments were $100,000,000 or more and in 1950 they will be even greater. Together with outlays for new refining capacity, for pipelines and tankers and for other induced expenditures, they will approximate $300,000,000—which is equivalent to 10 per cent of the total private capital expenditures that are expected to be made in Canada this year."

Mr. Stewart said Imperial's sales figures for the first three months of 1950 show an over-all increase of 19 per cent over sales for the corresponding period last year. He did not give the figures.

Aids Institutions

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Charitable, religious and educational institutions will benefit by the will of the late Mrs. Ella Rogers Firth, probate of the $568,885 will revealed Friday. A large block of Imperial Oil shares was divided among several institutions. They include: Crippled Children's Foundation of Ontario, 500 shares; Pickering College, Newmarket, Ont., 1,000 shares.

T.B. Death Rate Down

KITCHENER, April 29 (CP) — Waterloo county's tuberculosis death rate dropped to a low of 6.1 for every 100,000 persons in 1949 Dr. S. J. Hawkins, superintendent of the Freeport Sanatorium, told the County Health Association annual meeting Friday The rate compares with 9.8 in 1948, and with the national rate of 37.1 for the same year.

Bill Fails To Pass

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP) — A perennial CCF bill to make it mandatory for employers' to collect union dues at the request of employees failed to gain passage in the Common Friday night. Labor Minister Mitchell opposed it, and he was still talking against the measure when the Friday night hour for private members' bills expired.

Dr. Fauteux Dies

MONTREAL, April 29 (CP) — Dr. Mercier Fauteux, 53, internationally known for his research work on heart disease, died at his home early Friday following a brief illness. Dr. Fauteux was a brother of Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, former speaker in the House of Commons, and Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Manitobans Return To Old Way of Travel—Walking

By NORMAN MICHIE.

WINNIPEG, April 29 (CP).—The Red River's spring floods have turned back the clock in Southern Manitoba.

Along its 60-mile stretch from here to the border town of Emerson, cars, tractors and trucks have been discarded. With shiny binders and other farm implements they are spotted wherever a few square feet of high ground can be found.

Replacing them are the old stand-bys — horses, stone-boats, rafts, and that most primitive of all forms of transportation, the feet.

Duck Tours Area

A Canadian Army duck, an ungainly amphibian with the profile of a scow and the versatility of an alligator, took us on a quick tour of Morris, St. Jean Baptiste, Letellier, and Emerson on Thursday.

Water, snow and ice were evtrywhere. The entire east side of the highway was a lake as far as the eye could reach. Long stretches of road were under water as deep as 10 feet. Farmyards on both sides were only a collection of tilted, submerged buildings.

With owners patrolling their sunken acreages in rafts or homemade boats, stock was turned out to fend for itself.

Float Over Bridge

Near St. Jean, our last sight of the road was a half-submerged "double-reverse" sign. Before us was a narrow steel bridge. Our driver-pilot, plotting his course by guesswork to miss striking the under-water guard rails, brought us up-current to the approach and floated across the bridge.

Nearing Emerson, we made a wide detour because the clearance under a railway bridge was only enough for a prone man on a raft.

Two-thirds of the town was under 3 to 10 feet of water. RCMP and Army officials travelled entirely by boat. A few buildings were sandbagged at the entrance, but the water flowed sluggishly through most.

Robert Crocker Will Minister In Lethbridge

The ordination in June of Robert John Crocker of Peterborough in the ministry of the Anglican Church will be the realization of a purpose that budded in his boyhood.

Mr. Crocker is the son of Mr and Mrs. Roy W. Crocker, 35 Conger St. His father is manager of the Grand Hotel, George St.

A member of the graduating class of Trinity College, University of Toronto, this week, Mr Crocker will be ordained on Sunday May 7, by Rt. Rev. H. R. Ragg, D.D., Bishop of Calgary, at the church of St. Michael and All Angels, St. Clair Ave., Toronto.

His bishop has already assigned him to St. Augustine's Church in Lethbridge, Alberta, effective June 15. The beginning of that incumbency will follow the marriage of Mr. Crocker to Miss Dorothy Johnston, Toronot, June 1 in St. Cyprian's Church, Toronto.

Mr. Crocker was born in London, Ont., 28 years ago, and came to Peterborough with his parents when he was six years old. He received most of his Public School education here, and is a graduate of Peterborough Collegiate Institute. From school he went into the Canadian Army in the war against Hitler, and spent five years and a half in the service, finally with the Queen's Own Rifles.

ROBERT JOHN CROCKER

When Bishop Ragg was visiting Trinity College several years ago, he was attracted to the young divinity students from Peterborough, and arranged with him to spend the last two summers in parish work in the Anglican diocese of Calgary.

It was then that Bishop Ragg made a paternal claim on Mr. Crocker for the western church. The proposal was heartily accepted. Mr. Crocker wished to begin his ministry in the Calgary diocese, and so he has received the appointment to Augustine's Church in Lethbridge.

Small boys have many transient fancies of what they are going to be when they grow up. Some of them playing with toy airplanes think briefly, perhaps, of a future in the air. Train sets the thoughts of others to being engineers, and so on. From that corresponding age, Robert John Crocker used to say that he wished to be a preacher, and that desire remained with him as a choir boy under Fred Mann at St. John's Anglican Church, through the years of the war, reaching the final step of fulfilment when he entered Trinity College.

A NEW LINK BETWEEN Canada and South America was established recently when the cargo liner Ciudad de Maracaibo opened service between Montreal and three South American countries. Holiday Schedule In Factories, August Popular

The first week of August is the most popular week in the summer months for holidays, a survey conducted throughout the Peterborough industries by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce show.

During that week this year 6815 employees from 12 factories will be holidaying. The last week in July is the second most popular week as eight plants will shut-down giving 5975 workers their annual vacation. Only two factories are planning to shut down during the first two weeks of July.

The third week of July is the least popular for holidays with only 150 employees basking in the sun. Two plants wil close the second week in August.

The survey was conducted to help the retail and resort members of the chamber as well as the local dairies and bread companies.

The holiday schedule of the Peterborough factories is as follows: First two weeks of July: Westclox and Quaker Oats. Third and fourth weeks, Raybestos: Fourth week of July and the first in August, Brinton-Peterborough Carpet, C.G.E., Colonial Weaving, DeLaval, Dominion Woollens, Peterborough Lock (tentative), A Wander Ltd. First week in August, Canadian Nashua Paper, McGinnis Trailers, Peterborough Lumber; First and second weeks of August, the Outboard Marines, the Peterborough Canoe Company.

Canadians Getting Chance To Play On London Stage

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, April 29 —(CP)— Londoners, one of whose ideas of fun is to imitate the "American" accent, have just seen it displace the King's English in yet another theatre.

The opening of "Detective Story" by Sid Kingsley brings to six the number of imports from the United States now on London boards. Incidentally, it gives yet another outlet for the talent of Canadian actors seeking fame on the British stage.

Douglass Montgomery, film star veteran of Canadian Army Service, is the play's detective McLeod, for whom good and evil are simply as black and white.

The supporting cast includes four from Toronto — Charles Farrell, who was born there but now calls himself a Londoner; Jon Farrell (no relation), former reporter and editor on Vancouver, Edmonton and Toronto newspapers; Ann Lewis and Austin Willis, film actor who here has his first London stage role.

Also appearing are Ottawa's Virginia Bedard, Warren Stanhope from Vancouver and Ronan O'Casey of Montreal.

Battles Laryngitis

Montgomery, six feet tall and with a youthful appearance belying his 40 years, battered a laryngitis handicap through opening night and between performances was forbidden by his doctor to speak.

An affable type and easy to talk to, Montgomery was born in Los Angeles, the son of a Brantford jeweler and his American wife. The family had settled there, where the stage early attracted young Douglass.

He joined the Canadian Army in the war, having previously come to like the Dominion while travelling on eastern theatrical circuits.

He has never looked back, he says, since his "command performance" in "The Way to the Stars." Other films include "The Cat and the Canary" and "Woman to Woman," while earlier, under the name of Kent Douglass, he made "Paid" with Joan Crawford and "Daughter of Luxury" with Marion Davies.

As Douglass Montgomery, he appeared in Hollywood versions of "Little Women" and "Waterloo Bridge." Both pictures have been remade since.

May Transfer Polish Hospital

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — A move is under way to transfer the Paderewski Memorial Hospital from Edinburg to Toronto, it was revealed Friday.

The Civic Advisory Committee on hospital facilities will meet next Thursday with S. Boguslawski, a representative of the Toronto committee of the Paderewski Testimonial Fund.

Dr. J. T. Phair, Ontario Deputy Health Minister, is expected to attend.

Mr. Boguslawski said in a letter to Mayor Hiram McCallum: "The Paderewski fund, since it is in a way trying to donate this hospital to the city, feels that perhaps the municipality would assist in realization of this plan by assisting in procuring a building for the hospital."

Canadian immigration authorities have been approached about the proposal to transfer the hospital's personnel as well as its equipment, it was learned. The equipment available is sufficient to operate a 250-bed hospital.

Mr. Boguslawski said the proposal was made because of Canada's record in accepting former members of the Polish armed forces and thousands of Polish displaced persons.

Community Sale Receipts Total $50,000

BONARLAW, April 29 (ENS)— The community sale at the farm of Frank Williams, Hoard's Station, on Monday, was the largest ever held. Thousands of people attended and the sale continued until 4.30 Tuesday morning. The ladies' organization who operate the booth were busy until 12.30 a.m. and showed a profit of $130. The auction sale amounted to over $50,000.

Peterborough Food, Clothes Aid Grenfell's Labrador

Peterborough people who so generously contributed clothing and funds to the Grenfell Labrador Medical Missions a year ago are being asked again to help. It seems as though worthiness of this sause had impressed Peterborough, for there is already a small trickle of parcels being taken to the Grafton Clothing Company basement.

A letter from Miss K. C. Hodgson of Harrington Harbor, P. Q., to the Peterborough secretary, shows that a torrent of clothing, instead of a trickle, is required. The letter says:

"What a splendid amount of clothing we received from Peterborough last year. Thank you and your contributors very much All the things have been so useful, I cannot tell you how grateful we are.

"The large consignment of new things, flannelette night gowns, yard goods, pullovers, table cloths and sheets, combinations and baby clothes have been especially useful.

"It was so thoughtful to send the special carton of food to be used at any place that ran out of supplies; I expect you read of the great shortage at St. Mary's and Battle Harbour, due largely to special complications arising from Confederation. Merchants, afraid of being left with large stocks of goods on which Newfoundland duty had been paid, cut their stocks below safety limits or closed their stores altogether. We hope that such a crisis will never occur again. There will always be familes who are short of supplies and illnes emergencies where we are able to rush your extra food supplies. Your interest means so much to the people on this coast."

Opportune Time

This is the cause for which the Peterborough branch is working and asking again for support from all, and they feel, that spring house cleaning time is the most opportune to assemble their clothing bales. Housewives who wonder what to do with too-small wearing apparell, pieces of curtain or any materials, trimmings, buttons, toys and games, are being urged to set them aside for the Grenfell people.

Clothing requirement are diapers, flannelette nightgowns, heavy wool socks, sweaters and windbreakers and for the new Mission hospital at Harrington Harbour, pillow slips and sheets. Mission executives urge that citizens who would earnestly support this cause, might buy articles as their contributions if stocks are low at home.

Harrington Hospital, for which funds were raised a year ago, was built and opened in December 1949 but there is still a large debt load, executives say. Cash contributions are again being solicited and should be sent to treasurer Mrs. F. M. Somerville, 16 Inverlea St., telephone 5914. Clothing bales will be sorted, packed and shipped early in June from the basement of Grafton's.

Nurses Prepare For New War

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Canada's nurse-training plans must take into consideration the possibility of another war, the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association was told Friday night.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the association's silver jubilee dinner, Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, estimated Canada's present nursing supply was still 8,200 short.

Training classes of 4,000 annually netted only 750 additions to nursing strength because of death, retirements, withdrawals, marriage and removal to other countries.

Meanwhile new hospital beds would call for "at least 7,500 more nursing staff by 1952-53," the prominent welfare worker said.

HUGE COUNTRY

Brazil, with an area of 3,286,170 square miles, had an estimated population of 48,450,000 in 1948.

Organist Dies

NAPANEE, April 29 (CP) — Prof. William Randolph Eppes, 76, organist at the Church of Mary Magdalene, Anglican, for the last 25 years, died Friday. He was born in Quebec city and received his musical education in Quebec and in England.

Good Friends Now

COLCHESTER, Essex. Eng.,— (CP) — Jack and Albert are friends in the hospital. They play cards from neighboring beds, seldom recalling that the last time they met, Jack, who is a police man, arrested Albert, a street trader, for a trading offence.

"YEAH? AND THEN YOU . . ."—Young Robert Heany, hard riding bronc buster of the Montreal range, lends an ear to some pertinent tips on horsemanship from an obliging police officer. Cowboy Heany is typical of Montreal's youngest set which is a-heading west in style, wearing them thar britches and shirts and packing them gem-studded guns and holsters.

Visit to Famous Monuments Paris From Eiffel Tower

By JEAN E. STENTON.

Paris, April. — It wasn't Parisiens who showed me Paris, but rather I who introduced them to close-ups of such places as the Eiffel Tower and the Arc de Triomphe. In spite of the years my friends have lived here, they had never visited some of these famous monuments. So it was an occasion for all of us.

One of the most beautiful sights is the double view which can be seen at the Eiffel Tower. From the Tower one sees the lovely pools and building opposite, known as the Palais Chaillot. It was built for the 1937 Exposition. From the palace, you face the grandiose, Eiffel Tower, a landmark from any direction in Paris.

Jean Stenton

The bottom of the palace pools are studded with tiny spray arrangements. On special occasions, all these little fountains are turned on and the effect is gorgeous. At the tower, which took 12 years to build, we rode up to the second stop on the elevator. From here, the visitor has a wonderful view of all Paris.

But I think my favorite is the Arc de Triomphe de l'Etoile. This is the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier where a flame burns night and day in memory. It faces on the great Champs-Elysses, the city's smartest street.

Beautiful Spot

This monument was ordered built by Napoleon to celebrate the victories of the great French army. There are four beautiful pieces of sculpture on the outside of the monument On the front are "the Marseillaise" and "the Depart" by Rude and "the Resistance and Peace" by Etex and "the Triumph" by Corlot on the back. There are as many stones in the circle around it as victories by Napoleon. All sovereigns who have come to Paris have passed under the Arch.

In tribute to its great writer, Victor Hugo, the people of Paris placed his coffin under the Arc de Triomphe in 1885 before it was committed to the Pantheon.

The square where this monument is built is the Place de l'Etoile (Star). In the beginning of the 18th century when construction was begun, the spot was considered an inaccessible mountain. Workers had to dig and flatten the mount and level the other side before it could be used.

View From Top

By taking an elevator to the top of the Arch, you get a magnificent view of the city. It is called the Star because the main boulevards in the centre of the city meet there in the shape of a star. In every direction, there are broad, beautiful streets which all run at angles into the base of the Arc de Triomphe. Looking down, you can see the road surrounding the monument has been paved with red and blue bricks which form a star around the base and these are the colors of Paris. Glancing down at the Champs-Elysees late in the afternoon, the street is jammed with what appear to be hundreds of toy cars darting hither and yon. It is an amazing sight.

Another delightful spot is the Tuilleries Gardens. We visited there on a warm, sunny spring day. Hundreds of chairs were scattered around the grounds. At either end is a beautiful pool. Here the children rent long, bamboo poles like fishing poles and white sailboats and sail them there. They are very colorful.

At one gate you have a view of the Place de la Concorde and the Obelisk; the Champs-Elysees avenue, Arc de Triomphe and behind that Avenue de la Grande Armee. The Arc, which fades into a blue haze in the distance seems to fit the gate of the gardens exactly. To the left of the obelisk, the Eiffel Tower stands out sharply.

Second View

From the other end, there is the Arc de Triomphe de Carousel at the gate. This is a smaller edition of the Arc de Triomphe de l'Etoile. It was built to celebrate Napoleon's victories at Austerlitz etc. This faces on the Louvre, famous palace and art gallery. It is an immense building which forms a square on three sides, the fourth side opening onto the street. Between the Louvre and the Arch are some magnificently designed flower gardens. Back of the Louvre, is the Palaise Royal which now houses the Conseil d'Etat. There is a colonnaded walk and pool.

I strolled up the Place Vendome where it almost costs a fortune just to look at the windows of the famous stores there such as Paquin's. The stores are built all around the square where the Column Vendome stands in the centre. It too was erected for the soldiers of Napoleon's Great Army, and the monument was built from the brass of the cannon which the French soldiers captured in their battles. All over the column, are tiny carvings depicting the battles which the Army won.

For those interested in shopping, with the price a little lower than in the Place Vendome, there are the Arcades on the rue de Rivoli, opposite the Tuilleries Gardens. Here the shop fronts open onto a huge, covered sidewalk.

To visit Paris' beautiful buildings and parks in the spring, under a soft sun is an unforgettable experience.

Borotra's Plea Fails

PARIS, April 28 (AP)—A dramatic plea by former tennis star Jean Borotra Thursday failed to save his former wife from a 10-year forced labor sentence. Tried in absentia under the name of Mabel de Forest, she was accused of having been an informer for the German Gestapo. She has been ill and is living in a Swiss sanatorium.

Prisoner Admits 15 Fraud Counts

KITCHENER, April 29 (CP)—A man who has been almost continuously in prison since 1920 admitted 16 charges, 15 of fraud and one of theft, in a brief hearing in court here Friday.

The accused, George Swan, no fixed address, was remanded until Monday for sentence.

He was arrested April 13 by acting detective Charles Bignell who told the court that Swan had been working a racket in a score of Ontario cities.

Charges to which he pleaded guilty today included the following centres: Guelph, Brampton, Waterloo, London, Kitchener (3), Windsor (2), Brantford (3), Woodstock, Chatham, Port Dalhousie and Stratford.

Bignell said that Swan admitted in a statement that he had started his activities soon after being deported from the United States last August.

He approached householders with spurious news of their having won a major raffle prize which would be delivered later. He then offered to take cash orders for certain household goods at bargain prices, leaving receipts in one of the nine aliases he admitted using.

Board Urges Go-Ahead For Seaway

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) The Federal Power Commission Friday urged Congress to give the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project an immediate go-ahead.

Roger B. McWhorter, the Power Commission's chief engineer, told the House of Representatives Public Works Committee it is time the people of the United States and Canada be allowed to "enjoy the great navigation and power benefits which have so long been denied them."

Philip B. Fleming, chairman of the US Maritime Commission, also urged construction of the project to give the US "a fourth seaboard."

Fleming said that the Maritime Commission "has always taken the position that the St. Lawrence seaway project is one of the primary requisites to the realization of the full maritime potentials of the nation.

McWorther said he was reflecting the power commission's views on a bill to authorize the start of work on the dual project estimated to cost some $800,000,000.

McWorther stressed the power feature, but said in his statement: "It is neither possible nor necessary to determine at this time which of these projects is, or will prove to be, the more important. Each of them is unquestionably of major importance and neither should be delayed further."

"At only one other remaining site in the United States can so much water power be developed," he said, "and significantly it, too, is in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Basin—on the Niagara River.

"At these two sites the cheapest and best hydro-electric power in the United States is potentially available. But it is still running to waste, benefitting nobody."

Market For Hydro

He said there is a market for four times as much power as the St. Lawrence plant could produce and suggested it be tied into a program to develop power resources on the Niagara River and New England streams.

The project contemplates (1) providing a channel by which ocean-going vessels may travel from the Atlantic Ocean into the Great Lakes and (2) constructing of a mammoth hydro-electric power development on the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence River.

Canada and the United States would share in the cost and Canada would get some of the power.

Former War Prisoner Gets Off With Pep Talk

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29—(ENS)—Three charges of assault against Fred McArthur were withdrawn at police court here Thursday.

Crown Attoney Harry R. Deyman said that he was reluctant to withdraw the charges but had consented. McArthur was reminded this was not the first time he had been taken into court on an assault charge, and that while the court appreciated the fact he had been a prisoner of war at Hong Kong and that his nerves were in bad shape, it could not condone his actions.

He was advised to take some form of treatment for his nerves.

McArthur agreed and also agreed to pay for all damage which resulted from the assault.

LT. RIESEBERG: Thirty fathoms down, a second look.

Treasure Hunter To Revisit Fabulous City Under Sea

By NEA Service

SOUTH GATE, Calif. (ENA) — Sometime this spring, a lumbering tank-like tractor will slowly edge down the streets of a city that has been visited but once since 1692. And, to make the adventure even more bizarre, the city is now under the Caribbean Sea.

At the controls of the tractor will be Lieut. Harry E. Rieseberg, a California daredevil deep-sea diver. It was in 1935 that Rieseberg, hunting pirate treasure on sunken Spanish galleons off Kingston, Jamaica, stumbled into Port Royal, a fabulous city destroyed by an earthquake and tidal wave in 1692.

Now, with a costly expedition to back him up, Rieseberg is going back to Port Royal, the city under 30 fathoms. For 15 years, he's been dreaming and planning to revisit Port Royal. What he saw in 1935 is worth a second look.

He stood on the ocean floor. All around him were crumbled relics of buildings, now encrusted with dazzling coral formations. Brilliant tropical fish swam in and out of 200-year-old windows.

All alone, he didn't have the equipment to venture too far from his salvage ship. But he could see other streets, other buildings.

Back on shore, Rieseberg learned that Port Royal was the lair of fabulous pirates in the 17th Century.

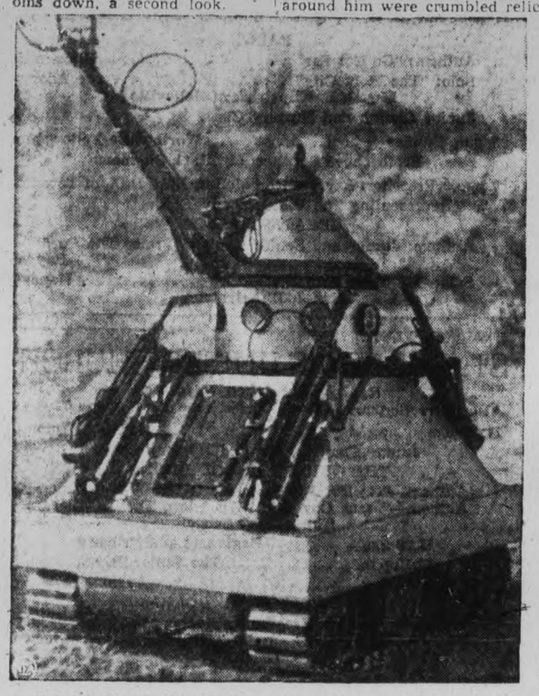
It was known as the richest—and wickedest—city in the world. Captive girls, bedecked in plundered finery, presided over tables set with gold and silver. Then, in 1692, the whole city and 5000 people were plunged under the sea.

Rieseberg thought that some of the pirates' treasure might still be in the water-covered buildings of Port Royal. At least there would be relics of a glamorous, adventurous age to be found in the waterlogged ghost town.

Together with Charles G. Warren, he designed and is completing the tank-tractor. With this monster he'll be able to roam the streets of Port Royal.

The adventure will be filmed by Hollywood cameramen, in color. The actual salvage operations will be part of a forthcoming movie, based on a book he wrote called "I Dived for Treasure," in which he tells of his 25-year hunt for wealth under the seas.

Thus far he's recovered more than $100,000 from ancient wrecks in Central American and West Indian waters. He's sure Port Royal will be his greatest hunting grounds.



RIESEBERG'S TRACTOR — From this model, he's building a big one to plow the street — and treasure — of an undersea city.

Opening Door To Make Turn Said Dangerous

When you see the left door of a car fly open, what does it mean to you?

Do you expect to see the driver come tumbling out? Is he about to leap out and let his car go roaring on into the front of some store as they do in the movies? Or has the driver's door merely opened by accident

The answer is none of these. The chances are the driver is merely going to make a left turn. This may surprise a number of people, but for some, it's an old trick.

Apparently a few staunch individualists have been making this signal for a left turn for years and if other drivers didn't know what was coming, so much the worse for them.

However the perseverance of the individualists is being rewarded. The practice seems to be gaining wider use in Peterborough. People who spend a lot of time wandering around the downtown streets more and more often see car doors open just before the driver turns left.

These motorists are apparently flaunting numerous dangers. There is always the possibility, they maybe opening it into the path of another car passing them. A bicyclist may be about to pass.

As well, there is the chance the driver will lose his balance and tumble headlong into the street. A few car doors open from the front and the force of the air may be enough to yank the driver out as he is opening the door.

But worst of all the accident may land you in court. And there it will be no use to say you signalled a left turn by opening your door. Recently an Ontario judge ruled that the opened door was not a legal signal.

Police here also say it is not a recognized signal. You must either put out your hand or use a mechanical signal arm on your car.

However, apparently, its a common practice in northern Ontario, especially in Fort William and Port Arthur. So if you want to open your door to signal a turn, you can go to—Fort William.

Amos' Warning To Successful But Ungodly Individuals

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Some eight centuries before Christ, Amos lived and prophesied in the Northern Kingdom of Israel. That is a long time ago, and if the prophecy of Amos has any meaning or application for today, it is because Amos spoke some timeless word of God concerning man's right relation to God, and man's just and right relation to his fellowmen.

These words apply to every age and society, and particularly to our own time.

Amos prophesied in the Northern Kingdom of Israel, and before we look into the life and conditions in that kingdom, it might be well to look ahead and see what happened to a kingdom that disregarded the words of Amos and his plea for personal integrity and social righteousness.

In not much more than a hundred years that kingdom went down in ruin before the invading hosts of Syria, never to be re-established, and its scattered people came to be known in history as "the Lost Ten Tribes of Israel."

There is a warning for all in what happens to seemingly prosperous, but ungodly, individuals, in their tragedy and downfall, "Therefore, let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall!"

And there is a similar warning in the fate of those nations which, even in the hour of their greatest prosperity, neglect the elemental matters of righteousness and social justice. If righteousness exalteth a nation, it is equally true that unrighteousness corrupts and destroys.

The great significance of some of the Minor Prophets is that they spoke and wrote in times of the greatest seeming prosperity, when no great peril loomed, when many lived in extravagance and luxury, and the evidences of wealth were on every hand.

The significance of this is that these prophets saw beneath the surface into the evils and unjust conditions that were sapping the foundations of this seeming prosperity. They saw the neglect of the poor and needy, the exploitation and oppression, the false standards and evil in personal living.

Deeper than all, they saw the perversion and corruption of religion itself, which made much of formal observance of rites and sacrifices, but which neglected the weightier matters of the law and justice, and had nothing of the sacrifice of contrite hearts.

Much of this is observed in details; in what the prophets saw and in what they rebuked, and in the way in which they rebuked it. Our attention just now is upon Amos, a herdsman, or farmer, a clear-eyed man of the out-of-doors, who came into the city, and spoke plainly to city people about what he found there.

We shall see how much of what he said strikes home at our life today.

Inner Circle Of Apostles Witnessed Transfiguration

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus was transfigured before them.—St. Matt. 17:2.

It is interesting to know before whom the Lord was transfigured; before Peter, James and John, the inner circle of the Apostles, men who had a closer touch with the spirituality of their Master.

There was a crisis in the Teacher's ministry. In the eyes of the Jewish church authorities He was a revolutionist; teaching heresy against them. The disciples were plain Jews, taught to reverence Church authority and they were deeply shocked. On the other hand the mass of the people did not look upon Him as a revolutionist, who would lead them against the hated Romans.

St. Peter had discovered His secret: 'Thou art the Christ". But it was only part of the secret. They are to be convinced that He is "The Lamb of God; both priest and victim. Through His willing obedience He is to offer himself "as a full, perfect and sufficient sacrifice, for the sins of the whole world". The inner circle was to learn that his rejection and crucifixion was indeed the will of God.

St. Luke tells us that He was transfigured "as He was praying. Consciously the Lord had placed himself in the presence of the Father". He poured out his soul in intense prayer and supplication. To Him as a real man the future looked dreadful. Something of that is implied in the later words "He set his face steadfastly to go to Jerusalem". As He was praying the glory of God came upon Him; the sense of that Presence filled his heart with such joy that His face did shine as the sun.

There stood with him Moses and Elijah, representing the law and the prophets. They spake of his decease, his exodus, his going forth which he was to accomplish in Jerusalem. The appearance of Moses and Elijah would satisfy the apostles that He was not a law breaker, a revolutionist. Moreover the three saw something of His divine glory. They saw the mysterious change in his body. It became etherialized, to use a modern word. It helped them to understand his resurrection.

St. Paul teaches that Christ must be formed in you: a slow growth. Christ must become incarnate in you by the Holy Spirit. A missionary woman was preaching to a crowd of natives in India telling them how Jesus loved the people, healed their sick and comforted them. When she paused a voice exclaimed "Lady, we have seen your Jesus; he lives in our village". Later she discovered that an old catechist has retired to that village and cared for all in need. The villagers recognized the word picture. "We have seen your Jesus". Is this the testimony of your neighbours about you.

WE BEHELD HIS GLORY, THE GLORY AS OF THE ONLY BEGOTTEN OF THE FATHER, FULL OF GRACE AND TRUTH. GREAT IS THE MYSTERY OF GODLINESS, GOD WAS MADE MANIFEST IN THE FLESH.

Infant Baptism Refused By Bethany Minister, Contrary To His Conscience

By DAVE WHITE

A Bethany minister's conscience has come between him and his United Church vows, and the rift now seems beyond repair. Either he or United Church doctrine is wrong on the subject of infant baptism, according to his view. And he claims the backing of Holy Writ. The Rev. W. N. Crandall, B.A., of Bethany — whose pastoral charge includes the 500 persons in United Churches at Bethany, Ebeneezer and Yelverton—is the man who has stirred up this theological controversy.

Last summer he felt he could no longer conscienciously baptize "infants"; nor has he done so since.

A desire "to get back to the teachings of Christ and the practice of the Apostles," lies behind his refusal.

In the meantime his congregations in the small communities of Bethany, Ebeneezer and Yelverton are split into two camps — some loyal to Mr. Crandall and others wishing his resignation.

Asked for Resignation

The Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada —highly embarrassed by his unorthodox stand—has asked for his resignation. The executive recommended this action in March and it was upheld at Tuesday's meeting of the Presbytery in Hastings.

A special committee under R. F. Downey has proved unsuccessful in changing Mr. Crandall's mind.

"Well, are you going to resign"? the Examiner asked Mr. Crandall, a 36-year-old ex-RCAF armorer, Friday afternoon.

"I haven't decided yet," he replied. "In any case I haven't been officially asked by my congregation to do so. The next move is up to the Presbytery," he said flatly.

"We're not trying to destroy the United Church," said Mrs. Crandall, an ex-Belleville nurse. "We are just trying to bring out the truth."

"In my vows I said I'd preach nothing that was contrary to the Bible," explained the short, stocky minister. "And there's nothing in the Bible about infant baptism."

He quoted Article 16 of the United Church manual: "The proper subjects of baptism are believers, and infants presented by their parents or guardians in the Christian faith."

Interviewed by the Presbytery's special committee he was told that this was the doctrine of the United Church of Canada and that he would be required to carry it out in the practice of infant baptism.

No Record Claimed

"I stated my conviction that the doctrines of Holy Scripture take precedence over the doctrines outlined in a manual . there is no record of (Christ) baptizing infants or of His commanding us to do so."

When he was ordained he was asked: "Are you persuaded that the Holy Scriptures contain sufficiently all doctrines required for eternal salvation in our Lord Jesus Christ? and are you resolved out of he said Scriptures to instruct the people committed to your charge, and to teach nothing which is not agreeable thereto"?

Mr. Crandall took the vows and now contends that he is fulfiling

Marks 50 Years Priest Of Anglican Church

Ordained in 1900 when he was 23, Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, 545 Homewood Ave., today celebrates his 50th year in the Anglican ministry. He was ordained at St. Stephen's Church, in Grand Mere, Que.

Now honorary associate to Archdeacon W. P. Robertson at St. John's Church here, Archdeacon Balfour says he "is sort of a helper; not really anything official."

The archdeacon says it is all very well to joke about ministers wondering what to do between Sundays, but "in the last two years, I've just begun to learn what a little rest is."

Came To City in 1948

Archdeacon Balfour came to Peterborough in 1948, after 13 years as rector of St. Paul's Church in Fort William. Before that, from 1921 to 1934, he was rector of St. Luke's Cathedral in Sault Ste. Marie, where he was made rural dean and appointed archdeacon in 1926.

Of his 50 years in the Church of England, he said "I've had a happy life, with variety in it. I feel I've done a little something for man and God.

Born in Kingsey, Quebec, he studied theology at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, and after being ordained in 1900, became a priest at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Quebec City, in 1901. His grandfather was ordained at the latter church.

7 Years in Huntsville

In 1903, he moved to Huntsville, Ontario, where he was rector of All Saints Church. After a seven-year stay there, he went to North Bay, where he was rector for 11 years.

Asked if he remembered any high spots in his career, he said "I don't think you can assess spiritual work. Not by counting heads, anyhow."

Married in 1910, he and his wife have two children, Andrew, studying engineering at the University of Toronto, and Peggy, married to a curate in Saskatchewan.

"I chose Peterborough as the city I would live in after I retired in 1947," he said. "That was partly because my daughter was teaching school in Lakefield, and partly because we'd been here, and liked it."

Now 73, the archdeacon feels he has a little time for his gardening and chess, both neglected for some years.

EXTEND LOCKERROOM

Locker Lou's at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club will be able to lounge in comfort during this season. One of the main building projects at the club this year is the extension to the men's locker room which nearly doubles the former space. Other construction work has improved crowded conditions in the kitchen and professional's shop.

Council Borrowed $120,000 When Total Assessment For Peterborough $59,000

By HARRY THEOBALD

When Peterborough's total assessment was $59,000 in 185-, the town coucil borrowed $120,000 to be used as a loan for the building of the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway. To adjust that debenture issue to present day municipal circumstances, particularly the total assessment of $36,000,000, can any ratepayer imagine the Swanston council of 1950 issuing debentures for $72,000,000? That is at least a practical comparison, although it becomes only a fabulous idea for various reasons. The council and the people would never entertain it, certainly the Ontario Municipal Board would not approve it, and it is inconceivable that any bond house would be interested in it except as a rash notion outside the bounds of sensible financing.

And because the council of nearly a century ago applied the sinking fund of that debenture debt to the current expenditures of the town, thereby securing briefly a false relief in the tax rate, the municipality was forced to set up its City Trust Commission.

Those incidents out of the past were recalled Friday by Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the Trust Commission, as he turned over to City Clerk Outram one of those debentures of the $120,000 issue.

"The council and the people of that time obviously had a tremendous faith in the future of Peterborough and of Canada," Mr. Outram remarked.

$400 Denominations

The debenture is for $400, instead of the present par value of $100.

"It is evident," Mr. Eastwood explained, "that borrowing in those days was made in terms of sterling, and the par value was £100 when the British pound was worth four Canadian dollars."

The last cancelled coupon is still attached to the debenture. The others around its four margins were clipped and cashed.

The notation on the bond indicated that the municipality pledged its town hall, market block and lands south of Townsend St. and east of Park St., "with all appurtenances" to secure the $120,000 debt.

This property was vested in the Peterborough Town Trust, upon trust, "to secure payment of the debentures, thereby authorized by Act of Parliament."

That issue was for ten years, with the interest rate of 6% to those who lent the money to the municipality. Interest was half yearly, payable at the Bank of Montreal in Peterborough.

Signatures on each $400 debentures were: Charles Perry, Mayor; Ivan O'Bierne, secretary of the Trust Commission, and D. Edwards, clerk-treasurer of the town.

Mr. Outram is going to have this municipal document framed, as a relic and curio for the future. Incidentally, he said that Peterborough had never failed in prompt payment of its financial commitments.

Formation of The Trust

The date on the $400 bond is Oct. 1, 1861. Mr. Eastwood also showed the Examiner a memorandum relating to the Trust Commission, which was written by the late E. A. Peck, K.C., who was for years one of its Commissioners.

The text follows: "In 1857 the town of Peterborough having a total ratable property assessment of $59,537.57, borrowed $120,000 to subscribe for stock in the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway, and by the authorizing bylaw was required to raise yearly for 20 years $13,200. Those debentures were sold at a discount." (No premium for that ambitious issue.)

"In 1858, another bylaw authorized the further issue of debentures for $50,000, payable in 20 years at 6% interest, and the annual sum to be raised to pay off these debentures was 8 1/13% of the town's assessed values.

"The town took security for the payment of the 6% interest on the $120,000 stock subscribed, but the railway company made default.

"An agreement was subsequently made by which the town would save any direct rate on the last $50,000 of the incurred debt.

PCVS Students' Band Shows Proficiency In Its Third Annual Band Concert

Some of the seasoned members of the concert band of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School are apparently ready for musical graduation as indicated in its third annual spring concert in the school auditorium Friday night. The education they have received from Mr. Albert Croasdale, director of instrumental music, has equipped them with a proficiency and confidence that distinguished them even in the band ensemble. These seniors have acquired a sound foundation which will remain with them to improve and use as they wish. It is an added advantage provided by the Board of Education, gained in pleasant association and ready for further development if any of them have ambitions in that direction.

The band of 32 boys and girls is composed of three groups, seniors who began three years ago, about one-third of its strength; another third who took up instruments at the outset of the present school year, and an intermediate section with two years' training.

No Assisting Artists

The students played splendidly an entertaining program entirely from their own resources. In the PCVS band's first concert Mr. Croasdale recruited several experienced instrumentalists to carry his novices through more exacting passages. Friday night he had his seniors to depend on and they acquitted themselves with perceptible confidence and ability.

Typical of that individual quality was the euphonium soloist, John De Nure, in the melody of two semi-classic song numbers, "Trees" and "Absent". He played with assurance and richness of tone that was delightful. The band has both depth and breadth of tone, with marked amplitude in the brasses. The reeds were competent, but some of the audience might have wished to hear them "give out" with more of the exuberance of their companions opposite them.

The band opened with the HMS Pinafore, followed by Nights of Gladness, the durably popular waltz; the novelty "Teddy Bears Picnic" with its effects of humor; Mr. DeNure's solos, and concluded the first part of the program with the allegro of the Unfinished Symphony.

The arrangement of part of the first movement featured the lovely lyric that is pure Schubert, expressive of his rare gift of melody. It was the highlight of the program, and the band presented it with fine appreciation of its beauty.

The overture "Determination" which they have prepared for the Kiwanis festival is an interesting piece that was just about flawless.

Smallest Band Member

Mr. Croasdale presented in two marimba selections the smallest boy of his company, Murray Manders, snare drummer in the band who had to be seen from the gallery to appreciate the aplomb with which he played in the background of percussion.

His marimba is a specialty instrument of his own, and the audience called him back for an encore to his "Londonderry Air" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," with a nice accompaniment by the band. Master Manders is just a public school boy, a little lad with

Tailor Made His Money In Peterborough So In His Will Directed It Be Left Here

St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough share in the estate of Joseph Micolucci, the Charlotte St. tailor who died about a month ago.

The published report of his death mentioned his recreation of fishing and especially his phenomenal record of big muskies caught within sight of the centre of the city, in Little Lake and the Otonabee River. He proved in his quiet and obscure way that some of the biggest of those fighting fish were right next door.

Mr. Micolucci's estate amounted to approximately $9,000, and to his lawyer, Mr. Jacob Low, he expressed a wish to distribute the most of it here in Peterborough where he had earned it as a tailor.

He appointed Michael Martino as his sole executor, and directed him to pay his debts and testamentary expenses and to have a suitable monument placed at his grave in St. Peter's cemetery.

He directed that some property he owned in Italy be divided equally between two nieces, Ida and Mario Torrasontucci of Lanciano in the province of Chiete, and also pay to each of them $500.

Other bequests are $1,000 to St. Vincent's Orphanage; $500 to the Monastery of the Precious Blood, Robinson St., Ashburham; $250 to the Children's Aid Society; $100 to a niece, Mary Fink, Pittsburg, Pa., $10 to the Central Association of the Miraculous Medal, Germantown, Philadelphia, for perpetual membership.

Also $10 to the Unione Di San Giuseppe, New York, for perpetual membership.

The residue of the estate is to be divided equally between St. Vincent's Orphanage, The Monastery of the Precious Blood and the Children's Aid Society.

Expense of funeral and tombstone are to be paid out of the residue before the specified charities from that source are distributed.

Large Music Festival Begins In 100 Competitive Classes

The Kiwanis Music Festival which starts Monday at 9 a.m. and continues through Saturday, is the most comprehensive musical event to take place here during the year. Every adult and child who takes any active part in the musical life of the community had an opportunity to contribute to the festival and the long list of entries at this, the fourth annual festival, indicates the great extent music is being studied. There are more than 100 classes ranging from senior choral, to junior piano and public speaking.

The Kiwanians' purpose, is aptly expressed in the following words of Sir. H. Walford Davies, which apear on the front cover of the program:

"In music festivals the object is not to gain a prize, nor defeat a rival, but to pace one another on the road to excellence."

If those words reflect the atmosphere of the coming festival, the week will be fruitful and a fine manifestation of all that the Kiwanis Club would like to achieve.

Noted Adjudicators

Adjudicators are Dr. C. S. Lang, D. Mus., A. R. C. M. examiner to the Royal Schools of Music, England; John J. Weatherseed, F.R.C.O., Toronto and Mary A. Lockhart, Ottawa, will judge the verse speaking classes.

The festival takes the form of a competition, and scholarships and awards are distributed.

Peterborough branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association gives the Gliddon Memorial Scholarship; two awards in the form of Community Concert Association tickets have been offered by Jacob Low in two vocal sections; A. S. Plaskett offers scholarships for three vocal sections.

In the piano section four awards are made. Donors are Reuben N. Wilson, Campbell's Dairy Products Ltd. and Mrs. Stanley Richardson.

Zellers Ltd. offer a scholarship in the violin section, the Kiwanis

Consider Every Factor In Choosing Color Scheme

When using color for the purpose of home decorating, there are certain general truths and principles that it will be wise to heed under ordinary circumstances, although occasions arise now and then when some special reason warrants our setting them aside.

One of the simplest as well as most useful principles to observe is to avoid putting a predominant quantity of either a cool color or a dull color in a room with a cold or northern exposure, where the light is cold, less intense, and oftentimes less in quantity than in a room with a warm exposure and a warm, glowing light.

The reverse of the principle also deserves equal heed—to avoid using a predominant quantity of a warm or advancing color in a room with a warm exposure. With too much warm color in a warm or southern exposure and an abundance of strong light, the effect is likely to be too intense and oppressive.

Warm colors have a tendency to diminish the apparent size of a room in which they predominate. This is more particularly true of red, or of colors in whose composition the red elements predominates, than it is of yellow, or of colors in whose composition yellow predominates.

It is also more especially true of the deeper tones of red and yellow, or of the deeper red and yellow derivatives, than it is of the lighter tones. It is one of the attributes of red that it particularly creates a sense of fullness, richness and warmth.

Yellow, on the other hand, while not deficient in warmth or richness, seems to diffuse and increase light. This strong radiant quality is more noticeable in the lighter tones, so that a small room can often stand a really light yellow without any appreciable loss of apparent size.

"Cool" Colours

Cool colours and the lighter tones of colours that are not too insistently warm in their composition tend to increase the apparent size of a room in which they predominate in quantity.

Although white and black are not to be accounted as truly colours, they nevertheless have great significance in our dealing with colour. White in juxtaposition with colour heightens its effect and intensifies its brilliance by raising its key. Black, on the other hand, modifies the effect of colour and reduces brilliance by lowering the key. White and black are universal harmonizers.

Incidentally, its is worth pointing out that a pure white wall is really white only in the highlights; elsewhere through the many different reflections it picks up, it displays a variety of colours.

In the composition of a colour scheme for a room it is necessary to have some one prevailing or predominating colour if the composition is to have any coherence or continuity. If there is no prevailing colour the composition will lack balance and be like a weathervane in a variable wind, or like a ship without a rudder. As a compensation it will get nowhere and will convey only an impression of unconvincing vagueness.

In other words, there must be a colour base or foundation on which to build and about which to incorporate the articulate features.

Good Colour Combinations

The following list is one you can follow with safety in the selection of good colour combinations:

Orchid combines with flesh pink, white and gray, or pale rose, gold and ivory.

Dahlia combines with shell pink, gray and black; or mauve blue-green, and violet-black.

Persian blue combines with pale rose, gold and tan; or jonquil-yellow, and sage-green.

Chinese blue combines with gold, black, and vermillion; or gold, gray-green and black.

Indigo blue combines with yellow, black and ivory; or gold, porcelain-blue, and white.

Hyacinth blue combines with flesh, pink, mauve, and gray; or leaf-green, pale rose and white.

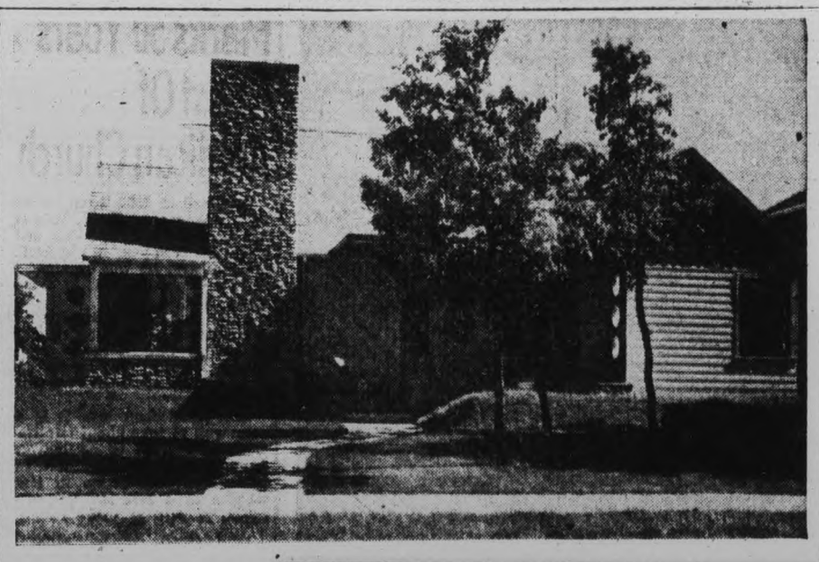
Wedgwood blue combines with pale yellow, gray, and ivory; or gray, black, and orange.

Salmon combines with powder blue, ivory and black; or ivory, black, and indigo.

When the room is finished in a reflecting colour, the atmosphere becomes bright and cheerful, and the additional light relieves the eye-strain caused by poor visability. If a room is insufficiently lighted, the possibility of paint and wallpaper colours as well as other means of illumination should be investigated.

Several colours can increase the volume of light in a room. They also aid materially in dissipating or softening shadows through their reflecting qualities.

There is a wide variation in the effectiveness of wall and ceiling surfaces as light reflectors. Colour is the first factor, cleanliness the second, and texture the third.



Police Chief Tried On Animal Cruelty

PORT DOVER, April 29 (CP)—Police Chief Gilbert Robertson and James Corbett, 20, truck driver, Friday had decision reserved on charges arising from the shooting of three dogs Jan. 29. The two were tried in Simcoe by Magistrate R. G. Groom of Tillsonburg.

Two dogs were fatally wounded and another injured when Corbett on instructions of the police chief fired a 12-gauge shotgun at a pack of dogs.

Witnesses, whose estimates of the size of the pack ranged from five to more than 20, testified that the dogs were clubbed after they were shot and lay writhing on the ground.

The charges were brought by the Society for the Prevention of Cduelty to Animals. Both police chief Robertson and Corbett pleaded innocent.

HOUSE No. 160—Winnipeg's Kinsmen Club erected this striking model home in St. Vital, Winnipeg, as part of its campaign to raise money to send milk to British children. Because the house was built near the birthplace of Deanna Durbin, the project was given her name, and received her generous support. Architect Lloyd Finch designed the house to take full advantage of modern trends in planning, coupled with a dramatic use of glass. While there are two finished bedrooms and a bath on the first floor, there is provision for two more bedrooms, a bathroom and a big storeroom on the second floor. In addition there is a fine recreation room in the basement. Outside walls are of thick-butt clapboards, painted white. Chimney and wall base are of light grey field stones. Trim and roof are in contrasting shades of red. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

FOUR-YEAR PROJECT The City Hall in New York City was erected between 1808 and 1812.

How To Make Best Use Of Electricity

Full and proper use of electricity in the home can bring many comforts which all too often, because of lack of information, are not fully exploited when the family is moving into a new house, or replanning an old home.

The CGE has recently published a booklet giving full details of how to make the best use of electricity in every room.

"Some of your electric servants—such as automatic heating and air conditioning—must be part of the very basic planning of your home, affecting both design and construction" the introduction explains.

It will cost less to provide for and build in all the electrical equipment when building or modernizing a home. And by planning in conjunction with the home wiring and construction, a more efficient and economical service can be obtained.

Kitchen Comes First

The kitchen comes first. By practical arrangement of the sink, cupboards and electrical appliances the diagrams show how work in the kitchen can be made easiest. Four basic designs are shown and in each one the need for a practical arrangement is emphasized.

A step by step method of conversion to a fully up-to-date and fully equipped kitchen it outlined to explain how the best can be obtained economically.

Planning the bedroom gives more scope for planning for luxury. It shoould be planned with comfortable living space—to serve as a personal sitting room—a restful place for reading, letter writing, or quiet relaxation. It must be a convenient dressing room with properly lighted closets, dressing table and mirrors.

Inadequate electrical planning will limit or deny the use of many electrical appliances which add to the comfort of the bedroom.

The living room offers wide scope for good planning.

The basement is not overlooked and there are helpful suggestions of the uses to which it can be put as living space.

There is also a section devoted to proper use of exterior lighting.

Garbage Piles Up In Apartment Strike

NEW YORK, April 29. (AP)—Garbage began to pile up Friday in 750 New York City apartment buildings as peace talks failed to end a strike of AFL service men.

Mail lay unsorted in heaps, food dwindled in pantries for lack of deliveries and some people virtually were marooned on upper floors of towering buildings.

About 75,000 sky-dwelling New York families were hit by the strike.

"If the strike continues even a few days longer, nuisances and possibly some hazard to health may arise," warned Dr. Samuel Frant, deputy health commissioner.

Joint Defence Needed With US

ASHEVILLE, NC, April 29. — (AP) —A joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and Canada agreed Friday that the two neighboring countries need to act as one in the military defence of North America.

The group of 18 men and six advisory members is in the second day of a three-day meeting here to discuss improvement of trade and defence measures.

The Canada-United States committee criticized government restrictions which it said deny trucking in Ontario the same privileges as railroads.

It proposed that the provisional government of Ontario and the government of Canada reach an agreement to equalize the restrictions increasing Canadian trade in the United States." The subject of Friday's talks, led to encouraging views that Canada soon will balance its import-export trade.

Depth Of Joist Important For Sound Construction

Joists are planks that carry the weight of the floors and ceiling. They are the base to which the sub-flooring is applied. The usual spacing is 16 inches.

Strength and rigidity are the prime factors in choosing the type of joist to be used. This is even more important than the grade of material. Stiffness in a joist, which prevents bending or vibration, depends upon the actual depth of the joist. A lower-grade material with a greater depth will give a better floor than a higher-grade material with a lesser depth. Both would cost about the same

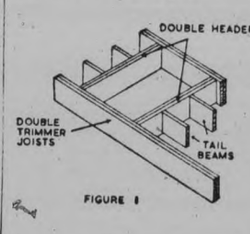

FIGURE 1

The joist rests on the girder and should have a four-inch bearing at either end. As with the floor beam, the size of the joist depends uopn its length and the species and grade of material used. A chart for judging spans may be found in the National Housing Act building standards.

When regular joists are cut to provide openings for stairs or chimneys, auxiliary joists are installed. These are called Headers and are placed at right angles to joists that have been cut. Headers should be the same size as joists. Both headers and joists around openings are usually doubled regardless of the strength.

All joists should be stiffened with cross-bridging (Figure 2), usually one-by-threes nailed to form an X pattern between the joists. Bridging helps to stiffen the floor. Each piece is nailed by two or three nails at the top

The lower ends are not nailed until the sub-flooring is in place.

Avoid Inferior Materials In Making Dollars Stretch

Through necessity, most of us must look for a house design that provides the most accommodation for the least money. The use of inferior materials and equipment in an effort to make dollars stretch further will be avoided by every thinking home-builder Rather, he will look to the economy of greater efficiency in planning to make his dollars go further. Whether you can afford $8,000, $10,000 or $20,000 for your new home, careful planning is necessary to avoid wasted building dollars.

Meaningless Projections

The greatest single factor affecting the cost of a house is its overall shape. Cost of framing and enclosing the outside wall and roof areas is greatly increased through meaningless little projections(corners, recesses and angles added to the exterior just for appearance's sake. They may not add one square foot of living space to your home—while adding plenty to your costs for foundations, plastering, roofing, framing costs, etc.

The square shaped house is logically the most economical shape to build, providing the maximum amount of floor area for the least amount of wall area Wings and whole room projections are often necessary and quite justified, but the simple square or rectangular shaped house will be less costly than the "L," the "T" or the "U" shapes.

Complicated Roof Framing

Roofing costs particularly are boosted when little breaks and corners and angles are incorporated for the sake of exterior appearance. Steer clear of trick intersecting surfaces. They can easily add as high as 10% to your total costs, without any benefits whatsoever.

To understand how roofing problems (or costs) vary with different shaped houses, try this little experiment. First make a cardboard model of a rectangular shaped home. With rooms all within this area you will have no trouble fitting a sloping roof Next, try fitting a roof on to a model with a complicated plan with rooms jutting out here and there! We guarantee you'll find this quite a problem. Remember, every intersection where you have trouble on your model is going to cost you extra money for extra construction details.

Most Economical

Don't overlook the general economy of the two storey house over the single floor design While the low rambling design is very popular, this type of construction undeniably costs something extra because of the additional expense of excavation, foundation walls and roofs. Stairs do present an extra expense in the two storey house, but this is not sufficient to offset other savings.

There are other factors, too, in favour of the two-storey home from the economy angle. First, the readily seen lower cost of heating over the extended one-storey design. Then there is the factor that future additions can more readily be located. Single storey homes have the tendency to require long hallways and generally less satisfactory access through existing rooms.

Rooms of Sufficient Size

One caution in your efforts to reduce costs — don't reduce the size of rooms down to a point where the purpose for which they are intended is impaired. Cutting down too much on space can be just as wasteful as the other extravagance. If you plan rooms so narrow or so short that furniture can't be placed suitably, they might often just as well be left out.

To make sure the floor space of a room can be used efficiently, cut out cardboard templates scaled to the size of your furniture. Place on a plan of your house (to the same scale) and try moving them around to different workable settings, making sure there's plenty of room left for circulation How will the furniture arrangement tie-in with your day's activities—you may find the lay-out you have means a great deal of travelling to complete certain functions. If so, chances are you're wasting space somewhere. Try another furniture arrangement. If there still seems too much waste space, better start in on revisions to your plan.

Economy of plumbing can often be achieved through locating kitchen and bathroom back to back. This can save a substantial amount of piping and fittings. Should you want your plan to provide for the addition for the addition of a second bathroom upstairs at a later date, make sure it can be located directly above downstairs fixtures so that the same lines and stacks may be used.

May Express Individuality Through Art of Stencilling

Time was when our forbears wielded the stencil brush from necessity. With the price of wall-paper prohibitively high in bygone days when its manufacture involved a laborious hand-made process, grandmother had to satisfy her urge for decorating by stencilling walls, doors, mantels, chests and anywhere else where her fancy landed. The larger items done, she would as likely as not frugally use up the remaining paint touching up her coffee mill, sewing box, or perhaps worn dressing table accessories.

Today stencilling has been revived as an almost lost art as a means of expressing individuality in our homes. Whether you use water-mix or oil paints, it's a simple craft to master and the chances are that you will come out with a decorative effect that far exceeds your expectations.

Stencil work is of particular value in emphasizing architectural lines and breaking up large areas of plain colour as with panelled effect on painted walls or ceilings. This type of work is easily executed and acts as a trim or border for either panels, dado or frieze.

Stencils can be purchased in a wide variety of patterns. If you prefer you can develop your own motiffs.

Here's how to go about making your own stencil. To cut the stencil you can use a regular stencil paper, but any rough stock will do. The old timers usually ripped pages from their household account books (good quality rag paper). Tag weight cardboard soaked in linseed oil is excelent and it is a good idea to cut two stencils exactly alike. Trace your pattern onto the stencil with carbon paper. Fasten two sheets of paper firmly together with scotch tape before you begin to cut. Your final design can be no better than your stencil, so work slowly and carefully.

Place your paper on a sheet of glass for an even edge. Manicure scissors are just the thing for fine corners. The simplest patterns are all cut on one sheet, but in the more intricate designs such as once used on rare old stenciled trays and Hitchcock chairs, every leaf, every flower and every bit of fruit merited its own stencils. Each design is made so that when one impression is completed, you merely lift the pattern away from the surface and join the next impression by placing the end cuts of the pattern over those previously made, repeating this operation until the border is completed.

The most important fact about stencilling is that clean, sharp designs result from using a comparatively dry brush. Overloading the brush with color is the cause of nearly all stencil decoration troubles, such as blotting and ragged edges. Dip the brush to load it well with material and then wipe out all you can on the side of the pail. Then stamp or rub it out more on board or sheet of newspaper. When no more color comes off in thick blobs the brush is ready to use. To reload, pick up colour from the board or newspaper.

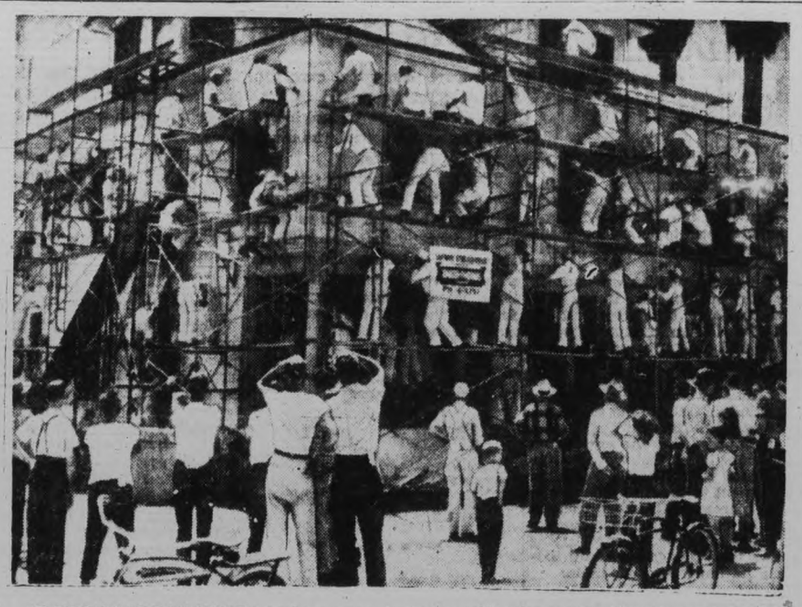
Try the Simple Patterns First

Each time the stencil is lifted, examine the black and wipe off any material that may have run through around the edges of the cuts. This will avoid smearing the wall when making the next impression. It might be a good idea to try the simple patterns first, progressing to the more interesting multiple patterns as your skill grows . . and it will for the process is simple and fascinating. Such delightful decorations can be created so easily and successfully that you will discover yourself searching for spots to which you can apply your newly acquired art.

With interior stencilling completed, let's take a look at its use on garden furniture. Many people prefer the contrast of near white against the summer green but do not like the coldness of pure white alone; they want something in a little happier mood. So let's drag out the paint pot and see what we can do here. The outdoor painting is going to call for a bit of specialized treatment. The old master craftsman who designed and painted coaches developed the art of stencilling on surface which were to withstand extremes in weather. If your old paint is sound, fine . . but if it is weathered you'll want to apply a new coat of good white lead paint as a base. There are any number of designs suitable for garden furniture. If you choose one with more than one color make sure the first one is dry before applying a new color.

Popular For Modern Interiors

Not only is stencilling applicable to early Colonial motifs, but can be used in the most modern interiors. You might try a large baroque scrool repeated in a border above your mantel, a tassel and fringe swag placed just below the ceiling line of your room or a border or seahorses hung on a winding painted ribbon. Paint a headboard for your bed right on the wall. It's an easy thing to give your house that special decorator touch if you succumb to the lure of stencilling your own designs.



IT TOOK 148 PAINTERS just four minutes and 57 seconds to paint this children's home in Phoenix, Ariz. The stunt was arranged by the painters' union as part of a campaign by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to get the city cleaned up and painted during the next two weeks.

Quebec Youths Plan 4-Year World Tour

QUEBEC, April 29.— (CP) — Three Quebec youths are planning a four-year tour of the world and they say they'll volunteer on the first expedition to the moon if they pull through successfully.

The 20-year-old trio — Jean Cote, Leon-Bernard Langlois and Jean-Berchmans Ouellet — has been preparing the big trip by making contacts across the world. Now, they say, they are ready to leave early this summer.

The three Quebecers, who combine between them the talents of car mechanic, cooking, radio script writing, French and English and spotty Spanish and Portuguese, will leave in a 1936 Ford model sporting a large globe on its top.

Home Not Complete Without Landscaping

Trees and shrubs outside the house are just as important as linen closets and furnishing inside. The small home is not complete nor is the investment safeguarded until the landscape blends with it to make a picture that is pleasing and desirable. The expenses of beautifying the small house lot need not be much; it averages from 5 to 10 per cent of the cost of the house. Entering into this cost are the landscape plan, grading, top-soil and fertilizers, plant materials and lawn grass seed for their installation.

Developing a lot without a landscape plan is apt to bring the building a house without plans. Home owners can make their own plans, but they should never attempt to without long study of the fundamentals of good landscape design. Rather than make mistakes at the beginnig, the home builder should seek competent advice.

Orderliness and Unity

Cardinal points in the small home landscape are orderliness and unity. If every part of the grounds and every plant meet these simple requirements a landscape picture will be harmonious.

If the total cost of the planting cannot be allotted at the beginning, enough should be set aside to pay for the plan and to make a small start. The landscape plan is vital because it frequently shows the desirability of changes in the house plan—or perhaps a few degrees difference in orientation to gain the most from a fine tree or a lovely view. A modest start in planting should include shade trees and lawn. If a few plants can be purchased for intimate plantings around the house, the picture will be well on its way; if the work must be spread over three or four years, the owner will enjoy seeing the picture take shape.

Avoid Crowding

Good houses require few plants close to them, and well-designed plantings for small areas can accommodate only a few woody plants. Herbaceous perennial and annual flowers are important in supplyiug colour and interest in intimate garden areas (usually at the back or side of the house), but trees and shrubs are always the vital parts of the home landscape. Specific knowledge about the ultimate size and habits of these is important, as this will save money spent on unsuitable plants and for more than can be accommodated without crowding after a few years. Many nurseries provide this kind of service. There are also books for beginning gardeners everywhere.

Atractive planning cannot result from a bristling array of everygreens crowded around, a house. Such plantings may be pleasing at first, but they usually undergo disturbing changes in 5 or 6 years. Modern homes seldom have foundations so unattractive as to necessitate hiding them.

The Front Yard

A few carefully chosen plants to emphasize the doorway and groups composed of one plant, or of three, to soften the corners are all that are required. With this formula the front yard planting become simplicity itself. As this part of the grounds presents the house to the outward world, it should be as attractive as possible every month of the year. Too many evergreens create a heavy, sombre aspect. A few evergreens for accent and deciduous (autumn leaf-shedding) shrubs and trees with small leaves, lovely flowers decorative fruits, and a pleasing pattern of branches in winter, for seasonal interest and character, should be open and unobstructed to furnish a suitable foreground for the house and to make maintenance easy.

Back yard areas should be enclosed; here the family should find it pleasant to rest, to entertain friends and to garden. Hedges provide green walls which make ideal enclosures, and vines and shrubs trained on fences need even room. The best place for flowers is in small beds inside these enclosures.

HOUSE NO. 367—Although this house appears large—due to its 56' frontage—in reality it contains only five rooms! The basic structure has about 15,300 cubic feet. Rooms have been arranged very well, with complete avoidance of cross traffic. Not only is the living room impressive in appearance, but it is private. Closets are plentiful and large. The designer has produced a kitchen which is a pleasure to work in — evidence of his long experience in building fine homes. Exterior walls are red brick, roof is green, with all millwork painted white. For further information as to plans, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Essential In Modern Home Is Successful Room Layout

Modern living, in all its phases, calls for flexibility. No longer do our rooms lay down the law to us as in the days when the front parlor had as many rules and regulations as a government bureau. Living-dining rooms are the order of the day; kitchen-living rooms are a trend to watch. Larger, lighter rooms are demanded, presenting their own problems in successful decoration.

The Dining Room

When first the living-dining room combination was introduced there seemed to be a general agreement that the function of the dining part should be camouflaged completely during the non-dining times of day and night. Lately, however, the trend has been toward utter frankness about this eating business and large rooms are planned with definite, unashamed double duty in mind. Often they use the big dining table as the centre of interest for the entire room. Curtains, built-in units of cabinets or bookcases, large folding screens sometimes replace full partitions yet effectively divide the large room into living and dining units.

Flexible modern furniture lends itself well to these two-faced rooms. Complimentary units are now available so that you may "mix your own"—book shelves in various sizes for interesting corners and half-partition; come-apart sofas that round corners or divide, at a moment's notice, into "conversation pieces"; corner tables and two-storey tables; cabinets which harmonize with living room furniture yet serves to hold linens and silver in the dining part of the room. Although most of this type of furniture is frankly modern in design, much of it will mix sociably with your furniture colors and to use your older furniture in modern ways.

Many of the new homes are placing extra emphasis on the kitchen by providing living and dining space in the room itself. The "business" part of a kitchen need not take up too much space yet can be genuinely decorative. Whether your ideas run to gingham and Colonial maple, earthenware with French provincial or Swedish over-tones, Pennsylvania motifs in high color or super-modern functionalism, the kitchen is a genial place to work—where the job can be done in conversational range of the family and where serving and clean-up time is cut to a minimum.

Problem rooms can be as worrisome as problem children. Your extra-large living room, high-ceilinged and austere, can be cut down to size by a judicious use of basic rules and your own imagination. Fool the eye by cutting off too long views with sofas and conversational groups at right angles to your walls. Darken the color tones of your ceiling. Introduce dramatic and colorful draperies to your windows, making them divert the eye from far-reaching vistas. You can use bold-patterned wallpaper or deep-toned walls. You must avoid slender, graceful or "coy" furniture—the large and substantial is your dish. Keep the furnishings, as much as possible, away from the four walls of the room.

Furniture to Room's Size

Too small rooms present another harassing problem. To avoid that claustrophobic feeling you must curb your own delusion of grandeur. Avoid heavy overstuffed chairs and sofas; select furniture that is scaled down to your room's size. Cover the floor from wall to wall with plain carpeting, keep walls pale and plain

Urges Dollar Gifts As Aid For Britain

ST JOHN'S, Nfld., —(CP)—A Newfoundland woman wants Canadian wage earners to pay $1 each into a fund to help Britain out of her dollar difficulties.

The money would carry the stipulation that it be spent on Canadian produce, suggests Mrs. S. E. Buckwell of Lamaline, a village on the south coast of Burin Peninsula in southern Newfoundland.

Her suggestion was contained in a letter to the editor of the St. John's Evening Telegram.

Mrs. Buckwell said Newfoundland and all Canada is suffering because of the loss of British markets which was in turn the fault of Britain's dollar shortage.

She wrote: "If every wage-earner in this province as well as the other nine would make a present of just one dollar to the British treasury, many many dollars would roll in. . .

"The only stipulation that we would make would be that it be spent in Canada to buy our produce, shared perhaps amongst our various industries."

TIM-BER-LOX Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-Ber-Lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water-repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

You will be proud of your paint job when you use TIM-BER-LOX because:

1. Tim-Ber-Lox helps prevent paint from "Peeling and Blistering" by affording protection against moisture.
2. Tim-Ber-Lox, mixed with paint, reduces "brush drag" to a minimum, thereby giving increased coverage and a superior, longer lasting paint job.
3. The use of Tim-Ber-Lox with paint actually saves YOU money because each quart of Tim-Ber-Lox you use replaces a quart of paint.
4. Paint mixed with Tim-Ber-Lox flows on more evenly, more smoothly, allowing an inexperienced painter to do a smooth professional looking paint job.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent separating, will greatly reduce warping, buckling, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raise," leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox -- as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

HARDWOOD FLOORS

Tim-Ber-Lox gives a beautiful, soft, natural floor that is water, dirt and stain resisting. Tim-Ber-Loxed floors are sealed beneath the surface and therefore easier to keep clean, and retain the wax much longer.

MILLWORK

Tim-Ber-Lox treatment of all millwork -- sash, doors, window frames, etc., will help prevent moisture "pick up" which is the reason for paint peeling and blistering, will also greatly reduce warping, shrinking and checking. Millwork can be treated just as economically with Tim-Ber-Lox as it can be with ordinary paint.

Choir of St. Andrews Church Presents Annual Concert

A program of choral, organ and piano music which ranged in variety from Handel, Martin and James to Sing A Song Of Sixpence and Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star, was presented in St. Andrew's Church Friday.

Under the direction of Harry Northrop, organist and choirmaster the program reveals much study and preparation.

As is invariably the case when the organist plays the dual role of accompanist and director, the most satisfactory pieces were those sung unaccompanied, when the conductor was able to give his full attention to the direction of the choir.

An unaccompanied rendering of Bless The Lord, O My Soul, was excellently performed. The choir attained a balance and co-ordination between the different voices and captured the sensitive atmosphere of the chorus, singing a true pianissimo and getting the full effect from the magnificent crescendo which follows.

In some numbers the choir was just a little out of its depth and this was particularly noticeable in Mansfield's O Rejoice That The Lord Has Arisen. The listener was aware of the immense effort to master a chorus which makes heavy demands on a choir.

A church organ is, perhaps, a strange instrument for an accompaniment to a nursery rhyme but the performance of Diack's arrangements was delightful.

Miss Iris Whalon, Mrs. L. McLaren, Mrs. H. Northrop and Mrs. J. McColl formed a quartette for a group of three songs with piano accompaniment which were enthusiastically received.

Mrs. H. Northrop was soloist in the choir's performance of Malotte's Twenty Third Psalm and Miss Whalon sang the solo in Schubert's The Omnipotence. In the secular group, William Peltz sang the solo part of Enders' Russian Picnic.

Mr. Northrop at the organ and Walter Morrow at the piano formed a duo team, also covering a wide field. Saint-Saens The Deluge was followed by the carefree Intermezzo from L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2.

In the absence of the Rev. M J. Aiken, who was called to Owen Sound on the death of his brother, the Rev. J. Semple of George St. United Church pronounced the Benediction. E. F. Reid introduced the choir and announced Mr. Aiken's unavoidable absence.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"It's really unbelievable," sighed Hard Luck Joe. "The things that happen to me shouldn't happen. . ."

"To an alert player," I finished.

Joe plunged right on. No force thus far discovered can stop him from telling a hard-luck story to everybody he meets.

"I had a beautiful hand last night," he said, his face glowing in fond memory. "But I lost my shirt with it."

Joe was between me and the door, so I had to listen. "What went wrong?" I asked.

"Well, we had lots of melds down on the table, and our opponents didn't have any melds at all. I'd just picked up the deck —and I figured I'd get the pack back very easily. Wouldn't you figure that way?"

"Sounds reasonable."

"The only trouble was that I wasn't absolutely sure which discards were safe," Joe continued. "I didn't want to give the pack away if I could help it. But I had four wild cards, and I was sure I could get the pack back again by the time I came to the end of my wild cards. So I played one of the deuces, freezing the pack."

I began to see what was coming. Joe spends half his time digging holes that he can fall into, and the other half complaining about his hard luck.

"Would you believe it?" Joe asked indignantly. "They played use safe for seven rounds — and then they got the pack after all. They went right out, and caught me with all those cards in my hand. I didn't even have a canasta."

By this time I had edged around him and had a clear road to the door. "Cheer up, old boy," I comforted him. "It couldn't happen to a nicer fellow." Before he could corner me again I had escaped.

Of course every experienced Canasta player has already seen what went wrong with Joe's game. He chose one of the worst possible times to freeze the pack.

In general, it is very poor policy to freeze the pack when you have melds on the table and your opponents have no melds.

When you freeze, an opponent often has a safe chance to discard cards that match your melds. You cannot pick up such a discard unless you have a pair of natural matching cards in your hand.

When you leave the pack unfrozen, the opponent cannot safely discard a card that matches your meld. If he does, you can pick up that card and add it to your meld. At the same time, of course, you take the rest of the discard pile.

Q—Am I allowed to put down four sixes and three deuces as my meld when I need 120 points? I claim that the bonus of 300 points for the mixed canasta is enough for the meld? Is this so?

A—No. You cannot count a bonus as part of your initial meld. Those four sixes and three deuces count only 80 points, and that is not enough when you need 120 points.

"Like the Government, I intend to ignore this defeat"

DOROTHY DIX

Letter Writing Can Be Vice Pen Deadly As Gatling Gun

WHETHER the sin of omission or commission in letter-writing is the greater sin, Heaven alone knows. Sometimes I am on one side of the fence, and sometimes I am on the other.

Dorothy Dix

Certainly it is a crime against good feeling and good breeding to fail to write the gracious note of thanks for some courtesy received. But, on the other hand, probably no other one thing has got more people into trouble than letter-writing, and there are plenty of men and women in whose hands a pen is just as dangerous and deadly as a gatling gun.

Strangely enough, when letter-writing ceases to be a virtue it becomes a vice whose victims manifest much the same symptoms as do drug addicts. They are filled with hallucinations. For the time being they live in a strange and unreal world in which they see themselves as romantic figures. They lose all self-control and write things that they would never dream of saying, and voice vague yearnings that are really foreign to their natures. Most markedly they lose their sense of humor entirely.

Women Chief Offenders

Women are the chief offenders among those who get drunk on ink and who never see a sheet of fair white paper without an irresistible impulse to spread themselves all over it. The consequences are so grievous when women become afflicted with the letter-writing mania that I often doubt the wisdom of teaching girls how to write at all. For it is the smallest number of girls who have enough self-restraint to write a letter to a man without slopping all over the place with gooey sentimental slush that they don't mean.

Girls who are not the least in love with a man, and who wouldn't marry him on a bet, will write him the most impassioned letters, breathing vows of deathless devotion. If the man were face to face with them, they would never be brazen enough to say such things to him, even when there was nobody in earshot to bear witness that they had been so forward and unmaidenly.

Another letter which never should be written is the one in which one confides a secret to a friend, for by some ironic law of fate it invariably falls into the wrong hands. Futile to try to throttle our fears and apprehensions by writing "burn this" at the bottom of an incriminating document. The recipient never does, and the man or woman who is the soul of honor ,and out of whom a confidence could not be dragged with wild horses, will make common property of a letter and let husband or wife read it, or else drop it in a drawer and forget it, and leave it for any curious eye to peruse.

Don't Write In Anger

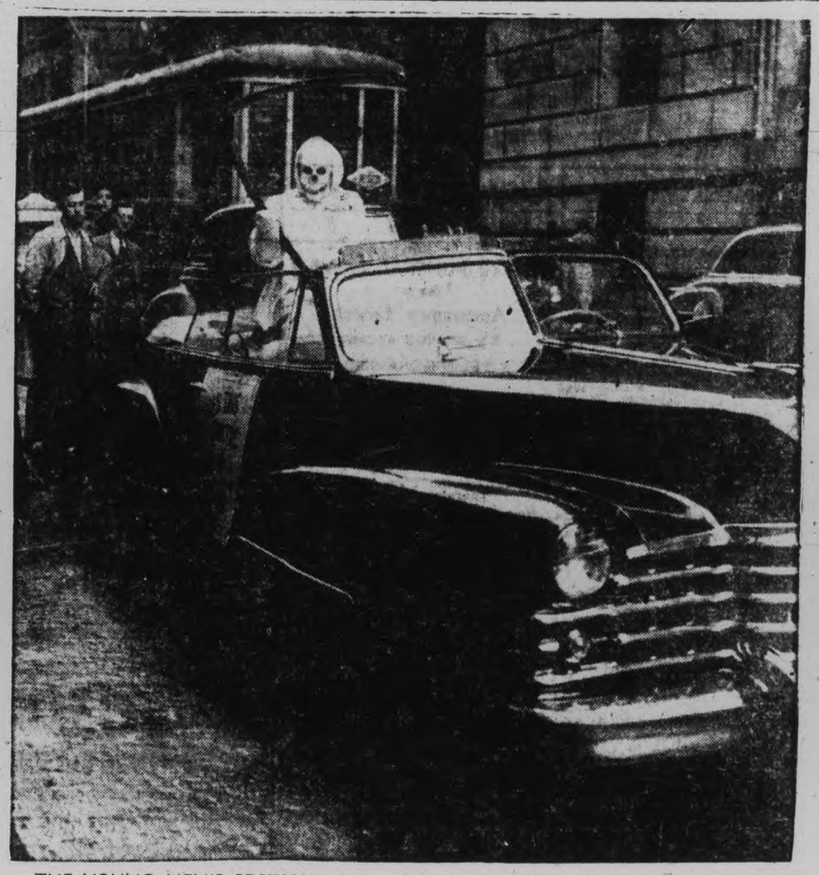
And still another letter that should never be written is the one that is written in anger. All of us, when we are provoked or offended at something those we love have done, say things to them which we do not really mean. Even then our words hurt like the blows of a two-edged sword, but we are there to heal the wounds we have made with kisses, with caresses, with apologies, and to salve our unkindness with some generosity. But what we write in anger is cold, hard, final, a bullet shot from a distance that pierces the heart and kills love before we can get to it to render any first aid, and undo the harm we have done.

Above all, the letter that never should be written is the dark-blue pessimistic letter that simply drips with woe. All of us have correspondents whose letter we dread to open because we know that they will flatten us out with depression and break down our morale completely.

Why, I do not know, but many mothers seem incapable of writing any other sort of letter than these tear-sodden missives to their children who are away from home. They begin with a jeremiad about how they miss dear John or Sally, and how lonely it is at home with all the children gone, and how the crops haven't been very good, or business has been bad at the store, and so on, and on, and if there is a pleasant thing that has happened in the community or if anybody is well and healthy, they never mention it.

And in reality there isn't a thing the matter with mother. She is happy and prosperous and glad her children are off, doing well in the world, and she never dreams that her wailing letters take the pep out of them, and that they have to nerve themselves to read them.

So there you are. And there is the problem of when and where and how to write, and whether it is better to be too handy with the pen, or to be afflicted with penparalysis.



THE YOUNG MEN'S SECTION of the Montreal Board of Trade isn't pulling any punches in its current campaign to promote safe driving. Above is a grim warning to motorists. The spectre, which has been travelling through city streets all week, was attracting lots of attention when the photo was taken.

Nurses Propose Labor Code To Government

TORONTO, April 29—(CP) — A 44-hour work week for nurses and a minimum monthly salary of $165 are proposed in a labor code adopted by the Ontario Registered Nurses Association, now holding its annual meeting here.

The code seeks to make wages and working conditions uniforms throughout Ontario. Each registered nurse wil submit a copy of the code to the hospital employing her and ask for a signed employment contract.

Other demands in the code are for a 5½-day week, with a full day allowed at another time for a nurse working on any of seven statutory holidays, and special compensation for overtime or on-call duty.

The nurses also ask for a 28-day annual vacation with pay and for differentials of an extra $10 or $15 a month for nurses with special qualifications. They ask that employers provide a complete medical examination of all nurses annually and that pension plans b set up.

Provide Own Insurance

Nurses will be required to provide their own insurance for hospital care and medical insurance.

The $165-a-month salary minimum compares with an average minimum in Toronto of about $150. Pay is said to be lower in some other parts of Toronto.

The code asks for a minimum of $185 a month for a head nurse and $200 for a supervisor or instructor, compared with a current $160 and $170 respectively in Toronto. It also proposes a minimum basic fee of $7 and eight-hour day for a nurse on private duty, a rate general in Toronto at present.

Thursday by unanimous vote the Association authorized its Board of Directors to approach the Ontario government to obtain the best legislation the province is prepared to enact in regard to the profession.

Canadian Revue May Hit New York Stage

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, April 29—(CP)—New Yorkers may get to see a revue now playing in Toronto after a successful, though rugged, tour across Canada.

It's "There Goes Yesterday," a production touching lightly on the events of the last half century.

Jules Ziegler is negotiating to bring the all-Canadian revue to New York, but hard-and-fast arrangements have yet to be made.

"Yesterday," with a cast originally from a Straw-Hat theatre playing summer seasons in Muskoka, stars John Pratt, comedian who was a hit of the wartime Canadian show, "Meet the Navy," and Murray Matheson, a light revue comedian.

Murray Davis and Don Davis are co-producers of "Yesterday," which was launched on a shoestring basis but eventually caught on. It now is finishing a second week at the Royal Alexandra theatre in Toronto.

Spring Tonic

Like a spring tonic after a tough winter was "Peter Pan," revived this week in traditional style in Manhattan. Theatregoers who remembered—and enjoyed—their own childhood got a big kick out of Barrie's play about the boy who didn't want to grow up.

Actress Jean Arthur caught splendidly the spirit of eternal youth in portraying the title role on the Imperial Theatre stage. She flew through the air with ease—to parody the popular song; acted like the Pixie that Peter Pan was and spoke remarkably like a mischievous little boy.

Abetting her in the enchanting nonsense was Boris Karloff, leering and strutting at Captain Hook. He also played the father of the children who fly away with Peter. Leonard Bernstein contributed words and music for six songs interpolated in the production.

Cast Change

Gene Lockhart is stepping out of his lead role as Willy Loman in 'Death of a Salesman" to be replaced May 8 by Albert Dekker. Lockhart, a native of London, Ont., has made motion picture commitments.

Top Billing

The Outer Circle, a fledgling organization of drama writers in the environs of New York and of writers in the Metropolis for out-of-town papers, this week named T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party" as the best play of the current season and Gian Carlo-Menotti's "The Consul" as the best musical.

Close 2 Consulates

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Chinese consulates-general at Toronto and Winnipeg will be closed May 1, it was announced here by Consul General H. T. Hsiung, in a temporary measure caused by decision of the Chinese Nationalist government to cut dollar expenditures. The Chinese embassy at Ottawa will handle all Canadian consular affairs in future.

Infant Baptism

them by not baptizing infants.

"The earliest known commandment which the Church has received in regard to infant baptism comes from the condemnation of Justification by faith alone by Pope Innocent I in the year 416, and approved by Pope Zosimus in 418 after the Council of Carthage declared that children should be baptized for the remission of original sin."

"I do not wish to be one of those of whom Christ said: 'In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men'."

Because an infant has not reached "the age of discretion" Mr. Crandall believes it is incapable of making a choice permitting it to be received "into the congregation of Christ's flock as a member of the family and household of God."

"Infant baptism is not so much as mentioned in Holy Scripture, but we are often told in God's Word of baptism being preceded by a personal belief and acceptance of the Lord Jesus Christ," reads a letter circulated among his congregation by Mr. Crandal.

"The Apostle Peter said, 'Repent, and be baptized'. Philip baptized men and women in Samaria when they believed. The Eunuch said 'What doth hinder me to be baptized?' And Philip said 'if thou believest with all thine heart thou mayest'."

"Only the baptism of believers is recorded in the New Testament," the minister's letter continues. 'In fact Christ himself was batized as an adult. (Mat. 3:13-16)."

"Jesus said: 'Except a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God', I cannot follow the reasoning which changes the new birth, of which Jesus spoke, into a magical regeneration occurring at the word of an official, in a soul that does not even know what is going on."

While refusing to perform the infant baptism ceremony he is willing to officiate at a dedication service for children.

"There parents who confess Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour, pledge they will bring them up 'in the nurture and admonition of the Lord'."

Mr. Crandall, centre of this theological dispute, graduated from United College, Winnipeg in 1946. And he came to Bethany in 1948. He is one of the most versatile men in the community and can turn his hand to other vocations than the ministry.

He was raised on a farm, and has a diploma from a school of agriculture at Olds, Alberta. In addition he is a business school graduate, honoring in bookkeeping.

While in the RCAF he took a business course and was about ready for the intermediate exams for the certified general accountants degree when he was discharged.

His first pastoral charges was in Pipestone, Manitoba, but he has been preaching as a layman since 1939.

And the future? Well, he doesn't know. It will probably depend on his congregation.

"The people that attend church are for us," said Mrs. Crandall. "It's the ones that stay away who aren't."

Ferry Service To Rochester Comes To End

COBOURG, April 29 (ENS) — Car ferry Ontario No. 2, with Captain William Bryson at the wheel, docked in harbour here late yesterday afternoon after completing her last trip from Rochester before being laid up and the ferry service abandoned. Her sister ship, Ontario No. 1, already tied up since last August, will be put up for sale along with No. 2.

It was the last spell of duty at the ferry dock for immigration, customs and RCMP. There were only a few passengers on board and they had embarked early Friday morning to make the last trip, mainly for sentimental reasons. It was a cold and dreary day with a raw wind swirling the smoke about the upper deck. Sooty grime from the winter trips cloaked the white sides of the ship and to old timers who had seen the vessel go out and come in for many years, it was a sad occasion.

When the ship reached the inner harbour, Orrin Morris, who has been catching the mooring line for 25 years, grabbed it for the last time and swiftly drew the hawser to the mooring post, looped it over and made it fast. It was just a routine performance but it had the special significance of marking the last time it would be done, terminating a ferry service which began in 1907. A handful of spectators watched the ferry come in.

Decline in shipping and passenger service is the reason for abandonment of the line. Veteran skipper and now retired, is Capt. Sam McCaig, of Cobourg.

already a fine sense of the proper place of the snare drum in the ensemble.

A Spanish march "Amparito Roca" brought out the band's ability in syncopated rhythm. It was played with a pleasing brightness of tone. "Pop Goes the Weasel" was included as a novelty, introducing the different sections, even to the twin sousaphones.

A medley of old time waltzes that opened with the Bowery (I'll never go there any more), Sidewalks of New York, and so on to "After the Ball" was a tuneful interlude.

Example of Harmony

The closing hymn "The Day Thou Gavest Lord is Ended" was another example of the band's harmony, and particularly in the expressiveness and balance of the brass.

Miss Joyce Beggs announced the numbers with a leat little introduction to each and with charming personality.

The student members of the band are, 1947-48: Clarinets, John Doleman, Roger Ingall, Harvey McFadyen, Don Curtis; French horn, Shirley Roberts; tenor saxophones, Robert Bogue and Jack Veenman; trumpet, David Mitchell; cornet, Wilfred Jones; euphonium, John DeNure; tenor trombone, Garry Robinson; bass viol, William Frisken; tympanist, William Nicholls.

1948-49: Robert Ross, clarinet; Robert Hutchinson and Patsy Scharf, French horns; Joyce Beals alto saxophone; Margaret Bryant and Doreen Raddon, cornets; David Bacon, Sousaphone; percussion, Terry White.

1949-50: Martin Thompson, Beverley Richardson, Trevor Hawkins, Eric Jackson, clarinets; Gerald Wood, cornet; Robert Hinton, tenor trombone; Ralph Brown, Sousaphone; Ronnie Wilson, euphonium; Melville Burns, flute.

Grade VIII (Public School) — Tommy Krogh, cornet; Murray Manders, snare drum.—H.T.

Autos Meet Head-on Front Of Car Smashed

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 — (ENS)—An automobile driven by Almon McKnight, of Selby, Ontario, received about $100 damage on Friday afternoon, when it was in a head-on collision with a light pick-up truck driven by Frank Brown, of Campbellford.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Bridge and George Sts. on the east side of the river in Campbellford.

The McKnight car was travelling east and attempted to make a left-hand turn to go north on George St. Frank Brown's light truck was travelling west across the intersection and the two met head on. The grill, front bumper and hood of the McKnight car were badly damaged but the truck was not damaged so badly. Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated, but no charges were laid.

Suggest Grants

TORONTO, April 29 (CP)—A Civic Hospital Advisory Committee has recommended to city council that it give grants to five of 11 hospitals to offset budget deficits. The hospitals had claimed the deficits arose primarily from losses in treatment of indigent patients and asked a total of $1,315,893 to balance their books.

Boys Perform Before Parents

More than 100 boys from eight to 15 years performed Friday night at the YMCA in the annual Parent Gym Night. Before a balcony of parents and friends the boys presented a program of the various phases of their gym training under the direction of Al Clark, physical director.

Diving by the junior leader corps was the highlight of the night as the boys started diving first over one boy and gradually increasing until the dive was over eight boys. The leaders also did front and back rolls and cartwheels.

All the boys took part in the first number, a mass drill of physical exercises. The pioneers, boys eight to 10 years, played group games and relays. The juveniles, 10 to 12 years, emphasized the ball-handling phases of their work. The juniors, 12 to 14 years, performed on the horse and spring board besides giving exhibitions in wrestling. The intermediates played basketball.

Harry O'Rourke and Clinton (Mick) Magee did somersaults and dives on the new trampoline.

A display of hand-balancing, which was introduced to the YMCA activities this year was given by Ralph Plumton and Harry O'Rourke.

and treat your windows with serene dignity — fancy valances and riotous color can only be put over by an expert. Simple curtains and draperies that blend with the tones of the wall are safer. Keep furniture near the wall and be very strict about knick-knacks, sofa cushions, piled up magazines and bud vases. Clutter is the enemy of beautiful rooms, whether large or small, but small rooms are more allergic to this particular invader. Yet all rules are made to be broken —in certain small rooms where there isn't going to be much furniture you can use a big-patterned stylized wallpaper effectively—or a small-patterned paper covering both walls and ceilings can be as blithe as a band box.

Whatever your problem in arranging your goods and chattels, you must adhere to certain basic rules. Consider the "traffic" lanes of your home—the paths the family takes from one room to another—and keep the lanes free.

Council Borrowed

and that a mortgage for $80,000 would be given to the town by the lessees of the railway."

Refinancing of Issue

Apparently that reference signified a refinancing of the railway.

"The town paid $1200 cash and took a mortgage for $78,800. The town was then liable for $150,000 debentures, and eventually obtained from the railway company $80,000. So, the actual cost to the town of the branch railway line was $70,000.

"The monies paid on the mortgage were used by the town council to meet current expenses, and when the debentures came due there was no sinking fund, which should have been accumulated, to meet the debt, and accordingly in 1861 a statue of Canada was passed by Parliament entitled, "An Act to consolidate the debt of the town and create the body known as the Commissioners of the Peterborough City Trust".

Diversion of Sinking Fund

Mr. Peck made the further comment: "It will be seen that the creation of the City Trust was for the purpose of preventing in future the diversion of sinking fund monies to meet current expenses of the municipality."

The city now issues serial debentures, after deciding to dispense with the former method of raising a sinking fund to pay off the principle when a debenture became due, also to meet the interest charge.

The risky enterprise of the council around 1860 was to obtain railway connection with the outside world. The old line from Port Hope played a great part in the commercial development of Peterborough.

Proposes to Close Line

The public knows that the Canadian National Railways management now proposes to close the line south from Millbrook, effectually terminating its usefulness as a link in the division from Port Hope to Toronto by way of Peterborough and Lindsay.

Mr. Eastwood said the repayment of the mortgage by the G. T. R. was at the rate of $600 a year. It was kept in an account by the City Trust, and was used for purposes of the municipality from time to time. The last contribution to the council from that fund was $13,000 which the Commission provided to pay for the public rest room and lavatories on the Charlotte St. front of the Market.

Just as addenda: by the serial plan of financing debentures, part of the principal is paid off yearly with the interest due for that year. The sinking fund plan built up or accumulated the principal which became repayable at the end of the term for which the money is loaned.

Also: the present City Trust Commissioners are: Vincent Eastwood, Thomas E. Ephgrave, James Hamilton, A. A. McIntyre and George H. Cutmore.

Car Bogged Down On City Street

April showers may bring May flowers but the showers brought trouble Friday to William Henderson, 47 Conger St., when his Austin car became bogged down on Cluxton St. which joins Conger St. Even a army jeep failed to budge the sturdy little car as it sank deeper into the mud. Finally a large vehicle was called to do the trick.

A. E. Chalmers, city engineer, reported that prior to Mr. Henderson's trouble the city hall had been notified of the bogged condition of the road. Before signs could be erected blocking the road off Mr. Henderson's car became involved.

Frost and water in the spring cause such road bogs, said Mr. Chalmers. Several similar holes exist in other places of the city.

Constable Seizes 47 Pickerel, Man Fined $25

COBOURG, April 29 (ENS)—Archie Langard of Cobourg was fined $25 and costs Friday in police court on each of two charges against the game and fish regulations. One charge was that of having 47 yellow pickerel during the closed season and the other was transporting fish that had been taken illegally. He pleaded guilty to each count.

Constable H. Pearse said that, acting on information received, he searched the car of the accused and found in two sacks in the trunk compartment a total of 47 pickerel, weighing 222 pounds. The fish had been caught in the spawning season, he said.

The accused told Magistrate R. B. Baxter that he was at Shannonville when a man offered him some pickerel which were being caught and that he didn't know how many were in the car until the police stopped him in Cobourg.

"It is a crime to take fish at this time of the year, he should get a substantial penalty," said Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

"There are always greedy people who would ruin things for others. The government spends thousands in stocking streams each year," said the magistrate.

Young Adults Club Hears Of Trip To West

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 — (ENS)—There was a good attendance at the April meeting of the St. John's Young Adults Club on Thursday. The president, Ruth Thompson, handed the meeting over to Edna Cochrane and Enid Oliver, who took charge for the devotional period.

Henry Oliver was in charge of the program, the main feature being a talk by Miss Jean Hope about her tour of the West last summer. Miss Hope was introduced by her colleague, Miss Eleanor Sandercock.

Thornton Watters thanked Miss Hope on behalf of the club.

A music period followed, in which there was a solo by Marion Heagle, accompanied by Miss Anne Nicholls at the piano, a piano solo by Jean Archer and an accordion selection by Cozette Archer. Miss Betty Redner gave a humorous reading.

The Rev. D. M. Smith conducted games, after which a lunch was served.
